Reds In Paris Deny Viet Peace Rumors

NGUYEN THI BINH
Cong foreign minister

XUAN THUY
Chief negotiator

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam and the Viet Cong today branded as "not true" rumors in the middle of the U.S. election campaign that the Vietnam War is on the edge of being settled.

The Communist delegations to the 161st plenary session of the Paris Conference on Vietnam said peace negotiations were deadlocked because the United States still refused their demands to overthrow the present Saigon regime and install a coalition government as preconditions for a ceasefire.

Xuan Thuy, chief of the North Vietnam delegation, told newsmen that reports he and U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger had agreed on a cease-fire during their secret talks Tuesday and Wednesday in Paris were "speculation without foundation and contrary to the truth."

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, chief negotiator for the Viet Cong, firmly told reporters outside the International Conference Hall on Avenue Kleber that "all these rumors are designed to deceive American and world opinion."

"Rumors circulate that a cease-fire is on the point of being concluded," said Mme. Binh, dressed in her traditional Vietnamese long gown. "How can one arrive at such a result while the American extermination bombings are continuing and Washington still opposes discussing the legitimate demands" of the Viet Cong peace proposals?

After the 5½ hour session, Mme. Binh emerged to tell journalists that "President Nixon's declaration at an electoral meeting with regards to a near peace can only recall the promises Nixon made to the American people four years ago" that he would end the war.

Mme. Binh said, "the gap between our position and that of the United States remains very wide," and she repeated for emphasis, "very, very wide."

As Thuy left the conference hall he said "our positions still are far apart as today's session makes clear."

Council Splits On Endorsement

The Marin Council for Civic Affairs, which four years ago unanimously endorsed Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. when he ran successfully for the board of supervisors, last night split evenly over giving its endorsement again to him or to his challenger, Barbara Boxer.

The council's directors, in secret balloting, gave each candidate eight votes, with one abstention. Eleven of the 28 directors were absent. Council policy requires a two-thirds vote to endorse, which would have been 12 votes.

The vote came after Arrigoni and Mrs. Boxer appealed for the 250-member-organization's backing. Board members also had discussed Arrigoni's voting record on the 46 issues on which the council took positions during the past four years.

Arrigoni's votes differed from council positions on only eight of the 46, including two of the eight cited by several directors as especially important: relaxing civic center security and screening candidates for county administrator. The council wanted to relax security, but Arrigoni voted to continue it at a high level.

The council also wanted candidates for the top county job screened by a special committee, but Arrigoni voted to bypass such a committee.

The split vote followed a 9-8 ballot to consider making an endorsement. Mrs. Boxer's husband, Stewart, a director of the council, was among the narrow majority voting to make an endorsement.

Opponents of any endorsement argued unsuccessfully that both candidates were good, and that endorsements should be limited to contests in which one candidate was opposed to council views.

The council previously en-

TABLOID ON COUNTYWIDE PLAN INSIDE

Today's Independent-Journal includes a special edition describing the proposed Marin countywide plan.

Aimed at informing citizens, the tabloid section describes the discussion draft prepared by the Marin County planning department under the direction of the City-County Planning Council of Marin.

The plan for Marin's future is now under consideration by the 11 cities and the county, and reaction to it from citizens is being sought.

The special 12-page section was prepared at county expense.

Tired, Tense POWs En Route To America

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Three tired and tense American prisoners of war returned to the West today and spoke cautiously of their experiences in captivity and their hopes that an end to the Vietnam War might free other U.S. POWs.

The pilots appeared at an airport news conference at a stopover in Copenhagen en route to New York from Moscow where one of the antiwar activists escorting the POWs accused American diplomats of indifference to the prisoners' plight and told one U.S. official to "shut up and listen."

The angry exchange occurred at Moscow's Shremetyevo Airport while the pilots waited to board a commercial airplane for a flight to Copenhagen.

The Rev. William Sloane Coffin of Yale University approahced Adolph Dubs, deputy U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, just after the official finished speaking with two of the pilots.

Coffin warned Dubs against "interfering" with the pilots, adding, "you don't know what the conditions are."

A North Vietnamese diplomat hovered nearby listening attentively.

Coffin told the American diplomat "you are so indiferrent to the plight of those pilots in North Vietnam, and so blatantly. . ."

Dubs cut him off.

"How dare you," the diplomat said loudly.

"Oh, come off it," Coffin snapped. "Shut up and listen to me for a change. It's quite

Decisions Of Pilot Attacked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The chief investigator probing the Sabrejet crash which killed 22 people in an ice cream parlor said today "most experienced pilots" would not have tried — as pilot Richard Bingham did — to get the jet into the air twice on the same run.

Noel Lawson also said a prime target of the federal inquiry was to ascertain the legality of the Novato pilot's decision to use the runway aimed at the parlor, a shopping center and homes when the plane's FAA certification said the jet should not be flown over "congested areas."

He said that aspect was "under damn good investigation." Earlier he said if the pilot would have waited for 20 minutes he could have used a longer runway heading toward a golf course.

Weeping relatives and friends, meanwhile, attended funerals for some of the 12 youngsters and 10 parents killed at Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor Sunday.

While one investigative team dismantled the charred jet at McClellan Air Force Base, other teams interrogated witnesses and gathered mountains of technical data.

The first publicly released movie films of the crash showed the pilot desperately trying twice to get the 20-year-old rebuilt jet off the runway. The highest the plane, owned by Spectrum Air of Novato, reached was about 15 feet.

An official said the main investigation should be concluded by Monday.

Bingham, suffering from a badly fractured right arm and a broken leg, was still under heavy sedation and scheduled to undergo a second operation on his arm later this week.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., suggested yesterday in Washington that "serious violations" of federal air regulations may have contributed to the crash.

"My reading of material suggests to me that serious violations of the regulations and-or the limitations occured and were significant contributing factors to the tragedy which snuffed out the lives of 22 of my fellow Sacramentans," Moss told the House.

FAA officials said the Sacramento area was not one of "heavy air traffic" within the meaning of its letter of authorization. The second part of the limitation pertains chiefly to the minimum altitude at which an aircraft can be flown, generally 1,000 feet above the ground except while landing or taking off.

Moss said the crash had raised "serious questions" as to whether such aircraft should be operated over or into populated areas.

If current regulations do permit such operations of former military aircraft, Moss said, all letters of authorization should

Big Marin Waste Disposal Plan Told

HE CAN'T GO HOME AGAIN

A young Asian, looking tired and dismayed, waits for accommodation today in Montreal after he and thousands of other Asians were ejected from Uganda. The child, holding a model airplane and a statue of a Mountie, was among 138 persons to arrive in the first planeload of 5,000 refugees who hope to make Canada their new home.

Costly 3-Stage Project

By PAT ANGLE

A far-reaching $28 million project to treat and dispose of waste from communities in Southeast and Central Marin was unveiled last night before directors of the Marin Municipal Water District. (Other water district stories, page 17.)

The board, meeting jointly with its Improvement District A advisory committee and environmental advisory subcommittee, took no action on the proposal, but agreed to consider it further at a future meeting, as yet unscheduled.

The three-stage plan for disposal, reclamation and reuse of waste water is the result of months of work by three engineering firms, J. Warren Nute Inc., Jenks and Adamson, and Yoder-Trotter-Orlob and Associates.

The report's most striking proposal is a recommendation to expand consolidation to include not only agencies in Southern Marin, but the San Rafael Sanitation and Ross Valley Sanitary districts as well.

It calls for a regional treatment plant and disposal facilities at Point San Quentin to handle waste from both the central and southern parts of the county.

In the first phase of the project, sewage would be pumped to that plant for secondary treatment, then disposed of in deep water through an outfall line off the point.

When Marin Municipal formed Improvement District A more than two years ago to make plans for the consolidation of disposal facilities, the idea was to merge nine Southern Marin sanitary agencies. These are: the cities of Mill Valley and Belvedere, the Sausalito-Marin City, Alto, Almonte, Homestead, Tiburon and Richardson Bay sanitary districts, and Tamalpais Community Services District.

Larry F. Walker, project manager, said engineers had recommended the expanded consolidation because they were convinced that state water officials — who favor regional approaches to sewage disposal — would demand the larger merger before certifying the project. Certification will make the proposed system eligible for state and federal grant money.

Construction of the treatment and disposal phase of the project is estimated to cost $18.5 million. About 75 to 80 per cent of that will be financed by grants, while the remaining approximately $4 million will require a bond issue which must be approved by residents of the agencies involved.

If all goes well, construction of the first stage would begin in

Hollis Defies Legal Adviser, Reaffirms Teacher Gag Rule

By PAT PERRY

The Marin County superintendent of schools for the second time this year has defied the school system's legal adviser and forbidden teachers to go to the grand jury without first going through his chain of command.

Dr. Virgil S. Hollis's rejection of the opinion of Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was contained in a letter to the foreman of last year's grand jury.

Hollis was replying to foreman Milen C. Dempster's request that county teachers be informed that "like all citizens they are free to get in touch with the grand jury without consulting him."

The request arose out of testimony before the jury's education committee by Nyal Worsham, principal of the county's Loma Alta School at Juvenile Hall, to the effect that teachers needed such permission.

The exchange of letters last May, in which Dempster cited Maloney's support for his stand and Hollis's rejection of it, came into the Independent-Journal's hands yesterday.

Hollis told the Grand Jury that teachers are bound by the California Education Code, county schools' regulations, and by the California Teacher Association code of ethics, and must solve their problems through administrative channels.

This year Hollis adamantly refused to disclose names of candidates for Marin County Board of Education vacancies, despite county counsel's ruling that he must, and it took a private suit by Pieter Toal of San Anselmo to force disclosure. A later ruling ordered

Nixon: Peace Chance Never Better

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The chances for ending the war in Vietnam are better now than ever before, President Nixon said Wednesday. He also spoke for the first time about ending all military assistance to South Vietnam.

Nixon spoke shortly after talking by telephone with his chief negotiator, Henry A. Kissinger, who had just returned to Washington from two days of talks in Paris with North Vietnamese diplomats.

The President has made similar assessments in the past of chances for an end to the war, and the White House cautioned against speculation that Kissinger's journey meant a breakthrough is imminent.

But the President appeared optimistic about the general climate for negotiations.

Nixon made his remarks before a black-tie crowd of 1,750 who paid $1,000 each to dine with him. That appearance, plus one at a fundraising dinner in New York the night before which was beamed via closed circuit television to 27 other cities throughout the country, added $10 million to his campaign treasury.

"We have prepared the South Vietnamese so that it is now very clear that they will be able soon to undertake their complete defense without our assistance," Nixon said. "We are going to end our involvement. We will end the war."

Later, referring to the initiatives he made toward China and the negotiations begun with the Soviet Union, he said that the chance that the current generation of young people can have a full generation of peace "is greater than it has ever been, certainly in my lifetime."

As he spoke, several thousand

PROTESTS TO NIXON — Some protesters threw rocks and other missiles at businesses in San Francisco's financial district yesterday, breaking away from a peaceful demonstration outside the hotel where the President was speaking. Eleven persons were arrested on various charges. In Los Angeles later in the day, the President was met by an estimated 10,000 demonstrators. There were only minor incidents and two persons were arrested.

BART And Boos For Nixon

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Nixon had a big day in the Bay Area Wednesday.

On his arrival for a $1,000 per plate fund raising lunch Nixon took advantage of his landing at Oakland's airport and took a nine-minute ride on the sleek trains of the Bay Area Rapid Transist District (BART).

"I've been all over the world and this is the smoothest ride I've ever had," the president said after riding at speeds up to 80 miles per hour on the first new mass transit system built in the United States in 65 years.

Nixon also visited BART's modern computer control system before traveling to the San Francisco luncheon, where hundreds of demonstrators had gathered outside the downtown Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

The president, who entered and left under heavy security from an alley on the opposite side of the hotel, never saw the protesters who were chanting antiwar slogans. At one point, a small band broke away and smashed windows in the financial district.

Four persons were arrested for disturbing the peace and malicious mischief. Police squads quickly dispersed the disrupting crowd of about 100 youths who hurled bricks, soft drink cans, pipes and bolts during the short rampage.

In contrast, Nixon was met by about 350 Young Republicans at the hotel. The clean-cut, short-haired supporters of the president attended his luncheon without paying the $1,000 tab charged about 500 other persons.

Nixon issued a statement saying he would not permit Democratic nominee George McGovern to goad him into following a daily campaign schedule.

"I shall campaign only when I conclude it will not interfere with doing the job the people elected me to do," Nixon said.

Nixon also attacked McGovern's plan to reduce defense spending and directed a barb at the Senator for failing to interrupt his campaign schedule to vote on an end-of-the-war amendment rejected Tuesday by the Senate.

"If we reduce our Army, Navy and Air Force to the point that the only option open to us when a friend or ally of the United States is threatened is to launch a nuclear war...our commitments to small nations ... would not be worth the paper they are written on."

Nixon later traveled to Los Angeles and a second fundraising dinner at $1,000 a plate. The dinners were among several being held around the country.

Communists Besieging Quang Ngai Province

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist troops fired more than 1,000 shells into a South Vietnamese base on the central coast and launched ground assaults that government rangers stopped at the camp's barbed wire perimeter, field reports said today.

Six other outposts elsewhere in Quang Ngai province also came under fire during the night and military sources said "fighting is very, very hard" in the area 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

The U.S. command said more than 300 air strikes were flown across North Vietnam Wednesday. Waves of F4 Phantom jets smashed a military supply area 84 miles northwest of Hanoi and destroyed or damaged 30 to 40 storage buildings, spokesmen said. They said many "were engulfed in flames."

Just outside Saigon Wednesday, South Vietnamese troops fought a four-hour battle with Communist soldiers who have been trying to position themselves for rocketattacks on the capital, spokesmen said. They said eight or 10 government militiamen were killed or missing and 11 were wounded in the fighting 5 1-2 miles southeast of Nhon Trach, a district town less than seven miles from Saigon.

North Vietnamese casualties in the Nhon Trach fighting were not known and the sources said the Communist force was believed still in the area.

Field reports said Highway 1 south of Quang Ngai City remained closed because of the string of fights in the central coast area. Military sources said fighting in southern Quang Ngai Province over the past two weeks had produced 45,000 refugees.

China, Japan To Restore Relations

PEKING (UPI) — China and Japan agreed today to terminate a 35-year-old state of war and restore diplomatic relations. Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said the decision would "open a new chapter" in Sino-Japanese relations.

Both Chou and visiting Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka said their decision to establish diplomatic relations was in accordance with a great historical trend now sweeping Asia.

The two prime ministers made their remarks in toasts delivered at a farewell banquet Tanaka gave for Chou at Peking's Great Hall of the People.

"We are going to end the abnormal state of affairs which has existed between the two countries up to now," Chou said in his toast. "The termination of the state of war and the normalization of relations between China and Japan—the realization of these long-cherished wishes of the Chinese and Japanese people—will open a new chapter in the relations between our two countries and make a positive contribution to the relaxation of tension in Asia and the safeguarding of world peace.

"I warmly acclaim the complete success of our talks and highly appraise the important contributions made by Prime Minister Tanaka and Foreign Minister (Masayoshi) Ohira to the establishment of diplomatic relations between China and Japan," Chou added.

In his toast, Tanaka said he was deeply moved by the friendly spirit of his talks with Chou and his hour-long meeting with Mao Tse Tung Wednesday night.

He said there were many difficulties in reaching agreement to establish diplomatic relations and added that "the step we are now taking is for tomorrow."

CBS: Wheat Deal Hurt Small Farmers

NEW YORK (UPI)—While major grain exporters were negotiating to sell 400 million bushels of wheat to the Soviet Union, the Agriculture Department deliberately suppressed a report that could have helped small farmers cash in on the deal, CBS Evening News reported Wednesday.

Critics of the Nixon administration have contended for some time that failure to publicize the deal worked to the benefit of the big exporters, and to the detriment of farmers who sold the wheat at low prices.

CBS correspondent Walter Cronkite said the department's Economic Research Service in mid-August prepared a report that "detailed the Russian crop failure." Cronkite quoted Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz as saying the report was not released "because he was not sure it was accurate."

President Nixon announced July 8 that wheat trading would begin with the Soviet Union, Cronkite noted. On July 18, he said, "the July 18th issue of The Southwestern Miller, the grain trade journal, reported that the Russians would buy perhaps as much as 100 million bushels of wheat.

"But in fact by the time of the story, the 'Big Six' grain exporters already had sold 267 million bushels to the Russians, on their way to an estimated total sale of 419 million bushels," Cronkite said.

"Clearly, the Big Six exporters who had been secretly negotiating and concluding deals since the end of June had vital knowledge of how much wheat the Soviets needed," he said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Philippines Arrests

MANILA (UPI) — The Philippines government announced today the arrest of two congressmen and a provincial governor suspected of maintaining private armies. It also warned that foreigners violating martial law will be summarily deported.

The two congressmen were identified as Jose Lingad and Carlos Ivperial, and the provincial governor was Eduardo Joson. The government said all three were suspected of employing armed men.

Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad, in a nationwide radio announcement, said the Philippine government will extend full hospitality to visiting foreigners but will not tolerate their "intervention in our internal affairs."

Two More 'Thrill' Deaths

BELFAST (UPI) — The "thrill killers" of Northern Ireland murdered two more men during the night and Belfast police appealed today for information to run them down and end these "ghastly, senseless murders."

The bodies of two men, both shot to death, were found in widely separated areas of Belfast during the night. One was a Roman Catholic youth, the other a Protestant. But Belfast police added them to the ever-growing list of killings-for-kicks.

These apparently are crimes without motive carried out by psychopathic killers and not connected with the violence between communities which has ripped Northern Ireland for three years.

Overall Food Costs Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The long-promised decline in retail beef prices last month helped pull overall consumer food costs for August down fractionally from their record-high July level, the Agriculture Department said today.

The department report showed the cost of a typical family food market basket in August, calculated on an annual basis, was $1,321 — second highest on record but down $1 from the record July level. The fractional downturn, less than a tenth of a per cent, was the first in four months but left the market basket cost 4.5 per cent above a year earlier.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics earlier had reported average retail food prices in August up 0.2 per cent from July.

One GI Dies In War

SAIGON (UPI) — An Army sergeant hit by a Communist mortar barrage on South Vietnam's central coast was the sole American killed in Vietnam war action last week, U.S. military spokesmen said today.

Two other American military men died in incidents not related to the battlefield. Spokesmen said 13 U.S. servicemen were wounded in action and another six were missing last week.

The single battlefield death was the first in two weeks suffered by Americans participating in the Indochina war, spokesmen said.

Terrorist Debate Delay

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Opponents appeared today to have effectively delayed at least until late November the U.S. proposal for a draft treaty in the U.N. General Assembly against international terrorism.

The General Assembly's legal committee voted late yesterday to put the terrorism item sixth on its agenda.

U.S. sources were optimistic that the problem could be brought up for discussion late in October, but many diplomatic sources believed the committee's action delayed debate until late November.

COZY, PUBLIC LUNCH — Mr. and Mrs. Jackson A. Loos of Lucas Valley celebrate their wedding anniversary with lunch in a Market Street store window, watched by scores of passers-by. The affair yesterday was the result of Loos's $200 bid for the luncheon at the recent television station KQED benefit auction.

A Meal For All To See

By JEFF GREER

Jackson A. Loos of Lucas Valley maintained great savoir faire while enjoying his wedding anniversary luncheon in a Market Street store window in San Francisco yesterday.

Stephanie, his bride of nine years — well, she blushed like a bride.

The romanticism of it all filtered through the plate glass window of the Grodins store at ers-by who paused in the noonday rush to watch and wonder. After they read signs explaining it all, the on-lookers went their way; many murmured kind thoughts such as, "that's nice."

Mr. and Mrs. Loos ate their elegant luncheon in the corner window of Grodins store at Market and Stockton because he bid $200 for the privilege, during the annual television KQED benefit auction. They live at 2197 Elderberry Lane.

Except for the goldfish bowl atmosphere the couple could have been dining cozily in a secluded corner of the famed Garden Court of the Sheraton Palace Hotel down the street a bit.

A potted palm graced the scene, illuminated by a crystal chandelier and flickering candles in a towering sterling centerpiece.

Underfoot was an oriental rug. The Garden Court's finest linen and china graced the table — and two full settings of the famous Palace golden service gleamed in all their potentate's splendor. Forks, spoons, knives, all were gold.

With bows and flourishes, waiter Frans Morrich upheld the traditions of the Garden Court as he bustled to and from a nearby dressing room pressed into service as a pantry.

He served iced papaya with prosciutto, artichoke hearts with sauce Mornay, tournedos al la Clamart, potatoes noisette and petit pois, accompanied by appropriate vintage wines. The luncheon was climaxed with a special wedding anniversary cake, courtesy of Grodins.

Two private security men also hovered as cameramen and reporters clustered over the couple. "We're here to keep a count on the golden service," explained security chief Richard Clark.

Mrs. Loos explained that the very public luncheon was a continuation of the couple's tradition of unusual anniversary observances. "Last year, I kidnaped him," she said without further explanation.

Outside, a Market Street character, gotten up in wild Arabian harem costume with an orange and yellow umbrella, waved happily to the couple.

He said his name was "Archbishop Jesus Christ Satan" and that he was a presidential candidate. He toddled down Market, on his way to visit President Nixon's competing, $1,000 a plate luncheon going on at the Sheraton-Palace.

A teen-ager wistfully regarded the lavish luncheon, then leaned to the window and left a lipstick imprint on the glass.

Loos, who is director of security counseling for the Insurance Company of North America in San Francisco, beamed at his wife and gestured widely as he talked with reporters.

He said the food was magnificent. He didn't compare it with fare he finds at junior chamber of commerce luncheons. He is president of the San Rafael Jaycees.

"Now what will you do for an enacore — go back to work?" we asked Loos.

"No, oh no — I took the day off. I didn't even go to work today," Loos said.

His wife captured his hand in hers. "And he may not go to work tomorrow, either." coyly declared.

Met Will Sell Some Paintings

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Metropolitan Museum of Art, paring down on its world-famous collection of French impressionist paintings to raise money to fill holes in other areas, will sell 11 of the paintings.

The Sotheby Parke—Bernet auction gallery made the announcement Wednesday. It had been rumored for some time in the art world. Among the paintings to be sold are Monet's "Cliffs at Pourville," Sisley's "Washerwomen," Renoir's "House at Cagnes" and Toulouse-Lautrec's "Portrait of a Young Girl."

Public Must Rule On Death Ban — Reagan

MONTEREY (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan told the State Bar Association on Wednesday that "there is a feeling by the public that some court rulings are rendered without considering the consequences."

Noting the State Supreme Court had outlawed the death penalty, the governor asserted that "this issue involves such a major change of public policy that it can only be decided by the people."

An initiative to reinstate the enalty is on the November ballot.

The governor also objected to a State Supreme Court ruling that prevents prison officials from reading mail between a convict and his attorney.

"The violence of revolutionary activity in our prisons is real," he said. "At which point does the attorney-client relationship end and where might a new relationship—that of accomplice — begin?"

Delegates to the association's annual meeting have approved a resolution calling for the decriminalization of marijuana use, which prompted Reagan to ask:

"Does society have no obligation to protect its people from dabbling with a substance that can lead to tragedy and death?"

The governor urged lawyers and judges to curb those who use the courts as political forums and asserted that frivolous appeals and stalling courtroom tactics have weakened the public's faith in this nation's legal system.

In another part of his talk, the governor declared, "The public can not understand why it is impossible for the legal system to develop an effective and workable definition of pornography."

Arrigoni, speaking at the council meeting in the Whistlestop in San Rafael, said that during his first term Highway 17 had been eliminated as "a threat to the Ross Valley," a new local and commuter bus system had started, the West Marin master plan — which he said would have allowed 135,000 people to settle there — had been rescinded, ordinances regulating fill in tidelands and logging had been adopted and more than 10 miles of bicycle paths built.

He said the "most significant issue" was the pending adoption of the countywide general plan, upon which depend all questions of the environment, taxes, transportation, housing and open space.

He said he supported consolidation of sewage agencies into the Marin Municipal Water District, which he thought was the "best qualified agency" to handle recycling of wastewater.

Arrigoni noted that he had almost 10 years of experience in local government.

His statement did not mention Mrs. Boxer.

Mrs. Boxer sharply criticized Arrigoni for voting to continue civic center security only days after he said he would vote to cut security, and for joining the majority of the board in "total dependence on the county administrator's office."

She especially criticized Arrigoni's performance as the board's representative to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, saying he had a poor attendance record and had ignored conservation groups by taking the side of the district's top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, against the district's longtime attorney, Matthew S. Walker. (Conservationists and Walker charged Callaghan with coddling polluters.)

Of 53 meetings of district directors over the past year, she said, Arrigoni missed 21, left 11 early, and arrived late for 11. Arrigoni countered that he had attended 29 of the board's 35 regular meetings, missing only minor committee meetings.

Mrs. Boxer, in turn, argued that it was not enough to show up for board votes after issues had been thrashed out in committee.

She also faulted him for supporting continued county membership in the Eel River Water Council after it opposed the "wild rivers" bill by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael. Arrigoni rebutted that it was smarter to make better appointments to the water council and "stay and work with these people."

As for the fight over Callaghan and Walker, he insisted, "it was just a basic personnel matter, and had nothing to do with the running of the district." (Walker since has resigned to take a job with a federal agency with jurisdiction over the district.)

Open Space Urged For Preserve

The Corte Madera Parks and Recreation Commission last night unanimously recommended that the Heerdt Marsh next to the Greenbrae Boardwalk be included in the town's general plan as an open space natural preserve.

After a slide show by Lee R. Miller on the 95 acre marsh, commissioners endorsed its retention as an educational and natural preserve, said secretary Nancy Urbani.

The commission approved a master plan for the tiny tot area to be constructed in Town Park in three phases, costing $7,800, $3,240, and $4,000, said Mrs. Urbani.

It also gave permission for the Great Dane Club of Northern California to hold a dog show in the park on Oct. 22 and to sell refreshments.

Novato Agency Is Supported

The San Marin Improvement Association has approved the establishment of a redevelopment agency in Novato.

The board decided to support redevelopment after a presentation by Novato officials Tuesday night, according to Diane Ryken, association publicist. She said association representatives would attend a public hearing on redevelopment set for 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

The association also decided to hold its annual Holloween parade on Oct. 29, she said.

HOLLIS

that the board must pay Toal's attorney's fees and court costs because it had behaved "arbitrarily and capriciously."

Hollis today told the I-J: "It seems rather foreign to me that with all these other opportunities why go the Grand Jury? They will publicize it, but other than publicizing what have you gained? Whereas if you go through your professional organizations they can clear it up.

"I will say members of the Grand Jury were almost unbelievable when they asked me about it, but I said I always had to go through channels."

According to Hollis, the teachers were complaining about a reshuffle of county schools' staff. (Its effect has been to bump some of last year's teachers at Loma Alta in favor of teachers from San Quentin prison who have seniority rights. The prison's schools, run by the county, are being closed as the prison is phased out.)

Worsham told the Independent-Journal he has never put the gag rule instructions to his teachers in writing "but I support Dr. Hollis's stand very much."

The 1971-72 Grand Jury recommended abolishing Worsham's post in favor of a teaching principal or a lead teacher. Worsham said today that was last year when there were only four teachers at Loma Alta. There are now seven teachers, which has altered the situation, he said.

He said he is extremely pleased with the school, "and I think my teachers are quite happy. If they're not I'm off in left field."

Dr. Hollis said he is unaware of any problems at Loma Alta School, "and the whole statement of the Spring was blown out of all proportions.

"Some statements were made — 'oh my gosh,' what a terrible thing to have a teacher of San Quentin inmates teaching at Juvenile Hall' — a ridiculous comment from my standpoint. They maintain only a particular kind of teacher can teach there. I can't buy that concept."

Asked if a teacher who defied his ruling would be penalized, Dr. Hollis said: "There would be a counselling session."

He said "We have a number of rules and regulations of which they were a part in establishing. But I would be the first one to say that if they don't get satisfaction through regular channels by all means then go."

clear who's using whom at this time."

Only one of the three returning U.S. pilots, Navy Lt. (j.g.) Norris Alphonzo Charles of San Diego, stated firmly that if the war is terminated, the return home of all U.S. POWs from Vietnam "will be certain."

In an emotional plea, Charles said: "I ask myself, who is responsible? It is you, the American people. If you want to end the war you can do it. I have great faith in the American people. I call upon you to help me bring the prisoners home."

Charles, Navy Lt. (j.g.) Markham L. Gartley of Dunedin, Fla., and Air Force Maj. Edward Knight Elias of Valdosta, Ga., were released in Hanoi 10 days ago to members of an American antiwar group that arrived in Denmark with them on a trip that has taken them from Hanoi to Peking and Moscow.

After arriving 44 minutes late on a Russian Aeroflot flight, the prisoners marched into the airport with their escort party of U.S. activists, sat down under glaring television lights and held a formal news conference.

Of the three men, only blond and blue-eyed Gartley still had the bold and poised bearing of a young military officer.

He held his head high and looked confidently over the audience of about 100 newsmen, occasionally smiling with good-natured amusement in his eyes. His mother, Minnie Lee, sat next to him.

"It's a great feeling to be free," Gartley said. "But I would be happier if the other men were free too."

WASTE

1974 and be completed by October of that year.

The second stage recommends development of a major recreation lake to handle reclaimed water. The lake would be located in either North Marin or Southern Sonoma.

The plan calls for pumping waste water from Central and Southern Marin to a major reclamation plant proposed for an area south of Petaluma. Here it would be combined with waste water from North Marin and would receive the highest level of treatment possible before being discharged into the lake.

The lake probably would be located either in the area of Tolay Creek between Petaluma and Sonoma or in Chileno Valley west of Petaluma.

Cost of the reclamation portion of the project would be approximately $7.3 million and it could be in operation by 1985, according to the engineers.

(The environmental advisory subcommittee favors immediate reclamation of waste water, but the water district board took no position on that suggestion.)

The engineers emphasized that all facilities constructed during the first phase of the project will be utilized in the reclamation phase. The Point San Quentin outfall line still will be needed when reclamation is under way to handle increased flows during wet weather, Walker said.

During the third stage of the project, designed to recycle waste water, facilities would be built to permit overflow water from the lake to be utilized for agricultural irrigation, augmentation of streams or municipal reuse.

Cost of the reuse stage would be approximately $2.2 million and could be operative by 1990.

Walker urged the board and the advisory committee and subcommittee to proceed immediately to develop an environmental impact study, financial and administrative analyses of the project and applications for state and federal grants.

He said the water district board should not approve the plan until those studies have been completed.

The advisory committee agreed to discuss with Central Marin sanitary agencies arrangements for joint studies of the proposed treatment and disposal facilities, which both agencies would share under the project plan.

The environmental advisory subcommittee asked that the board consider an even larger consolidation of those facilities, one which would include Northern Marin sanitary agencies.

The board agreed to discuss that proposal further at a future meeting even though Walker said construction of one regional treatment and disposal facility for all three areas would cost an additional 12 million and would probably not be required by the state.

be cancelled "until they can be modified to contain the most stringent provisions against flight over populated areas or in areas of high aircraft density."

Moss said he would seek additional legislation if necessary to give the FAA additional authority.

Records show opponents of a shopping center where the crash took place, warned of potential dangers from a nearby airport, but that the Federal Aviation Administration approved the construction because of already existing "hazards."

A review of the Sacramento City Planning Department files disclosed Wednesday that the FAA concluded in 1964 that the proposed Crossroads Shopping Center would not hinder aircraft traffic even though it was directly in the path of a runway of the Executive airport.

The FAA said in a statement in the files that the state Aeronautics Department and Donald B. Smith, former manager of the airport, "expressed the opinion that lives of individuals on the ground would be endangered because the shopping center would draw large crowds of people under the path of approaching aircraft."

The City Planning Commission unanimously approved the shopping center.

Campbell, Boas Get Endorsed

Boas is on the Nov. 7 ballot as Democratic challenger to Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District. Campbell is seeking election to the Marin Community College District board.

Grace A. Hughes, Marin Alternative chairman said no endorsement was made in the Assembly race because no candidate garnered the necessary 70 per cent vote of Marin Alternative members at the meeting. Only Campbell, among the six college board candidates interviewed, got the 70 per cent vote.

Thirty-three members attended the meeting, which ran past midnight. Mrs. Hughes said Marin Alternative membership now is 378 households, with two members in many households.

Marin Alternative members will vote endorsements on the state ballot propositions following a public forum on the issues Oct. 15 in Olney Hall at the College of Marin, Mrs. Hughes said.

NIXON

demonstrators beat on a railing outside the Century Plaza Hotel and chanted demands for an end to the conflict. The demonstrators—by far the largest group of protesters during Nixon's infrequent campaign appearances—were noisy but peaceful. There were two arrests.

Nixon was clearly buoyant about the prospects of victory in November, speaking of it as an accomplished fact and promising "not just four more years of what we have done, but what I would hope will be four of the best years in the whole history of the United States of America."

Comedian Bob Hope and California Gov. Ronald Reagan alternated as master of ceremonies.

During his stop here and in similar fund-raising appearances in San Francisco and New York City, Nixon has been more the coach than the player, addressing party regulars and urging them to work for his reelection while he tends to the business of being president.

He also repeated his pledge to veto any spending programs passed by the Democratic-controlled Congress that would raise taxes, and called programs to redistribute income detrimental to the interests of the nation.

"Let us reject any program which makes it more profitable for a person to go on welfare than to go to work," he said.

Fire Board Wants To Level Fines

The Stinson Beach Fire Protection District board last night asked the county counsel to draft an ordinance enabling it to fine Stinson Beach Water Co. $100 if the water company cuts off water to houses without notifying the fire district.

According to board member John L. Jones, the water company occasionally shuts off water to houses in Stinson Beach for repairs, maintenance and emergencies.

If the fire district isn't informed that the water has been cut off, the fire department could waste valuable time during an emergency by connecting its hoses to dry water pipes.

The board will consider the draft ordinance at its next regular meeting, Jones said.

The board also decided to reach a decision on the proposed purchase of an ambulance and tank truck at its next meeting.

PEACE

Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday reports that a peace settlement had been reached were unfounded.)

Inside the conference hall, Mme. Binh in her speech said "the Nixon administration is not really interested in putting an end to the war by negotiations."

Neither side disclosed specifically whether any progress had been made in Kissinger's secret talks. But both Viet Cong and North Vietnamese delegations made clear they would not agree to a cease-fire until Washington agreed first to dump the regime of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and install a three-segment coalition government including the Viet Cong.

The South Vietnamese delegation chief, Pham Dang Lam, promptly refused once more "your absurd and unrealistic demands." He said "as long as you intensify your military efforts there can be no question for South Vietnam and its allies to cease their defense, and thus the war will go on indefinitely."

In Saigon today, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker conferred with Thieu on the rumors of a peace settlement which circulated there Wednesday.

U.S. chief negotiator William J. Porter made no mention of the peace rumors that spread around the globe after Kissinger's talks with Hanoi diplomats went into a second day for the first time in the history of the peace negotiations.

Speculation heightened further when President Nixon said Wednesday the United States would settle the war "without betraying its allies." The White House denied a New York radio station report that Kissinger had concluded a cease-fire agreement.

Porter in his opening speech charged that North Vietnam had made "a very cynical exploitation" of its release this week of three American prisoners of war. He linked prisoner treatment with progress in negotiations.

"The United States protests vigorously against your practices," said Porter.

"Please do not underestimate the effect of this kind of thing. It has had and will continue to have an effect on negotiations for a peace settlement for it affects adversely the confidence which provides the basis for progress."

Xuan Thuy entering the Paris peace conference hall that "since yesterday we have received numerous telephone calls demanding details of the last two days of talks between (presidential adviser) Henry A. Kissinger, myself and Le Duc Tho. The questioners asked if there has been an agreement on a number of questions.

"For my part I can say nothing on the private talks. As to the speculation I would like to make it clear that such specualtion is without foundation and contrary to the truth," Thuy said.

Guilty Verdict On Check Charge

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday found Garrett Lynn Jensen, 25, of Mill Valley guilty of felony counts of writing a bad check for a bicycle, then possessing hashish and narcotics when arrested on the bicycle.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson found him guilty in the half-day trial without jury and sentencing was set for Nov. 27.

Mill Valley Police arrested Jensen June 5 as he peddled through the downtown and said he wrote a $151 check at Mill Valley Cyclery that bounced.

Police said they found the illegal substances when they searched him.

OBITUARIES

Funeral For Burton C. Granicher

Funeral for Burton C. Granicher of Tiburon, a San Francisco advertising executive, was held yesterday in San Francisco.

Granicher died Tuesday at his home at 50 Harbor Oak Drive after a long illness. He was 64.

He was a native of San Francisco and was vice president of McCann-Erickson advertising company at the time of his retirement.

He was a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley.

He is survived by his wife, Claire; a daughter, Cathy Weathers of Sacramento; three brothers, Walter and Irving, both of San Francisco, and Oswald, of Berkeley, and a sister, Lucile Mohr of San Francisco.

The family prefers memorial donations to the charity of one's choice.

ANNA BOURDENS

Private funeral for Anna Bourdens, 93, of Healdsburg, was held today in Petaluma.

Miss Bourdens died Sunday at a Healdsburg Convalescent Hospital after a lengthy illness. She was born and reared in San Francisco and had lived in Sonoma County for 44 years. She had formerly lived in Petaluma.

Private burial was at Olive Hill Cemetery, Geyserville.

HELEN BANIGAN

Funeral for Helen M. Banigan, past president of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club, will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Russell and Gooch Funeral Parlor, 270 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Banigan died in a local hospital Tuesday after a brief illness. She was 77.

She was a native of Pennsylvania and a resident of California for 54 years. She lived all but three of those years in Marin County.

She was a member of the Community Church Club of Mill Valley and past president of the Outdoor Art Club.

She is survived by her daughter, Suzanne M. Sheeter of Novato, and her son, Bruce H. Banigan of Santa Ana; her brother, Maj. Alfred Haines of Florida, and four grandchildren.

J. DALY

John Daly of San Anselmo, retired San Francisco police sergeant and father of a San Francisco policeman, died yesterday in a local hospital. The apparent cause of death was heart failure resulting from acute pneumonia, according to coroner's deputy Bill J. Thomas.

A native of County Kerry, Ireland, Daly came to the U.S. in 1898, moving to Boston. In 1904, he moved to San Francisco.

He joined the San Francisco Police Department in 1908, retiring as sergeant in 1944 after helping found the mounted police auxiliary.

He moved to San Anselmo in 1949 where he lived with his wife, Mary A. Daly.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Claire McNaboe of San Anselmo, Mrs. Barbara Costello of San Rafael and Mrs. Marian O'Connor of New York; two sons, John P. Daly of San Anselmo, a San Francisco police inspector, and Dr. James Daly of San Anselmo; a brother, Denis A. Daly of Berkeley, 28 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mass of the Resurrection will be said at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. A rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Friends are asked to contribute to their favorite charity.

EMMA RATTRAY

Emma Rattray, 71, of 39 Candlewood Drive, Petaluma, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

She was born in Scotland and reared in Canada. Mrs. Rattray moved to San Francisco 19 years ago and worked for nine years as a bindery woman at Lane Printing Co., San Francisco.

She and her husband, William G. Rattray Sr., moved to Petaluma 14 years ago.

She is also survived by two daughters, Aileen Silvester of Petaluma and Helen La Porte of Vancouver, B.C.; a son, William G. Rattray Jr. of Ottowa, Ontario; two brothers, James and John Sutherland of Canada; 16 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Private funeral will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma, followed by burial at Calvary Cemetery.

MRS. MADDEN

Funeral will be at 8 p.m. today at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato, for Gladys Madden, 70, of Novato. Burial will be in Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Madden, of 35 Carmel Drive, died yesterday at a local hospital following a brief illness.

A native of Charleston, Ark., she lived in Washington, D.C., for many years where her husband, the late Brian S. Madden, worked in civil service.

She moved to California 10 years ago and to Novato three years ago.

She was a member of the senior chapter 215 of Order of Eastern Star, White Shrine and Ladies Auxiliary Veterans of World War I.

Surviving are a daughter, Nina Dinger of Santa Rosa; a son, Brian S. Madden of Minneapolis, Minn.; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED

Grantley R. Berringer, 20, and Elaine J. Le Jarza, 21, both of San Rafael.

Town Session Workshops Scheduled

The San Rafael Town Meeting Association has scheduled six workshop sessions for the Oct. 14 Town Meeting at Dominican College in San Rafael.

Workshops scheduled and committee chairman heading the sessions include: open space, Tina Ferris; housing, Leland S. Bright; recreation, G. Scott Jones; and community development, Richard Sadler.

In addition, a workshop is scheduled for general citizen pet peeves, including roaming dogs, motorcycle noise, street repair, drainage, and traffic.

Another discussion workshop will be headed by San Rafael city officials, who will field questions on subjects ranging from redevelopment to merger of San Rafael and Terra Linda.

The workshops will follow a keynote address at 9 a.m. by San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen. Election of Town Meeting officers and a vote on resolutions resulting from workshop sessions will be held in the afternoon.

Current officers of the association are Steven B. Sachs, chairman; Priscilla Bull, vice chairman; Susan Lifschiz, secretary and Dan L. Chestnut, treasurer, as well as the various committee chairmen who will head workshop discussions.

Phony Brink's Guards Indicted

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Two men, one of them a policeman, accused of posing as Brink's guards to steal $316,500 from unsuspecting bank officials Sept. 12, were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury.

The indictment said Wallace Cowper, a Cleveland patrolman, and Willie B. O'Neal took the money from the Great Lakes Mall branch of the Lake County National Bank.

O'Neal awaits extradition here from Lexington, Miss., where he was held by authorities. Cowper, 31, a policeman since 1969 previously worked as a part-time messenger for Brink's Inc.

Auditions Slated For 'Peter Pan'

Auditions will be held Saturday at Isabel Cook School multi-purpose room, San Anselmo, for actors, actresses and dancers for "Peter Pan," to be presented by the College of Marin Community Services in December.

Auditions for the roles of Peter Pan and Wendy will be from 10 a.m. to noon, adult roles from 1 to 4 p.m. and dancers at 3 p.m. Only experienced adult and child actors are eligible, a spokesman said.

Wine, Beer Permit Before Planners

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will consider an application from the Plank Delicatessen, 21 Mariposa Avenue, for a wine and beer permit when it meets Monday at 8 p.m.

The commission will also consider Nathan P. Hales's application for a two-lot subdivision at 220 Forbes Avenue.

"TO YOU THE EARTH YIELDS HER FRUIT"

Kahlil Gibran

Once again it is time to invite you all to our Fall Festival. Come and take advantage of the many special savings we offer. This is our way to say "Thank you" to our customers — to say "We appreciate your loyalty and support." The friendly contact with our customers makes it a pleasure to be in this business, in this continuing quest for healthful living.

I have been in the health food business for over 35 years, yet there is always more to learn! Our nutritional concerns change as our knowledge of this intricate system, which is man, becomes more complete. Health is certainly not an end in itself, but a means of attaining life's purposes. Without health it is difficult to reach life's goals — so it becomes very important to us to learn more about it.

We all want to strive for optimum nutrition, yet do not always know what this means. The minimum daily requirements of nutrients have been well established by science, but what about the optimum? This question is not so easily answered. We know that through heredity, human needs for different nutrients vary widely. I feel that future research will throw more light on this subject.

But there is much we already know - it is important to pay attention to the quality of the food we eat. The optimum diet is a balanced diet of whole, natural foods. Foods that are left vital, and are not fragmented, carry their own compliments of vitamins and minerals. Thinking about the wholeness of food, gives us a new appreciation of nature and reverance for life.

With this feeling we wish you Here's Health,

June and Howard Embury

New Master Levee Plan Recommended

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's chief water official said yesterday a new master levee system for the Sacramento delta should be built to prevent new levee breaks similar to the disastrous Isleton flood last June.

Until that master levee system is built, there should be limits on new construction within the delta islands, William Gianelli, director of the Department of Water Resources told a legislative committee.

Gianelli also proposed a system of levee inspections by federal or state officials as an interim measure.

Earlier in the hearing before the Senate Agriculture and Water Committee, Col. James Donovan of the Army Corps of Engineers said other levees in the delta, including those protecting Bethel Island, are "inadequate."

Donovan also urged the state "to take the leadership position" to develop a coordinated delta flood protection plan.

Gianelli said the "best solution" to the flood problem is "legislation directing an equitable sharing of the necessary financing" of a multiple-purpose master levee system.

"It should be recognized," Gianelli said, "that the most economical approach to flood control would be construction of a master levee system to reduce the length of levees requiring reconstruction and maintenance against high water stages.

"Any plan for levee construction should be multiple-purpose and should involve financial participation by all beneficiaries. It should also include some form of an organization to assure implementation of the plans. A regional organization might satisfy that requirement," he said.

Gianelli, chief of California's $3 billion State Water Project, also said that until the proposed master levee system is built there should be "a program for regulating the development on the levees and within the islands."

"The type of developments which are occurring can only increase the public cost if the levees fail. It is in the state's interest to require the counties to develop and enforce adequate zoning regulations," he said.

Both Donovan and Gianelli cited what Gianelli called "some of the worst soils in the world insofar as construction is concerned" in the delta area. Donovan said even 90-year-old levees in the area are still sinking, although at a slower rate than newer levees.

Sen. Howard Way, chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Water Resources Committee, said the hearings were not intended to "fix responsibility or blame" for the levee break, but only to determine what should be done to prevent future failures.

FILL IN WITH FLASH LIGHT

Almost every amateur photographer makes use of flash-bulbs, electronic flash, or the newer flash-cubes when shooting indoors or in darkness. But flash can be a highly functional asset for your picture taking even in brightest sunlight.

Fill-in flash, as it is called, is really a must for outdoor portrait style pictures taken in bright sun. Women expecially like the results, because the fill-in flash softens and improves skin texture and tone around the face. It smooths away unwanted lines and shadows around the eyes, and the brightness of the flash will be reflected in a sparkle in the subject's eyes.

You'll find many other situations where you can use outdoor flash. Suppose you're in a deeply-shadowed area, such as in a woods or the heavy shadow of a building. Fill-in flash will give you just enough light to record details you want to capture without eliminating the interesting shadows.

So experiment with outdoor flash . . . and be sure you always have enough flashbulbs or flashcubes on hand. Stop in at our store and pick up a supply, along with the right film for the pictures you won't want to miss.

THE LAST RIDE

Roaring down the ideal trails made by construction grading, four boys get some after-school fun on their motorbikes in the Madera del Presidio site of Corte Madera. Today, however, the fun was to come to an end because town police have received permission from Cal West Properties to chase the trailriders away. "It's kind of a shame," confessed Police Chief David L. McIntosh, "because those kids need somewhere to ride. But it's close to houses and neighbors have complained about the noise." The riders hadn't been breaking any law because the developers had permitted them to ride on the site after grading operations finished each day.

Prop. 14 Study Group Named By Dixie Board

The Dixie School District board of trustees last night named a 24-member citizens finance advisory committee to study the effect on the district if Proposition 14, the Watson tax revision initiative, is passed in the Nov. 7 election.

The group will hold its first meeting Oct. 2 at 8 p.m. at the District office, San Rafael.

Composed entirely of parent volunteers, the group may grow to about 50 members, according to district Supt. Clifford W. Campbell.

The board, which opposes the measure, decided to organize a citizens group after receiving letters against the measure from Governor Ronald Reagan, state School Supt. Wilson Riles and state Sen. Peter H. Behr (R-S.R.). Campbell said the measure, which would limit property tax as means of supporting schools and other governmental agencies, would reduce district income by 30 per cent.

The Dixie School District trustees also:

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of T. A. Thio as custodian as Oak View School and Ralph Milner as district maintenance mechanic.

BUS DRIVERS — Hired as bus drivers Gloria Funk, Barbara Swisher and Geraldine Campbell.

INSTRUCTIONAL AIDES — Hired Mrs. Patricia Young as an instructional aide at Santa Margarita School and Miss Constance Wagner as an instructional aide at Lucas Valley School.

REPRESENTATIVE — Nominated Sally Rakow of the Ross School District Board as representative to the California School Boards Association Delegate Assembly.

RELEASE TIME — Allowed district psychologist Al Carr to attend graduate study courses one afternoon per week.

KIDNEY PROGRAM — Agreed to participate in the screening program of the Marin Chapter of the Northern California Kidney Foundation. A health unit will visit each school to take urine specimens from pupils whose parents have given permission.

SURVEY — Discussed a proposed survey to be sent to parents and teachers soliciting their views on the goals of the district.

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE — Decided that trustees are well enough informed on legislative matters affecting them and are not interested in joining a proposed Marin County School Boards Association legislative committee.

TOUR — Toured new facilities at Oak View School and expressed pleasure.

11th-Hour Move By Army May Stall Recreation Area Approval

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A last-minute move by the Army apparently has derailed the final vote scheduled for Monday by the House of Representatives on creation of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, an author of the legislation, said there was "less than a 50-50 chance" now of getting a house vote Monday — a delay which he conceded may mean the bill could not go to the President until some time next year.

Mailliard, canceling campaign appearances, flew here last night from San Francisco to attempt to beat back the Army's move.

The Army's ploy came in a letter from the Secretary of the Army to the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, objecting that the Army wanted more say over conversion of its forts to park use. The committee chairman, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., promptly asked Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., not to recognize anyone attempting to get a house vote on the bill creating the recreation area.

Hebert, according to Mailliard, objected that disposition of military lands properly belonged in his committee, and should not have been handled by the interior committee. As chairman of a major committee, Hebert carries a lot of political muscle, Mailliard acknowledged.

Mailliard also noted that Hebert and the chairman of the interior committee, Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., were "old buddies." Further complicating Aspinall's traditionally unpredictable character, Mailliard said, was the fact that he was defeated in the primary election "and might not show up Monday."

A two-thirds vote will be needed Monday to take up the proposal.

The result was that backers of the proposal were "in a very difficult parliamentary situation," Mailliard said. Major concessions to the Army may be the only way to break the delay, he added.

Recognition of Aspinall — or anyone else he selects to ask that the bill be taken up — will be entirely at the discretion of Albert, said Mailliard, who expects to know by tonight if the bill can be rescued in time for action Monday.

Similar legislation is being heard in committee in the Senate, but upper house action on the bill will be moot if its companion bill is stymied in the lower house.

The proposal calls for creation of a recreation area linking the Golden Gate Headlands with Point Reyes National Seashore via the Olema Valley.

THE '73 FORDS ARE HERE.

Quiet is the sound of a well-made car.

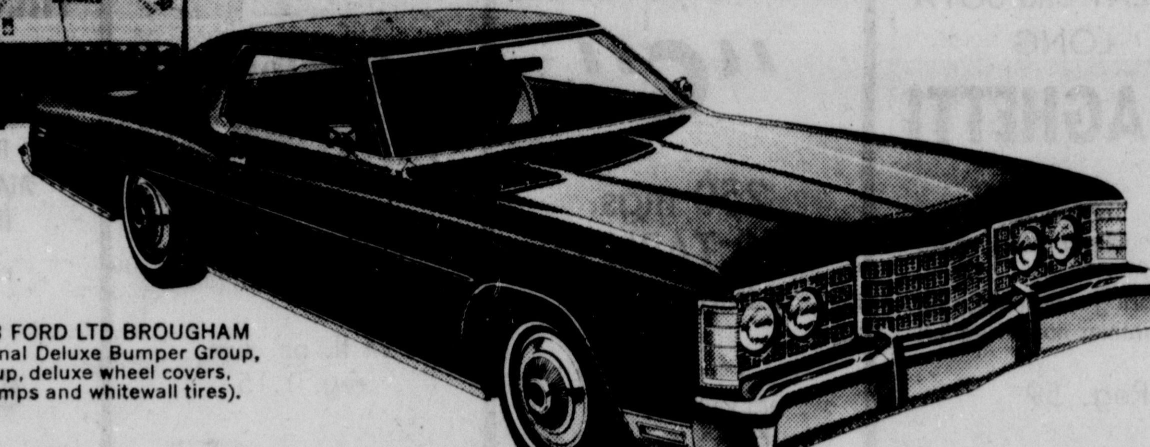
On July 27, 1972, General Radio Co. tested a '73 LTD against an airborne glider. Both at 60 mph and with identical sound level meters. The result: the Ford was quieter. But the new LTD is more than just quiet. It is well made from its power front disc brakes, power steering and automatic transmission, standard equipment, to its luxurious, comfortable, roomy interior. There are 16 new Ford models to choose from and each will convince you that quiet is the sound of a well-made car.



THE QUIET 1973 FORD LTD BROUGHAM (shown with optional Deluxe Bumper Group, Convenience Group, deluxe wheel covers, front cornering lamps and whitewall tires).

A '73 Torino rode so smooth, a high wire artist kept balance on a road of 2x4's.

Chances are you won't try to balance yourself on top of your new Torino. But, when you're riding inside, you'll still appreciate Torino's refined suspension—because it helps to cushion bumps, absorb road vibrations and reduce body sway. You feel solidly in control while you ride in comfort and luxury.
The solid mid-size Torino. Smooth riding, strong and quiet.

'73 Pinto: When you get back to basics, you get back to Ford.

Ford, the company that built the first basic, solid, reliable car seventy years ago—has built today's basic, solid reliable car: Pinto. It's become America's top selling economy car for more reasons than economy. Here are some of those reasons: A 1600 cc. engine developed and perfected in over 10 years of actual driving. Rack-and-pinion steering. Solid welded body, electrocoated to fight corrosion. 4-speed transmission—lubed for life. Everything we've learned in seventy years of car making—all the basics—we build into every Pinto Wagon, Runabout and Sedan. When you get back to basics, you get back to Pinto.

A 1973 Pinto on the Michigan Testing Facility. The cables connecting the Pinto to the Van enable us to monitor Pinto's performance.

THE 1973 PINTO WAGON (shown with Squire Option, luggage rack, Deluxe Bumper Group and whitewall tires).

There are 39 new models to choose from.

And every 1973 Ford, Thunderbird, Torino, Mustang, Maverick and Pinto—comes equipped with new energy-absorbing bumpers and steel guard rails in all side doors. Steel-belted radial ply tires and AM/FM stereo radios are options on all models. Test-drive these new Fords at your Ford Dealer's now.

Objections To Pier Are Lodged

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Several objections to a proposed Marin pier and houseboat mooring on aesthetic grounds have been received by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Two objections were received to an application by Donlan J. Arques of Sausalito to build anew houseboat mooring at Waldo Point on Richardson Bay, and two others to a permit application by Raymond G. Handley of Palo Alto to build a pier in Raccoon Straits, Tiburon.

No objection was received to a permit application from Miriam Tellis of Sausalito to construct a pier for houseboat mooring at Waldo Point in Richardson Bay.

A decision to grant or deny the permits will be made by the corps of engineers after comments on the projects are received from the Department of Interior.

Petaluma Building Permits Increase

The Petaluma Building Inspection Division issued $2,751,166 in building permits in August for an increase of $1,865,518 over those issued in July and $877,782 more than those issued in August 1971.

The department issued 70 permits, including 26 single-family homes, 12 apartment units and a new commercial building.

Dismissal Asked For Seale Trial

BOBBY SEALE
Charges dropped

U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson said Wednesday he would ask that the charges be forgotten rather than reveal transcripts of electronic surveillance in connection with the explosive 1969-70 trial during which Seale was bound and gagged. The binding and gagging was one of the high points of the trial of activists charged with conspiring to foment riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Thompson, in a letter to Chief U.S. Appeals Court Judge Luther M. Swygert, said the government had concluded "it would be inimical to our national security interests" to reveal the transcripts to the defense.

"Therefore," he said, "we conclude that the interests of justice would best be served by withdrawing the contempt case charges against Seale and will so move before the judge when the case is assigned."

The transcripts were originally introduced in the chambers of Chicago Seven trial Judge Julius J. Hoffman. The appeals court ruled that if they were not shown to the defense "then the contempt charges against Seale must be dropped."

Seale, national chairman of the Black Panther party, had insisted during the trial on acting as his own attorney. When Hoffman refused to let him do so, Seale frequently interrupted the trial and even scuffled with U.S. marshals.

However he finally declared a mistrial in Seale's case, but sentenced him to a total of four years on contempt charges.

Ribicoff Says Nixon Spurned Compromise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., accused President Nixon today of turning his back on a welfare reform compromise accepted by two cabinet members.

Ribicoff said on June 16 Nixon spurned the advice of HEW Secretary Elliot Richardson and Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson and 19 Republican senators and refused to endorse a welfare bill only somewhat more liberal than the President's own bill, proposed three years ago.

In a senate speech, Ribicoff asked Nixon "to follow through on three years of speeches about the need for welfare reform" and back the Ribicoff compromise.

The President's plan, approved by the House June 22, would pay a family of four a guaranteed income of $2,400 a year, including families in which the adults work but do not earn that much.

Ribicoff's bill raises that figure to $2,600, provides that states which are more generous than that cannot cut back and calls for a short-term test of aid for the working poor before it is put into effect nationally.

"In the middle of a presidential election, words often obscure deeds and rhetoric substitutes for action," Ribicoff said in reintroducing his plan.

"But 25 million Americans have a right to expect more from their elected representatives...They have a right to expect the Senate to meet the President half-way. I think the Ribicoff-administration agreement is the vehicle that will allow us to meet those expectations."

Cancer Link With Virus Is Revealed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —New evidence that at least some cancers in humans are connected with viruses has been revealed at the Seventh National Cancer Conference.

Nearly all leukemia patients tested so far were found to be harboring an enzyme similiar to that present in a virus that causes cancer in mice, a Columbia University researcher told the conference Wednesday.

The report came from Dr. Sol Spiegelman, director of the university's Institute of Cancer Research in a report to the 2,000 physicians attending the conference, sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute.

Spiegelman reported that 95 per cent of leukemia sufferers tested were found to carry the enzyme called reverse transcriptase and other indicators of a cancer virus, regardless of what kind of leukemia they had.

The enzyme is also found in patients suffering from sarcomas, Hodgkin's disease and breast cancer, Spiegelman said.

Dr. Seymour Perry, associate scientific director of the chemotherapy program of the National Cancer Institute, told a news conference that Spiegelman's work provides new leads in the war on cancer.

If the enzyme must be present for the cancer to survive, he said, researchers may find a drug that will prevent its production.

Experimenters are now working with some drugs that appear to have some of the requirements for blocking the enzyme, Perry said.

The presence of the enzyme may also be important as an indicator to physicians that cancer is present—especially in the case of patients whose cancers were treated and presumed cured.

It now takes the presence of about 10 billion cancer cells—about a quarter of a teaspoonful—to alert doctors that the cancer has spread to another part of the body following its treatment at the original site.

World Effort Asked To Find Cancer Cure

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—President Nixon said today the U.S.Soviet agreement to cooperate in medical research marked a significant turning point in the struggle against disease and he called for an international effort to find a cure for cancer.

"The barriers between nations may be great, but when it comes to fighting cancer their common interests are greater," he said in remarks prepared for delivery before the National Cancer Conference.

"Perhaps this fight against cancer can help to teach the world that despite immense differences between cultures and values and political systems, nations must work together to meet their common needs."

He spoke shortly before ending a three-day political campaign in New York and California and returning to Washington.

"Like drug abuse, like hijacking, like terrorism, cancer is an international menace," he said. "We must confront it with an international alliance."

Nixon said his administration had more than doubled the federal budget for cancer in the last two years to more than $430 million and converted facilities at Fort Detrick, Md.—formerly used for developing biological warfare—to cancer research.

He said the Soviet minister of health, in the United States to help implement the medical research agreement he signed with the Russians during his Moscow visit, had recently visited this formerly top-secret facility.

Cash, Checks Taken

Cash and checks totaling $438 were stolen yesterday from the safe at the Argus-Courier, 830 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma. Police said the safe was not damaged and was opened by someone who knew the combination.

Railway Group Set Two Tours

The Pacific Coast Chapter of the Railway and Locomotive Historical Society will sponsor two boat excursions next month, one to Petaluma and one to Suisun Bay.

On Oct. 7, a seven-hour tour will begin at Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco, and take visitors into San Pablo Bay and up the Petaluma River to Petaluma, returning by China Camp and Raccoon Straits in view of Tiburon, Sausalito and the Golden Gate Bridge.

On Oct. 21, an outing will take visitors from San Francisco through the Carquinez Straits into Suisun Bay.

Reservations are available from Don Thrall, society treasurer, 610 Arlington Avenue, Berkeley.

Tripod Taken

A surveying instrument and tripod valued at $600 were stolen yesterday from the Phillips Construction Co. at the Park Lane apartments project, 109 Magnolia Avenue, Petaluma, police reported.

Aeronautics Board Eases Charter Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Civil Aeronautics Board has drastically revised its charter regulations so that any group of 40 or more persons may now fly at cutrate fares.

Declaring there is an irresistible public demand for low cost air transportation, the board Wednesday revised regulations stipulating that charter flight passengers had to be members of the same club or organization. According to the board, the old rules were being flouted by many airline passengers, travel agents and airlines.

The new regulations are designed to eliminate questionable operations whereby bogus clubs and groups were listed for charter passengers to join. In addition, organizers will now have to be bonded with a bank so passengers will not be stranded if the firm fails during their trip.

Countywide Police Plan Sidestepped

The Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen sidestepped discussion of a single countywide police department last night, deciding instead to probe the matter in detail at its next meeting on Oct. 25.

Sausalito City Councilman Sally Stanford expressed immediate opposition to the consolidation proposal, according to San Anselmo Mayor Warren R. Perry, chairman of the group.

"Hers was the only dissenting voice," Perry said, adding that she demanded that police departments be left under local control.

Perry said the council would take action on the proposal and perhaps form a study committee at its next meeting.

The longstanding proposal for the formation of one department to serve all municipalities and unincorporated communities in Marin was renewed by the Marin County Grand Jury in its final report for 1971-72.

Marin Council of Mayors, Councilmen also:

SAFETY — Heard a report that Marin cities have outstanding pedestrian safety records.

APPOINTMENT — Ratified the appointment of San Anselmo Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson to the Marin County Transit District Board. Council minutes had not recorded the appointment, which was made last year, according to Perry.

COMMITTEE — Revived the council's tax equity committee, which is charged with making sure citizens living in cities and the county pay a fair share of taxes, according to Perry. He said that San Anselmo and Corte Madera have not yet appointed representatives to the committee.

CELEBRATION — Decided to discuss Marin's participation in the 1976 national bicentennial on Oct. 25.

JOINT USE — Decided that each city should forward views on joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base to Association of Bay Area Governments representative Holmes S. Norville.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 6:45 p.m. Oct. 25.

Liberated Woman

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The first woman to climb 14,110-foot Pike's Peak was Julia Archibald Holmes, a suffragette who defied her husband in 1858 to make the trip in bloomers.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

3:04 p.m., Marinwood — Kitchen fire caused by burning pot at home of William Hurtado at 567 Appleberry Drive caused $1,500 smoke damage.

5:35 p.m., San Anselmo — Smoke check at San Francisco Theological Seminary turned out to be a smoky incinerator.

Bomb Scare By Runaway Youth

BEIRUT (UPI)—Ali Shaaban, a 9-year-old chewing gum seller, created a bomb scare Wednesday when he tried to run away from home.

He was found trying to stow away on a Czechoslovak airliner at Beirut airport. He told airport police a man had asked him to place a parcel aboard a Middle East Airlines plane, but he did not know which one.

It was several hours before Ali admitted to police that he made up the story about the parcel. In the meantime, three airliners that had taken off from Beirut made emergency landings at Athens and were searched for bombs.

Schools Closed In D. C. Strike

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

District of Columbia schools were ordered closed today and the president of the striking teachers union jailed, while Philadelphia schools prepared to open for the first time in four weeks.

The bitter disputes in Washington and Philadelphia involving 325,000 students and 20,000 teachers were the most serious of several school labor problems in the East, South and Midwest.

D.C. School Superintendent Hugh Scott excused students from attending classes until Monday.

"The question must be asked are students better off at home...than they would be in school," Scott said. "I have reached the conclusion that the answer is yes."

Superior Court Judge Robert Campbell ordered union president William Simons to be jailed at 4 p.m. EDT today. He also ordered 22 other top union officials to jail on Monday if the strike is not ended.

Campbell imposed a $50,000 fine against the union for contempt and a fine of $10,000 for each day the strike continues. Individual members of the union's executive committee were fined $300 each and $100 each day the strike continues.

Campbell said the teachers were in "open defiance of the law."

Before Campbell announced his action, the House District Committee approved a new pay package for the teachers that would provide a 12 per cent raise over two years.

Simons, however, criticized the committee action as "discriminatory." He said the same panel approved a 17 per cent pay boost for the city's police and firemen earlier this year, the same amount requested by the teachers. Congress is responsible for appropriating funds to the city government.

In Philadelphia, 13,000 striking teachers approved a tentative "memorandum of understanding" by a three to one margin during a mass meeting at Convention Hall.

The compromise was hammered out during two days of talks in the chambers of Judge D. Donald Jamieson, President of Common Pleas Court.

The agreement calls for negotiators representing the Philadelphia Federation of Teachers and the school board to bargain starting today. If the impasse is not resolved by Dec. 31, the compromise will expire and the strike could resume.

During the talks, under the supervision of Jamieson, teachers will be paid under terms of the old contract, and any new agreement reached will be retroactive.

Mrs. Dolcini St. Anthony New Leader

Mary Margaret Dolcini of Petaluma has been installed as the 1972-73 president of the St. Anthony Farms Auxiliary.

St. Anthony Farms, located in Sonoma County, is a non-profit charitable organization offering men who once were homeless and without funds the chance to work on the farm in exchange for a home, care and an opportunity to improve their lives.

The farms were begun in 1954 by a Franciscan friar, Father Alfred Boeddeker, OFM, founder and executive director of St. Anthony Dining Room in San Francisco. The farms try to provide an atmosphere where a man can think through his problems, replan his life, reorganize his attitudes and prepare for a successful career.

The auxiliary was formed two years ago and Mrs. Dolcini served as vice president both years. She also is active in St. Vincent Mother's Club, the Dominican College Alumnae, and she supports the Ballet Aquacade.

Natives of Petaluma, she and her husband Earl James, a dairy rancher, have seven children. Mrs. Dolcini attended St. Vincent High School in Petaluma and Saint-Mary-of-the-Woods in Indiana. She has a bachelor's degree in education.

The auxiliary adds the "woman's touch" to the mens' residence, which houses 40 volunteers. They have decorated the living quarters with curtains, pictures and flowers. They promote social events including a Christmas party program with tree decorating, caroling and presents. The auxiliary also promotes seasonal table decorations for holidays and special desserts for holiday means. This year they hope to start a fund for needed work shoes.

Anyone interested in working with the farm may join. It is non-demoninational.

Serving with Mrs. Dolcini will be Mmes. Charles Toohey, vice president; Herbert Every, secretary; Dario Marioni, treasurer. Board members are Mmes. Lucien Libarle, Charles de la Forest and Mervin Waters.

Casual Looks Right For City, Country

Casual sportswear looks are right for city or country wear, according to Seventeen magazine. The almost rugged look includes clothes that are lightweight such as nylon parkas, khaki paratrooper suits and denim suits.

Other take-it-easy looks include flannel suits with battle jackets and gently flared skirts worn with loafers and knee socks.

Steam Not Good

Guard against steam when you are melting semisweet chocolate because steam causes the chocolate to stiffen.

Historic Homes Tour In Petaluma Readied

By KAREN PETERSON

Visitors to Heritage Home Tour will get a close look at the careful preservation and restoration of the elegant historical homes and structures in Petaluma. "Reflections of Petaluma's Historic Past" is the title of the tour which will be held Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. in Petaluma.

The tour will include three Victorian-style homes, a renovated duplex and cottage property and the Old Christian Church, which the Heritage Home Club helped save from destruction. Each home has been carefully preserved to maintain the flavor of the original architectural design, both inside and out.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Caetano on Howard Street was built in 1906 by the Murry sisters, who moved from San Francisco after the earthquake. The late Victorian home was designed by local architect Brinard Jones.

THE CAETANOS, who have lived in the house for nearly two years, completely remodeled the kitchen and added a downstairs bathroom with a tiled sunken Roman tub. The original woodwork was intact as were the gas fixtures which remain in the halls and dining room. The fireplace facade in the parlor was imported from Italy by the Murrys as were the ornate brass coverings.

The couple have done extensive landscaping in the front and rear of the house. The back consists of a wrap-around deck and arbor and the fence atop the brick wall in front was salvaged from the McNear mansion and incorporated into the landscaping plan.

The exterior of the 14-room mansion owned by Earl Hummel is one of the home's most outstanding features.

Built in 1883 by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haubrich, the house has remained virtually the same for almost 90 years. Each of the four owners have been careful not to destroy or mar any of the original features.

HUMMEL, WHO purchased the house three years ago, has done extensive work on the exterior. The porches were replaced and care was given to duplicate the original outside features. Inside, the house still has all the original hardware and fixtures, including gas lights that were converted to electricity around the turn of the century. Wainscotting in the hallways and several rooms is of an intricately embossed material called lincrusta — a glossy papier mache-type material.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Redway bought their home on Kentucky Street five years ago. Since that time they have painstakingly restored the stately two-story home and have succeeded in restoring it to its original beauty.

The exact date of its construction is unknown, but the Redways believe, based on historical data and dated bronze hardware still remaining in the home, that the house was built between 1870 and 1880. The home was built by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tomasini of Switzerland, designed to match the French home of Mrs. Tomasini's mother, Mrs. DeMartini, who moved to Petaluma to live with them. Mr. Tomasini was the first director of the Dairy Owners Council.

THE HOUSE had never been sold until 1967, when the Redways purchased it from the Tomasini heirs. Structurally the house has not been changed on the exterior except to remove two lean-to's in the rear. Important restoration has taken place on the outside including hand cut round shingles over bay windows and decorative features handmade to replace missing cornice ornaments. All the outside work was carefully duplicated to match the original work.

Inside, the Redways have carefully restored many of the features that had been damaged or covered over. This included removing walls that had been constructed when the house was converted into two apartments.

The house is beautifully furnished with antique furniture collected by the Redways. Future plans include the construction of a carriage house-garage in the back.

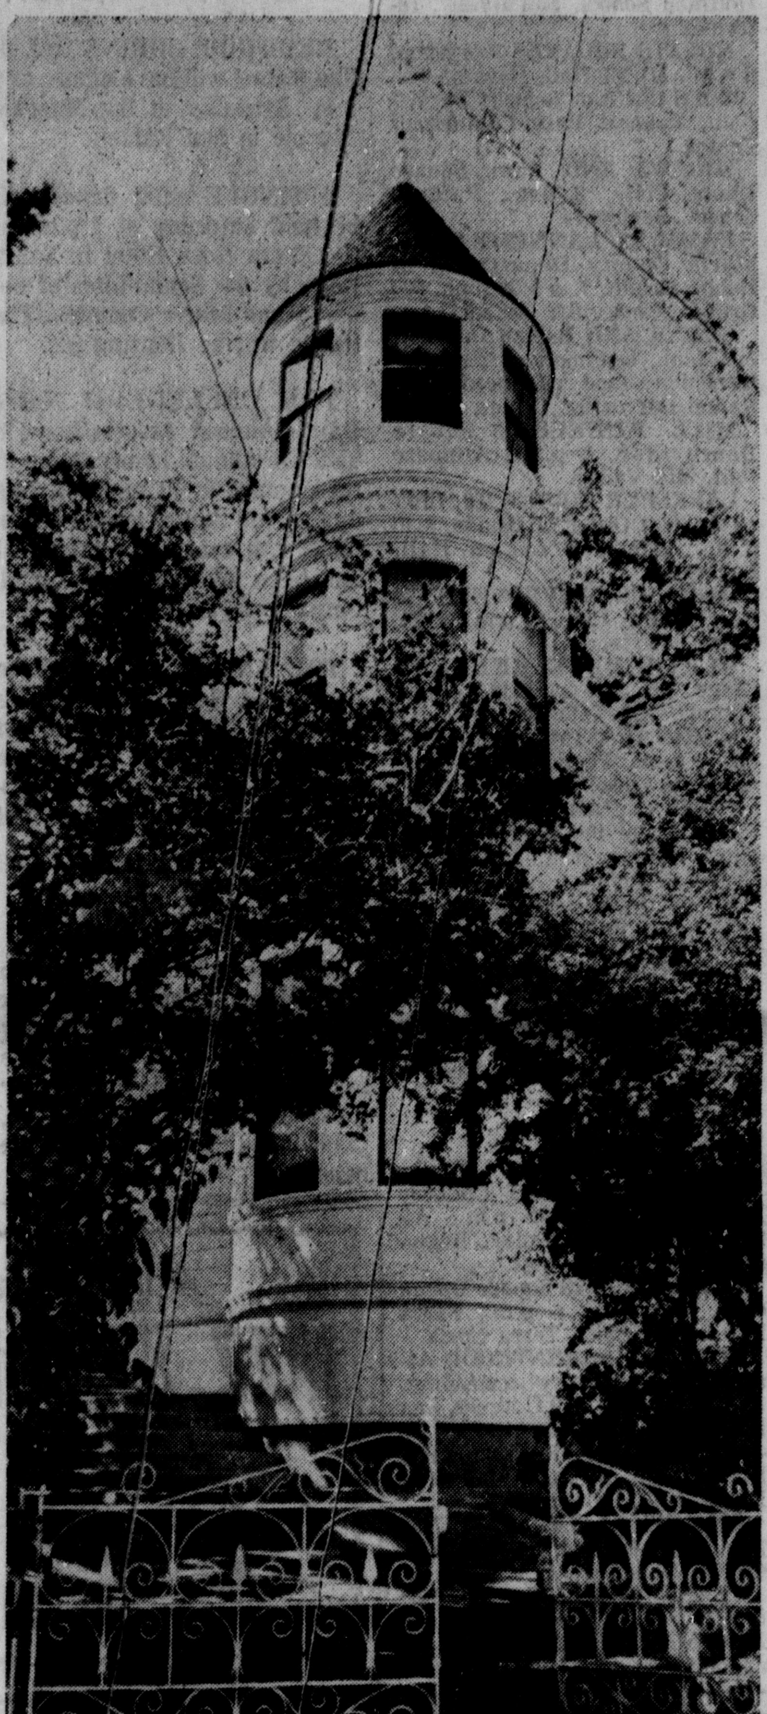
In 1966 Carlos Thompson and Jack Esker bought a piece of property on Upham Street that included four cottages and a duplex. Thompson recalls that it looked like something out of "Tobacco Road," but today the complex is being considered for a citation by a state historical organization.

A SONOMA woman, Mrs. Margaret Eliassen, convinced the two that the property could be restored. With a little encouragement and a lot of work, the two men pulled down, plastered and painted, and in the process, hauled away 100 truckloads of rubble.

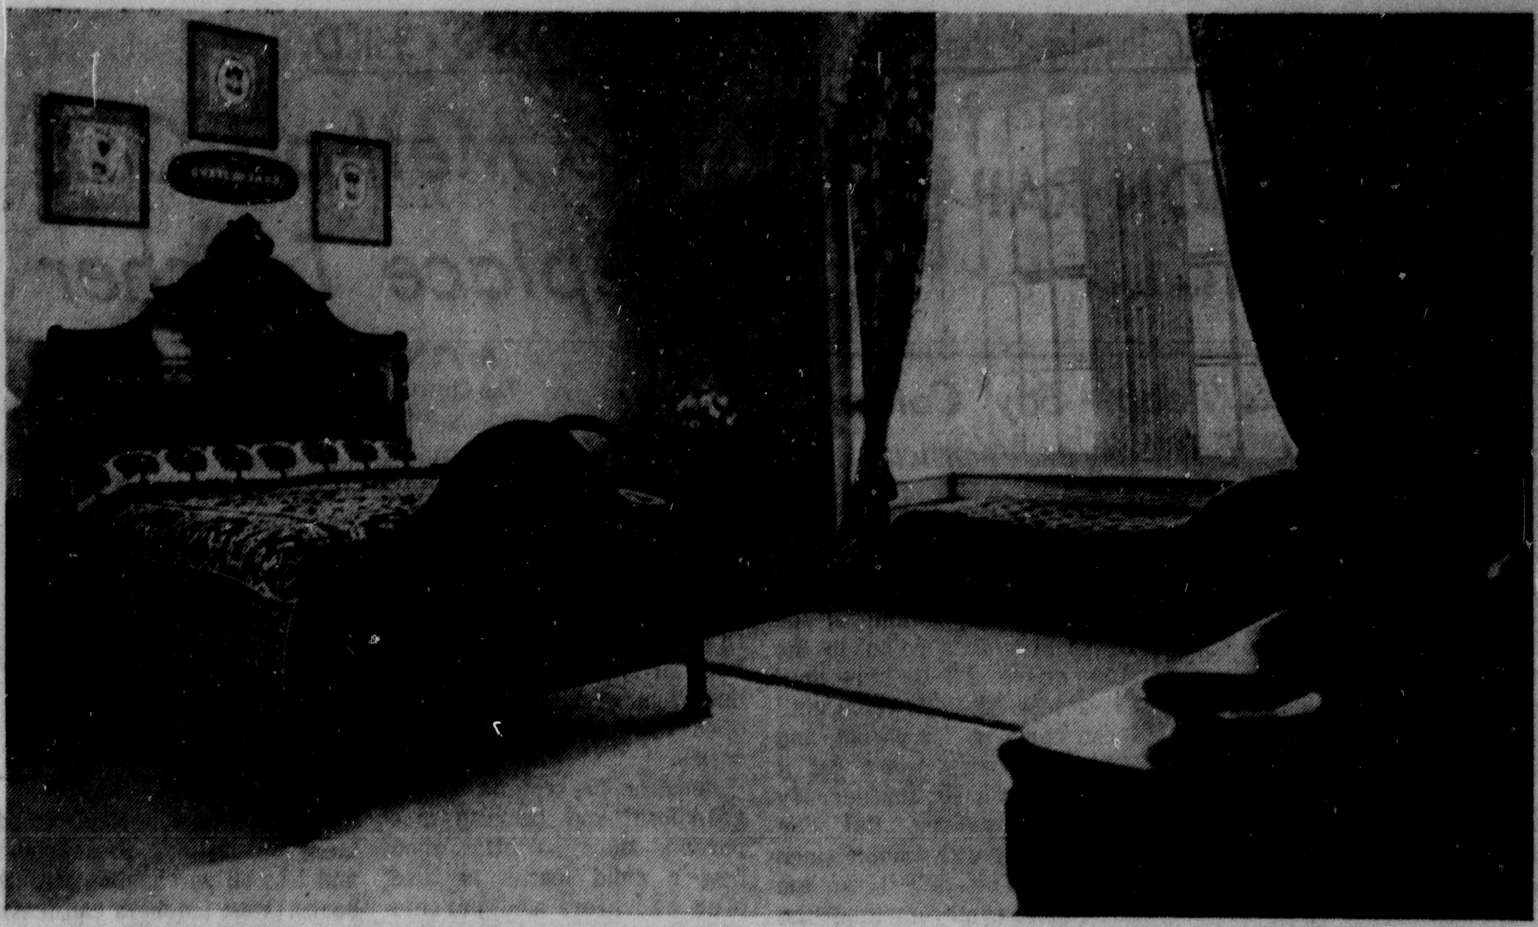
Today the five charming buildings ring a central courtyard with a ramada and small bricked pond.

The Thompson-Esker courtyard will be the site for the wine and cheese tasting festivites concluding the tour.

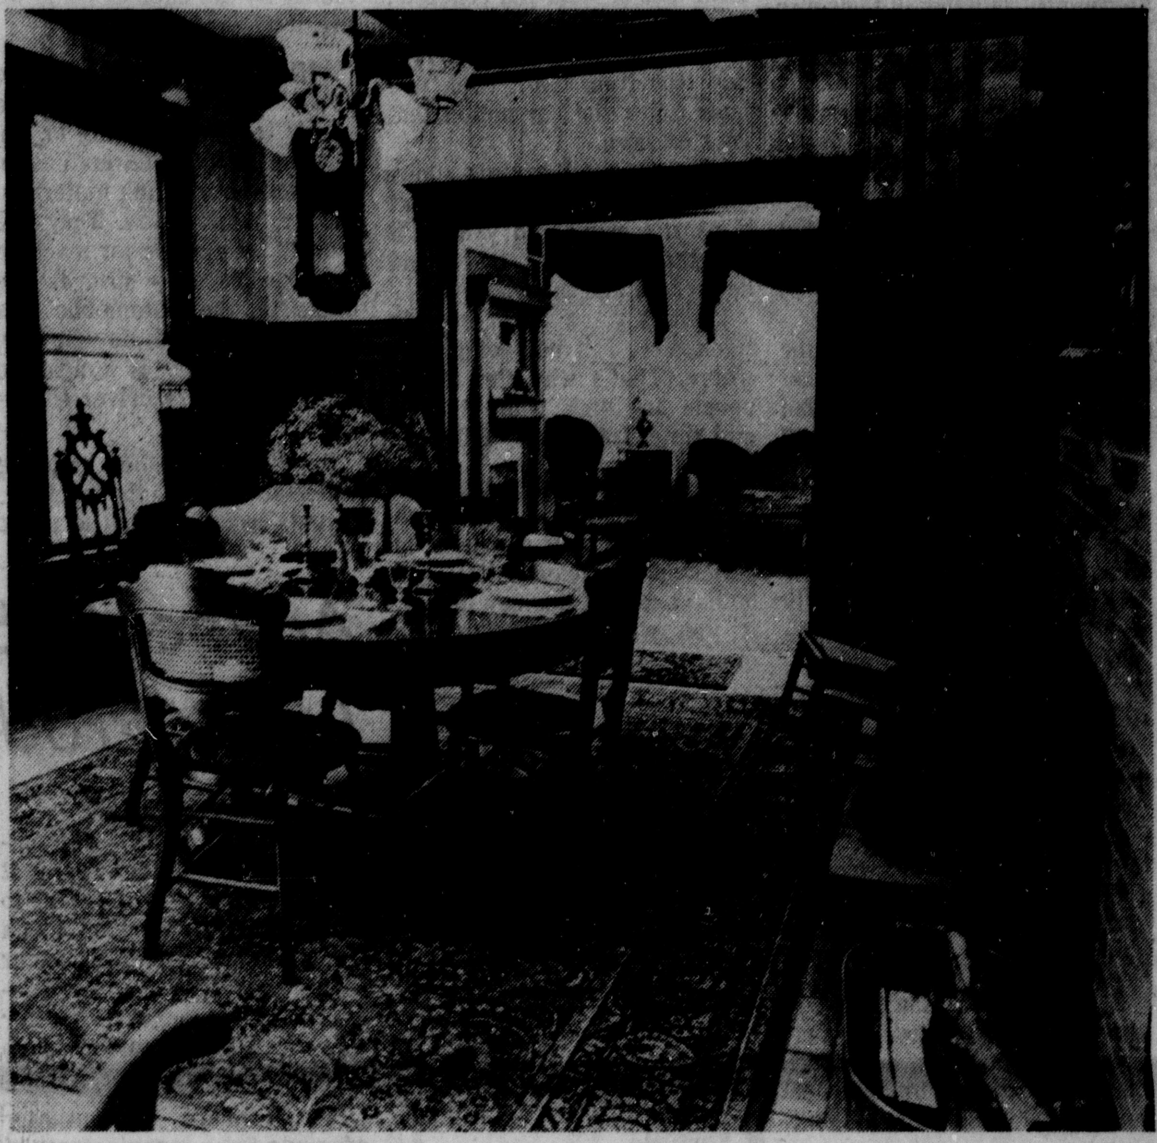
Tickets will be sold on tour day at the Old Christian Church, English and Western Streets, and may be obtained in advance by writing to Heritage Homes, 319 Howard Street, Petaluma.



THE EARL Hummel home on Prospect is an example of the handsome structures open for the Heritage Club Home Tour Sunday. The 14-room home was built in 1883 and contains many original features, including a halltree which has been in the house since the turn of the century and some original rugs and wallpaper.



AN UPSTAIRS bedroom in the Redway home is accented with an intricate, finely woven handmade bedspread. The Redways have restored the large house in Petaluma with furnishings reminiscent of the Victorian period. The exact date of its construction is unknown but original bronze hardware in the home is dated 1873. Visitors on tour will receive brochures detailing the homes and owners will be on hand to discuss the furnishings and history of their property.



LEADED CHINA cabinets in the dining room contained the original blueprints of the late Victorian home owned by Tony and Bonnie Caetano. The woodwork in the dining room had not been changed since construction of the house in 1906. Antiques and Oriental rugs grace this two-story house, one of the five properties highlighted on the tour.

Change A Little For A New Look

For a new look, change your hair — just a little.

If you always wear it long and straight, add little waves here and there. Do you have little-boy hair cut close to the head? Flip up your bangs with a curling iron or electric roller.

Maybe you've braided, crimped, frizzed and flipped, and still want something new to do with your hair. Try a combo of curls and smoothness: curls all around the edge (including the forehead), smooth at the crown. This look can adapt to any length hair; the secret is in the set.

Pincurl just the ends, always turning toward face. Then brush out from the crown.

Saturday Clothes

NEW YORK — This year's Saturday's clothes, the kind women can be free and feel good wearing, range from hooded coats with fur trim to denim pants and include wooly plaid shirt jackets worn over tailored pants.

Mrs. Clifford In Belvedere Visit

By MOLLY MARIN

Mrs. Clark Clifford, wife of the Washington, D.C., attorney who was secretary of defense during President Lyndon Johnson's administration, is visiting Mrs. Merritt Ruddock of Belvedere.

A prominent Washington hostess, Mrs. Clifford is author of a new cookbook, "Marny Clifford's Washington Cookbook," of favorites of famous government figures, both foreign and domestic.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruddock will host a small dinner party in her honor tonight at the Villa Taverna restaurant in San Francisco.

DINNER PARTIES at Marin homes will precede tonight's opera preview on "How to Listen to Wagner's Ring," to be held at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Mrs. John C. Alexander will honor Dr. Jack Sacher, associate professor of music at Montclair College, N.J., who will give the preview lecture, at a dinner party at her Sausalito home. Other guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Edmond C. Ward of Kentfield, Donald Blinco of Tiburon, Mrs. Nancy Downey of Kentfield and Mrs. Edward Shev of Sausalito. Mrs. Alexander is chairman of Marin Opera Action, the organization which sponsors the previews.

Mr. and Mrs. Gino Morena of Kentfield will also host a dinner tonight. Their guests will be his Excellency and Mrs. Vincenzo Crivello, who are visiting from Italy. Mr. Crivello is Italy's Minister of Justice. Mrs. Morena is the hostess chairman for the opera preview.

A GROUP of sustaining members from Marin will attend the Junior League of San Francisco's luncheon to honor the league sustainers on Oct. 5.

Some of the sustainers whose daughters are active Junior League members will be hostesses.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Newspaper's 'People Say' Column Shows Men, But Never Woman

RAP:

In our newspaper appear two picture panels. One is titled "What Women Are Saying" and gives quotes from well-known women. The other — "People Say . . ." — shows only men. Never has a female countenance graced this feature.

My question: aren't women "people"? — COLLEGE PERSON

PERSON:

Good question. Why don't you ask the editor? Maybe he's never thought of it that way. — SUE

PERSON:

. . .Nor (apparently) have the editors of "Who's Who," which lists one woman for every 25 or 30 men — then corrals other prominent females in their own book: "Who's Who of American Women." — HELEN

DEAR RAP:

I liked Ron a lot and so did my folks. But I got over it and they didn't. They say he's the nicest boy I ever went with, but I want to break up with him. I wish parents wouldn't get so darn involved.

It's hard enough telling the guy you're through, but what can I say to Mom and Dad when they ask "where's Ron?" — OVER IT

DEAR OVER:

Parents do tend to play favorites among their daughter's boyfriends, and they naturally feel great when she picks the one they like best. ("Imagine — we finally agree on something.")

But it's your life and your decision, so when they ask, "Where's Ron?" tell 'em, "We decided to cool it." Don't make the break-up sound too drastic, and hope they understand. — SUE

DEAR OVER IT:

Parent's often don't understand their daughter's preferences and rejections, but smart ones keep their comments to themselves. (Believe me, it isn't easy.)

Honest now — are you sure your folks' all-out approval of Ron didn't have something to do with your cooling down? A girl likes to make her own choices. — HELEN

NOTE FROM SUE: Right, Mom.

HELEN AND SUE:

I read your column in the newspapers that come to the state prison. I'll be here until I'm at least 38 — it's years until I can come up for parole, and then I probably won't get it because I'm in for murder. My age? Twenty-three. But I've been running with trouble since I was 11. This time I ran too far. I don't even remember the crime but they tell me us three guys killed a man. I was too spaced out on dope to know what happened.

I just want to tell these kids who think drugs are cool: The only place junk will get you is maybe into the ruins of a thousand tons of steel and concrete. A persons does not "live" in prison. Each day passed is a day survived. Not even the bulls know the corruption that goes on here.

I want to tell parents something too: Be human. Don't think it's enough to yell, "I'll tell that cop over there and he'll come and put you away!"

Yeah, I got a lot of time to think now. I'm not going anywhere. That's why I'm telling people to think while there's still time. I didn't. — ED G.

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of this newspaper, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

Karen Vogel Engagement Announced

The Robert Florian Vogels of Corte Madera are announcing the engagement of their daughter Karen Christine Vogel to Richmond Bradley Hazlehurst of Kentfield.

Karen is the sister of Suzanne Marie, JuliAnn Rose and LiseAnn Marie Vogel and the granddaughter of Mrs. Paul Goursau of Kentfield and Mr. and Mrs. Florian A. Vogel of Burlingame. She is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and Dominican College and is employed by Western Truck Manpower, Inc., in San Rafael.

The couple plans to be married in August.

Richmond is the son of Mrs. Edmund Hazlehurst of Glendale, and the sister of Mrs. Lawrence Haglund of Raytown, Mo. He was graduated from Herbert Hoover High School in Bowling Green, Mo., attended Notre Dame University and is studying inhalation therapy at Bay City College in San Francisco.

Home Cookware Fit For Baking

Stove-top cookware so heavy you can bake in it is new from an Ohio manufacturer. The heavy-gauge wrought aluminum pots and pans have exteriors of decorated porcelain and knobs and handles that are ovenproof to 400 degrees Fahrenheit.

The manufacturer says potatoes can be baked in them in about an hour. Two covered saucepans, two covered fry pans and 5-quart dutch oven are available singly or in a set.

A special high dome cover for the 10-inch fry pan and the dutch oven is vented for browning foods.

PARENT AND CHILD

No Method Can Replace Teacher

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

There is no method for teaching reading which is so much better than all others that it should be used exclusively by the English-speaking world.

That is a very important statement for teachers of beginning reading and parents of first-year school pupils to keep in mind. In both Britain and the U.S., year after year, one or more publishers claim to have developed the reading series to end all reading series.

Because the claims are so grandiose, and because most parents know so little about how a child learns to read, ofen educators and parents (the educators should know better) blame the present reading program and not the teaching if one or more pupils fail to learn to read by the end of first grade.

They then call for the adoption of the new series so highly touted by the publisher and his "reading experts."

THE SIMPLE fact that there is no one method — no panacea — for teaching reading to English-speaking children lies in the fact that reading materials, per se, don't teach. They are merely the vehicle for teaching to take place — just as the make of the automobile has little or nothing to do with how Well a student is taught to operate a car in driver education.

Because published reading materials don't do the teaching, parents would do well to insist that the school system spend more on training its teachers and less on purchasing reading books. Most teachers can learn how to teach reading.

Most teachers learned how to read themselves by being good at what is called "sight" reading. Generally those who choose teaching as a career were quick to learn the basic skills themselves.

These teachers are often baffled when their pupils do not show a similar aptitude or use a similar method to learn. These adults need to be taught how to teach phonics, how to work with kinesthetic learners, how to develop seeing and hearing skills through games, how to diagnose every pupil to know how best to present new concepts to him, and how to manage the teaching of reading on an individual basis while being responsible for 20 to 40 children.

Probably every first-grade classroom should have at least one copy of each major publisher's beginning reading texts and primers, a selection of workbooks or worksheets and then dozens of picture and story books written especially for beginning readers.

IT ALSO would be wonderful if every first-grade classroom could have one parent on duty all day in the reading corner either to read aloud to those who want to listen or to be read to by pupils who learn by hearing themselves.

And wouldn't it be marvelous if every primary classroom could have a parent who would listen to a story told by a pupil, write it down, type it up on a large-type typewriter, then help the author to make a cover and illustrations before binding it with string or staples.

This might put many publishers out of the beginning reading text business, but it most certainly would improve the teaching of reading to little children.

Advocate Surprised Outcry Over Lousy Products Took So Long

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)--The outrage of consumers against shoddy products was bound to happen. What surprised Sheila Gordon is that it didn't occur sooner and that more companies didn't recognize earlier that "caveat emptor" was no empty Latin phrase.

Mrs. Gordon is the consumer advocate for a manufacturer of high fidelity equipment and works right from the president's office instead of being caught in a maze of bureaucracy that makes many consumer relations programs fail.

"The consumer movement generally was something that had to happen," said. "I'm a consumer and I've been caught. Where all this will lead in legislation, though, I don't know."

WHETHER CONSUMER spokesmen are privately active or representative of city, state or national government, the one thing they must have to be effective is "power leverage", said Mrs. Gordon.

She feels that the support Bess Myerson is getting as New York City's Commissioner of Consumer Affairs enables her to do "an excellent job." But Betty Furness probably left a similar job with New York state because she couldn't get the legislation she wanted.

"It's unfortunate that we have to have legislation in the first place," said Joseph L. Behr, vice president for research and development for the hi-fi company, Fisher, where Mrs. Gordon's title is consumer affairs coordinator.

Part of Behr's job is to oversee quality control and reduce the duties Mrs. Gordon has.

Fisher's program of consumer protection began with Avery Fisher himself, the man who invented high fidelity.

MRS. GORDON said that it all started in the 1930s when the firm was new and a one-man operation. When a customer called, Fisher answered the phone. When customers didn't call, Fisher would call them and ask how they liked his products, whether they were working properly and whether he could help.

To be sure, the company issued legal warranties but Fisher was always the backup.

As the company grew into an international one, obviously Fisher couldn't keep the personal touch without some assistance. Mrs. Gordon hired on as Fisher's administrative assistant, answering the phone as "the president's office."

Fisher officially retired last year at the age of 65 (but he still comes to the office and checks with long-time customers.). Don Harper took over the presidency and the program went on with the new president writing new customers personal letters along the same line as Fisher's phone calls.

MRS. GORDON handles the "adamant" customers, preferring to use the telephone to letters. She said she piles up about $5,000 in phone tolls annually.

he consumer representative, a petite blonde, is the wife of a New York state government executive, and the mother of two children—Gail, 21, and Eric, 16. She was "just a housewife" engaged in a lot of volunteer work until she decided to return to the business world and put her secretarial training to work.

ON THE AGENDA

Annual River Cruise Slated By Petaluma Community Guild

The Petaluma Community Guild will hold its annual river cruise on Sunday. The cruise will be a two way affair — up the Petaluma River in the morning for families and down the river that evening for adults. Both cruises will include a buffet lunch and an orchestra will play aboard the harbor cruise ship that evening.

Families will be taken to San Francisco by buses for the morning cruise. They will leave Petaluma at 9:30 a.m. for the boat which will leave Fisherman's Wharf at 11 a.m. It will arrive in Petaluma at 3 p.m.

A cocktail party will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the foot of B Street before the down-river cruise shoves off at 3:30 p.m. The boat will arrive at Fisherman's Wharf at about 8 p.m. and buses will transport travelers back to Petaluma immediately.

Proceeds of the cruise support the Community Guild's project of supplying eyeglasses for needy school children.

Information and tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Myrna Mohrman, Mrs. George Hatfield or Mrs. Frank Maus, all of Petaluma.

A BRIDGE tournament will be sponsored by the Marin Section of the National Council of Jewish Women beginning Sunday. It will end on March 10. Mrs. Kenneth Gosliner is taking registration for entry.

Proceeds will support the council projects of child care, ecology and juvenile justice.

REDWOOD SHRINE 102 of San Rafael will have dinner at 6 p.m. Saturday at the Masonic Temple in San Rafael.

A SINGLE adult dance will be held Saturday at 9 p.m. at the Santa Rosa Hotel in Santa Rosa by the Social-Lites of Sonoma and Marin Counties. The theme will be Roaring 20s.

THE COLLEGE of Notre Dame Alumni Association will hold the annual homecoming at the campus in Belmont on Sunday. A full day of events beginning with mass and breakfast has been scheduled. Marin alumnae will attend.

THE ANNUAL picnic of the non-profit German Language School of Marin will be held Sunday at Gerstle Park, San Rafael. Proceeds from the public event will go to operation of the school.

'I'm OK — You're OK'

Series On Stress To Continue

Dr. Thomas A. Harris of Sacramento, whose book, "I'm OK — You're OK: A Practical Guide to Transactional Analysis," is on the best seller list nationally, will speak Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Harris' talk, "I'm OK — You're OK," is the third in the eight part "SOS - Stress in Our Society" series, sponsored by the College of Marin and the Marin Mental Health Association.

A psychiatrist, Dr. Harris is a pioneer in the application of transactional analysis and studied with the late Dr. Eric Berne, author of "The Games People Play." He is vice president of the International Transactional Analysis Association and has had a private psychiatric practice in Sacramento for 12 years.

Home Cheese Kits Being Introduced

The little old home winemaker now can be a little old home cheesemaker as well. A home products manufacturer is introducing two kits, complete except for a gallon of milk.

The standard kit consists of an aluminum-backed cheesemaking thermometer, a polystyrene cylinder, pressing mechanisms, 12 each of rennet and color tables, instructions and a recipe book for brick, colby, American cheddar and Italian types of cheese and cheese spreads.

Hats For Fall

Hats for fall shape up with big, floppy berets, rolled-back Sou'wester brims, small floppy brims and shallow fedoras. The tight-looking cloche is another look. Lots of bright colors, plaids and prints go to the head.

UNUSUAL APPROACH TO HIGH LIFE

This 60-unit townhouse development on a slope so steep a funicular is needed to reach about one-third of the dwellings has been proposed for Tiburon's Red Hill area. The multimillion-dollar proposal by San Francisco developer Leonard Cahn includes 22 townhouses, a recreation building, swimming pool and 150-car garage on five acres near Harbor Oak Drive. A soils engineer hired by Cahn told the Tiburon Board of Design Monday night that the massive garage at the foot of the slope would stabilize what the city's planning director, Richard G. Arjo, called "a very active slide area." The plan will go to the city planning commission Nov. 6.

Jail Terms In Welfare Fraud Cases

Two former Marin women charged with welfare fraud were ordered yesterday to serve jail terms after pleading guilty in Marin Municipal Court.

For the misdemeanors, Judge Gary W. Thomas jailed Jacqueline Marie Solomon, 46, of Lakeport for 10 days and placed her on probation for one year and Victoria L. Moore, 28, of Cotati for 15 days and three years probation.

Miss Moore, according to Deputy Dist. Atty. Milton M. Hyams, was overpaid $352 in July 1971 and January 1972 because she filed in two different areas to pay for a trip to Europe.

Hyams said that the former social worker received aid in both San Francisco and Marin in July and continued to receive aid from San Francisco while in Europe, but no San Francisco prosecution has been forthcoming.

In January, she was paid both by Marin and St. Paul, Minn., welfare officials.

Mrs Solomon, a mother of three, received $238 too much between October 1971 and March 1972 because she failed to report her salary at Nave Lanes which averaged about $300 a month.

Both were ordered to pay back the money they were not entitled to, Hyams said.

Concord Cancels Show Of Planes

CONCORD (UPI)—The Concord Chamber of Commerce has cancelled a display of vintage airplanes at this weekend's air show at Buchanan Field because of a tragedy at Sacramento.

Jay Walton, chamber general manager, said Wednesday: "We felt the public might be worried about those planes flying in and out."

The plane involved in that accident had been scheduled to be shown in Concord.

Walton said five small planes would put on an aerobatics display as scheduled.

Pilot Testifies Navy In Illegal Bomb Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A former pilot testified today that the Navy as well as the Air Force made unauthorized bombing raids on North Vietnam, Senate Armed Services Committee members said.

They said former Lt. William G. Groeper told the committee in closed-door testimony that he knew of at least two raids made by carrier pilots which did not meet the "protective reaction" limitations President Nixon imposed between last November and March.

Sen. Richard Schweicker, R-Pa., a committee member, told reporters that Groeper testified Navy pilots were briefed in advance on the raids by their superiors and that reconnaissance aircraft only "trailed" the U. S. bombers.

Until the United States resumed full-scale bombing raids over North Vietnam after troops from the North invaded the South, U.S. planes were supposed to strike targets in the North only when they threatened U.S. reconnaissance flights over the country.

Groeper and Lt. William C. Moore Jr. were called before the committee to determine if the Navy —as well as the Air Force —had bombed North Vietnam in violation of those civilian limitations.

Schweicker said after the hearing that he was becoming "more suspicious" that responsibility for the raids reached "high up in the chain of command. I can't believe that these were isolated instances."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., another committee member, said, "If the fellow's testimony is correct, more than one service was involved."

But Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, dismissed Groeper's testimony as "hearsay," saying: "He only talked about two raids against an airfield and both times they got shot at."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., committee chairman, declined comment until the pilotshad completed their testimony. Moore was scheduled to tell his side later in the day.

Schweicker said Groeper's testimony showed the naval raids were "very preplanned." He said the pilots were briefed before the missions on their bomb loads and sites.

Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Stuart Symington, D-Mo., disputed Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird's assertion Wednesday that he had briefed them April 6 about unauthorized bombings conducted between last November and March by Air Force planes under the command of Gen. John D. Lavelle.

Lavelle was removed from command of Air Force operations in the war zone for the bombings and for sending the Pentagon misleading reports about them.

Laird said he told Case, Symington and Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, "of the fact that reports had been falsified under orders of General Lavelle."

Case and Symington said in a joint letter to the secretary: "We are certain that during the briefing on April 6, to which you refer, we were not advised that 'reports had been falsified under orders of General Lavelle.' "

No Charges In Vehicle Theft

No charge has been filed against two Novato brothers arrested Monday on suspicion of vehicle theft because of lack of evidence that they knew the vehicle was stolen, a deputy district attorney said yesterday.

Jerry R. Herman said Jerry Dean Darby, 24, and John Charles Darby, 22, were released because an informant who called police to say they had a stolen motorcycle refused to testify.

Novato police arrested tham at Highway 101 and Lamont Avenue after finding a motorcycle stolen three months before from John W. Moore Jr. of San Anselmo in their pickup truck.

The motorcycle's identification number had been altered, Herman said.

$1.1 Million For Marin In Sharing

Marin County will receive $1,175,551 under a revenue sharing program arrived at yesterday by a U.S. Senate-House conference committee.

Sonoma County will receive $3,145,255 under the program.

More than $550 million will go to California counties under the program.

Grand Jury Criticizes Santa Rita

OAKLAND (UPI) —Alameda County grand jury today critized the Santa Rita prison as "dilapidated, at best," and said it constitutes a fire hazard.

The jury, in a report to county supervisors, said further expenditure of public funds for maintenance, repair and expansion of the facility in Pleasanton would be injudicious.

The panel said the county, which has spent nearly $1 million in fixing up the prison in the past year, should take immediate action to replace it with a new facility. The supervisors are studying the possibility of building a $25 million jail near the Oakland Hall of Justice.

"It is obvious, in light of the number of reports of prisoner escapes, that Santa Rita provides inadequate security and that it otherwise fails to meet the minimum jail standards established by the State Board of Corrections," the grand jury said.

Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center, as it is officially known, consists largely of World War II barracks.

Students Are Warned Of Disease

BERKELEY (UPI) — The State Department of Public Health today warned 350 colleges and universities about the dangers of valley fever to students doing archeology work in the Central Valley.

Director FrederickB. Hodges said the warning was a reemphasis at the start of the fall school term of a department directive issued earlier about the flu-like disease.

The ailment, with the tongue-twisting name of coccidioidomycosis, is caused by a soil fungus.

Millions of residents of the Central Valley develop the infection and lifelong immunity, but when students and professors from outside areas dig for artifacts in the contaminated soil, they come down with the ailment.

Since 1970, Hodges said, illness rates among archeology students have exceeded 50 per cent in several cases.

Nixon Approves Weapons Funding

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House reported Wednesday that President Nixon had signed into law a $20.9 billion military weapons authorization passed by Congress.

The bill was $2.3 billion below Nixon's request for weapons procurement. The authorization is for the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

The bill was given final approval in Congress Sept. 15 after a House-Senate conference committee struck out a Senate-passed amendment that would have cut off funds for the Indochina war.

New Bus System Praised By Boas

By JEFF GREER

Roger Boas, Democratic challenger for the Sixth Congressional District, praising the Golden Gate Bridge District's transit planning and operation, today urged that it, not the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, handle the future growth of North Bay commuting.

The candidate, who is running against incumbent William S. Mailliard, R-San Francisco, on the Nov. 7 ballot, answered questions on problems ranging from lack of parking on San Rafael's Canal Street to U. S. withdrawal from the United Nations.

Speaking on the Radio KTIM "Sounding Board" program, he said, "I had always opposed the Golden Gate Bridge District as a private club," said Boas, a 10-year member of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. "But all of a sudden it has come out with a smashing success and a first-class bus system."

He said that the nation's railroads "should follow the lead" of the district and "hire somebody like Dale Leuhring," (the bridge district's chief executive), to revive the passenger train system.

BART extension to Marin could lead to too fast a population buildup, he warned.

Boas favored federal controls on interest charges and urged more federal funding to settle a "grim housing problem" in Marin for low and middle income families and retired residents. He stressed that Marin has 40,000 residents over 60 years old.

He said he was "very much opposed" to joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base and would support it in Congress only if Novato residents strongly wanted the joint use.

Boas, questioned about the proliferation of San Rafael's Canal Street area apartments, listened to a complaint over the lack of parking and said the city had been "more permissive" than some of Marin's 10 other cities. He said the county planning commission and staff is excellent but that the cities were uneven in their restrictiveness on planning.

He called for massive service job training programs to end unemployment, which he said runs 6 per cent in the Sixth District, 18 per cent among teen-agers and even higher in areas such as Marin City. Auto mechanics, watchmakers and all types of skilled service workers are in great demand, he said, and yet the Nixon administration has cut funds for the federal skills training center in San Francisco.

Boas called for U. S. aid to both Soviet Jewish refugees and Arab refugees in Palestine.

On the national scene, he called for a massive national health program, negative income tax for depressed families and local control of school busing. He said the greatest issue of his campaign was congressional and governmental reform, arguing that the citizens "are turned off by government as it is."

Boas told a caller that he would vote for the marijuana initiative, Proposition 19, because he wanted to abolish criminality in marijuana possession for personal use. However, he declared, he is opposed to smoking either marijuana or tobacco.

The "Sounding Board" program moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer will be rebroadcast on tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Redevelopment Notices Sent

In what is believed to be the biggest mailing of notices of a public hearing in San Rafael city history, some 1,500 property owners are to be sent official word by tomorrow of the Oct. 26 hearing on the proposed redevelopment plan.

William J. Bielser, San Rafael Redevelopment Agency executive director, said the notices started going in the mail today.

They are being sent to owners of all the 1,969 parcels in the designated redevelopment area. Because of multiple ownerships, the list of owners is about 500 smaller than the number of parcels, Bielser said.

Traffic Flow To Be Changed

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the state Division of Highways.

Sections of freeway involved are:

1. The northbound outside lane between the Golden Gate Bridge and Richardson Bay Bridge, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., for shoulder work.
2. The southbound outside lane on the Richardson Bay Bridge from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., for welding.

Sentence For Bremer Is Reduced

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (UPI)—A Maryland court Wednesday reduced Arthur Herman Bremer's state sentence in the shooting of Gov. George C. Wallace from 63 to 53 years.

The action would make Bremer potentially eligible for parole in 13 years.

Bremer, former Milwaukee busboy convicted of shooting the governor and three other persons during a Wallace campaign May 15 at Laurel, Md., still faces federal charges.

Three circuit court judges reviewing Bremer's conviction on the state charges conferred more than an hour before reducing two 15-year sentences to 10 years each. One was for assault with intent to murder Wallace, the other for using a weapon in a violent crime.

The ruling would leave Bremer eligible for parole in a little more than 13 years under normal circumstances, instead of after 16 years as under the original sentence.

In addition to the two sentences which were reduced, Bremer was sentenced to three years for illegally carrying a handgun and to three 10-year terms for shooting the three other persons.

He was also sentenced to an additional 30 years on gun charges but that sentence was to run concurrently with the three 10-year terms.

Defense lawyer Benjamin Lipsitz, in arguing for a reduction of the sentence, spoke of the widespread publicity and public outrage that accompanied the trial.

He argued that chief Circuit Judge Ralph W. Powers would not have handed down such a stiff sentence had Wallace not been a national political figure and presidential contender.

Lipsitz also is appealing to higher courts on the conviction itself.

School Board Balks At Redevelopment Support

By FRANK FARRARA

Novato Unified School District trustees balked this morning at supporting formation of a city redevelopment agency which would freeze school district assessment rolls.

No action was taken at a joint breakfast meeting with the Novato City Council at Sambo's restaurant, but trustees rebuffed a bid by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown for support of redevelopment.

Under proposed redevelopment financing, the school district would be deprived of increased tax revenue in the redevelopment area until redevelopment bonds are paid off.

Trustee William T. Eckhoff said there could be a "real loss" in tax revenue if buildings were leveled to make way for redevelopment and afterward the area didn't reach even the current assessed valuation.

Under a recent bill, the redevelopment agency may reimburse a school district for any actual loss in tax revenue and Trustee Carolyn M. Crabtree sought assurance that the district would be reimbursed in that event. Brown said he believed that could be done.

"The argument that the district is going to lose money is only true for a short period of time," Brown said. After redevelopment, the district would benefit from the increased assessed valuation, he said.

Trustees also indicated they wouldn't endorse the $500,000 community swimming pool bond measure to be voted upon Nov. 7 unless the pool is to be located at San Marin High School.

The city council didn't specify a pool site in its call for an election. Both the San Marin site and the O'Hair site, south of the school, have been discussed at many public sessions.

Councilman Dorothy P. Young said the public wanted "a family-oriented pool," where barbecue pits, benches and a picnic area would be provided.

Board president Ronald D. Schenck said there was enough ground available at the school site "to make a little park."

Brown also asked trustees to consider the possibility of selling to the city a six-acre school site between Marin Oaks Drive and Montura Way for a neighborhood park.

Mayor F. Wayne Sartain and trustees Marett B. Boissevain and William G. Schneeflock were absent.

The council will hold a special meeting on redevelopment at 8 p.m. Monday at Novato Community House. The school district board will hold its next regular meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Novato High School lecture hall.

Four Plans On Extension Hearing

Marin County officials, meeting today at 8 p.m. at Tamalpais High School, will unveil four possible routes for the controversial Miller Avenue extension near Mill Valley.

The meeting, to be held in Student Union Hall, will be moderated by Supervisor Michael Wornum and officials from the county public works department.

According to department officials, the meeting was set up to hear public reaction to the four new alignment plans linking Miller Avenue to Highway 101 at Richardson Bay.

Currently, Miller Avenue ends at the southeasterly city limits of Mill Valley and traffic must continue along congested Almonte Boulevard and Shoreline Highway to reach Highway 101.

Miller Avenue is a four-lane road and bottlenecks into Almonte which has two lanes.

One proposed extension, suggested several years ago, brought protests from nearby residents who opposed placing the new road across a marsh near Dolan's Corner.

Proposed routes are:

A four-lane route north of the existing alignment of Shoreline Highway, bypassing the marsh and Dolan's Corner.

Improvement of the existing shoreline alignment by adding shoulders and left turn lanes.

Widening of the existing shoreline alignment to four lanes.

Construction of a divided four-lane road with Shoreline serving one direction and the opposite two lanes skirting the marsh and connecting at Dolan's Corner.

McCracken Casts Doubt On No-Tax-Boost Pledge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Paul W. McCracken, President Nixon's former top economic adviser, says it is unlikely that the administration can honor its pledge not to raise taxes in a second Nixon term.

"I would give it less than a 50 per cent chance," McCracken said when asked his opinion of the tax position.

McCracken, now an economic professor at the University of Michigan, was in Washington yesterday to release a comparative budget study of programs proposed by Nixon and Sen. George S. McGovern.

The report by the non-partisan American Enterprise Institute found that both a Nixon and a McGovern administration would run substantial full employment budget deficits through 1976.

A balanced McGovern budget would require tax increases 24 to 37 per cent higher than those already outlined by McGovern, the institute said, and a balanced Nixon budget would need 5 to 7 per cent increases in taxes.

Ferrari Files Against Alioto

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One day after he resigned as president of the Police Commission, Elmo E. Ferrari filed a $92,154 suit against a shipping firm owned by Mayor Joseph Alioto and his cousin Frank N. Alioto.

The U.S. District Court suit claims Freighters, Inc., a company owned by the Aliotos, owes $92,154 to Bulk Food Carriers, Inc., owned by Ferrari.

Robert E. Patmont, Ferrari's attorney, said Wednesday that the suit had nothing to do with the resignation. A statement issued by the mayor's office said 'Alioto's only comment was that he and Ferrari "will always remain close friends."

Ferrari was originally a partner in Freighters but was bought out by the Aliotos in August 1971.

Theft From Car

ORIGINAL WORKS SET

Mary Alice Mabee, dance critic for the Independent-Journal under the name of Marie Rameau, will present original works in a performance with the Choreographer's Workshop, an experimental ballet and modern dance group, tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. at 2184 Greenwich Street, San Francisco.

Water Board Denies Moratorium Request

The Marin Municipal Water District board refused yesterday to initiate a moratorium on new water connections, rejecting one director's contention that a ban is "absolutely necessary at this time." (Another water district story, page 1.)

An ordinance prohibiting installation of new services, proposed by Dr. Ronald T. Stafford, died for lack of a second.

Stafford charged his fellow directors with employing "delaying tactics" in failing to enact the freeze. "A moratorium is essential to protect present customers from forced water rationing," he said and added: "The water district is obligated to serve new areas only if areas now being served are not threatened with a shortage of water for ordinary uses."

Other board members did not seem to think a ban on new connections was warranted at present, although Director Jack R. Felson said the board should begin to consider a moratorium immediately.

"Given our present water supply, we have to determine what risks are involved in pursuing our present policies (of granting requests for new connections and pipeline extensions)," Felson said. He asked the board to consider that subject at its Oct. 11 meeting.

Director Eugene A. Miller said the board had agreed in May to consider moratoriums and water rationing at its Dec. 13 meeting. By that time, he said the board would have a better idea of what rainfall can be expected this winter and if a serious shortage is likely to be forthcoming in 1973.

Miller said that banning new connections would not have any effect on whether the district will have to impose mandatory rationing next year.

Staff members said a freeze on new services would save the district from 500 to 1,000 acre feet a year, a negligible amount which in the face of a water shortage serious enough to require rationing of water to current customers.

Director John M. MacPhail Jr. said he would vote for a moratorium if the proposed intertie to bring approximately 4,000 feet of water annually to Marin Municipal from North Marin County Water District does not go through.

(Currently the district has an annual consumption of approximately 33,000 acre feet, compared to a net safe yield from its reservoirs of 30,000 acre feet. The intertie is designed to bring annual yield in line with consumption.)

Miller said the district should propose a plan for increasing water supply to present to voters in November of next year. "If that fails, there would be no question that a moratorium on connections would be required," he said. (Recently the board hired consultants to prepare proposals for increasing water supply and will probably choose a plan from among those submitted in the consultants' report.)

An overflow crowd, both opponents and proponents of a connection ban, jammed the small boardroom yesterday.

Transplant Odds Getting Better

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Diet, exercise and anti-coagulation drugs have improved the long-term survival prospects of heart transplant patients.

Procedures used at Stanford University Medical Center since 1969 seem to prove generally that keeping trim and fit and eating low cholesterol foods can reduce the risk of heart disease —currently the nation's No. 1 killer.

Dr. Randoll B. Griepp, a surgeon belonging to the only heart transplant team still performing the delicate operation on a regular basis, said Wednesday the new regimen was started after the 17th of 47 patients received a new heart at Stanford.

Killing Of Lake Fish Approved

With a minimum of discussion, directors of the Marin Municipal Water District yesterday authorized the State Department of Fish and Game to eliminate "undesirable trash fish" in Lake Nicasio by killing all fish in the lake.

Director John M. MacPhail Jr. cast the lone dissenting vote, saying he "did not like the idea."

Fish and Game officials said they plan to dump liquid rotenone in the reservoir, probably during the week of Oct. 15.

The compound, derived from a South American plant, will kill bony carp which have taken over the lake, as well as other fish, by suffocation. It constricts capillaries in their gills.

Edward S. Armstrong, fishery biologist for the department, said it will be "perfectly safe" for people to eat the fish killed by the compound since it affects only gill breathing vertebrates and some acquatic insects which breathe through their skins.

The reservoir will be treated only after the water district has ceased pumping from it because of its low water level and moved operations to Kent Lake.

The effect of the compound will last from two to six weeks andbe dissipated by natural oxidation.

Once the reservoir is clear of the substance, it will be stocked with bass, sunfish and catfish.

The Marin Municipal Water District Board also:

SUBCOMMITTEE — Appointed Robert R. Hemstock to the Improvement District A Environmental Advisory Subcommittee to replace resigning Albert Aramburu.

ADVISORY GROUP — Appointed Joseph Brezina to replace E. J. Prosh as the Almonte Sanitary District's representative to the Advisory Committee to Improvement District A.

ROLE — Agreed to discuss the future role of the Environmental Advisory Subcommittee at its Oct. 11 meeting. The subcommittee has been studying environmental aspects of the proposed consolidated waste treatment system for Southeast Marin. Preliminary plans for the project are now completed, though not yet approved by the board.

DEED — Approved granting a deed for three acres of water district land to the Nicasio School District which purchased the property for $1,000.

RACES — Granted requests from Sir Francis Drake High School and the College of Marin to hold cross country races on watershed lands.

MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. next Wednesday. At that time the board will consider seven requests for pipeline extensions. The board declined to act on them after chairman Jorjan L. Martinelli Jr. left the meeting early, leaving directors deadlocked 2-2 on the question of whether the extensions should be approved.

BIDS — Called for bids on replacement of approximately 10,000 feet of undersized pipeline in San Rafael, Larkspur, Corte Madera and Sleepy Hollow. Estimated cost of the work will be about $202,000.

COURSE — Agreed to send two employees to a two-day safety training course in the East Bay, sponsored by the East Bay Chapter of the National Safety Council. Tuition cost is $50 per man.

HEALTH PLAN — Approved to changing the district's health plan for employees from the California Physicians's Service to Blue Cross.

EQUIPMENT — Awarded contracts for equipment to these low bidders: Sauers Forest Products Inc. of Healdsburg, $17,180 for material for three redwood tanks; Ambrosini and Chalmers Co. of San Mateo, $17,400 for telemeter equipment.

MUSIC, ART AND DRAMA

'Sleuth' To Close 'Godspell' To Open

After 21 continuous weeks at the Geary and Marines Memorial theaters, the American Conservatory Theater's smash mystery thriller "Sleuth" will close Saturday. Another ACT presentation, "Godspell," will move into the Marines' theater next Tuesday for an extended run.

Anthony Shaffer's "Sleuth" opened April 4 at the Geary, and was intended as a limited engagement. It proved an immediate popular success, however, and played there until "Godspell" came along in July.

The latter, a hit rock musical based on the gospel of St. Matthew, will feature its original cast when it reopens after closing at the Geary Sunday.

Marlene Dietrich brings her hit Broadway show to the Flint Center for the Performing Arts at Cupertino's De Anza College tonight in the opening performance of one of many John Kornfeld 1972-73 Music Series. Next Wednesday another Kornfeld series, this one in San Francisco, gets underway as Sol Hurok's Spanish dance company plays at the Masonic Auditorium. Antonio Gades is the star of that show.

"Elizabeth I," a new play by Paul Foster, will be presented by the Napa Valley Theater Company beginning tomorrow night at the New Winery Theater in Napa. Described as a historical frolic, the play will run through Oct. 21.

The Lone Mountain College drama department opens its presentation of "To Hell With John" tomorrow night at the college in San Francisco. A contemporary version of Faust, the play will be performed with puppets and accompanied by a rock score.

The popular rock band Santana will headline shows at San Francisco's Winterland Arena next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The San Francisco group Tower of Power will also play in the Bill Graham productions.

Other events:

Geary Theater — "Godspell" Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m., Saturday, 2:30 and 8:30 p.m.; Sunday, 3 and 7:30 p.m.

Marines' Memorial Theater — "Sleuth," Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 2:30 and 8:30 p.m. Closes Saturday.

Curran Theater — "No, No, Nanette," Monday through Saturday, 8:30 p.m.; Wednesday, Saturday, 2:30 p.m.

On Broadway Theater — "Norman Is That You?", Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 8 and 10:45 p.m.; Sunday, 7:30 p.m.

Little Fox Theater — "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," Tueaday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 7 and 10 p.m.

San Francisco Museum of Art — Closed until its grand reopening on Oct. 14.

M. H. de Young Memorial Museum — "Norman Rockwell: A 60 Year Retrospective," through Nov. 5. Docent tours at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. daily. Open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

'The Dialogue Of The Deaf'

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson said Wednesday the conflict between environmentalists and industrialists has been "a dialogue of the deaf" that must end if a balance is to be achieved.

"The ecologist and the economist are talking right past each other," Peterson said in a speech before the National Environmental Information Symposium here.

"If you are for the environment then you have to be against economic growth and, conversely, if you are for economic growth then you are automatically assured to be against the environment.

"That kind of thinking must stop," he said. "A partnership must be formed, a kind of team spirit developed that will allow an objective search for answers to begin in earnest."

New Housing Bill Killed In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Rules Committee has killed a $10.5 billion bill that would have rewritten many of the nation's housing laws and provided almost twice as much money in federal grants for mass transit systems.

On a 9-5 vote, the panel voted Wednesday to "defer consideration indefinitely" on the bill, according to Chairman William Colmer of Mississippi.

Speaker Carl Albert said he would probably schedule a floor vote Monday on a measure that would extend current housing programs at present spending levels for another six months.

Spending authority for most federal housing programs expires Saturday.

Under the bill, new block housing grants would have been paid directly to the cities, restrictions would have been placed on government attempts to set maximum closing costs for FHA and VA home mortgages and to locate low-income public housing in the suburbs.

In addition, the amount paid in federal grants for mass transit systems would have reached $6.1 billion over a five year period.

Ninety-five per cent of Minnesota's population lives within five miles of recreational waters.

Picture Published Of New Russian Jet

LONDON (UPI)—It nestles inconspicuously on page 476 of Jane's All the World's Aircraft, whose new edition was published today—the first drawing to appear in the West of a new supersonic Russian bomber called "Backfire."

The drawing shows a sleek, stubby aircraft, almost square in the section through the fuselage, whose outer wings pivot in flight. It was identified as the Tupolev VG bomber, given the NATO code name "Backfire."

John W.R. Taylor, Jane's editor, said "At least two prototypes of the plane were built initially, and it is logical to expect that a small preproduction series will have followed for development testing, weapons trials and evaluation."

Jane's, an authoritative survey of the world's military and commercial aircraft, missiles and aircraft engines, said "Backfire" was believed to be designed for an "over-target speed in the range of mach 2.25 to mach 2.5," or about 1,500 mph, with "a maximum unrefuelled range of up to 4,000 nautical miles (4,600 miles)."

Taylor said the drawing was "based on the limited information so far released officially."

In his foreward to the 1972-73 edition, Taylor said "nobody can doubt that this bomber, approaching pre-service status, adds a new dimension to Soviet attack capability.

"It would be a brave, and perhaps foolish, man who continues to argue against the worth of the (American) B1A," he wrote.

GAZER'S GUIDE

Jupiter And Saturn Among Stars Of Evening All Month

By DR. THOMAS D. NICHOLSON
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Oct. 4: The moon will be to the left and below Venus this morning and more distant from the planet. But Regulus will be closer. Venus passes nearest the star at 7 p.m. when they are in conjunction, separating from the star to the east (left) on successive mornings hereafter.

Oct. 10: The moon is at apogee, its greatest distance from earth during the month.

Oct. 13: The moon, now a crescent in the evening sky, passes near Jupiter. Conjunction is at 5 p.m. By dusk, both will be in the southwestern sky, Jupiter very bright and located above and to the right of the crescent.

Oct. 21: The Orionid meteor shower is expected to reach maximum early this morning. This is ordinarily a moderate shower (single observer rate about 25 meteors per hour) of swift bright objects, usually visible on one or two mornings before and after maximum. But there is a full moon tomorrow, and moonlight during early morning hours will diminish the number of meteors that can be seen.

Oct. 22: The full moon today is the hunter's moon. Like the harvest moon of September, the moon this month, when it is near its full phase, rises only a half-hour or so later each night, as compared with an average of 50 minutes later nightly at other times. Thus the full or nearly full moon seems to be in the sky all night long for several nights in a row during the months of early autumn.

Oct. 23: The perigee moon today, nearest earth, comes 24 hours after full moon. The normally higher perigee tide will be added to the usually higher spring tide.

Oct. 25: Saturn rises shortly after, close to and below the waning-gibbous moon tonight. By midnight, both are well up in the southeast, Saturn well below the moon and gradually separating from it.

All month: Jupiter and Saturn appear among the stars of the evening. Jupiter, in Sagittarius, is very bright in the southwest at dusk, but it sets within a few hours, along with the southern summer stars. Saturn rises with Taurus several hours after sunset and appears well up in the southeast by midnight.

The morning sky contains Saturn and Venus. Saturn will have moved into the southwest by dawn, still well above the horizon. Venus, much brighter, is among the stars of Leo, and it rises about three hours before the sun. By dawn, when it fades into the brightening sky, Venus is well up in the east. It is near the star Regulus, in Leo, early in the month, but by month's end it is closer to Spica, the brightest star in Virgo.

Siberian Oil Deal Also Involves Japan

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Dr. Armand Hammer, the chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp. who is discussing with Russia the development of natural gas finds in Siberia, confirmed Wednesday that Japan is also involved in the plan.

Hammer said he had held talks with Hiroshu Anzai, a representative of the Japanese natural gas industry, about a three-nation joint effort to develop the Yakutsk gas fields.

New York Times For McGovern

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Times today endorsed the presidential candidacy of Sen. George S. McGovern in an editorial that praised the Democratic nominee for his "humanitarian philosophy and humane scale of values, his courage and forthrightness."

In the editorial, the Times said McGovern "can restore a sense of purpose to the American people as a whole, a sense of participation to their component parts and a sense of integrity to their government."

The newspaper said "in these respects, it seems to us, the presidency of Richard M. Nixon has largely failed."

Spock: I've Never Smoked Marijuana

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Dr. Benjamin Spock, the People's Party presidential candidate, said Wednesday he has never smoked marijuana, although he advocates its legalization.

"Frankly, it's a little embarrassing," he said. "If offered the chance (to smoke marijuana), I wouldn't even know what to do."

Heroin Buyers Held Moving Into State

PASADENA (AP) — Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said yesterday the Justice Department has information that East Coast narcotics buyers have gone into California to obtain heroin because of dwindling supplies in their own areas.

In a speech about the Nixon administration's efforts to fight drug abuse, Kleindienst said the battle to keep narcotics out of the hands of addicts is being won.

He said the administration noticed signs of a heroin shortage on the East Coast, especially in New York City and Washington, D.C., beginning last November.

"This could be fairly well measured by the well-known yardstick of supply and demand," said Kleindienst. "The price of heroin on the street went up and the quality and purity went down.

"This shortage has gradually become more severe and has spread to other Eastern cities," he continued. "By now the heroin shortage has spread from New York and Washington to include Boston, Baltimore and Detroit.

"It has not yet reached California, and in fact we have information that Eastern narcotics buyers have come into this state to obtain heroin for their own markets.

"I can assure you that we are doing everything possible to see that the shortage spreads across this country to California, and that it becomes not just a shortage but an absolute famine," he said.

Kleindienst made his remarks in a speech prepared for the annual youth banquet of the Pasadena Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He said a major weapon in the federal effort to catch racketeers and reach into their upper echelons has been court-authorized wiretapping which, he said, former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark refused to use during the Johnson administration.

Chicago Demo Indicted: Bribery

Barrett became the third major Illinois Democratic figure to face trial this election season.

Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan, Chicago's chief prosecutor, is on trial charged with conspiring to obstruct justice. Otto Kerner, former governor and now a U.S. Appeals Court judge, is under indictment charged with receiving racetrack bribe money.

Barrett, now 72, built his political career on a record as a boy hero of World War I. He has held the offices of state treasurer and state auditor and since 1955 has been Cook County clerk.

The indictment announced by U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson charged that Barrett received about $180,000 between 1967 and 1970 in return for arranging the purchase of approximately 900 voting machines from the Shoup Voting Machine Corp. of Bala Cynwyd, Pa.

Man Beaten, Robbed As 100 People Watch

NEW YORK (UPI)—"There must have been 100 people just standing around watching," said Herman Glaser describing the beating and robbery he suffered Wednesday at the hands of three youths in upper Manhattan.

Glaser, 56, a prominent attorney and civic leader who serves as director of the New York Academy of Trial Lawyers, was ambushed as he was entering a taxi. He said he tried to fend off his attackers as they beat him, ripped the watch off his arm and tore a pocket out of his pants.

He said no one in the crowd watching the assault interfered or called police.

Glaser, 6-feet, 3-inches tall, said, "I never thought this could happen to me because I'm a pretty big guy." He lost his cash, the $350 watch and credit cards. The muggers escaped unimpeded.

Early today, police announced the capture of the last suspect in the daylight murder of Columbia Law Professor Wolfgang Friedman, who was stabbed to death in full view of neighborhood residents and passersby about 20 blocks uptown in Morningside Heights.

The suspect, Steven Robinson, 23, was picked up by plainclothesmen on a Harlem street without a struggle after he was identified from a description furnished by witnesses. Robinson's brother, David, 16, surrendered Wednesday night to his brother, a city corrections officer.

Police allege the three youths robbed and stabbed to death Friedman in midafternoon a few blocks from the Columbia campus in upper Manhattan Sept. 20.

One teen-ager, Daniel Mingues, 16, was arrested within hours of the murder.

The dandelion is also known as blowball, cankerwort, doonheadclock, fortune teller, horse gowan and Irish daisy.

Prop. 20 Gains Hesitant Backing

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY — An Association of Bay Area Governments committee yesterday reluctantly endorsed the controversial coastal initiative, but appealed to the Legislature to overhaul it if passed on the November ballot.

The measure, Proposition 20, would create a California Coastal Zone Commission and six regional commissions to draft a plan "to preserve the ecological balance of the coastal zone and prevent its further deterioration and destruction."

All construction within the zone would require a commission permit during the four years the commission would have to draft a plan. The regional and state commissions would dissolve automatically in 1976, and further action would be up to the Legislature.

The endorsement by ABAG's ocean coastline planning committee, itself drafting a master plan for the same zone within the Bay Area, came despite a finding by several members that the proposition was "fatally flawed."

The committee voted 4-1, with Sonoma County Supervisor Robert Theiller objecting the measure was "bad legislation." (It was put on the ballot by conservationists after the Legislature again killed bills to create similar coastal controls.)

"We're really deceiving the people," Theiller insisted.

Instead of asking the Legislature to cure the measure of its defects, he said, "we ought to face it head on and say this proposition isn't properly drafted and should be defeated."

San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn, however, argued that the Legislature's failure to act had forced the initiative. No matter how imperfect it was, he said, it had to be endorsed.

Mendelsohn objected particularly to a provision that could require a commission permit to remodel any home valued at $7,500 or more.

"To discuss home maintenance in a measure to save the California coast is insanity," he said.

He also objected to its requirement that any change after its adoption would take a two-thirds vote by the Legislature.

Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum, who as committee chairmanpushed for the endorsement, noted that only half the members of the regional commissions would be local elected officials. This was contrary to ABAG's policy that such agencies be composed "primarily" of local elected officials, he said.

But Wornum also argued the proposition was necessary because "the Legislature was so goddamn useless in doing it themselves."

The committee's endorsement thus included the appeal that the Legislature change the composition of the regional commissions to make local elected officials the majority and exclude all home improvements from commission jurisdiction. The Legislature also should clarify apparent conflicts in jurisdiction between the regional commission and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, and should cut from two thirds to a majority the commission vote needed to approve permits for projects.

The committee also asked that the Bay Area's regional commission be expanded to include San Mateo County in addition to Marin, Sonoma and San Francisco.

The commission's permit control would extend from three miles seaward to 1,000 yards inland, including all harbors, bays, channels, estuaries, salt marshes and sloughs.

The provision extending commission jurisdiction to all home improvements of homes valued at $7,500 or more allows the commission to ignore this limit by regulating the types of improvements that would require permits.

The proposition would appropriate $5 million from the Bagley Conservation Fund to support the commission for its four years.

Judge Rules Insanity, Commitment

The 36-year-old drifter charged with murdering a Bolinas bartender-painter was ruled legally insane yesterday by a Marin Superior Court judge.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered Edward Davies Pardington committed to Atascadero State Hospital until he is considered sane enough to understand the charge andcooperate in his defense.

One of the court appointed psychiatrists who examined Pardington said he is "unable to control the productions of his mind."

Pardington was arrested in Berkeley May 15, two days after Joseph Anthony Costello, 33, was found on a Bolinas Beach with his throat slashed.

Sheriff's deputies said the two men had been quarreling because Costello had given Pardington a place to stay, then evicted him.

D. A. Is Reappointed To Advisory Board

The State College Board of Trustees yesterday reappointed Arthur B. Broaddus, Mendocino County District Attorney, to the Sonoma State College Advisory Board.

Broaddus, a Ukiah resident, will serve another four-year term on the board.

TOWN MEETING SATURDAY

Corte Madera: At Crossroads

Corte Madera, a town at the cross roads, will have a town meeting Saturday at Redwood High School's little theater. It's an event that has involved months of planning and research and is expected to attract more than 400 Corte Maderans.

There is intense citizen interest and involvement in civic affairs in the town, which is about to update its general plan, engage in redevelopment activities, and has called an emergency building moratorium.

Saturday's all-day meeting begins with registration at 9 a.m. and a brief introductory session led by moderator Peter Melden, psychology teacher at Tamalpais High School.

Residents will then choose their main area of concern and join smaller discussion groups.

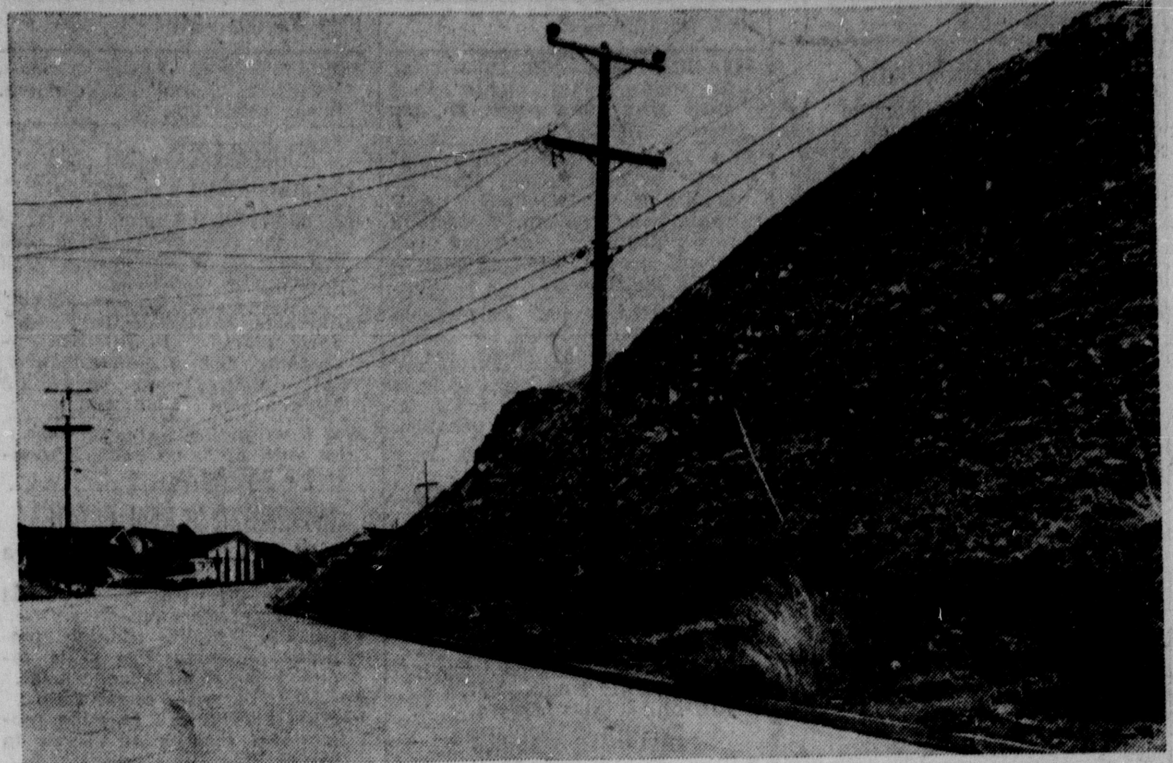
These are: master planning and development, headed by Judy True and Bob Dunn; open space and recreation, by Valerie Carlson and Charles Schafer; town services, by Jim Bell and John Irvine; and communications and citizen participation, by Steve Haines and Beverley Agner.

At the lunch break residents are encouraged to bring a lunch and stay for slide shows of local scenes by Lee Miller and Wayne Wood; a demonstration on public access cable TV by Steve Haines, and take part in a workshop on forming or revitalizing neighborhood associations led by Philip Sasso.

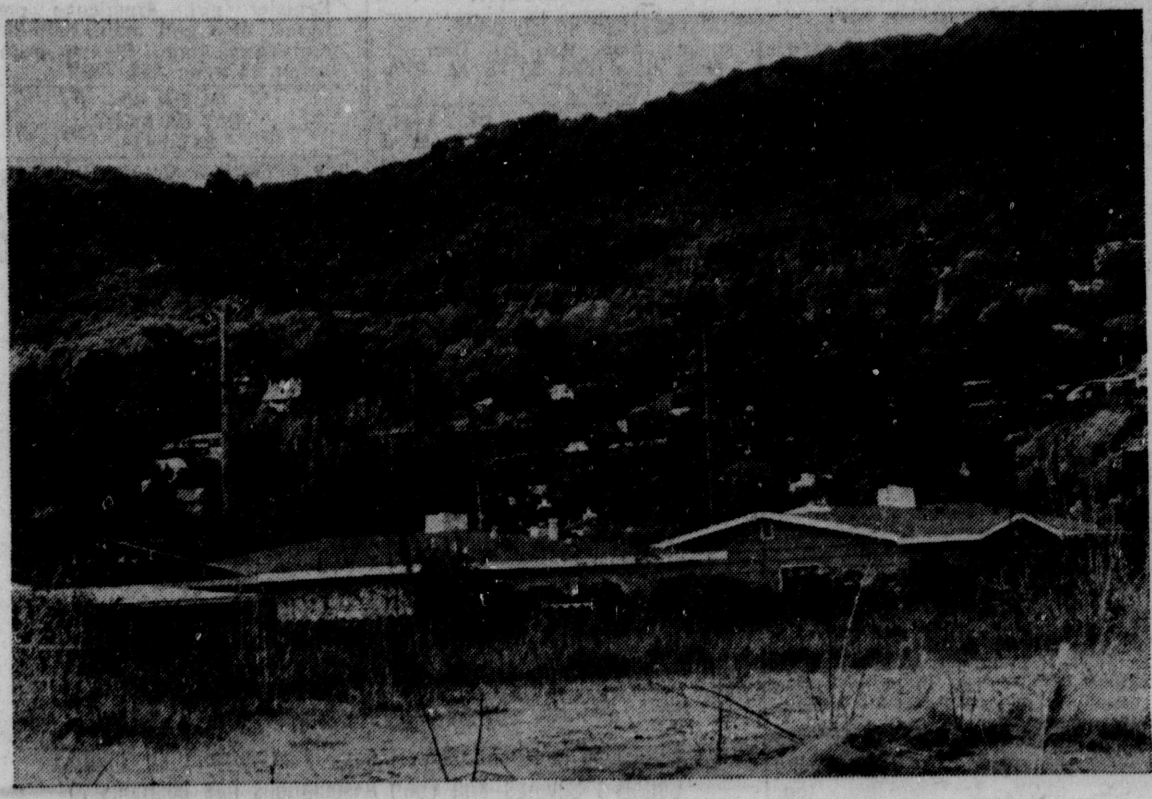
The afternoon session will begin at 2 p.m. with reports from the morning study groups, and Belden will lead a general discussion aimed at getting a concensus on issues involved.

At Monday night's meeting of the Corte Madera Town Council those priorities established at the town meeting will be relayed to councilmen by spokesman, according to Betty Pierce, chairman of the event.

Mrs. Pierce is also arranging transportation for anyone who needs it. She said there will be coffee available all day, and the school snack bar will be open during lunch hours.



OPEN SPACE — Town meeting spokesmen point to this unusable rock cliff on top of Mariners' cove as a horrible example of a developer's designation of "open space" — a certain amount of spare land required for public use in all major developments by the town. Telephone poles like these are also to be discussed Saturday in a panel dealing with undergrounding utilities.



NORTH RIDGE — Some sixty acres of undeveloped wooded hillsides on the North Ridge are a favorite target for Open Space purchase proponents. It's known as the Nicholini property, and will be up for discussion in Corte Madera Saturday.

SAN CLEMENTE — From the hill above the playground, San Clemente School lies in front of Mariners Cove houses on Golden Hind Passage. It belongs to the Larkspur-Corte Madera district, which, like Reed district, isn't keen on assuming responsibilities for children in the Madera del Presidio development since the site is in the Mill Valley School District.

TAMAL VISTA — This vacant land opposite the Coop on Tamal Vista is intended for a 78-unit town house development; the town meetings planning and development study session will ask citizens whether they want commercial-high density residential development and open space, or traditional low density residential projects.

Novato Fall Cleanup Planned Oct. 7, 14

Novato will conduct its annual fall cleanup campaign Oct. 7 and 14 in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week, Rodney B. Brown administrative assistant, reported today.

The collection site at Rowland and Redwood boulevards will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Residents can bring debris to the site but materials must be bagged, boxed or bundled, Brown said.

Persons with loads containing loose material or items too large for the packer trucks will be given slips to the Redwood Sanitary Landfill Inc. dump, north of Novato. The city will pay $1.25 toward the cost at the dump.

Dirt, gravel, concrete or car parts won't be accepted at the cleanup site nor will dump slips be issued for them, he said.

An effort will be made to clean up vacant lots, hillsides, creeks and roadways, Brown said. "This can only be accomplished by volunteers," and anyone interested in helping the community cleanup should notify him at Novato City Hall, Brown said.

Burglar Gets Cash From Unlocked Safe

The burglar broke into a pharmacy in Reed Sunday or Monday and took $610 from an unlocked safe, sheriff's deputies said today.

The burglar kicked in the front door to gain entry to the Marin Town and Country Pharmacy at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive between 9 p.m. Sunday and 10 a.m. the next day, according to deputies.

3 story elegance in this massive Victorian style home of a by-gone era. The lumber baron who built this show place used only the finest construction and most beautiful wood in the paneling of the parlor, dining room and entry hall. The wood is as smooth as glass to the touch. Curved glass in many windows with beautiful etched glass abounding. The library has a working fireplace as does the parlor. Family kitchen with butler's pantry and a powder room complete the first floor. Wide staircase to the 2nd floor entry that is a wood paneled octagon shape with 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and stairs to the 3rd floor. This huge room with bath could be a master suite or children's hideaway. 3 stall garage and outdoor patio. HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

'Ultrasound' As heat Source Used To Treat Various Diseases

Ultrasound energy as a source of heat is used in the treatment of various joint and muscular diseases. Ultrasound, unlike electric waves, does not travel through the air. Consequently, direct contact with the skin over the treated area is necessary. Heavy mineral oil is used to make good contact between the applicator and the skin.

A more exciting use for ultrasound is in disease detection. All body tissues, except bone and the air-filled lungs, are relatively permeable to these waves. With a special sonar device, the waves penetrate soft tissue organs and the echo is registered to plot out the location of thicker or harder areas. Low intensity waves are used so that the process is generaly considered harmless. Ultrasound used as sonar resembles the pulse-echo mode used in maritime depth finders.

DURING PREGNANCY, for example, ultrasonic waves can determine whether there are twins or triplets in the uterus, the location of the placenta, and the position of the baby. In addition, the technic is useful in determining whether a pelvic mass represents pregnancy or a tumor. Information of these kinds can be obtained easily and painlessly.

Ultrasound can also be used to explore the breast, kidney, urinary bladder, and liver. An abscess of the liver, for example, may produce a different echo than does the normal surrounding liver tissue. However, when investigating the abdomen, gas in the intestines interferes with the reliability of the test. Breast lesions as small as one-half inch can be demonstrated, but the procedure does not tell the physician whether the tumor is benign or malignant, a cyst, or a thickened duct.

ULTRASONIC DIAGNOSTIC procedures are most reliable and useful in studying the valvular function of the heart. Ultrasound also detects the timing of movements of natural and prosthetic valves. In addition, it is an excellent procedure to diagnose inflmmatory diseases of the sac surrounding the heart. It is least useful in brain studies because the bones of the skull block many of the waves.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

BERRY'S DISEASE

J K. A. writes: I'm 70 years old and fall asleep right after breakfast and when visiting friends. Could low blood pressure be responsible for this embarrassing situation?

REPLY

No. Many persons get sleepy after eating or when bored by the conversation around them. Some cannot fight the urge to doze off, especially when they get older and have no pressing commitments. In my opinion, catnaps are wonderful, provided the mini siestas do not occur at inopportune times.

FRECKLES, HARD TO AVOID

Miss D. writes: Is there any way to prevent freckling?

REPLY

Freckles are difficult to avoid if the skin is fair. Protective clothing and applications of sunscreening products will help. Our leaflet on freckles can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

BOUTS OF PNEUMONIA

P.A. writes: Could three bouts of pneumonia render a woman sterile?

REPLY

Not unless she had complications involving the reproductive organs.

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidant, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Joint Effort On Loan By Rails, Unions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a significant breakthrough in railroad labor relations, rail unions have agreed to work with management to push through Congress a $5 billion loan guarantee program for rail, truck and barge lines.

Rail union and management sources said today the two sides had privately agreed to a set of labor protection provisions for employes affected by the bill, based on collective bargaining but providing for binding arbitration when the two sides cannot agree on specifics.

A union source said the agreement represented "a whole new day" in rail labor relations. A management source called it "part of a significant trend" in labor-management relations, brought about mainly by more forward-thinking leaders in both labor and management.

The support of the powerful rail unions—mainly the United Transportation Union and the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks—significantly increases the chances of the bill called the Surface Transportation Act of 1972.

Rail unions and management have traditionally engaged in bitter feuds, leading to strikes and strike threats that often have been settled by Congress.

Once the agreement in principle was reached last week, union lobbyists went to work in an effort to shove the legislation through Congress before it adjourns for this session, but it appeared they were too late.

House Commerce Committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., whose approval would be necessary for any such bill to be approved so quickly, said there was not enough time left in the session to pass the bill.

"I don't see how in the world you could get a bill through this late in the session," he said. "We will try to come up with an acceptable bill next year."

A source close to the bargaining said Staggers had been "worked on and worked over" by lobbyists and other congressmen wanting to move the bill through Congress quickly, but he had refused to budge.

The $5 billion loan guarantee bill, although far bigger than the highly controversial $200 million loan guarantee for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, has attracted scant notice on Capitol Hill, and almost no opposition.

The legislation would provide federal guarantees for loans to regulated motor, water and rail carriers, and freight forwarders for capital improvements and equipment. It also would provide procedures for easier abandonment of unprofitable railroad branch lines.

The labor protection provisions agreed to by rail union and management negotiators provides this sequence of events in protecting an employe displaced by new facilities or abandonments under the bill:

—First, the two parties would attempt to work out a broad agreement through collective bargaining.

—If they cannot agree, the government department involved will work out a broad agreement to protect the employe up to six years. For instance, if an employe loses his job when a rail line is abandoned, the Interstate Commerce Commission lays down an agreement because it is the body responsible for abandonments.

—The two sides then would attempt to work out the details of implementing the plan in specific instances, again through collective bargaining.

—If negotiations break down again, the two sides would select a neutral arbiter whose decision would be binding.

Speeding Car In Crash; Five Die

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —A car fleeing from police at speeds up to 160 miles per hour slammed into another car at an intersection, killing five persons, it was reported Wednesday.

Policeman Joseph Center said he gave chase to the car when he observed it speeding. However, he said his police car was unable to keep pace with the car being pursued.

The speeding car, which carried a man, woman and child, struck the second vehicle outside the gates of Ft. Richardson, knocking it 50 feet into the air, police said.

There were no survivors.

Eddie L. Dukes, 28, a soldier from the base, was driving the chased car. The woman and child were not immediately identified.

New Smog Device Law Delayed By State Board

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Air Resources Board voted yesterday to delay at least one year a requirement that most pre-1971 cars in California be equipped with new antismog devices. The board acted after state officials and manufacturers said they could not meet the February 1973 deadline.

The board unanimously approved the delay after State Registrar of Vehicles John McLaughlin testified that it would be "almost impossible" to meet the deadline set by the board when it adopted the requirement Aug. 23.

The equipment, which is to be installed on some four million 1966 to 1971 model vehicles at a cost set by the state at not more than $35 each, is designed to reduce oxides of nitrogen in exhaust by 40 to 50 per cent.

The board had ordered that the equipment be installed before the vehicles could be registered for 1974, although its engineering staff had warned that many cars might suffer overheating problems because of the equipment.

McLaughlin told the board that the state Department of Motor Vehicles already is well into preparations to register vehicles next year, and changes to notify owners of the new requirement could cause problems.

"We see some real serious difficulties in compliance on a one-time basis," he said. "We don't just make a little midtake. When we make a little mistake, it involves 12 million vehicles."

The board also heard testimony from representatives of the firms certified to manufacture the antismog devices. David Marcks of Echlin Corp. and Mac McCullough of Dana Corp. both said they could not produce the devices in sufficient numbers by next February.

Marcks said his firm could be ready by February 1974. McCullough recommended a gradual program in which statewide installation would be required by April 15, 1973.

Harold W. Sullivan, board chairman, suggested that the target date be changed to February, 1974, and a board meeting was scheduled for Oct. 25 in Sacramento to consider new deadlines for implementing the program.

Robert Ross of the state Bureau of Automotive Repair said California auto repair shops need additional time to train installers and obtain equipment needed to install and maintain the antismog devices.

Ross also said he had not yet seen warranties for the devices, and wants time to review them before the program is started.

California earlier had required post-1965 cars to be equipped with devices to limit emissions of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide. However, those controls caused increased emission of the third component of smog, oxides of nitrogen.

The board earlier this year imposed strict controls over 1955-1965 models, and federal regulations have been in effect since the 1971 model year.

Cutter Dividend

Directors of Cutter Laboratories Inc. of Berkeley declared a regular quarterly dividend of 11 cents per share on the Class A and Class B common stocks for the quarter ending Sept. 30. They are payable Oct. 27 to holders of record Oct. 13, president David L. Cutter announced.

State Credit Rating Boosted To The Top

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A principal nationwide financial rating service has boosted California from AA to AAA, making what state Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest termed yesterday "the biggest and most favorable financial news that California has received in years."

The boost was reported Tuesday by Moody's Investment Service. It means that California will have to pay less interest on the money it borrows through bond sales.

"Being rated as among the most credit worthy states in the nation will save millions of dollars in interest costs to Californians for many years in the future," Mrs. Priest said in a statement.

She said more than $1 million will be saved next Tuesday alone when $90 million in bonds are sold.

The treasurer's office sells between $500 and $600 million in bonds usually.

Mrs. Priest credited the higher rating to the financial community's confidence in the state's fiscal policies, the timing of sales so the market will not be overloaded, and bonding priorities to keep the state's financial abilities from being over extended.

California had already been rated AAA by the other principal nationwide rating service, Standard and Poor. AAA is the highest rating of either service.

Rancho Riders Slate 'Playday'

The Rancho Riders will sponsor an adult "open playday" Oct. 7 at 3 p.m. at Flying H Arena on Roblar Road in Petaluma.

Any riding club member over the age of 18 may enter the 10 gymkhana events. Western attire should be worn.

Entry forms are available at local feed stores and western attire dealers.

Martin King Birthday May Become Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A bill to make Jan. 15, the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr., a national holiday has been approved by a House Judiciary subcommittee.

A Senate subcommittee had received a similar bill but is not expected to act upon it this session. This means the legislation will have to be introduced in the next Congress, which convenes in January.

Old Grape Fete Photos Displayed

An exhibit of 15 photographs depicting the Marin County Grape Festival in early and more recent times is on display at the county library's main branch at the civic center.

The display, which will run through Oct. 6, is timed to coincide with the annual grape festival to be staged at the civic center fairgrounds Oct. 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The display also includes an exhibit of handicrafts.

The grape festival, a tradition in Marin since 1899, is staged each year to benefit Sunny Hills, a residential treatment center for troubled youth.

The festival will include 85 booths selling fresh grapes, wines, food and handicrafts. Entertainment will include strolling musicians, a jazz band, singing and dancing.

Candidate Debate

A debate between the candidates for Marin County supervisor in the fourth district, Michael R. Peevey and Gary T. Giacomini, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in Olney Hall Auditorium, College of Marin. The meeting will be sponsored by the Associated Students.

Host A's Can Clinch Flag With Victory Over Twins

By JOE SARGIS

OAKLAND (UPI)—This is the day the Oakland A's have been working toward since spring training—the day they can clinch their second straight American League West title.

The A's moved into position for a pennant-clinching—and at home in their final regular season game before the local fans—by sweeping the Minnesota Twins twice in extra innings Wednesday night, 1-0 in 11 and 2-1 in 10.

Sal Bando, moved up to third in the batting order in a move toward getting more punch, was the hitting hero of both games as he drove in the winning run with singles.

On both occasions Matty Alou, moved up to leadoff, was on second and scored with the winning run. The A's managed only seven hits in the first game and nine in the second but manager Dick Williams viewed the new batting order a success.

"I know we didn't get many hits," said Williams, "but we got them when they counted, so I think the move was a success."

Jim Hunter went all 10 innings of the nightcap on a sixhitter for his 21st victory, matching his career high reached a year ago. while Bob Locker, with one hitless relief inning, was the opening game winner and now is 6-1.

Today, John Odom, a 14-game winner thus far in a fine comeback from arm surgery, has the chance to pitch the A's to the victory that will put them over the top. He'll face Dick Woodson in an afternoon game, which is being played on a scheduled day off as a result of two days of rain earlier in the week.

"Sure, we'd like to clinch it here," said Bando, "So we can get a mental break on the road."

Victory celebration notwithstanding, the A's will leave right after the game for a three-game series in Kansas City.

"I'd like to clinch it right now so I can give my regulars a breather," said Williams.

Talking about money, Williams refused to even think about the playoffs.

"Let us clinch it first and then I'll talk about the playoffs," he said, but with a smile. "There will be enough time for that."

Vida Blue, the super pitching hero a year ago but almost a forgotten man this time around, will pitch Friday night's game in Kansas City and will be followed by Dave Hamilton on Saturday and Ken Holtzman on Sunday.

Holtzman pitched eight shutout innings in Wednesday night's first game and left for a pinch-hitter. He was shooting for his 19th victory and now has next to no chance at all to reach the 20-game circle, unless Williams can sneak him in for a short relief stint before next Wednesday when the regular season ends.

"He's still one helluva pitcher," said Williams of the lefthander he picked up from the Chicago Cubs last winter. "I don't know where we would be today with out him."

Of course, Williams had a lot of praise, too, for Hunter, the ace of his pitching staff, who held the Twins to six hits in Wednesday night's nightcap. Jim struck out 11 qnd didn't issue a single pass in running his record to 21-7. That matched his career high reached last year when the A's clinched the A.L. West early.

As for Wednesday night's twin victories —in the first game Alou doubled leading off the 11th and Bando delivered him one out later. In the second game, Alou led off the 10th with a single, moved to second on a sacrifice by Bert Campaneris and crossed as Bando again lined a single to left.

"I don't fashion myself as a third place hitter," said captain Sal. "I'm more of a fourth, fifth or sixth place hitter. but the only thing that counts is if you hit when you have to."

Bando did and then some Wednesday night and now the A's can't wait for today's game —the one they have been pointing for all season long.

Welcome To Marin, Robin Backhaus

Robin Backhaus, a young man of 17, is sort of taking things easy these days. But by the middle of next month he will be starting more vigorous training, pointing toward another Olympics and one or two of Mark Spitz' world swimming records.

ROBIN BACKHAUS

Backhaus, winner of a bronze medal in the 200-meter butterfly in Munich, mover here from Redlands in Southern California last week to get the coaching of Don Swartz of the Marin Aquatic Club, the man who developed 16-year-old Rick DeMont. Robin's father, a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, is stationed in Guam, and his mother and two sisters are in Redlands.

"It's sort of as if I left for college a year early," Robin said about moving to Marin. He is living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Keck of 4 Oakhurst Road, San Rafael, parents of four children of their own.

LAST APRIL in Dallas, Tex., during national event, Robin met, and competed against, DeMont. He also met Swartz and the seed which eventually led to his moving to Marin was planted.

"He's really a neat guy, and a really good coach," Robin said about the man in charge of running the swimming program for Marin A.C.

Because of his father's military occupation, Robin moved around quite a bit as a youngster, from Texas to New Hampshire to Virginia and finally Redlands. He got his start in Amateur Athletic Union age-group swimming at 10. It wasn't long before he was winning ribbons and medals. He swam on the Redlands High School team as a sophomore but last year devoted his time to AAU competition once he realized there was a chance for the Olympics. In the 1971 National AAU meet in Texas he placed third in the 200 fly.

About the possibility of competing in San Rafael High School's swimming program, Robin, a senior, said, "the Marin Aquatic Club comes first. I wouldn't want high school swimming taking anything away from my training program in the Marin Aquatic Club."

ROBIN IS GOING to sit down in a few months and decide which college scholarship offer to accept. He has it pretty well narrowed down to University of Southern California, Southern Methodist University in Texas, University of Washington and Harvard. With a 3.8 grade point average, college swim coaches around the country are drooling.

Although Backhaus swims distance freestyle events, he uses those races to get ready for his specialty, butterfly. He covered the 200-meter fly in Munich in 2:03.2 when he came in third to Mark Spitz who won in 2:00.7.

His immediate goal is to break that world record and "I hope it will be in the next two years."

ABOUT SPITZ, Backhaus said, "he wasn't that personable with us so I didn't get to be buddy-buddy with him. Actually, I wasn't that impressed with him as a person. I tried my darndest to beat him."

The 6-foot, 165-pound swimmer feels there might just be two Backhauses on the 1976 Olympic swimming team. "My 14-year-old sister,

Giants Blanked By Astros' Wilson, 3-0

HOUSTON (UPI)—Don Wilson and the Houston Astros both missed their goals this season, but they're still going for record-breaking years.

The Astros are sure of their best year ever, having won a record 82nd game Wednesday night 3-0 over the San Francisco Giants behind the six-hit pitching of Wilson. The most Houston had won in any previous season was 81 in 1969.

Wilson, whose best record was 16-10 last year, now is 15-9 and could finish 16-9 by winning his final start in San Diego this weekend. But Wilson had set a goal of more than 20 victories this year.

Just as Wilson missed his goal of 20 the Astros missed their goal of winning the division. Houston was considered a contender through midseason, but the pitching never materialized and Cincinnati won the division easily.

Wilson, who has a 9-2 record

A SONIC'S SUPER STRETCH

Spencer Haywood of the National Basketball Association Seattle Supersonics leaped high for a rebound against the Chicago Bulls in Seattle last night. Chicago's Kennedy McIntosh (40), Norm Van Lier (2), and Seattle's Jim Fox looked on. Seattle won, 94-78.

USF, St. Louis In Marin Soccer

University of San Francisco and St. Louis University soccer coaches yesterday were in agreement: tonight's game at San Rafael High School should be one whale of a battle.

Getting together at a press luncheon just hours after the St. Louis team arrived by plane in San Francisco, coaches Harry Keough of the St. Louis Billikens and Steve Negoesco of USF's Dons each praised the other's team.

USF is currently ranked second in the nation and St. Louis is fifth going into tonight's 8 o'clock game, according to the Intercollegiate Soccer Football Association rankings. Tonight's scrap will be the first of two weekend games between the two soccer powers. They'll meet again Saturday, 2 o'clock, at Kezar Stadium.

The Dons whipped California State University, Sacramento, 4-1 last Saturday, with forward Leon Heitman scoring three first period goals and goalie Bill Rapp playing an outstanding game.

"This team looks better at this stage in the season than any other team I've coached since coming to USF," said Negoesco. About the high ranking the team has received, he said, "We do not deserve to be rated number two in the country at this time. We have not yet been put to any severe test. Our meetings with St. Louis should give me a better indication of just how strong a club we are. This coming weekend should be very revealing."

The Billikens are led by All-Americans Mike Seerey and Joe Hamm, both members of the 1972 U.S. Olympic soccer team. St. Louis has won seven national titles in the last nine years. They were beaten, 3-2, by Howard University last year in the National Collegiate Athletic Association finals after downing USF by the same score in the semi-finals.

Two members of the USF team are former Marin County Athletic League soccer stars, Urbano Boucsieguez of Nova-

1st Redwood Upset By Pakistan Netter

ALAMO, Calif. (UPI)—Unseeded Haroon Rahim of Pakistan pulled the first upset of the $50,000 Redwood Bank International Tennis tournament Wednesday by ousting 12th-seeded Cliff Richey.

The scores were 7-5, 7-5.

Second-seeded John Newcombe of Australia was given a scare by England's Roger Taylor before pulling out a 3-6, 6-0, 6-1 victory. In another three-set match, Australian Fred Stolle eliminated Jeff Borowiak, Lafayette, 6-3, 4-6, 63.

Also advancing in singles play were John Alexander of Australia, Egypt's Ismail El Shafei, Tom Okker of the Netherlands and Roy Emerson of Australia.

Alexander defeated Charles Pasarell of Los Angeles in straight 6-4 sets while El Shafei downed Tom Leonard of Chicago 6-4, 7-6.

Okker started off slowly but rallied to outclass Phil Dent of Australia 2-6, 6-1, 6-4. Emerson needed a tiebreaker to pin a 64, 3-6, 7-6 defeat on Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill.

San Rafael, Tam Set Marin Grid Opener

Sports

The best and worst teams of 1971 will see how much difference a year makes tomorrow night, as San Rafael High School hosts Tamalpais at 8 o'clock in the 1972 Marin County Athletic League opener.

San Rafael was co-champion last year at 5-1 and dominated the league's statistics, while Tam was last at 0-6. This season, however, both are 1-1. San Rafael is coming off a 22-12 loss to Antioch last weekend, while Tam broke a 10-game losing streak with a 14-8 triumph over Marin Catholic.

"We're going to have to go out and pick away, find out what they'll give us, if anything," said San Rafael coach Bob Muster. "They (Tam) have a good team speed and pursue well."

"San Rafael has no weaknesses that I can see," said Tam coach Mike Davlin. "We're going to approach them the same way we approached Marin Catholic — pretty conservatively."

Tam's three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust offense will be led by halfback Fred Adams, who gained 95 yards in 28 carries last week. San Rafael will counter with halfback Jim Grigg, finally recovered from a leg injury.

San Rafael is healthy for the game. Tam, decimated by injuries earlier, now has guard Bob Praczker on the sidelines with mononucleosis. His replacement will be Art Slocum.

Lance Laughlin has been installed as San Rafael's starting quarterback, winning a duel with Dave Steele. Reserve Steve Gaddis again will start for Tam, although front-liner Tim Nowell is recovering faster than expected from a shoulder injury sustained two weeks ago.

The lineups:

Redwood's Harriers Triumph

The Redwood High School Cross Country team stayed on top of the 1972 Marin County Athletic League standings with two 15-50 victories, over San Rafael and Terra Linda, yesterday on San Rafael's course.

In the other league contest yesterday, host Novato High edged San Marin, 26-29, while Drake failed to show for the triple meet and forfeited.

Redwood's Ned Overend set a new course record of 15:24 over the three-mile course. Not far behind were Giants Jan-Eric Moeller and Pete Sweeney. San Rafael nipped Terra Linda 29-30 in the other meet ucore.

Gary Lathrop and Dan Truek of San Marin placed first and second respectively in the meet with Novato, but it wasn't

Clayton Valley Hosts Redwood

While their brothers in the Marin County Athletic League begin internecine warfare this weekend, Redwood High School's football Giants will travel to Concord in quest of a third consecutive non-league victory.

The opponent for tomorrow's 3:30 p.m. game will be Clayton Valley High, loser of two games but "a pretty good football team," in the words of Redwood coach Phil Roark.

Redwood will enter the contest in good health, testimony to the psychosomatic power of a 33-13 victory over George Washington of San Francisco last Friday.

Frank Giorgi, whose 117 yards rushing keyed a ground attack that nettej 293, has a swollen hand but should be ready. Lineman Doug Kern (bruised knee) also should go. Lineman Pete Massoletti, linebacker Gerald Jack and runner Ron Small shook off small hurts to play against the Eagles and suffered no relapses.

Better news yet is the return of halfback Daryl Edralin, who missed the first two games with a shoulder pointer, but who will see limited action tomorrow.

"Clayton Valley is quick-hitting, but small," said Roark. "They average about 170 pounds. They have some good football players, like halfback Larry Kirsch and lineman Jim Brammier.

"They put the ball in the air a lot, because of their size. They have a good quarterback, Gary Luoma, and do a nice job blocking for him."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Bench Sets Homer Mark For Catchers

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Cincinnati Reds are the class of their division and Johnny Bench, responsible for much of his club's success this season, remains in a league of his own.

The Reds, who have already clinched the National League's Western division, lost to the Atlanta Braves 8-5 Wednesday night despite Bench's 40th homer.

Bench, who leads the majors in homers, became the first catcher in major league history to ever hit 40 homers in more than one season. Bench slammed 45 in 1970, the same season he was was selected the league's Most Valuable Player.

In other National League action, Chicago romped past Montreal 8-0, Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 3-1, St. Louis beat New York 4-0 Houston stopped San Francisco 3-0 and Los Angeles blanked San Diego 2-0.

Billy Williams unloaded the seventh grand slam home run of his career to highlight Chicago's win over Montreal.

Williams hit his 36th homer in the fifth inning to give the Cubs a 5-0 lead. Previous to Williams' homer, Rick Reuschel and Don Kessinger had singled and Jose Cardenal had walked.

Dave Cash drove in the decisive run with a fifth inning double to feature Pittsburgh's triumph over Philadelphia.

Joe Torre and Ted Simmons hit back-to-back singles and scored in the second inning to pace St. Louis's win over New York. St. Louis scored on singles by Mike Tyson and Jose Cruz, a sacrifice fly by Torre and a run scoring single by Simmons.

Don Sutton blanked San Diego on three hits to run his scoreless string to 33 innings as the Dodgers closed out their home schedule with a shutout of the Padres.

Huggett Leads Golf Tourney In Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (UPI) — Ryder Cup veteran Brian Huggett set a blistering pace today in the first round of Europe's richest golf tournament, the $150,000 John Player Classic.

Huggett carded an eagle and seven birdies in a seven under par round of 64 to lead the hunt for the $37,500 first prize.

However, Huggett's round was good only for a one-shot lead over England's Peter Townsend, who crammed eight birdies into his round against two bogies for a 65.

Two shots further back on 67 was Billie Casper, best-placed of a bunch of top-class American challengers after halves of 33-34 for the 7,060 yards 36-35—71 Scottish links.

Gay Brewer and Doug Sanders were in a bunch on 69 that included former British Open winners Bob Charles of New Zealand and England's Tony Jacklin.

Arnold Palmer, Jerry Heard and Tommy Aaron were in a bunch on level par 71.

Harriers: Petaluma, Rancho Win

Petaluma High School's cross country team won a second straight North Bay League meet yesterday, topping host Montgomery of Santa Rosa, 20-39.

In other southern Sonoma cross country action yesterday, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park, now 1-1, won its first Sonoma County League meet, 23-23 over Host Sonoma.

Leach Among Golf Leaders

Ray Leach of Novato shot rounds of 72 and 73 for a 145 total at the halfway mark in the Professional Golfers Association tour regional qualifying school going on at Sunol Valley Golf Club.

He is among the leaders in the competition in which the low 26 scores of the fiald of 146 advance to the final qualifications next month at Silverado course in Napa.

Leader at the halfway point is Sandy Galbraith of San Carlos with a two-under-par 142. The tourney ends tomorrow.

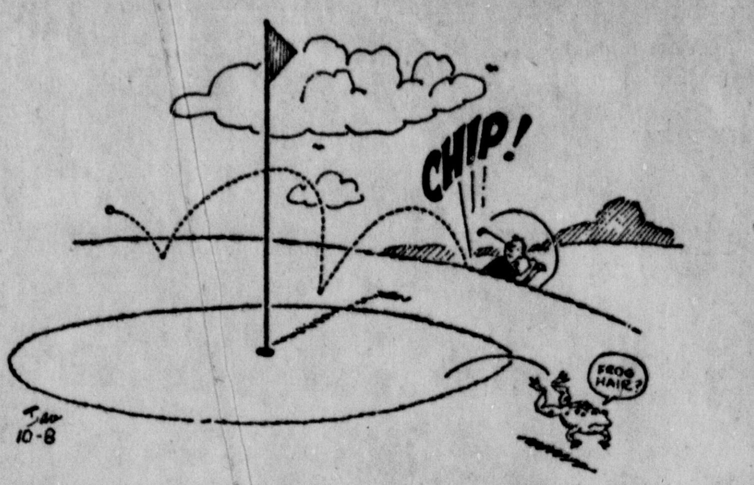
TREVINO TALKS GOLF



CHIP!
FROG HAIR?
10-8

Counting Your Chips

By LEE TREVINO

A slew of shots are lost by golfers who chip to the fringe of a green and hope the ball bounces toward the hole. It kicks left or right as often as not.

Yep, I had to be some kind of lucky winning the British Open again — helped by three chip-ins. I find that the more chips I practice, the more of 'em I win — and the luckier I get.

It's best to chip with the iron that'll make your ball land on the green. Pros almost never hit a chip to land in the froghair. Too many things can happen, and only one of them is good.

A mistake many amateurs make on chip shots is they automatically reach for a 7-iron. Maybe someone told them a 9-iron was dangerous and a 5-iron made the ball roll too far. For a long chip from the edge of a green I use a club that'll give the ball a low trajectory and a good roll.

If you're 10 feet off the green but only 25 feet from the flagstick, the shot calls for a lofted club. It can be a ticklish stroke, and if the fringe is mowed close a putter may be best. A ball rolled across the fringe is less likely to jump sideways than one that lands on it.

Hairston, Lakers Thrash Warriors In Exhibition

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) —Happy Hairston, who is playing without a contract, scored 22 points and pulled down 21 rebounds Wednesday night as the defending National Basketball Association champion Los Angeles Lakers rolled over Golden State 119-99 in their exhibition opener.

Leroy Ellis, filling in at center for the Lakers in the absence of Wilt Chamberlain, added 16 points and 13 rebounds while Jim McMillian had 18 points and Jerry West contributed 16.

For the Warriors, Cazzie Russell and Ron Williams led the way with 27 and 20 points, respectively.

The Lakers also played without the services of Gail Goodrich, the little guard who led them in scoring last season, and Keith Erickson. Both have slight injuries. Chamberlain has contract problems.

Petaluma, Rancho In Loop Starts

After two pre-season football tuneups each, league play starts tomorrow night for Petaluma High School and Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park.

Petaluma — which is trying to rebound from a losing season last year, opens its North Bay League competition at home (Durst Field) against Vintage of Napa, a first-year school.

The Trojans, who split their non-league games, have a balanced attack, with quarterbacks Tim Wallmark and Steve Crawford throwing for 214 yards in the two games, and the rushing corps gaining 223 yards.

The Petaluma ground game, which has been led by Mike Maselli, was dealt a serious blow with the loss of fullback Don White for the season. White suffered torn ligaments in his knee against Rancho Cotate.

Vintage, which won both its pre-season contests, is a big, strong and physical team appropriately nicknamed the Crushers.

Rancho Cotate will be shooting for its seventh consecutive Sonoma County League win, and its 12th overall when it invades the El Molino Lion's den in Forestville.

Last year, the Cougars beat El Molino 22-7 enroute to the SCL championship.

Orioles, Yanks Bow Out Of Race

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

They picked different ways to do it but, for all practical purposes, the Baltimore Orioles and the New York Yankees bowed out of the Eastern Division race Wednesday night.

The Orioles lost a tidy 3-0 decision to Gaylord Perry and the Cleveland Indians while the Yankees blew a 5-0 lead, stranded 17 runners and were finally overhauled by the Detroit Tigers in the ninth inning 6-5.

But the end result was the same. The Orioles and the Tigers are both 3 1-2 games off the pace with 71 losses while Boston, one-half game ahead, has 67 losses and Detroit has 68.

New York has six games left and Baltimore five and it would take a miracle now for either team to make it to the top.

Boston stayed in first with a 7-5 afternoon victory over Milwaukee and then sat back to wait for the night action. The Detroit win had to be disappointing for the Red Sox because New York's chances already were remote and a Tiger loss would have given Boston a 1 1-2-game lead.

"That was the toughest game we've lost all season," Yankee Manager Ralph Houk said after the Tigers scored three runs in the eighth and two in the ninth to pin the loss on relief ace Sparky Lyle.

Singles by Ed Brinkman, Willie Horton and pinch-hitter Tony Taylor, who bunted, loaded the bases in the ninth and Al Kaline hit a sacrifice fly to tie the game 5-5. Duke Sims then singled in the deciding run.

Lyle, who had saved 35 games, relieved Ron Kline with two on and one out in the eighth with New York leading 5-2. He gave up a run-scoring single to Frank Howard and a sacrifice fly to Mickey Stanley in that inning before suffering his fifth loss in the ninth.

Reggie Smith doubled home two runs in the fifth inning and Luis Aparicio tripled in two more in the sixth to lead Boston past Milwaukee. The Red Sox were trailing 4-2 until the fifth when they erupted for three runs.

In the other games, Kansas City downed Chicago 4-2, California nipped Texas 3-1 and Oakland swept Minnesota 1-0 in 11 innings and 2-1 in 10 to reduce its magic number in the West to one.

Trevino, Jamieson Play

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

BETTENDORF, Ill. — Lee Trevino and Jim Jamieson top the list of 60 players teeing off today in the $100,000 Quad-Cities Open Golf Tournament at Crow Valley Golf Club.

Jamieson, hometown favorite from nearby Moline, comes into the showing as Western Open champion. Trevino enters seeking his fifth victory of the season, and hopes to add the $20,000 first place honors to his two consecutive tournament winning streak.

LAS VEGAS — Tommy Bolt of Sarasota, Fla., is a 5-2 favorite to win his fifth straight U.S. National Seniors Open Gold Tournament, which was to get under way today and wind up Sunday.

Other former winners here in the field of 139 pros 50 years and over are Dutch Harrison of St. Louis, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and Pete Fleming of Hot Springs, Ark.

Play will be held at the Tropicana, Winterwood and Las Vegas Country Club courses today through Saturday with the final day's action set at Tropicana Sunday.

Basketball

DENVER — The Denver Rockets announced Wednesday they returned Wayne Hightower to the Carolina Cougars before the 10-year veteran reported to camp.

Hightower, a former San Francisco Warrior starting forward, agreed to play for Denver after he was purchased from Carolina last week, but failed to show up.

"I told Wayne I wasn't going to let one player disrupt an entire team," Rocket President Alex Hannum, who is also coach and general manager, said. "When he called me and told me he would report Monday I took his word for it and he let me down."

Baseball

MONTREAL — The Montreal Expos have given field manager Gene Mauch a one-year extension on his contract to the end of the 1w74 season, general manager Jim Fanning announced Wednesday.

Mauch, 46, is the only manager the Expos have had since being admitted into the league in 1969.

Boxing

DENVER — World heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, claiming he was "about ready to take him out in the streets," said Wednesday he wanted to fight Muhammad Ali anywhere, anytime.

"I don't care whether I have to fight him in my back yard," said Frazier in Denver Wednesday.

Frazier's manager Yank Durham said the fight probably wouldn't be held before March, 1973.

Durham also said an offer from Astrodome Championship Enterprises, Inc., of Houston for Frazier to meet George Foreman in a title fight "was not up to par." The Texas group offered Frazier $500,000 or 40 per cent of the gate.

the last half of the season, struck out five and walked two Giants.

Larry Howard, his batterymate, drove in two runs with a solo homer in the fifth inning and a single in the second. His single drove in Lee May.

The Astros' third run came in the eighth on a double by Jim Wynn, an infield out and an error by Giants second baseman Tito Fuentes.

The Giants' biggest threat came in the sixth when Gary Matthews beat out an infield hit and went to third on Dave Kingman's two-out single. Dave Rader hit a long line drive to left center, but Cesar Cedeno caught up with it and made a fine backhanded catch to save two runs.

Emile Waldteufel of Mill Valley, a member of the U.S. Olympic cycling team, won a 25-mile race yesterday as part of the four-day Italian-Swiss Colony 100 bike races in Asti. His winning time was 58 minutes and 45 seconds, 40 seconds off the Amateur Bicycle League of America record.

Diplomatic Pressure Ends Team Canada-Russia Row

MOSCOW (UPI)—A little diplomatic pressure today helped resolve a dispute between Soviet and Canadian hockey officials over referees which threatened to cancel tonight's eighth and tie-breaking game in their series.

The compromise was reached seven hours before the start of the contest, the final one in the series. Each team has now won three games, the other was a tie.

Under the compromise worked out, Team Canada was given the choice of one referee for tonight's game and the Russian national team the other.

The dispute broke into the open Wednesday when Canadian officials were told by the Russians that two West German referees who have come under heavy criticism from the Canadian side would work the final game.

The Canadian team had earlier understood from the Russians that the Germans— Joseph Kompalla and Franz Baader—would not work the game.

Alan Eagleson, a director of Hockey Canada and executive director of the National Hockey League Players Association, attended a meeting with Soviet representatives Wednesday afternoon and this morning to try to settle the dispute.

Also attending was Joe Kryczka, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, and Harry Sinden, manager-coach of Team Canada, and his assistant, John Ferguson.

Meanwhile, Vic Hadfield, the New York Ranger wing who scored 50 goals last season, said Wednesday that Sinden's favoritism forced him to quit Team Canada during its international series against the Soviet National Hockey Team.

Hadfield, after watching the Rangers defeat the expansion New York Islanders 6-4 in a National Hockey League preseason game at the Nassau Coliseum, said that Sinden, "played only his friends."

"That's the main reason I decided to leave the team," Hadfield said.

Improved Attack Is Sought By Raiders' Coach

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI)—Coach John Madden of the Oakland Raiders says his offense will have to perform to a higher degree than last week to beat San Diego this Sunday.

After viewing films of the Chargers recent games, Madden concluded they have strengthened their defense considerably.

"They've acquired some fine veterans in people like Deacon Jones and Dave Costa and Lionel Aldridge," he said. "They really strengthened the defense. But basically they have the same offense—the Garretts and Hadls and Garrisons—that scores a lot of points."

49er Brodie Starts; 2 Others Doubtful

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—John Brodie will open at quarterback for the San Francisco Forty Niners against the New Orleans Saints Sunday but linebacker Frank Nunley and fullback Ken Willard are doubtful.

Brodie told Coach Dick Nolan that he is able to play in New Orleans despite spraining a wrist last week in the game with Buffalo.

Nunley sprained an ankle in the same game and Willard is rounding into form after missing nearly a month with a bad knee.

"Things look pretty good now but it's just wait and see with Nunley and Willard," said Nolan.

Nolan also said he was impressed with the battle the Saints gave the Kansas City Chiefs before losing by three points Monday night. "(Quarterback) Archie Manning seems to be staying in that pocket a lot more."

to's San Marin High and Bill Mejia of San Rafael.

In addition to the main event, which is a benefit game for the Marin Youth Soccer Association, there will be a 7 o'clock preliminary between all-star youth teams from Mill Valley and Ross. At halftime, the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce will award certificates to Marin County's seven young men who competed in the Olympics in Munich.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for youngsters 18 and under.

PREP NOTES

Novato Selected In Marin Football Loop Title Chase

By LEW CODDINGTON

Trying to pick the winner of this year's Marin County Athletic League football race is obviously a foolhardy act, but mere prudence has never deterred me from anything yet.

With trembling voice, I say Novato.

This year's league is divided into two echelons. Novato, San Rafael, Terra Linda and Redwood will contend for the championship. San Marin, Drake and Tamalpais will not.

The four contenders are evenly matched, and it will be very difficult, perhaps impossible, to go unbeaten. Something like last year's race, with two teams at 5-1 and two others at 4-2, is likely.

Unlike last year, however, the three teams in the lower echelon will not be pushovers. San Marin has scored 58 points in its first two games, and Tamalpais has given up only 16, proving each can be tough.

It would be unreasonable to predict any given upset, but it seems safe to say that teams from the lower echelon will surprise teams from the upper echelon once or twice during the year.

The team which wins the title will be the team which gets "up" for three tough rivals without allowing itself to get too far "down" for the other teams. Coaches probably will lie awake nights trying to remember everything they ever learned about motivation.

The predictions:

1. Novato. The Hornets (2-0) opened with a pair of impressive victories over two San Francisco schools, Riordan and Lincoln. Coach Al Scott has brought his team to a peak early, which is mandatory, since Novato plays Terra Linda in its league opener Saturday night.

2. Redwood. The Giants (2-0) have also been impressive with a pair of non-league wins, showing a fine backfield and no apparent weakness. They've had a tendency to make mistakes, however, losing three touchdowns against Antioch on fumbles and two more against Washington of San Francisco by penalty.

3. Terra Linda. The Trojans (0-2) have lost four of five games over a two-year span, but their troubles are more illusory than real. Any school with 22 returning lettermen off a 6-3 team can't be all bad, and Terra Linda outplayed powerful Antioch last weekend for most of the game before losing.

4. San Rafael. The Bulldogs (1-1) romped over Lincoln in their opener, but raised doubts by losing last weekend to Antioch, a team Redwood beat.

5. San Marin. The Mustangs (2-0) may have their best team in years. They romped in their opener and showed courage in the clutch last Saturday, scoring 28 points in the fourth quarter to come from behind and win. With only 25 players, they don't have the manpower to stay with the top four, but on any given day . . .

6. Drake. The Pirates (0-2) have showed good offense and good defense, but unfortunately not on the same day. Such inconsistency, if repeated, could lead to their downfall.

7. Tamalpais. The Indians (1-1) overcame injuries and broke their 10-game losing streak Saturday with a patchwork lineup. The defense has given up eight points in each game Tam has played, and if it stays tough, the Indians will be in every game.

The schedule offers a slight advantage to San Rafael, which never plays two contenders in a row. Terra Linda, Novato and Redwood each must face two of them back-to-back, but none must play the other three in a row.

NOTEBOOK — Unsung hero of the week award goes to Vic Terra of Marin Catholic, who boomed a 72-yard punt against Tamalpais . . . Redwood kicker Don Nelson suffered from conflict-of-interest last Friday when he played against his father, coach Bruce Nelson of Washington. The Nelsons live in Corte Madera.

HARRIERS

enough as the Hornets took the remaining three spots to win. Lathrop had a time of 19:34 while Truek came in at 20:04. Tom Soztlak led the Novato harriers, coming in third.

In Frost-Soph action, Redwood followed their older teammates by beating Terra Linda 15-50 and San Rafael, 25-32. San Rafael smothered Terra Linda, 15-48.

Second place Tamalpais drew a bye this week.

STANDINGS

Redwood 4-0, Tamalpais 2-0, San Rafael 2-2, Novato 2-2, San Marin 1-1, Terra Linda 1-3, Drake 0-4.

The Hesitant Torrington Demos

By PETER M. KELLY

TORRINGTON, Wyo. (UPI)— Mary McLaughlin got up from her pot roast dinner the other night to answer her doorbell. Outside was her neighbor, Pansy Butler.

Mrs. Butler, a Republican precinct worker, was polling the block and asked Mrs. McLaughlin who she would vote for in the presidential election.

"Joe Smith," said Mrs. McLaughlin, a lifelong Democrat.

"Who's he?"

"I don't know, but he's better than the other two," she said.

Mrs. McLaughlin has decided that Democratic presidential nominee Sen. George McGovern is not to be trusted. Her decision was not an easy one. In Torrington and throughout Goshen County, Wyo., Democrats are outnumbered by Republicans and, as a rule, do not waver.

But McGovern is in trouble in Torrington—population 4,118—from the white stucco American Legion post on Main Street to the fields of brown tasseled corn that stretch to the Nebraska border eight miles east.

Torrington is in the political outback. If 4,500 persons turn out from the county to vote in a presidential election, that is a good turnout. But McGovern's problem here is the same as in big cities—disaffection by more conservative party regulars.

McGovern will not carry Goshen County, say the Democrats, nor will he carry rural America. Most Democratic leaders in Torrington believe that McGovern will need the farm vote if he doesn't get labor in a bloc.

Mrs. McLaughlin, 50, says her unhappiness with McGovern does not mean she will vote for President Nixon.

"I just can't trust either of them," she said. "They're both shifty. McGovern changes his mind so many times you can't tell what he means. Nixon just sits back in a corner and lets everyone else talk for him."

Many Democrats, like Mrs. McLaughlin, say they will sit the election out this year.

Torrington is on the eastern edge of Wyoming, 85 miles northeast of Cheyenne, the capital. Mrs. McLaughlin was a secretary for Gov. Stanley Hathaway when he had a law office in town.

The economy in Torrington is the land. It rolls away from the town like a yellow blanket quilted with patches of corn, fields of wheat and sugar beets. Farmers this year knew the corn crop would be good because stalks were knee-high by July 4.

Torrington is rural America—covered dish dinners at the golf course west of town, talks over coffee at mid-morning in Paul's Cafe, freight train whistles across miles of lonely farmland at night.

On Main Street a "No Left Turn" sign is placed at the intersection of 21st Street on Saturdays, when shopping is the heaviest.

Young people after Friday night football games usually wind up at the State Line Oasis bar, dancing to country and western music; or at The Mint, a bar anchoring Main Street near the Burlington & Northern Railway tracks where music is louder and the company a little rougher.

Main Street, shaded in fall evenings by maple and elm trees, runs north to the "Hill," the well-to-do district that is a Republican stronghold.

From the windows of the Valley Hi restaurant, operated by a former deputy sheriff on a bluff at the south edge of town, diners can see the Holly Sugar Refinery near the banks of the Platte River and the turnoff to Pete Keenan's 280-acre farm.

Keenan and his wife, Dorothy, are staunch Democrats who say they will vote for McGovern. Keenan indicates that his vote will be from party loyalty and not necessarily an endorsement of the man.

"They say McGovern is radical but I think President Nixon is radical," says Keenan, sitting in a yellow armchair by a window that looks out on rows of sugar beets. The noon news blares from a kitchen radio.

"Nixon tries all sorts of things he can't get through Congress," Keenan said. "The same thing will happen with McGovern. Congress won't let him get away with a lot of things."

One of the major issues for Keenan, who has farmed the land for 50 years, is the economy. Every time he goes to town, he says, prices "seem a few cents higher." Another big issue is Vietnam.

"I'm a hawk, you know,", Keenan said. "I've been a hawk all of my life. Then again, we always used to win the wars. But this one, Vietnam, has slowed me down. I don't think we should get out if we have to give everything up."

The over-riding issue among Democrats within Torrington's 10 precincts appears to be the economy. The end of the war, they believe, is in sight and President Nixon has the right idea—not pulling out troops while prisoners-of-war remain in North Vietnam.

Support for Nixon is strong among GOP regulars but not enthusiastic. The Republican County Chairman, Russ Zimmer, standing in overalls and wearing a cowboy hat in the dim light of his grain mill's machine shop, says Republicans have a Dewey syndrome—they believe they can't lose.

Roger Courtney, 37, the Democratic county chairman, admits McGovern is trailing in the county and has alienated party regulars. But he predicts support will pick up, especially with the U.S. sale of wheat to Russia.

Courtney, who runs an insurance office off Main Street, held a rally recently in Pioneer Park on the western edge of town. The turnout was disappointing.

"Maybe I shouldn't say this but I'm not sure whether people here are really that concerned with politics this year. I mean the farmer, the grocer and the service station operator. It's the same with Democrats and Republicans."

Courtney is enthused, however, about the Democrats' chances to pick up a seat on the three-member GOP county commission which meets a half-block away in the white stone courthouse, its green lawn dominated by a miniature model of Statue of Liberty.

In his office across from the courthouse, Republican State Sen. W. G. Vanderpool says McGovern hasn't a chance. Vanderpool says McGovern has backed off his early campaign stands too many times and that farmers he's visited with became disenchanted with McGovern's ability to make up his mind when he first backed and then dumped Sen. Thomas Eagleton as a running mate.

A housewife working in Republican headquarters, set up in the old Trail Hotel, puts it this way:

"This is a town of real people, who are true Americans. The Democrats I've talked to are scared of McGovern, just plain scared of him."

The lack of support for McGovern is prevalent among newly registered young voters who attend Eastern Wyoming Junior College north of town, according to Noah Gregory, 27, who tends bar part-time at the American Legon post for extra money.

Gregory, who began classes at the school this fall, says students he has rapped with claim McGovern is indecisive. The students, he claims, are concerned about jobs "and McGovern can't do any better than Nixon has about that."

Across the street in one of the two barber shops on Main, Hank Martinez says the feedback he gets while clipping hair of farmers and townspeople is anti-McGovern.

"I haven't heard anyone say anything good about McGovern yet," says Martinez, 37, a native of Torrington who returned from California after a hitch with the Navy. "They say he's not stable enough.

"McGovern says he's going to end the war when he's only a man and can't possibly end it by himself. People give Nixon credit. It's a lot easier to start a world war than to end one."

Fifteen miles west of Torrington is Lingle, a town of 451 persons where Joe Acklin publishes a weekly newspaper in his job printing shop. Acklin is a former Democratic county chairman who says he may not vote for president.

Acklin says in 1968 organizers for Sen. Hubert Humphrey appeared in Goshen County and unlike McGovern's campaigners were "real interested in rural America." He also says heavy McGovern support in the county party is restricted to the central committee members.

"McGovern's programs are just basically unsound," said Acklin. "He just doesn't have a firm foot on the ground. What he's not going to get are votes from people like me and others who regard themselves as liberal Democrats. Many Democrats won't go to the polls and vote."

Acklin says the farmers he's talked to have given him the impression they believe "Nixon has been very fair. I think they're happy with him. They just don't think anyone else could do any better.

"So far, McGovern hasn't had anything to offer."

And so it appears that in Torrington, Wyo., at least, the prairie populist's campaign has not yet caught fire.

Protection Gone

SEATTLE (AP) — Paul W. Heck thought he had adequate protection from burglars. His arsenal included 10 pistols, two carbine rifles, a submachine gun, 10,000 rounds of ammunition. He reported to police that burglars broke in and stole it all, taking five cameras as good measure.

Agnew's Low-Key Campaign Continues

GALESBURG, Ill. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, continuing his low key approach to the 1972 campaign, made no mention of Democratic Presidential candidate George McGovern in a speech at the Farm Progress Show Wednesday.

Instead, Agnew described the accomplishments of the Nixon administration in the agricultural field. Adhering to his prepared text, Agnew praised Nixon for taking a personal approach to opening new foreign markets to U.S. agricultural trade and cited the new, three-year U.S.-Soviet grain agreement — "the biggest peacetime transaction of its kind in world history."

The vice president made no reference to McGovern's recent attacks on the handling of the grain deal. McGovern and others have charged that information on the deal was withheld, resuting in a windfall for big grain exporters.

State police estimated that 50,000 of the 200,000 persons who thronged the George Inness farm for the show gathered around the bunting-draped platform in a farm field to hear Agnew speak.

Agnew's speech was his own idea, said James Thomson, editor of Prairie Farmer magazine, which sponsored the show.

"We suggested that maybe we could dispense with the speeches," Thomson said, emphasizing that the show as "a farm show" and "not a political show."

He said that after he found Agnew planned to attend, he offered "to extend every courtesy to any Democrat who wanted to attend."

Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., Democratic senatorial candidate, sat on the platform, applauded warmly when Agnew finished his address and shook hands with Agnew. Pucinski said promoters of the show invited him to sit on the podium.

Rights Panel's Life Extended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bill extending the life of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission for five years and giving it authority to protect the rights of women has been passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

The Senate approved the bill Tuesday with little debate. Earlier a House-Senate conference committee dropped a Senate-approved section creating a "bill of rights" for government employes.

The section, among other things, outlawed psychological testing of government employes and forbade lie detector questioning about their religious beliefs or sex lives.

Jewish Group Asks U.S. Reins On Russia Trade

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The National Conference on Soviet Jewry has asked President Nixon to withhold any further trade concessions to Russia unless it rescinds its tax on Jewish emigrees.

In early August, the Soviet government began exacting fees of up to $35,000 each from Jews with college educations leaving the country.

The conference's board of governors unanimously approved Wednesday the appeal to Nixon after a lengthy meeting of leaders from virtually all the nation's top Jewish organizations.

The conference represents more than 30 national Jewish groups in the United States. It sent a letter to Nixon urging against granting the Russians trade terms comparable to those accorded its best trading partners.

"During the last four months we have witnessed with growing anguish a steady increase in incidents of harassment and oppression of Soviet Jews, culminating in the imposition of an extortionate and inhumane emigration tax," the group said in the open letter.

Some of those who attended the meeting of Jewish leaders also expressed irritation over the President's statement to Jewish leaders with whom he met in New York Wednesday to the effect that "politicizing or demagoguing" the exit fees or other issues involving Soviet Jews would serve no useful purpose.

Tools Taken

Tools valued at $1,300 were taken from a quonset hut occupied by Tam Sewers at 234 Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley between 7:30 p.m. Sunday and 1:50 p.m. Monday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

McGovern Blasts Nixon On Law, Order Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George S. McGovern said today President Nixon should not be campaigning on a law-and-order theme when crime increased during his term in the White House.

"No President can promise the people he will end crime and drug addiction," McGovern acknowledged.

But he told a news conference there were more serious crimes committed during the first three years of the Nixon administration than in any siimilar period in the nation's history.

He said that while the rate of growth of crime may have slowed, crime increased nonetheless.

He called the November election "a referendum on the future of the American cities" and pledged more cooperation for the country's mayors to "put our cities back together."

McGovern made the comments after meeting with 10 mayors who are helping him set up an urban affairs policy panel and a mayors for McGovern campaign committee.

Joining him at the news conference were Mayors John V. Lindsay of New York; Kenneth Gibson of Newark, N.J., Alfred DeBello of Yonkers, N.Y., Kathy Kirschbaum of Davenport, Iowa; Roman Gribbs of Detroit; Bert Williams of El Paso, Tex.; Kevin White of Boston; Lee Alexander of Syracuse; Thomas Luken of Cincinnati and Ivan Lebamoff of Fort Wayne, Ind.

McGovern planned to go to his Chesapeake Bay summer home later for two days of rest and planning before returning to the trail Saturday with visits to Baltimore, Atlantic City, N.J., and New York City.

In a statement prepared for the announcement of the two new groups, McGovern said "nowhere is the need to bring America home again more apparent than in our cities."

"What is draining our urban centers of money and blighting our metropolitan areas is the unending, senseless war in Vietnam; the ceaseless escalating defense spending; the terrible toll of inflation; an inequitable tax system; and the unconscionable Nixon-Agnew policy of deliberately putting people out of work as a tool against inflation," he said.

"We won't be able to put our cities back together until we turn federal revenues away from the war and away from special tax favors for the wealthy to the needs of our cities," McGovern said.

Reviewing a list of proposals he has made during his campaign, McGovern noted that he would, if elected, increase the cities' share from the revenue sharing program by $4 billion—financed out of tax reforms and defense spending cuts.

He also said he would not, as "high Nixon officials" have said, cut back other urban development programs such as Model Cities once revenue sharing funds begin flowing to cities.

Shriver Says U.S. Most Violent Nation

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Sargent Shriver, Democratic vice presidential nominee, told policemen honoring Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier Wednesday night that the United States is "the most violent country in the world."

Myles J. Ambrose, special consultant to President Nixon, earlier told the same audience that Sen. George S. McGovern and Shriver were interested in legalizing marijuana.

"Under the Nixon administration, crime has risen at a record rate," Shriver said. He said there were 25 per cent more murders since 1968, 29 per cent more rapes, 43 per cent more robberies and 25 per cent more assaults.

"The statistics are staggering proof that we are indeed the most violent country in the world," Shriver said. He told the policemen and their wives 126 police officers were murdered in the line of duty last year, compared with 86 in 1969.

Ambrose, who apparently got wind of Shriver's text, closed this way:

"Don't let anybody give you any baloney that the crime rate increase in this country is not being reduced. Those statistics will be available in two or three days and you can see them for yourself, rather than listen to them third hand."

Ambrose said on Feb. 15, 1972, McGovern suggested marijuana be treated like alcohol. Ambrose said on Feb. 16 the South Dakotan denied that he said it. He said Shriver made a similar suggestion in April, 1970.

"I'm authorized to express the views of the President and he has told me absolutely and unequivocally he is opposed to legalization of marijuana," Ambrose said.

New Twist To Campaign Coffees

A departure from the traditional campaign coffees will be launched next week in the Second Supervisorial District, with joint appearances at two sessions by both the incumbent and his challenger.

The proposal for joint coffees with his opponent Barbara Boxer originated with incumbent Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. Both scheduled coffees were organized by his campaign committee.

The first will be at 3:30 p.m. next Thursday at the Tamalpais in Larkspur. The coffee will be hosted by Katharine Mierrifield and Dorothy Stetson. The second will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 6 at the Fairfax home of Bruce Duncan, 340 Olema Drive.

Arrigoni also will speak, but without Mrs. Boxer, at coffees at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax home of David Taylor, 9 Mariele Drive, and 1:30 p.m. next Thursday at the San Anselmo home of Mrs. T. H. Donnelly, 135 Calumet Avenue.

Actress Delays Vegas Opening

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Entertainer Ann-Margaret has delayed her scheduled appearance at the Las Vegas Hilton to give her more time to recuperate from her recent injuries, a hotel spokesman says.

Terry Lindberg, a hotel publicist, said Wednesday the singer-actress will open in the Hilton's showroom Nov. 28, instead of Oct. 3 as scheduled.

Supervisor Candidate Schedules Coffees

Michael R. Peevey, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the fourth district, will speak at coffees and a reception this week in Corte Madera, San Rafael and Bolinas.

The coffees will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Corte Madera home of Duane Smith, 5 Blue Rock Court; 8 p.m. tomorrow at the San Rafael home of Michael H. Bull, 117 San Rafael Avenue, and a 3 p.m. reception Sunday at the Bolinas home of Don L. Bradley, 30 Terrace Avenue.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Arguments Favoring Purchase Of Bonds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am retired and most of my money is in the bank at 5 per cent and 6 per cent. My income bracket approaches 50 per cent which makes me wonder if I would be better off in tax-free municipal bonds. Would you be so kind as to recommend some if you agree with this choice. Where do I go to buy them? — R.W.

A. The arguments favoring tax-free investments for individuals in a high tax bracket is inescapable. In the 50 per cent tax bracket, a 5½ per cent tax-free return is equal to 11 per cent in taxable income. Furthermore state tax can also be avoided, in many cases, by purchasing bonds issued by the state in which you reside.

You have two choices, direct purchase of tax-exempt bonds or indirect purchase through a municipal bond fund. The latter course has considerable merit for the novice investor. Because of the nature of the municipal bond market, small investors are often charged a strong premium on their purchase and since price quotes are difficult to secure, the buyer may not even be aware that he has paid several points more than necessary. Some readers have cited experiences getting quotes as much as 10 points apart on the same bond from different dealers. Thus the 3½ per cent to 4½ per cent load fee you pay to buy a bond fund may prove cheap by comparison. The fund approach also provides portfolio diversification that an individual investor would seldom achieve on his own.

Unlike the open-end mutural fund which sells share continuously, the tax-exempt bond funds are sold in series. A portfolio is set up and units are sold to cover the total investment; as portfolio bonds mature the assets are distributed to fund holders. Some of the various funds pay monthly income, others are set up to invest only in obligations of a particular state, including your home state. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Bache & Co., Walston & Co., John Nuveen, E.F. Hutton are some of the firms offering these packaged tax-free investments.

Stock Prices Lower During Early Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stock prices moved lower during the first two hours today, with investors sitting on the sidelines and showing their disappointment concerning unfounded Vietnam peace rumors.

Declines led advances, 662 to 523, among the 1,552 issues crossing the tape. Turnover on the New York Stock Exchange amounted to more than 5,580,000 shares.

Top U.S. and North Vietnamese officials denied rumors a ceasefire was imminent in Vietnam. Little happened at the Paris peace talks during the day to spark any hope.

Investors were further discouraged by speculation two New York banks—First Cational City and Irving Trust—may raise their prime rates this week.

First Charter Financial was the most active issue, up 1-2 at 34 1-2 on 95700 shares.

Prices were mixed to slightly higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Punta Gorda was the most active AMEX issue, off 1-2 at 8 1-2 on 55,900 shares.

Airlines were lower on the Big Board. TWA lost 2 1-4, UAL Inc. 1 1-4, and American and Eastern 1 1-8 apiece.

Firm Announces Plans To Plant

Nissan Motor Corp. in U.S.A., distributor of the Datsun automobile, announced it will plant at least a quarter million trees this year in its "Drive A Datsun . . . Plant A Tree" campaign.

The campaign, launched on July 18, promises that Datsun will plant a tree in a U.S. national forest each time someone test drives a Datsun between July 18 and Oct. 15.

Ortho Mattress Co.To Open Retail Outlet In San Rafael

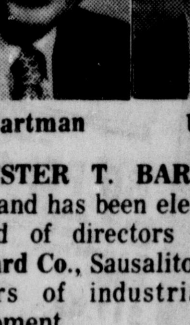
Ortho Mattress Co. will open its first Marin County retail outlet in downtown San Rafael, in premises formerly occupied by Manor House and Lachman Brothers furniture, across the street from Courthosue Square.

Ortho has leased the building at 1005 Fourth Street, which contains 35,000 square feet on three floors, and hopes to move in next week.

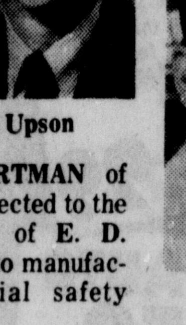
Lawrence I. Serkes, vice president in investment real estate for the Frank Howard Allen & Co. of Greenbrae, handled negotiations for the lease.

The space has been vacant since last May 20, when Manor House closed. Lachman Brothers occupied the store before Manor House took over in July of 1971.

Ortho Mattress will serve Marin and other areas of the north bay from its new San Rafael branch. The store has a private parking area in the back for its customers.



Bartman



Upson

LESTER T. BARTMAN of Oakland has been elected to the board of directors of E. D. Bullard Co., Sausalito manufacturers of industrial safety equipment.

Bartman recently retired as vice president of Crocker National Bank after more than 40 years of service. He is a graduate of the American Institute of Banking and a former member of the advisory board of the National Small Business Administralion. He is past president of the Northern California chapter of Robert Morris Associates.

LAUREN D. UPSON of Mill Valley has been promoted to vice president in Wells Fargo Bank's trust division, San Francisco. He was formerly trust officer and assistant vice president.

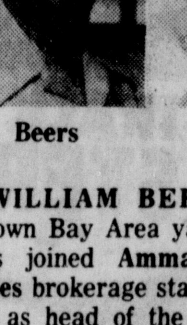
Upson joined Wells Fargo in 1963, was named trust officer in the pension department in 1967 and in 1969 became assistantvice president. He is currently a member of the committee on pension and profit-sharing for the California Bankers Assocaition.

SUE'S STUFF And Nonsense, a new gift shop, just opened last week in the old San Rafael railroad station at 930 Tamalpais Avenue.

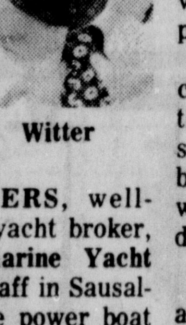
Owner-operator is Sue Anderson of San Anselmo, mother of two, and a former telephone company employee for 10 years. Her husband is R.A. Anderson, a manufacturer's representative with offices on Belvedere Street in San Rafael.

Sue's shop carries a variety of items such as chess boards, handmade quilts and bonnets from the Smokies, hand-painted jewelry, antique dragon chairs from China, crocheted and knitted items from vests to animals, some old pieces of china, and brass objects.

Sue's Stuff and Nonsense is open from noon to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday. It is closed Sunday and Monday. The shop is in the same building as the Christmas Place, a seasonal gift shop operated by four Marin housewives.



Beers



Witter

WILLIAM BEERS, well-known Bay Area yacht broker, has joined Ammarine Yacht Sales brokerage staff in Sausalito as head of the power boat division.

Beers has years of varied experience in the marine industry, working with both commercial vessels and yachts. He worked as draftsman for a naval architect, went into yacht sales and owned his own yacht brokerage firm in the Delta. Beers also designed yachts, did some commercial fishing and acquired a U.S. Coast Guard license for vessels up to 100 tons.

Phillip R. Harrill, manager of Ammarine Yacht Sales, announced Beers' appointment. "We are fortunate in getting a man of Bill's caliber," said Harrill. "Over the years, he has become known as THE broker to see when wanting to buy or sell good, above average cruisers."

PETER C. WITTER of Mill Valley has been named an associate in the San Francisco-based architectural and planning firm, Bull Field Volkmann Stockwell. He will be involved in a variety of projects for the firm, principally in the housing and resort second home field.

A native of Ross and a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, Witter won a degree in architecture from Stanford University in 1961 and a masters degree from Yale in 1969. He is a director of the Marin Child Development Center in Tiburon.

CALIFORNIA-WESTERN States Life Insurance Co., which had two agencies in San Rafael, has combined the two to provide expanded services to clients.

Redwood Empire Agency at Northgate Industrial Park has merged with the former Golden Gate Agency at 16 Mary Street, San Rafael. The combined agency, with headquarters on Mary Street, is called Redwood Empire Agency of California-Western States Life Insurance.

John R. Lee of Mill Valley, agency manager, said the combined office will offer a complete portfolio of life, property and casualty, accident and sickness, and equity products. Associates in the agency are David St. Johnson of San Anselmo, James Harvey of Fairfax and Paul B. Lucas of San Rafael.

LEN E. SCHAUB, who has operated Westland Radio and TV on Fourth Street in San Rafael for almost 27 years, has moved his shop and salesroom from 1535 Fourth two doors west to 1541-B Fourth. The telephone remains the same.

Westland specializes in RCA color TV sales and all types of television and radio repair service. The former store will be used by the Mayflower Inn, which adjoins it, to expand its dining room.

THE ROBERT BUTLER Co., a general real estate brokerage firm at 50 Mitchell Boulevard in San Rafael, has added three salesmen to its staff. All three have college degrees.

John Huster, 26, was in the Peace Corps and worked as accountant. He sold about a half million dollars in property during his first nine months in the real estate business.

Roger Johnson, 37, has 10 years' experience as planner, most recently with the San Francisco Re-development Agency.

Dream Come True In Truck Sales

By Charles E. Dole
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

It's a sales manager's dream come true.

Not only are new-car sales zipping along at a track-burning pace, but the truck market, too, is the sweetest it's ever been. It shows every sign of smashing through last year's record-shattering 2.1 million sales. Outlook for 1972 is at least 2.5 million.

Demand, in fact, is so high for trucks that the manufacturers are having a hard time meeting it.

GMC, for example, is putting into operation this fall a 1.6-million-square-foot assembly plant in Pontiac, Mich., and last year opened a million-square-foot master parts center at Willow Run Airport, west of Detroit.

Through Aug. 20, the overall market was up 33.6 per cent for the year. New-truck registrations soared over the 1.1 million mark in the first six months of 1972, the first time in the history of the industry that they had achieved this figure so early in the year.

Ten years ago, by contrast, the truck business was sloughing along at less than a million units a year.

The only segment of the market not up is the medium truck. The reason, manufacturers say, is the cost squeeze on the operators. Truck owners are opting for bigger trucks where the payloads are larger. Because of this upward mobility, medium truck sales — trucks with a gross vehicle weight (GVW) from 10,000 to 26,000 pounds — are down 2 per cent over the same period a year ago.

But the rest of the market — z-o-o-m!

Ford Motor Company, which since 1968 has sold more trucks than any other manufacturer, expects to market over 900,000 units this year alone, or nearly as many as the entire industry sold just over 10 years ago. Some 600,000 are expected to be pickups. Econoline, up 25 per cent over 1971, for the first time is heading toward 100,000 units or beyond, plus an estimated 23,000 Club Wagons.

Ranchero, up 73 per cent so far this year, may top 40,000. Ford also looks for 110,000 heavy trucks compared with 90,000 a year ago.

Is it any wonder the truckmakers are smiling?

"Two things changed the light-truck business — the product and the buyer," declares Donald E. Peterson, Ford's vice-president for truck operations.

"In 1960," he goes on, "trucks were trucks — with solid front axles, three-speed transmissions, and six-cylinder engines but no real comforts. Today's light truck has more comfortable seats, better styling, larger engines, automatic transmission, air-conditioning, power steering, power brakes, and other luxury options."

About the only two things you can't get in a pickup truck these days, and which you can get in a car, are power seats and power windows.

Martin J. Caserio, general manager of the GMC Truck and Coach Division, says that women are driving light-duty trucks to the school, the beauty parlor, the shopping center, and the Little League ball parks in all-time record numbers.

"Housewives are ordering pickups, vans, suburbans, and other light trucks with air conditioning, bucket seats, AM-FM radios, carpeting, and color-coordinated interiors — and they are parking them in the second spot in a two-car garage," he adds.

Even the large trucks are living rooms on wheels. They have to be because they are a man's home away from home, and comfort and convenience go hand in hand with safety.

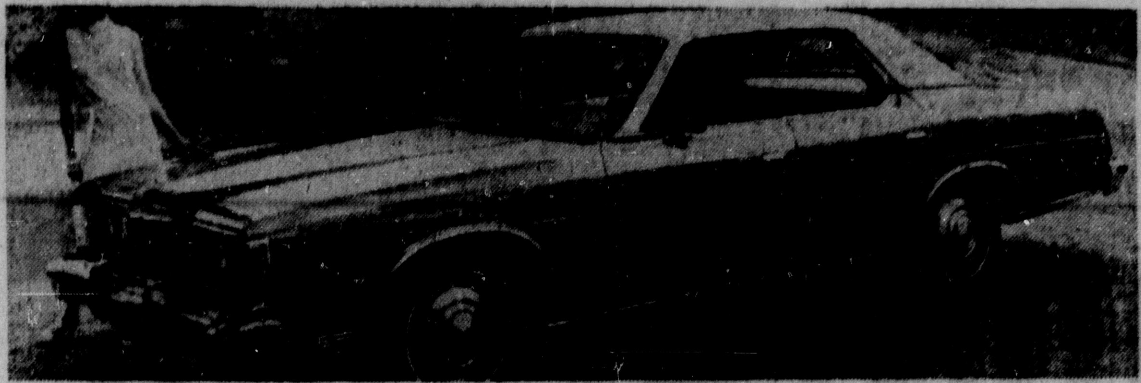
The industry credits the Nixon economic policy of mid-August, 1971, as the basic stimulus for getting the boom under way. Dropping the 10 per cent excise tax on light-duty trucks of 10,000 pounds GVW or less provided a tremendous fillip to sales.

Before the excise tax went off, a typical pickup truck — one with power steering, power brakes, automatic transmission, and radio — might have cost $4,000. Suddenly, with removal of the excise tax, that same truck could be bought for under $3,700.

For people who had been thinking about a truck, that saving put a large flag in front of them: buy.

Compounding the excise-tax cut is the upward swing in the market for recreational vehicles.

Ford Motor Company reports that its most recent survey shows that 30 per cent of all pickup trucks registered in 1971 have either slide-in or shell campers on them. On the company's three-quarter-ton truck, the F-250, the figure is 41 per cent. Some 21 per cent of owners used their pickups with a recreational trailer. About 40 per cent use their pickups for vacations and 55 per cent for camping and other outdoor recreational activities.



1973 FORD

Most changed Ford Division car for 1973 is the full-sized Ford. Shown here is the LTD four-door hardtop. All-new sheet metal below the window line and a new segmented grille give the 1973 Ford a more formal look. Local dealers are Lyons-Ryan Ford in San Rafael, J & B Ford Sales in Corte Madera and Novato Auto Sales.

SPORTY CAPRI

Lincoln Mercury's sporty Capri enters 1973 with a larger standard engine and interior refinements. Complete sporty instrumentation is standard on the Capri 2600 and now optional on the Capri 2000. Interior changes include a new instrument panel with a lockable glove box and new simulated-walnut decor. Dealers in Marin are Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury in San Rafael and Larry Brink Motors in Mill Valley.

FLEETWOOD SIXTY SPECIAL BROUGHAM

The 1973 Cadillac Fleetwood Sixty Special Brougham is the most elegant of the Cadillac line. For smoother appearance, the rear edge of the front door has been extended, eliminating the filler between the two doors. In addition to new wheel discs, all Cadillacs are available in 21 exterior colors, 19 of them new. Bianco Cadillac in Corte Madera is the Marin County dealer.

Concern For Asians Remaining In Uganda

By JOHN ALLAN MAY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

LONDON — Quiet but intense diplomatic pressure now is being exerted from London to try to cool down the inflammatory situation in and on the borders of Uganda.

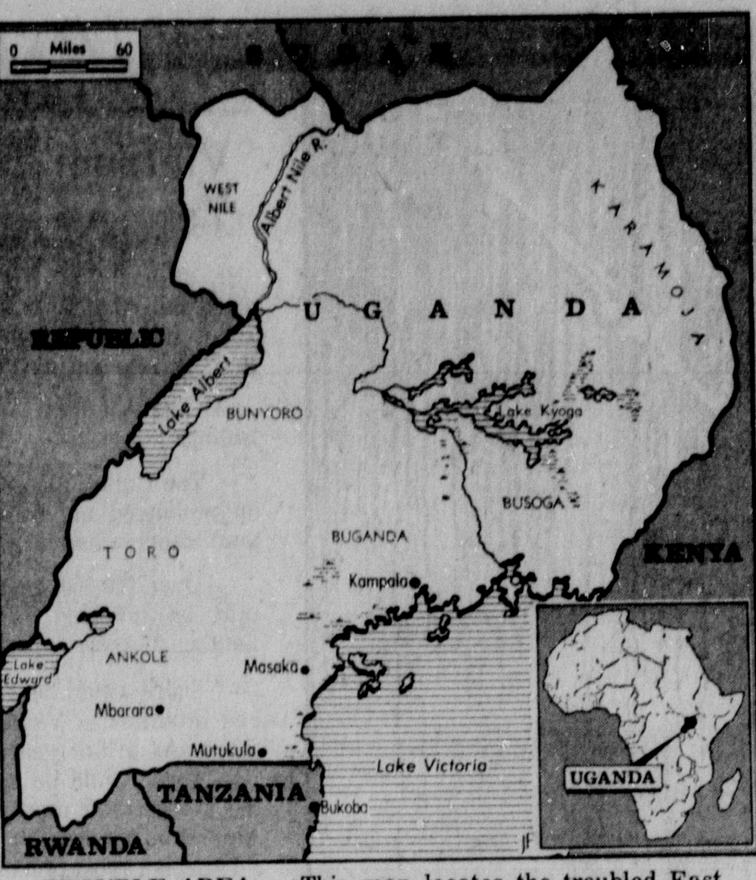
Serious concern is felt for the many thousands of Asians still left in that country unless this cooling process can have immediate effect.

There also is concern lest the guerrilla war along the border with Tanzania spread into something more like a full-scale military conflict.

Libya's intervention has shocked London. Five aircraft carrying 399 armed Libyan soldiers have been forced to land at Khartoum by the Sudanese government. They were on their way to assist Maj. Gen Idi Amin, who claims that Uganda has been invaded by a rebel army backed by President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania and actively supported by Britain and Israel.

Both of the latter governments have strongly denied the imputation.

In Britain's case, to the concern for the safety of the remaining Uganda Asians is added genuine anxiety that General Amin's words and actions could lead to a swift exodus of all whites as well as Asians who have been helping to sustain the economy and the social services of Uganda.



TROUBLE AREA — This map locates the troubled East African country of Uganda where many Americans and Asians have been placed under arrest by the government of President Idi Amin.

©1972 The Christian Science Publishing Society

The case of the Asians now is being treated by London as one of refugees rather than of immigrants.

Britain's European partners now are joining in the moves to help the refugees. West Germany, for instance, has announced that it will take 1,000. Austria has decided that it, too, will respond. Help from all the other countries of the European community is confidently expected.

It was in this context that Prime Minister Edward Heath moved swiftly to deflate the rising right-wing pressure within the Tory Party against his policy of accepting and resettling the majority of Uganda's Asians in Britain.

In practice, Britain's reception of the few Asians who have already arrived has been both warm and generous.

But behind this warmth, kindled by compassion, there has been widespread anxiety here.

Many wage-earners fear for their jobs. This may be irrational — as, for example, in the case of the London meat porters of Smithfield market who have been roused to protest marches — but it is genuine. Unemployment stands close to one million.

On the right, however, the opposition is more racial in tone. Many Britons are disturbed to find themselves in a multi-racial society that is not of their choosing. Led by Tory Rebel Enoch Powell, some urge a halt to all colored immigration and the start of an energetic repatriation plan.

The Conservative Monday Club, a right-wing organization, held a big rally Sept. 16 in London and afterward marched to Downing Street to present a petition on these lines.

It is to this petition that Heath has replied.

The opening paragraph of the Monday Club resolution called on the government to make the interest of the British people its main concern.

"This is indeed the duty and the purpose of my colleagues and myself," Heath declared, adding:

"We hold that it is in the interest of the British people that the reputation for good faith and humanity should be preserved."

German School Picnic Sunday

The German Language School of Marin will hold its fifth annual picnic at noon Sunday in San Rafael's Gerstle Park.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Monday the event would be held on Saturday.

Proceeds from the Sunday picnic will benefit operations of the school, which holds classes at the Oliver R. Hartzell School in San Rafael.

Five Languages In British Isles

LONDON (UPI)—English is one of five languages spoken in the British Isles as a native tongue.

Welsh is spoken by a quarter of the people in Wales. About 81,000 persons in Scotland speak a Scottish form of Gaelic, while some families in Northern Ireland speak Irish Gaelic.

French is the official language of the island of Jersey, and a Norman-French patois is used throughout the Channel Islands.

Redevelopment Plan Needs Close Look

San Rafael residents will get their only chance to sound off about the city's proposed redevelopment plan at a public hearing set for Oct. 26 at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

What they have to sound off about is a pretty complicated matter. It is described in 32 pages and two maps prepared by the city's redevelopment consultant firm, Urban Projects Inc., and even that by no means covers all the bases.

IN ESSENCE, the redevelopment plan proposes to "freeze" all assessments in the redevelopment area — downtown San Rafael, Francisco Boulevard and part of East San Rafael — at their present level as far as all existing taxing agencies are concerned.

Revenues from increased assessments on that property — which of course would be principally from new construction and improvements — would all go to the redevelopment agency. Against that source of revenue, it could issue bonds to pay for public improvements within the area.

The idea is that the public improvements would themselves spur upgrading. The deteriorating downtown would be reinvigorated. Francisco Boulevard would be cleaned up and improved in appearance. Some of East San Rafael that was permitted to develop into "instant slums" would get an upgrading — including a city park in the Bahia Vista area.

ALL THESE things sound good. But there are some objectionable features.

The city council, in its role as redevelopment agency, could issue bonds to finance the public improvements involved — without a vote of the people.

These bonds would not become an obligation against the city. But they would obligate the funds received from taxes on increased assessed valuation within the redevelement area.

Another objection is that the process would "freeze" tax revenues from the redevelopment area for the county, school districts, other special districts, and the city itself. The only way this area could be made to yield more taxes for other purposes than redevelopment would be by raising the rates. And, under terms of the redevelopment act, this situation could continue for as long as 45 years.

SUPT. JOHN F. Plank of San Rafael city schools has noted that the redevelopment is proposed to include apartments adjacent to the downtown. These apartments, he points out, are bound to mean more children to be educated in the schools.

He has a point. If the redevelopment increases school rolls, the schools should receive some of the additional taxes — which the city council, as redevelopment agency, could give them if it wishes.

On the other hand, the present downward trend of school enrollments makes it appear rather unlikely that the redevelopment would add enough children to offset the decrease.

THESE ARE just some of the things that need to be threshed out, if San Rafael is to embark on this plan for saving the downtown area and assuring the future of the city.

With good will on all sides, they do not appear insuperable obstacles. But a single public hearing is not time enough to resolve them all. They need attention between now and Oct. 26.

Misguided 'Women's Lib' Practices Discrimination

By EARL G. WATERS

In the name of Women's Liberation, a movement is under way to replace two members of the State Senate with women. The battle cry is "break down the male bastion in Sacramento."

This misguided effort is reported to have the support of various women's organizations inclding the American Association of University Women, the Business and Professional Women, and the National Women's Political Caucus, whatever that may be.

In the past the two established organizations, the University Women and the Professional Women, have exhibited great naivete and demonstrated a dearth of practicality in things political. But their current program takes the cake. It also is an insult to voter intelligence. Even other women won't buy it.

For the self-professed crusaders against discrimination by reason of sex are guilty of advocating that which they claim to oppose.

TO CONTEST the re-election of two senators merely because they are not women is a glaring example of sex discrimination.

Ironically, both of their targets have leaned over backward in chapioning women's rights. Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, who has served in the Legislature since 1947, authored the first equal pay for equal work bill in the nation 'way back in 1949. Sen. Robert Stevens, R-Los Angeles, a member of the Rules Committee, was in the minority fighting for the Equal Rights Amendment.

The two would-be women senators have no special qualifications for the Legislature themselves, nor do they have any special criticism of the senators they are contesting other than that both are men and both Republicans.

THE FACT that no woman has ever served in the California Senate seems beside the point. It is not by design or the result of discrimination against women as lawmakers. Women have served in the Legislature ever since California extended voting privileges to them. Like the men, some have been good legislators and some not so good.

Women have also been elected to Congress from this state as well as others. The absence of women in the Legislature or Congress in numbers proportionate to their ranks in the population is simply a case of male candidates outnumbering the ladies. In order to get elected you have to be a candidate. Consequently more men get elected.

In furthering their desires to place women in the State Senate simply because they are women, supporters have divided the state, aiming their guns at Stevens from Los Angeles and Grunsky in the north.

ONE SUPPORTER said, "If we can put it all together, it would be one of many steps toward achieving some kind of political power for women."

But in the words of the Vallejo Times Herald: "Unfortunately, it takes more than just being a woman to be a great legislator. It takes intelligence to distinguish a good bill from a bad bill to the end that whatever is passed into law will be an asset to our state. If a person running for office has this intelligence and the welfare of the state's residents at heart, it matters little whether that person is a man or woman. If they want to be elected, they had better campaign on merit, not the fact they are women."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Candidates Not Late For Meeting

We would like to thank Mr. Dietz for covering our annual membership coffee on Sept. 14 when Mr. Roger Boas and Mr. Richard Gittings, representing Congressman William Mailliard, spoke to our members and guests.

However, we would like to explain that neither Mr. Boas nor Mr. Gittings was late in arriving, as was reported. To allow time for late comers, and for a cup of coffee, we had arranged for the guest appearances to begin at 10:45 a.m., although the meeting itself was scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. We are sorry that this misunderstanding occurred.

Nutritionist Quoted Against Fluoridation

If I want to know what food and water the body needs I certainly would not ask a dentist or even a doctor — I would ask a nutritionist. America's foremost nutritionist is Adelle Davis and I would like to quote from "Let's Eat Right To Keep Fit":

"Though some persons claim that we need traces of fluorine, it appears not to be a dietary essential. Generations of rats remain as healthy and with as good teeth without F as those given F. Authorities by no means agree that fluorine benefits teeth, and the danger of toxicity is ever-present. In 1962, our public health department reported that children in Newburgh, N.Y., where water was first fluoridated had more decay after fluoridation than before. In Baltimore, Md., where water has been fluoridated since 1952, rampant decay has steadily increased. In Puerto Rico not only has tooth decay increased since fluoridation of the water supply but 64 per cent of adolescent boys have mottled, permantely stained teeth from fluoride excess."

Some Explanations About Open Door

There seemed to be a question in the mind of the reporter who wrote concerning the stabbing near the Open Door. As pastor of several workers who have given their time there, I would like to give you further information relative to the purpose and function of this rather vital ministry. One such person is Mr. Ray Hollingshead, who has been working on a regular basis over the past year. He is our minister of youth, and is a person of dependability, moral integrity and a very close friend.

First, the purpose has been to minister to the transients who pass this heavily used intersection. I have had numerous occasions to give transportation to those who have utilized this stopping place.

Much of the work, in my opinion, has been made effective because there has been no overt relationship to any established churches or to mainline denominations. Yet there has been consistent communication from those working with the Open Door ministries : . .

Secondly, the organizational structure has been sustained by many interested churchmen and women who have given faithfully of their material resources . . .

Certainly every effort would be made to avoid the type of confrontation reported by the Independent-Journal. Incidently (sic), a statement by Miss Judy Beane, who was in charge the night of this tragedy, indicated that the Open Door had been closed for some time before the reported events took place. In fact she had returned because she felt like maybe she had forgotten something. She found the situation, and summoned help . . .

Food Stamp Expose Doesn't Help Mothers

I'm sorry Ms. Freedman chose to present the food stamp program in such a distorted fashion.

Her antics may please her boss by making headlines and selling papers — but they won't help the next desperate mother of hungry children who honestly applies for food stamps, and doesn't have all the necessary certificates, licenses, receipts, and other establishment souvenirs in her possession at the time of her eligibility interview.

In the future I hope Mrs. Freedman will spend some of her energy writing about the many families who are able to stretch their monthly income to feed their hungry children because of the food stamp program.

Right-Of-Way Stand Shames Mill Valley

Anyone in attendance at the Mill Valley City Council meeting on Sept. 19, including myself, was shamed by the council's action in adopting a resolution opposing the Golden Gate Bridge District's action to purchase the NWP right of way (now abandoned) from Sausalito to Corte Madera to insure that a corridor remains open in Marin for future transit need.

With RR operations now gone almost one year portions of the right of way will soon revert to descendents of original title holders of the land thus severing this important link in Marin's future.

Mill Valley has acted selfishly and in effect is telling citizens in Northern Marin and Sonoma that commuting to San Francisco is your problem and not ours. The truth is that as population grows in all North Bay counties some kind of future transit system will have to prevail. With Highway 101 becoming more congested (in spite of continual lane increases) future transit will need its own right of way. The NWP is all that remains and it should be retained as an asset for the future.

I suggest that concerned citizens write your local congressman in an effort to preserve this right of way before it passes into history and with it our hopes for a workable transportation system in Marin . . .

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Oct. 5, the 279th day of 1972 with 87 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Libra.

The 21st president of the United States, Chester Arthur, was born Oct. 5, 1830.

On this day in history:

In 1918, Allied headquarters announced that the German Hindenburg Line had been broken as World War I neared its end.

In 1965, Pope Paul made an historic 14-hour visit to New York City to plead for world peace before the United Nations.

In 1970, Quebec separatists in Montreal kidnapped British diplomat James Cross, demanding $500,000 and the release of 23 political prisoners.

Vietnam 'No Longer An Issue,' Yet The War Goes On And On

If, at any time from Richard Nixon's electoral victory in November, 1968, to about six months ago we had been told that, as election day, 1972, approached:

— The Vietnam War would still be raging;

— The United States would be carrying on prolonged air bombardment of Vietnam unprecedented in world history;

— Over 100,000 American troops would still be involved in war activities in Southeast Asia, outside Vietnam itself;

— There would have been 20,000 American fatalities in Vietnam during the last three and a half years;

— There ould be no sign of an end of the longest and most humiliating war in American history;

I suspect most of us would have felt the President could not get re-elected.

I KNOW I DID. It seemed to me that American distaste for the war was overwhelming. When, after a year or two in office, it became "Nixon's war" in popular parlance, it seemed that the political penalty for failure to end it would be heavy, just as it was for Lyndon Johnson.

We all know two or three reasons why this has not happened. The withdrawal of nearly half a million American troops from South Vietnam itself and the phasing out of the draft have made a big impact. The incessant travels and negotiations of Henry Kissinger suggest that a settlement may be just around the corner. The idea that the war is "winding down" has been deeply implanted in American thinking.

Now, professional observers are beginning to say, the war may actually be a political assets for President Nixon, especially in the face of the various positions taken by Senator McGovern and his associates. This is a perfectly extraordinary state of affairs.

ON MARCH 5, 1968, speaking at Hampton, N.H., Mr. Nixon said: "If in November this war is not over, after all of this power has been at the administration's disposal, then I say that the American people will be justified to elect new leadership. And I pledge to you that the new leadership will end the war and win the peace in the Pacific."

These words would seem as impelling in 1972 as they were in 1968. But they are not.

Meantime, the air bombardment has added a new dimension to the already heavy moral ambiguity of the long war. The point was put poignantly a few days ago by Senator McGovern at Waterbury, Conn., as reported by Mary McGrory:

"I ask you to think about these little people in Southeast Asia — many of them doubtless wonder what this tragedy is all about — who are being killed, day after day, by the bombs that fall from these planes oredered out by our President. I ask you to remember that while they have a different skin color than we do and while they are smaller than most of us in stature, I ask you to remember that each one of them is also a child of the same God that created us."

North Vietnam's offensives take lives, too. Hanoi has perpetrated civilian massacres. Air bombing i one way of countering a ground offensive, one way of supporting South Vietnam in the civil war.

BUT THE HORROR of war — of this war particularly — remains because of its uncertain terms, goals, and circumstances. "Vietnamization" is a shabby answer, as if Vietnamese lives were less precious than American. "Our boys" are no ifferent from everybody's boys. There is no sign that terms for settlement are any better today than they would have been five or six years ago, or that they will be any better two or four years from now.

Do they feel no moral burden, especially in the air war?

Evidently a majority of them are prepared to see Vietnam become a very minor issue in the presidential campaign. President Nixon decisively and drastically changedhis course on China. Is the time coming when he will act with the same boldness and courage for peace in Vietnam?

Japan's New Premier Proves Man Of The Year In Diplomacy

Japan's new prime minister, Kakuei Tanaka, is turning into the biggest success story of the season. And if he can keep on going as successfully and prudently as he has gone so far, he will certainly be the man of the year.

One way of measuring his stature is the immediate sequence of his high-level travels. Four weeks ago he was hobnobbing in Hawaii with Richard Nixon. This week he was tasting the splendors of Chinese cuisine in the Imperial Palace in Peking as a guest of Mao Tse-tung. And shortly, it seems, he will have a chance, if he wants it, to admire the czarist mementos in the Kremlin with Leonid I. Brezhnev as his guide.

The most telling incident of the moment is that as soon as his invitation to the palace in Peking had become official and the visit was scheduled, the Russians decided that the time had come to try to catch up in the good graces of Tokyo. They offered fomething they have never been willing even to talk about before, the possible return of the northern islands they so ingloriously pocketed at the end of World War II.

WHAT IT ALL means is that Mr. Tanaka is sitting at the control corner of one of the most intriguing triangles of nations in the world today. We are accustomed to thinking of Washington's Henry Kissinger balancing China and Russia against each other; that is, Mr. Kissinger at the control corner of the big triangle of the great powers.

But this new Nixon doctrine-era world in which we are living has more than one triangle in it, and the United States is not the only country sitting a a controlling corner.

The United States, of course, continues to possess more impressive and massive military power than any one other country can deploy in the far Pacific and in and around Southeast Asia. But more and more it is an umbrella under which other things happen.

Down under the umbrella of overwhelming American military power there is the triangular relationship of China, Russia, and Japan — which is beginning to operate under the American umbrella but also regardless of that umbrella.

In this all-Asian triangle Japan obviously has the favorable seat. The biggest hostility is between Russia and China. Japan is nearing a state of easy relations with both. It trades with both. Its technical superiority in Asia makes it increasingly needed by both. And it has no real unsettled quarrel with either.

SO MR. TANAKA is in the happy position of being able to be on good and commercially profitable terms with both — provided he does not get himself overcommitted to either. He must watch his own balance as well as help to keep the great rivals balanced. But, so far at least, his balance is perfect.

His first task in getting into a balanced position was to unhinge himself from a too-close relationship with the United States. Cross that one off. It's done.

His second was to improve his relations with China without alarming Russia. That appears to have been done.

His final task will be to get access to the raw materials of Siberia without spoiling his relations with China. That is about to be undertaken.

THIS SUBSTANTIAL project could be spoiled by the slightest hint of an attempt to revive that World War II institution of unhappy memory called the Japanese "co-prosperity sphere." So far, there is no hint of it. There is not the slightest flutter of any Japanese political flag following the trade into Southeast Asia.

And it could be spoiled, too, by Japan reaching for the nuclear weapons it could so easily have. The technology is there, and ready to put to use. But the option is being firmly refused.

Mr. Tanaka's Japan is no longer a client of the United States. It is approaching both China and Russia with grace, and care. It is avoiding the slightest hint of sending its political flag after its nonpolitical trade. And it is virtuously refusing to consider becoming another nuclear military power.

Mr. Tanaka's Japan threatens no one, seeks to be friends with all neighbors, avoids partiality toward any one. It looks like a profitable and winning formula.

Center Point Reports Success With Change In Techniques

Center Point, the San Rafael antidrug center started a few years ago by a couple of ex-addicts, has taken a new tack in its war against dope use.

The coercion-type methods formerly used (making participants wear diapers or signs or shaving their heads if they went astray) brought results, according to Center Point's director, Charles Stout.

But the good behavior didn't always last "out in the community" when Center Point graduates were removed from the controls of the house.

FOR THIS REASON and because he and his staff thought that Marin's middle class drug addicts needed a slightly more sophisticated program, Stout now stresses a psychological approach.

Aimed at "integrating people back into the community," Center Point's program includes Gestalt counselling from Leon Le Gant, himself a former addict.

In addition to helping addicts "reintegrate with their environment," Le Gant tries to help his counselees "take care of unfinished business."

By this he means that instead of a person forever excusing his behavior because of bad childhood experiences, he is encouraged to deal with the memories and go on from there.

For example, a person who still harbors resentment over an action of his mother during his youth might be asked to place his imaginary mother in a chair and talk out the problem with her.

Through this and other methods, Stout and his staff believe they are having great success with the Center Point participants, who live for a time in the house itself and then in another halfway house after they find jobs.

FUNDING OF the program is not a problem at the moment, either, according to Stout, who took over from the former director early this year.

But Center Point still has two major problems, Stout said.

"Frankly, we are not reaching all the people who need us," he explained. With a program he thinks is working well in the cheerful atmosphere of the remodeled old house on D Street, he and the other staff would like more of those with drug problems to participate.

He acknowledges that addicts seldom read newspapers, but he hopes to get the word out through people who are important to the junkies — such as probation officers, judges, lawyers and welfare workers.

ALSO, STOUT desperately needs jobs for his "graduates."

"Jobs are tough to get" for anyone in Marin, he said, but more so for former addicts.

A young man, stirring spaghetti for the community dinner at Center Point, joined in.

He has been looking for work-for some time, he said, with no success.

"They say, 'I'm so glad you've got it together, BUT . . ."

Why Russia's Buying Wheat: Khrushchev's Plan To Bury Us

WASHINGTON — Is the purchase of wheat by both the Soviet Union and People's Republic of China a Communist plot to destroy the United States? I have it on highest authority that it is.

The decision to use wheat as the ultimate weapon to wreck the capitalistic system in the United States was made back in the Khrushchev era, but the actual implementation of the plan went into effect this year.

HERE ARE the minutes of the meeting held in the Kremlin that laid the plot all out:

"Comrade Khrushchev has promised to bury the United States. How do you plan to do this, comrade?"

"Is simple," Comrade Khrushchev replied. "We will bury them with wheat."

"With wheat?" a Politburo spokesman asked.

"Over the next 10 years we will buy American wheat, increasing the purchases every year. Pretty soon American farmer will find raising wheat so profitable he will refuse to grow other crops.

"American people will go to supermarkets and find nothing but bread on sale. Housewives will riot and the seeds of revolution will be planted."

"IS FANTASTIC idea, Comrade Khrushchev."

"Is better than fantastic. As our grain orders come in, Americans will be forced to plow over suburbs, dig up four-lane highways, tear down golf courses to supply more wheat.

"Football fields will be taken over by the government to plant wheat, strategic air bases will be closed and crops sown where runways used to be. We will make price of wheat so high everyone will become wheat farmers in America. They'll grow wheat at White House, at Nike missile sites, at Disneyland. From one end of the country to the other will be nothing but wheat fields."

"Go on, comrade," they said excitedly.

"United States will have no place to store wheat. So office buildings and factories will be requisitioned by government for grain elevators. Apartment buildings will be taken over for storage. People will have no place to work or sleep. But our orders will continue coming in."

"WAIT A MINUTE, comrade," a Politburo member said. "Where will we get the money to pay for the wheat?"

"Long-term credit," Khrushchev said, "and also we will get the Chinese to buy wheat."

"The Chinese? Can we get Peking to buy wheat?"

"What's the matter? You never heard expression '800 million starving Chinamen'?"

"Okay, is good so far. What do we do next?"

"When entire American economy is devoted to growing wheat, we tell United States we have too much wheat and we cancel order; United States is stuck with billions of tons of wheat and capitalistic system is buried under its own grain."

UNFORTUNATELY for the Soviet Union, Khrushchev's plan to bury the United States never got off the ground because he was unceremoniously kicked out of office for banging his shoe at the United Nations.

But recently someone found the plan and it was resurrected and renamed the "Brezhnev wheat plan" and put into effect this year.

When the CIA reported to President Nixon the real reason behind the wheat purchases and the threat it posed to the American people, the President, desperate for foreign gold, shrugged his shoulders and said, "Let them eat cake."

U.S. Criticized On Africa Policy

GAMBIER, Ohio (UPI)— Angie Brooks Randolph, former president of the United Nations General Assembly, Tuesday night criticized the U.S. for its apparent unwillingness to support "total liberation" of the African continent from colonial ties.

"U.S. officials say American foreign policy is designed to promote the interest of Africa, but Africans want total liberation of the continent from colonial ties, which the U.S. apparently is unwilling to support," she said.

"U.S. action supports a movement for self-government but not a complete condemnation of economic and political ties that continue to exist," Mrs. Randolph said in a speech at Kenyon College.

Judge Blocks Atoll Explosions

HONOLULU (UPI)—Government sponsored explosions as part of cratering experiments on Eniwetok Atoll were blocked by a federal judge Tuesday.

Judge Martin Pence issued a temporary restraining order against the blasts until a court hearing Oct. 5. The order was sought by the atoll's residents.

The judge said government officials conducting the experiments had not filed the proper environmental impact statements as required by law.

Sanitary District Director Named

Bertram Davies of Homestead Valley, teacher of the deaf in San Francisco, has succeeded Louis Harding as a director of the Homestead Valley Sanitary District.

Davies, a bachelor, was appointed by the governing board when no candidates applied for the post during June's election. Harding had declined to run for a second four-year term.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

This is the birthday of Confucius, one of the most honored men of China, who was born this day 2,523 years ago.

How do we know? Well, for more than two housand years Chinese pilgrims have visited his tomb at Chufou on the anniversary of his birth. In nearly every city of China there is a temple to him. For centuries his teachings were required reading in schools and colleges. No one could become a candidate for political office who failed an examination on the Four Books of Confucian literature. His name in Chinese is K'ung (the master).

Confucius came from a poor family but his learning gave him great influence. He deplored the breakdown of moral standards of his time and roamed the country asking men to be dutiful. Confucius believed rulers should lead exemplary lives. When he himself became a state minister he eliminated crime by giving the people justice.

WHO'S HAPPY TODAY?

1. What wealthy collector of ancient Chinese art is 85 today? He runs his world-wide business from headquarters in Chicago and recently retired as president of the International Olympic Committee.

2. What Italian movie actor who appreciates "La Dolce Vita" reaches 48 today? Often linked romantically with beautiful women, this Latin lover has had only one wife and laughs at his part in "Divorce — Italian Style."

3. What French cutie will blow 38 candles out on her cake today? Famous for her figure, she showed a lot of it in such movies as "Love is My Profession" and "And God Created Woman."

ANSWERS

1. Avery Brundage; 2. Marcello Mastroianni; 3. Brigitte Bardot.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

East Says 'Luck' But This Slam Took Some Skill Also

"What a lucky player you are!" East complained after the play of today's hand. "You didn't even know how many trumps were out, and you still couldn't lose the slam!"

South nodded his head amiably. It was easier to agree than to argue. If you examine his line of play, however, you may see more skill than luck in it.

CLUBS OPEN

Clubs were opened and continued, and South ruffed the second club. He cashed the king of spades and led a small trump to dummy's ace, stopping to change his first plan when West discarded a club on the second trump.

Abandoning the trumps, South took the three top hearts and ruffed his fourth heart with dummy's last spade. He then returned to his hand with the ace of diamonds to draw East's last two trumps. He could then claim the last two tricks with good diamonds, making his slam contract.

South interrupted the process of drawing trumps, but it isn't true that he had forgotten how many trumps were out. He was making provision for his fourth heart.

HEART BREAK IMPORTANT

If each opponent had three hearts, South's last heart would be good. But in that case there would be no danger in cashing the three top hearts while trumps were still out. If either opponent had four hearts, he would be able to top South's fourth heart; and in this case, the best chance was to leave a trump in dummy to ruff out the fourth heart.

South didn't enjoy leaving two trumps in East's hand while he cashed the three top hearts. If South had drawn the trumps, however, he'd have given up a heart trick at the end. It was better to take the risk, make the slam and be called "lucky."

DAILY QUESTION

Partner deals and bids one club. The next player passes. You hold:
♠ - A 10 6
♥ - Q 7 5
♦ - K 10 9
♣ - 10 8 6 2.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one no trump. This response to one club promises balanced distribution with about 8 to 10 points. You would avoid this response with a good major suit.

'Tom Paine' Musical Coming To Marin

A touring company including members of the original Broadway cast will bring the musical play, "Tom Paine," to the Marin Veterans Memorial Auditorium, San Rafael, Oct. 17 at 8:30 p.m.

Directed by Tom O'Horgan who directed "Hair", "Lenny" and "Jesus Christ, Superstar", this play portrays the life of patriot Paine with music, dance and improvisation.

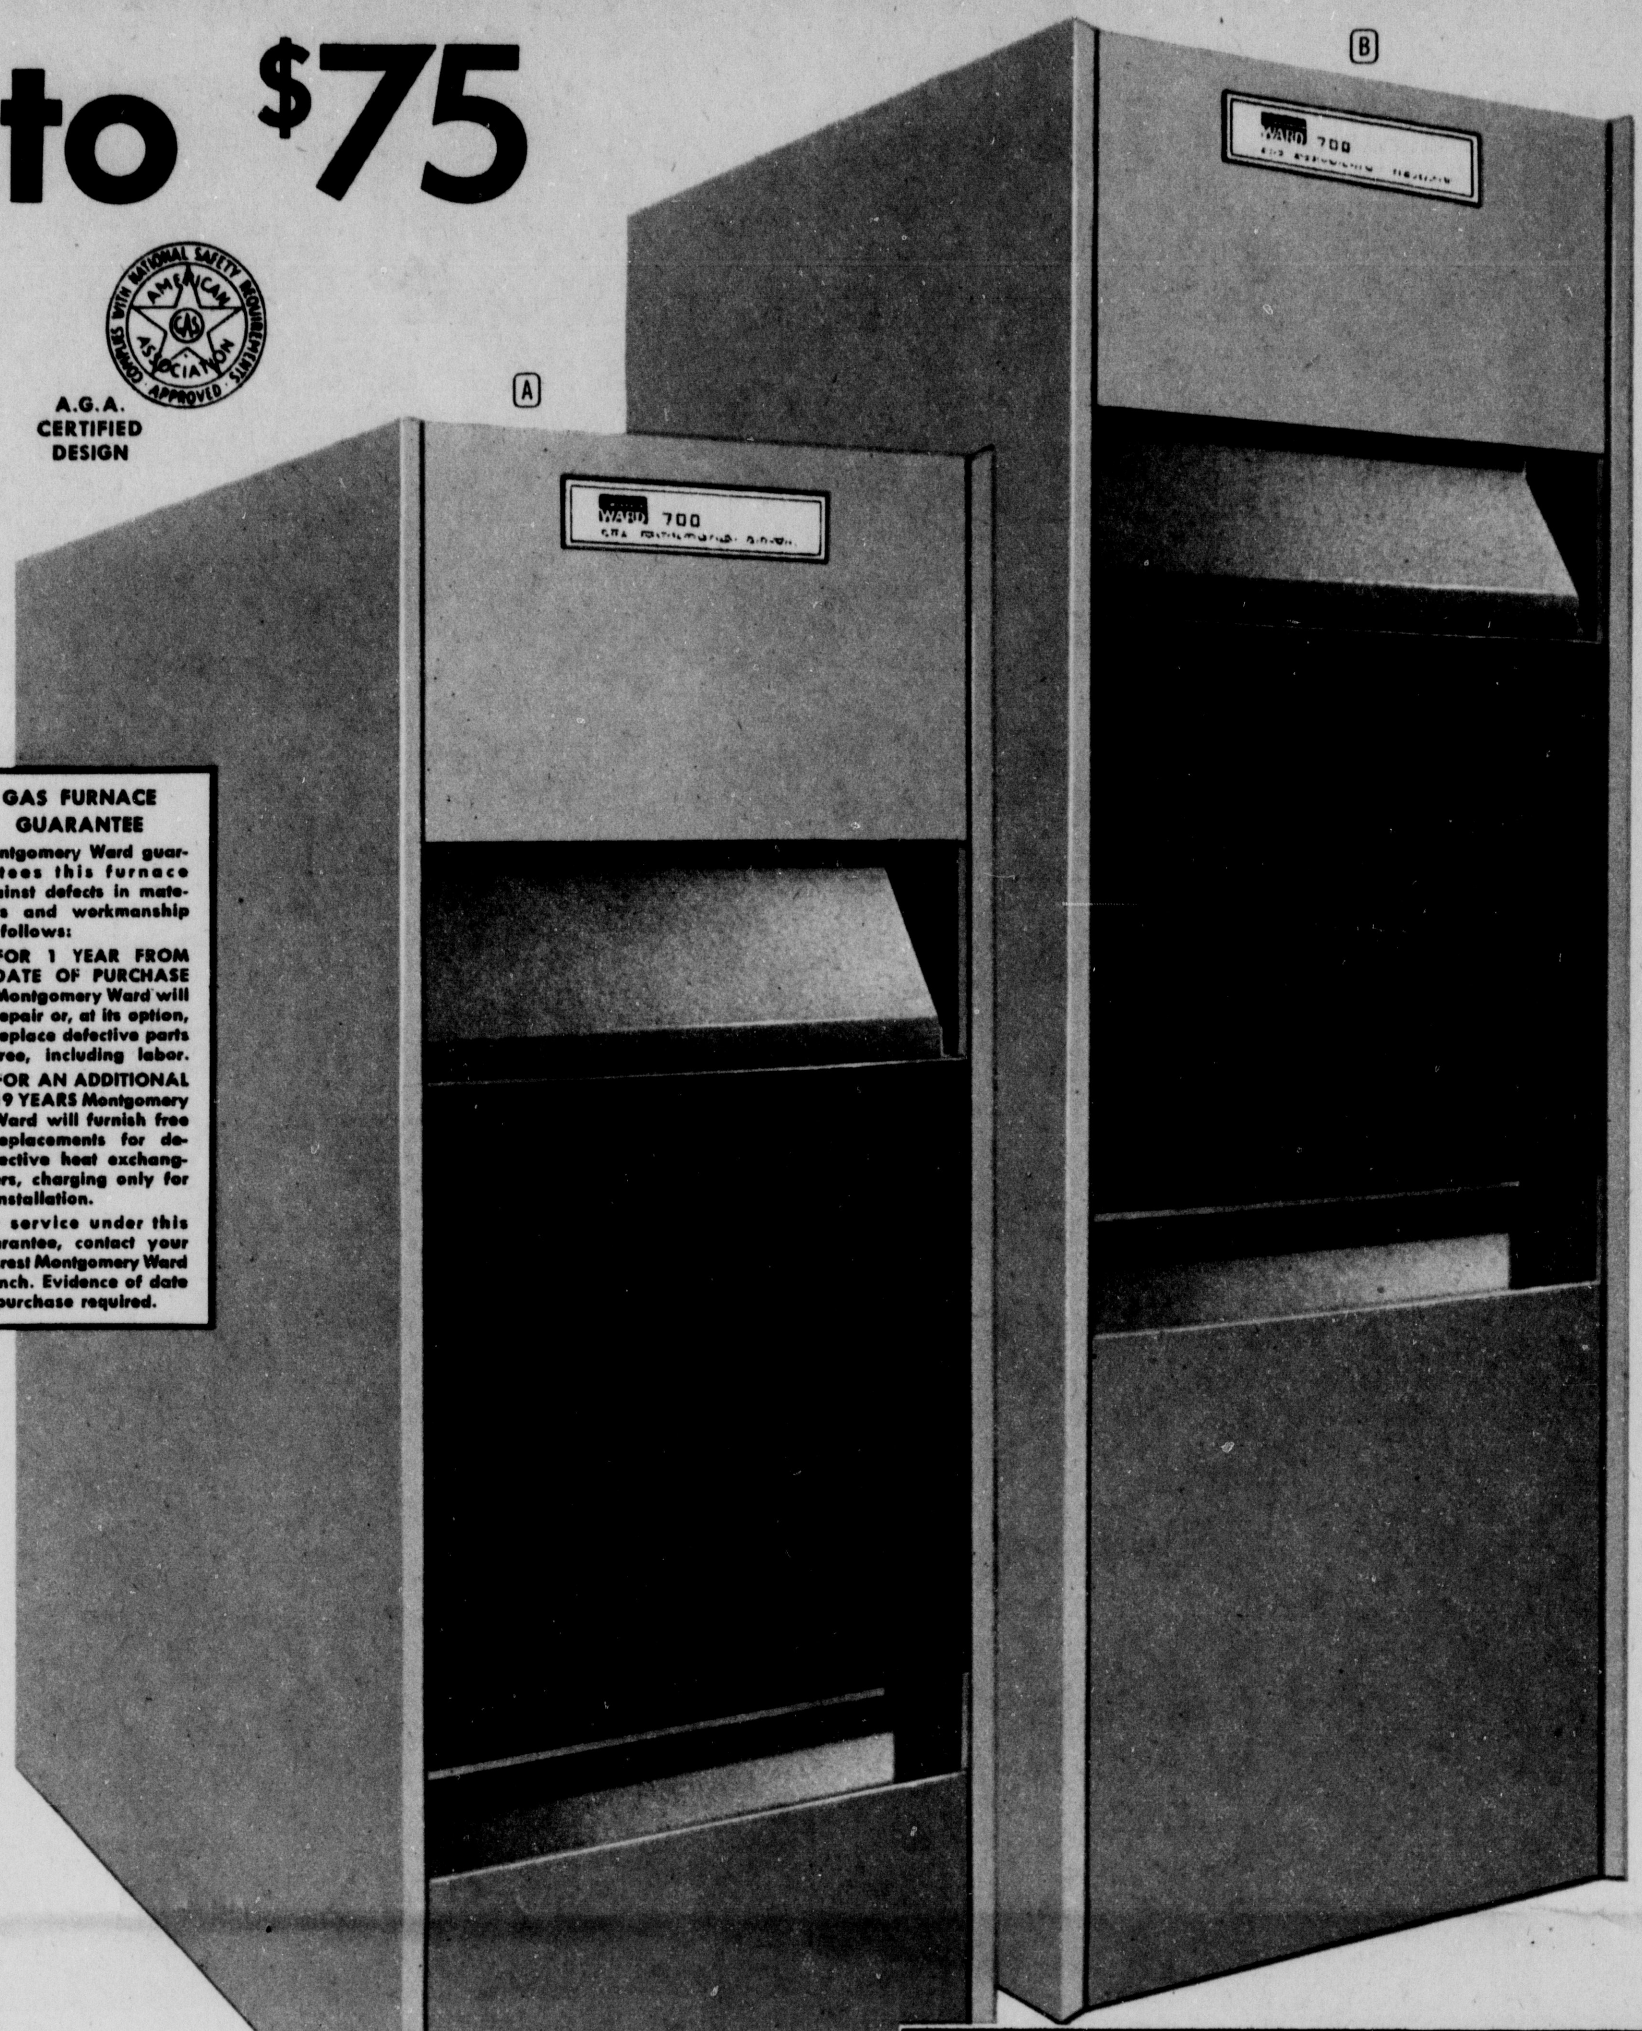
COUNTERFLOW FURNACES ALSO SALE PRICED

Unlike other furnaces that operate only at a single flame setting, Wards furnace offers you two flame settings you can control with a switch on the thermostat! Set a low flame in mild weather; switch to high on colder days—you burn only the fuel needed to maintain a desired overall temperature! Most of the time the furnace will run at low flame and reduce cold drafts since the pace is more even than that of other furnaces. Runs quietly, too!

HEAT EXCHANGER GUARANTEED 20 YEARS—ONE OF MANY OUTSTANDING FEATURES!

- CONTROLLED COMFORT! Wall-mount thermostat (included) provides switch for simple "dual flame" selection
- CAREFREE COMFORT! Multi-speed blower automatically adjusts its speed to the burner flame size selected
- YEAR-AROUND COMFORT! Direct-drive blower motor creates enough power to handle central air conditioning systems
- LONG-LASTING COMFORT! Insulated furnace jacket conserves heat; wrap-around design adds to furnace durability



GAS FURNACE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees this furnace against defects in materials and workmanship as follows:

- FOR 1 YEAR FROM DATE OF PURCHASE Montgomery Ward will repair or, at its option, replace defective parts free, including labor.
- FOR AN ADDITIONAL 19 YEARS Montgomery Ward will furnish free replacements for defective heat exchangers, charging only for installation.

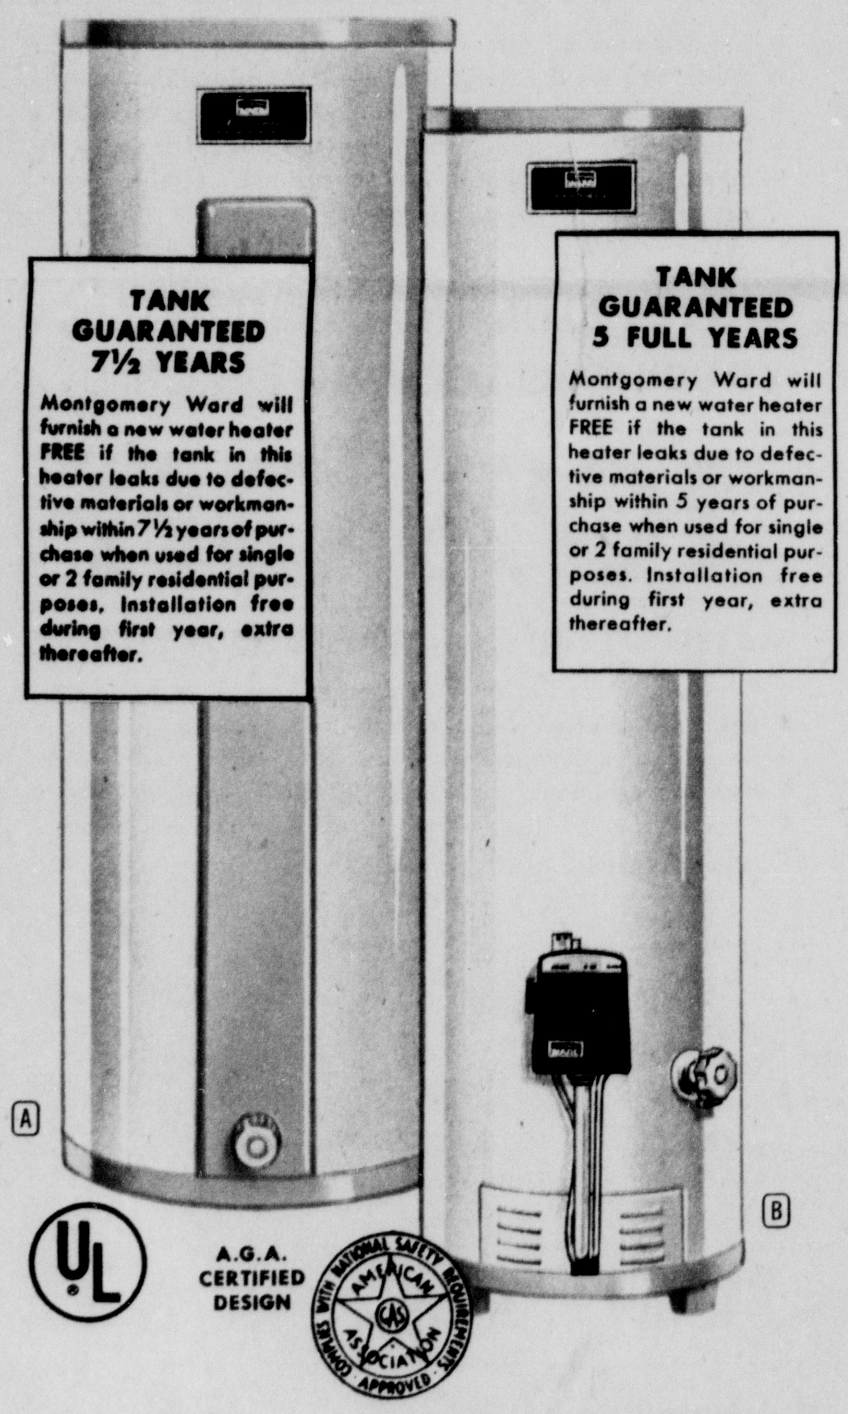
For service under this guarantee, contact your nearest Montgomery Ward branch. Evidence of date of purchase required.



TANK GUARANTEED 7½ YEARS

Montgomery Ward will furnish a new water heater FREE if the tank in this heater leaks due to defective materials or workmanship within 7½ years of purchase when used for single or 2 family residential purposes. Installation free during first year, extra thereafter.

Reds In Paris Deny Viet Peace Rumors

NGUYEN THI BINH
Cong foreign minister

XUAN THUY
Chief negotiator

PARIS (UPI)—North Vietnam and the Viet Cong today branded as "not true" rumors in the middle of the U.S. election campaign that the Vietnam War is on the edge of being settled.

The Communist delegations to the 161st plenary session of the Paris Conference on Vietnam said peace negotiations were deadlocked because the United States still refused their demands to overthrow the present Saigon regime and install a coalition government as preconditions for a ceasefire.

Xuan Thuy, chief of the North Vietnam delegation, told newsmen that reports he and U.S. presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger had agreed on a cease-fire during their secret talks Tuesday and Wednesday in Paris were "speculation without foundation and contrary to the truth."

Mme. Nguyen Thi Binh, chief negotiator for the Viet Cong, firmly told reporters outside the International Conference Hall on Avenue Kleber that "all these rumors are designed to deceive American and world opinion."

"Rumors circulate that a cease-fire is on the point of being concluded," said Mme. Binh, dressed in her traditional Vietnamese long gown. "How can one arrive at such a result while the American extermination bombings are continuing and Washington still opposes discussing the legitimate demands" of the Viet Cong peace proposals?

After the 5½ hour session, Mme. Binh emerged to tell journalists that "President Nixon's declaration at an electoral meeting with regards to a near peace can only recall the promises Nixon made to the American people four years ago" that he would end the war.

Mme. Binh said, "the gap between our position and that of the United States remains very wide," and she repeated for emphasis, "very, very wide."

As Thuy left the conference hall he said "our positions still are far apart as today's session makes clear."

Decisions Of Pilot Attacked

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The chief investigator probing the Sabrejet crash which killed 22 people in an ice cream parlor said today "most experienced pilots" would not have tried — as pilot Richard Bingham did — to get the jet into the air twice on the same run.

Noel Lawson also said a prime target of the federal inquiry was to ascertain the legality of the Novato pilot's decision to use the runway aimed at the parlor, a shopping center and homes when the plane's FAA certification said the jet should not be flown over "congested areas."

He said that aspect was "under damn good investigation." Earlier he said if the pilot would have waited for 20 minutes he could have used a longer runway heading toward a golf course.

Weeping relatives and friends, meanwhile, attended funerals for some of the 12 youngsters and 10 parents killed at Farrell's Ice Cream Parlor Sunday.

While one investigative team dismantled the charred jet at McClellan Air Force Base, other teams interrogated witnesses and gathered mountains of technical data.

The first publicly released movie films of the crash showed the pilot desperately trying twice to get the 20-year-old rebuilt jet off the runway. The highest the plane, owned by Spectrum Air of Novato, reached was about 15 feet.

An official said the main investigation should be concluded by Monday.

Bingham, suffering from a badly fractured right arm and a broken leg, was still under heavy sedation and scheduled to undergo a second operation on his arm later this week.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., suggested yesterday in Washington that "serious violations" of federal air regulations may have contributed to the crash.

"My reading of material suggests to me that serious violations of the regulations and-or the limitations occured and were significant contributing factors to the tragedy which snuffed out the lives of 22 of my fellow Sacramentans," Moss told the House.

FAA officials said the Sacramento area was not one of "heavy air traffic" within the meaning of its letter of authorization. The second part of the limitation pertains chiefly to the minimum altitude at which an aircraft can be flown, generally 1,000 feet above the ground except while landing or taking off.

Moss said the crash had raised "serious questions" as to whether such aircraft should be operated over or into populated areas.

If current regulations do permit such operations of former military aircraft, Moss said, all letters of authorization should

Big Marin Waste Disposal Plan Told

HE CAN'T GO HOME AGAIN

A young Asian, looking tired and dismayed, waits for accommodation today in Montreal after he and thousands of other Asians were ejected from Uganda. The child, holding a model airplane and a statue of a Mountie, was among 138 persons to arrive in the first planeload of 5,000 refugees who hope to make Canada their new home.

Costly 3-Stage Project

By PAT ANGLE

A far-reaching $28 million project to treat and dispose of waste from communities in Southeast and Central Marin was unveiled last night before directors of the Marin Municipal Water District. (Other water district stories, page 17.)

The board, meeting jointly with its Improvement District A advisory committee and environmental advisory subcommittee, took no action on the proposal, but agreed to consider it further at a future meeting, as yet unscheduled.

The three-stage plan for disposal, reclamation and reuse of waste water is the result of months of work by three engineering firms, J. Warren Nute Inc., Jenks and Adamson, and Yoder-Trotter-Orlob and Associates.

The report's most striking proposal is a recommendation to expand consolidation to include not only agencies in Southern Marin, but the San Rafael Sanitation and Ross Valley Sanitary districts as well.

It calls for a regional treatment plant and disposal facilities at Point San Quentin to handle waste from both the central and southern parts of the county.

In the first phase of the project, sewage would be pumped to that plant for secondary treatment, then disposed of in deep water through an outfall line off the point.

When Marin Municipal formed Improvement District A more than two years ago to make plans for the consolidation of disposal facilities, the idea was to merge nine Southern Marin sanitary agencies. These are: the cities of Mill Valley and Belvedere, the Sausalito-Marin City, Alto, Almonte, Homestead, Tiburon and Richardson Bay sanitary districts, and Tamalpais Community Services District.

Larry F. Walker, project manager, said engineers had recommended the expanded consolidation because they were convinced that state water officials — who favor regional approaches to sewage disposal — would demand the larger merger before certifying the project. Certification will make the proposed system eligible for state and federal grant money.

Construction of the treatment and disposal phase of the project is estimated to cost $18.5 million. About 75 to 80 per cent of that will be financed by grants, while the remaining approximately $4 million will require a bond issue which must be approved by residents of the agencies involved.

Council Splits On Endorsement

The Marin Council for Civic Affairs, which four years ago unanimously endorsed Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. when he ran successfully for the board of supervisors, last night split evenly over giving its endorsement again to him or to his challenger, Barbara Boxer.

The council's directors, in secret balloting, gave each candidate eight votes, with one abstention. Eleven of the 28 directors were absent. Council policy requires a two-thirds vote to endorse, which would have been 12 votes.

The vote came after Arrigoni and Mrs. Boxer appealed for the 250-member-organization's backing. Board members also had discussed Arrigoni's voting record on the 46 issues on which the council took positions during the past four years.

Arrigoni's votes differed from council positions on only eight of the 46, including two of the eight cited by several directors as especially important: relaxing civic center security and screening candidates for county administrator. The council wanted to relax security, but Arrigoni voted to continue it at a high level.

The council also wanted candidates for the top county job screened by a special committee, but Arrigoni voted to bypass such a committee.

The split vote followed a 9-8 ballot to consider making an endorsement. Mrs. Boxer's husband, Stewart, a director of the council, was among the narrow majority voting to make an endorsement.

Opponents of any endorsement argued unsuccessfully that both candidates were good, and that endorsements should be limited to contests in which one candidate was opposed to council views.

The council previously en-

TABLOID ON COUNTYWIDE PLAN INSIDE

Today's Independent-Journal includes a special edition describing the proposed Marin countywide plan.

Aimed at informing citizens, the tabloid section describes the discussion draft prepared by the Marin County planning department under the direction of the City-County Planning Council of Marin.

The plan for Marin's future is now under consideration by the 11 cities and the county, and reaction to it from citizens is being sought.

The special 12-page section was prepared at county expense.

Tired, Tense POWs En Route To America

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Three tired and tense American prisoners of war returned to the West today and spoke cautiously of their experiences in captivity and their hopes that an end to the Vietnam War might free other U.S. POWs.

The pilots appeared at an airport news conference at a stopover in Copenhagen en route to New York from Moscow where one of the antiwar activists escorting the POWs accused American diplomats of indifference to the prisoners' plight and told one U.S. official to "shut up and listen."

The angry exchange occurred at Moscow's Shremetyevo Airport while the pilots waited to board a commercial airplane for a flight to Copenhagen.

The Rev. William Sloane Coffin of Yale University aproahced Adolph Dubs, deputy U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, just after the official finished speaking with two of the pilots.

Coffin warned Dubs against "interfering" with the pilots, adding, "you don't know what the conditions are."

A North Vietnamese diplomat hovered nearby listening attentively.

Coffin told the American diplomat "you are so indiferrent to the plight of those pilots in North Vietnam, and so blatantly..."

Dubs cut him off.

"How dare you," the diplomat said loudly.

"Oh, come off it," Coffin snapped. "Shut up and listen to me for a change. It's quite

Hollis Defies Legal Adviser, Reaffirms Teacher Gag Rule

By PAT PERRY

The Marin County superintendent of schools for the second time this year has defied the school system's legal adviser and forbidden teachers to go to the grand jury without first going through his chain of command.

Dr. Virgil S. Hollis's rejection of the opinion of Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney was contained in a letter to the foreman of last year's grand jury.

Hollis was replying to foreman Milen C. Dempster's request that county teachers be informed that "like all citizens they are free to get in touch with the grand jury without consulting him."

The request arose out of testimony before the jury's education committee by Nyal Worsham, principal of the county's Loma Alta School at Juvenile Hall, to the effect that teachers needed such permission.

The exchange of letters last May, in which Dempster cited Maloney's support for his stand and Hollis's rejection of it, came into the Independent-Journal's hands yesterday.

Hollis told the Grand Jury that teachers are bound by the California Education Code, county schools' regulations, and by the California Teacher Association code of ethics, and must solve their problems through administrative channels.

This year Hollis adamantly refused to disclose names of candidates for Marin County Board of Education vacancies, despite county counsel's ruling that he must, and it took a private suit by Pieter Toal of San Anselmo to force disclosure. A later ruling ordered

Nixon: Peace Chance Never Better

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The chances for ending the war in Vietnam are better now than ever before, President Nixon said Wednesday. He also spoke for the first time about ending all military assistance to South Vietnam.

Nixon spoke shortly after talking by telephone with his chief negotiator, Henry A. Kissinger, who had just returned to Washington from two days of talks in Paris with North Vietnamese diplomats.

The President has made similar assessments in the past of chances for an end to the war, and the White House cautioned against speculation that Kissinger's journey meant a breakthrough is imminent.

But the President appeared optimistic about the general climate for negotiations.

Nixon made his remarks before a black-tie crowd of 1,750 who paid $1,000 each to dine with him. That appearance, plus one at a fundraising dinner in New York the night before which was beamed via closed circuit television to 27 other cities throughout the country, added $10 million to his campaign treasury.

"We have prepared the South Vietnamese so that it is now very clear that they will be able soon to undertake their complete defense without our assistance," Nixon said. "We are going to end our involvement. We will end the war."

Later,. referring to the initiatives he made toward China and the negotiations begun with the Soviet Union, he said that the chance that the current generation of young people can have a full generation of peace "is greater than it has ever been, certainly in my lifetime."

As he spoke, several thousand

PROTESTS TO NIXON — Some protesters threw rocks and other missiles at businesses in San Francisco's financial district yesterday, breaking away from a peaceful demonstration outside the hotel where the President was speaking. Eleven persons were arrested on various charges. In Los Angeles later in the day, the President was met by an estimated 10,000 demonstrators. There were only minor incidents and two persons were arrested.

BART And Boos For Nixon

On his arrival for a $1,000 per plate fund raising lunch Nixon took advantage of his landing at Oakland's airport and took a nine-minute ride on the sleek trains of the Bay Area Rapid Transist District (BART).

"I've been all over the world and this is the smoothest ride I've ever had," the president said after riding at speeds up to 80 miles per hour on the first new mass transit system built in the United States in 65 years.

Nixon also visited BART's modern computer control system before traveling to the San Francisco luncheon, where hundreds of demonstrators had gathered outside the downtown Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

The president, who entered and left under heavy security from an alley on the opposite side of the hotel, never saw the protesters who were chanting antiwar slogans. At one point, a small band broke away and smashed windows in the financial district.

Four persons were arrested for disturbing the peace and malicious mischief. Police squads quickly dispersed the disrupting crowd of about 100 youths who hurled bricks, soft drink cans, pipes and bolts during the short rampage.

In contrast, Nixon was met by about 350 Young Republicans at the hotel. The clean-cut, short-haired supporters of the president attended his luncheon without paying the $1,000 tab charged about 500 other persons.

Nixon issued a statement saying he would not permit Democratic nominee George McGovern to goad him into following a daily campaign schedule.

"I shall campaign only when I conclude it will not interfere with doing the job the people elected me to do," Nixon said.

Nixon also attacked McGovern's plan to reduce defense spending and directed a barb at the Senator for failing to interrupt his campaign schedule to vote on an end-of-the-war amendment rejected Tuesday by the Senate.

"If we reduce our Army, Navy and Air Force to the point that the only option open to us when a friend or ally of the United States is threatened is to launch a nuclear war...our commitments to small nations ... would not be worth the paper they are written on."

Nixon later traveled to Los Angeles and a second fundraising dinner at $1,000 a plate. The dinners were among several being held around the country.

Communists Besieging Quang Ngai Province

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist troops fired more than 1,000 shells into a South Vietnamese base on the central coast and launched ground assaults that government rangers stopped at the camp's barbed wire perimeter, field reports said today.

Six other outposts elsewhere in Quang Ngai province also came under fire during the night and military sources said "fighting is very, very hard" in the area 300 miles northeast of Saigon.

The U.S. command said more than 300 air strikes were flown across North Vietnam Wednesday. Waves of F4 Phantom jets smashed a military supply area 84 miles northwest of Hanoi and destroyed or damaged 30 to 40 storage buildings, spokesmen said. They said many "were engulfed in flames."

Just outside Saigon Wednesday, South Vietnamese troops fought a four-hour battle with Communist soldiers who have been trying to position themselves for rocketattacks on the capital, spokesmen said. They said eight or 10 government militiamen were killed or missing and 11 were wounded in the fighting 5 1-2 miles southeast of Nhon Trach, a district town less than seven miles from Saigon.

North Vietnamese casualties in the Nhon Trach fighting were not known and the sources said the Communist force was believed still in the area.

Field reports said Highway 1 south of Quang Ngai City remained closed because of the string of fights in the central coast area. Military sources said fighting in southern Quang Ngai Province over the past two weeks had produced 45,000 refugees.

China, Japan To Restore Relations

PEKING (UPI) — China and Japan agreed today to terminate a 35-year-old state of war and restore diplomatic relations. Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said the decision would "open a new chapter" in Sino-Japanese relations.

Both Chou and visiting Japanese Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka said their decision to establish diplomatic relations was in accordance with a great historical trend now sweeping Asia.

The two prime ministers made their remarks in toasts delivered at a farewell banquet Tanaka gave for Chou at Peking's Great Hall of the People.

"We are going to end the abnormal state of affairs which has existed between the two countries up to now," Chou said in his toast. "The termination of the state of war and the normalization of relations between China and Japan—the realization of these long-cherished wishes of the Chinese and Japanese people—will open a new chapter in the relations between our two countries and make a positive contribution to the relaxation of tension in Asia and the safeguarding of world peace.

"I warmly acclaim the complete success of our talks and highly appraise the important contributions made by Prime Minister Tanaka and Foreign Minister (Masayoshi) Ohira to the establishment of diplomatic relations between China and Japan," Chou added.

In his toast, Tanaka said he was deeply moved by the friendly spirit of his talks with Chou and his hour-long meeting with Mao Tse Tung Wednesday night.

He said there were many difficulties in reaching agreement to establish diplomatic relations and added that "the step we are now taking is for tomorrow."

CBS: Wheat Deal Hurt Small Farmers

NEW YORK (UPI)—While major grain exporters were negotiating to sell 400 million bushels of wheat to the Soviet Union, the Agriculture Department deliberately suppressed a report that could have helped small farmers cash in on the deal, CBS Evening News reported Wednesday.

Critics of the Nixon administration have contended for some time that failure to publicize the deal worked to the benefit of the big exporters, and to the detriment of farmers who sold the wheat at low prices.

CBS correspondent Walter Cronkite said the department's Economic Research Service in mid-August prepared a report that "detailed the Russian crop failure." Cronkite quoted Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz as saying the report was not released "because he was not sure it was accurate."

President Nixon announced July 8 that wheat trading would begin with the Soviet Union, Cronkite noted. On July 18, he said, "the July 18th issue of The Southwestern Miller, the grain trade journal, reported that the Russians would buy perhaps as much as 100 million bushels of wheat.

"But in fact by the time of the story, the 'Big Six' grain exporters already had sold 267 million bushels to the Russians, on their way to an estimated total sale of 419 million bushels," Cronkite said.

"Clearly, the Big Six exporters who had been secretly negotiating and concluding deals since the end of June had vital knowledge of how much wheat the Soviets needed," he said.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Philippines Arrests

MANILA (UPI) — The Philippines government announced today the arrest of two congressmen and a provincial governor suspected of maintaining private armies. It also warned that foreigners violating martial law will be summarily deported.

The two congressmen were identified as Jose Lingad and Carlos Ivperial, and the provincial governor was Eduardo Joson. The government said all three were suspected of employing armed men.

Information Secretary Francisco S. Tatad, in a nationwide radio announcement, said the Philippine government will extend full hospitality to visiting foreigners but will not tolerate their "intervention in our internal affairs."

Two More 'Thrill' Deaths

BELFAST (UPI) — The "thrill killers" of Northern Ireland murdered two more men during the night and Belfast police appealed today for information to run them down and end these "ghastly, senseless murders."

The bodies of two men, both shot to death, were found in widely separated areas of Belfast during the night. One was a Roman Catholic youth, the other a Protestant. But Belfast police added them to the ever-growing list of killings-for-kicks.

These apparently are crimes without motive carried out by psychopathic killers and not connected with the violence between communities which has ripped Northern Ireland for three years.

Overall Food Costs Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The long-promised decline in retail beef prices last month helped pull overall consumer food costs for August down fractionally from their record-high July level, the Agriculture Department said today.

The department report showed the cost of a typical family food market basket in August, calculated on an annual basis, was $1,321 — second highest on record but down $1 from the record July level. The fractional downturn, less than a tenth of a per cent, was the first in four months but left the market basket cost 4.5 per cent above a year earlier.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics earlier had reported average retail food prices in August up 0.2 per cent from July.

One GI Dies In War

SAIGON (UPI) — An Army sergeant hit by a Communist mortar barrage on South Vietnam's central coast was the sole American killed in Vietnam war action last week, U.S. military spokesmen said today.

Two other American military men died in incidents not related to the battlefield. Spokesmen said 13 U.S. servicemen were wounded in action and another six were missing last week.

The single battlefield death was the first in two weeks suffered by Americans participating in the Indochina war, spokesmen said.

Terrorist Debate Delay

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Opponents appeared today to have effectively delayed at least until late November the U.S. proposal for a draft treaty in the U.N. General Assembly against international terrorism.

The General Assembly's legal committee voted late yesterday to put the terrorism item sixth on its agenda.

U.S. sources were optimistic that the problem could be brought up for discussion late in October, but many diplomatic sources believed the committee's action delayed debate until late November.

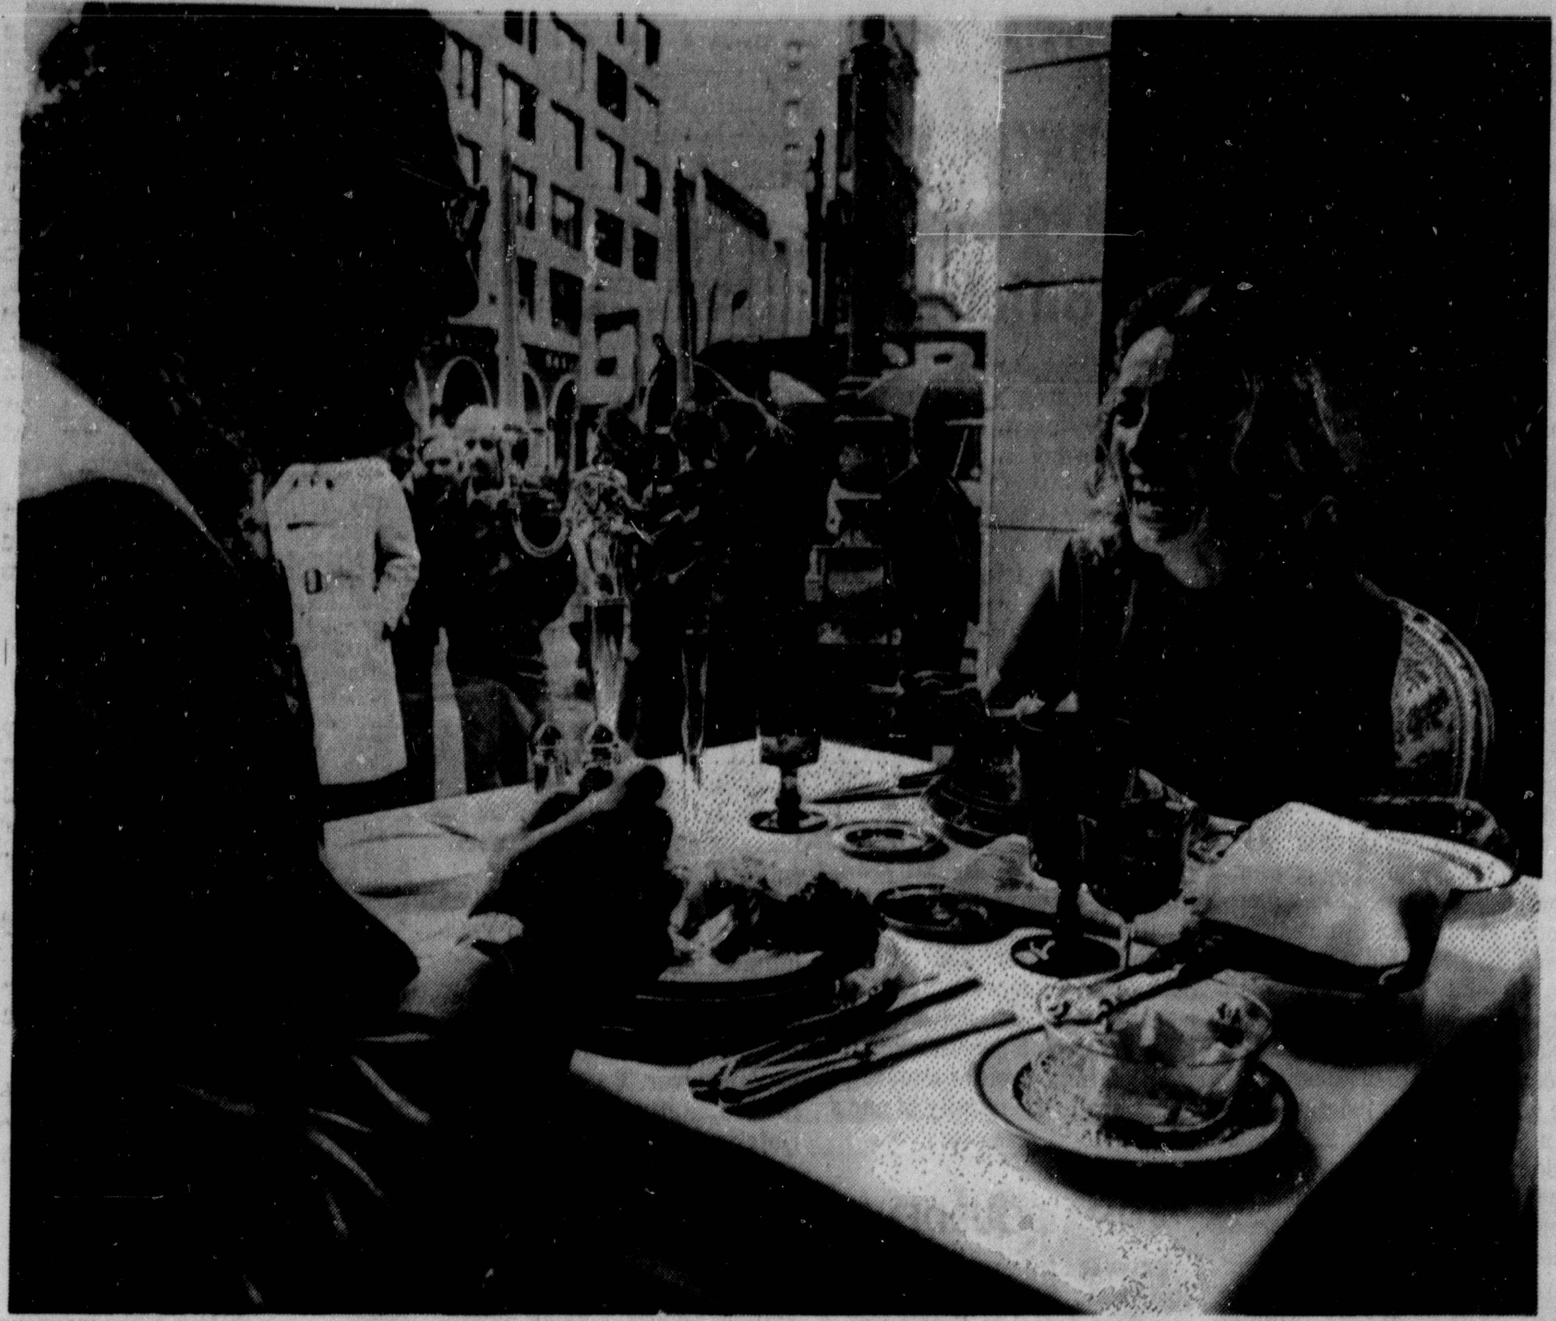
A Meal For All To See



COZY, PUBLIC LUNCH — Mr. and Mrs. Jackson A. Loos of Lucas Valley celebrate their wedding anniversary with lunch in a Market Street store window, watched by scores of passers-by. The affair yesterday was the result of Loos's $200 bid for the luncheon at the recent television station KQED benefit auction.

(Independent-Journal photo by Alfred M. Árn)

By JEFF GREER

Jackson A. Loos of Lucas Valley maintained great savoir faire while enjoying his wedding anniversary luncheon in a Market Street store window in San Francisco yesterday.

Stephanie, his bride of nine years — well, she blushed like a bride.

The romanticism of it all filtered through the plate glass window of the Grodins store at ers-by who paused in the noonday rush to watch and wonder. After they read signs explaining it all, the on-lookers went their way; many murmured kind thoughts such as, "that's nice."

Mr. and Mrs. Loos ate their elegant luncheon in the corner window of Grodins store at Market and Stockton because he bid $200 for the privilege, during the annual television KQED benefit auction. They live at 2197 Elderberry Lane.

Except for the goldfish bowl atmosphere the couple could have been dining cozily in a secluded corner of the famed Garden Court of the Sheraton Palace Hotel down the street a bit.

A potted palm graced the scene, illuminated by a crystal chandelier and flickering candles in a towering sterling centerpiece.

Underfoot was an oriental rug. The Garden Court's finest linen and china graced the table — and two full settings of the famous Palace golden service gleamed in all their potentate's splendor. Forks, spoons, knives, all were gold.

With bows and flourishes, waiter Frans Morrich upheld the traditions of the Garden Court as he bustled to and from a nearby dressing room pressed into service as a pantry.

He served iced papaya with prosciutto, artichoke hearts with sauce Mornay, tournedos al la Clamart, potatoes noisette and petit pois, accompanied by appropriate vintage wines. The luncheon was climaxed with a special wedding anniversary cake, courtesy of Grodins.

Two private security men also hovered as cameramen and reporters clustered over the couple. "We're here to keep a count on the golden service," explained security chief Richard Clark.

Mrs. Loos explained that the very public luncheon was a continuation of the couple's tradition of unusual anniversary observances. "Last year, I kidnaped him," she said without further explanation.

Outside, a Market Street character, gotten up in wild Arabian harem costume with an orange and yellow umbrella, waved happily to the couple.

He said his name was "Archbishop Jesus Christ Satan" and that he was a presidential candidate. He toddled down Market, on his way to visit President Nixon's competing, $1,000 a plate luncheon going on at the Sheraton-Palace.

A teen-ager wistfully regarded the lavish luncheon, then leaned to the window and left a lipstick imprint on the glass.

Loos, who is director of security counseling for the Insurance Company of North America in San Francisco, beamed at his wife and gestured widely as he talked with reporters.

He said the food was magnificent. He didn't compare it with fare he finds at junior chamber of commerce luncheons. He is president of the San Rafael Jaycees.

"Now what will you do for an enacore — go back to work?" we asked Loos.

"No, oh no — I took the day off. I didn't even go to work today," Loos said.

His wife captured his hand in hers. "And he may not go to work tomorrow, either." coyly declared.

Met Will Sell Some Paintings

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Metropolitan Museum of Art, paring down on its world-famous collection of French impressionist paintings to raise money to fill holes in other areas, will sell 11 of the paintings.

The Sotheby Parke—Bernet auction gallery made the announcement Wednesday. It had been rumored for some time in the art world. Among the paintings to be sold are Monet's "Cliffs at Pourville," Sisley's "Washerwomen," Renoir's "House at Cagnes" and Toulouse-Lautrec's "Portrait of a Young Girl."

Public Must Rule On Death Ban — Reagan

MONTEREY (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan told the State Bar Association on Wednesday that "there is a feeling by the public that some court rulings are rendered without considering the consequences."

Noting the State Supreme Court had outlawed the death penalty, the governor asserted that "this issue involves such a major change of public policy that it can only be decided by the people."

An initiative to reinstate the enalty is on the November ballot.

The governor also objected to a State Supreme Court ruling that prevents prison officials from reading mail between a convict and his attorney.

"The violence of revolutionary activity in our prisons is real," he said. "At which point does the attorney-client relationship end and where might a new relationship—that of accomplice — begin?"

Delegates to the association's annual meeting have approved a resolution calling for the decriminalization of marijuana use, which prompted Reagan to ask:

"Does society have no obligation to protect its people from dabbling with a substance that can lead to tragedy and death?"

The governor urged lawyers and judges to curb those who use the courts as political forums and asserted that frivolous appeals and stalling courtroom tactics have weakened the public's faith in this nation's legal system.

In another part of his talk, the governor declared, "The public can not understand why it is impossible for the legal system to develop an effective and workable definition of pornography."

dorsed Michael R. Peevey, candidate for county supervisor in the Second District and vice chairman of the council. He is running against T. Giacomini.

Arrigoni, speaking at the council meeting in the Whistlestop in San Rafael, said that during his first term Highway 17 had been eliminated as "a threat to the Ross Valley," a new local and commuter bus system had started, the West Marin master plan — which he said would have allowed 135,000 people to settle there — had been rescinded, ordinances regulating fill in tidelands and logging had been adopted and more than 10 miles of bicycle paths built.

He said the "most significant issue" was the pending adoption of the countywide general plan, upon which depend all questions of the environment, taxes, transportation, housing and open space.

He said he supported consolidation of sewage agencies into the Marin Municipal Water District, which he thought was the "best qualified agency" to handle recycling of wastewater.

Arrigoni noted that he had almost 10 years of experience in local government.

His statement did not mention Mrs. Boxer.

Mrs. Boxer sharply criticized Arrigoni for voting to continue civic center security only days after he said he would vote to cut security, and for joining the majority of the board in "total dependence on the county administrator's office."

She especially criticized Arrigoni's performance as the board's representative to the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District, saying he had a poor attendance record and had ignored conservation groups by taking the side of the district's top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, against the district's longtime attorney, Matthew S. Walker. (Conservationists and Walker charged Callaghan with coddling polluters.)

Of 53 meetings of district directors over the past year, she said, Arrigoni missed 21, left 11 early, and arrived late for 11. Arrigoni countered that he had attended 29 of the board's 35 regular meetings, missing only minor committee meetings.

Mrs. Boxer, in turn, argued that it was not enough to show up for board votes after issues had been thrashed out in committee.

She also faulted him for supporting continued county membership in the Eel River Water Council after it opposed the "wild rivers" bill by Sen. Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael. Arrigoni rebutted that it was smarter to make better appointments to the water council and "stay and work with these people."

As for the fight over Callaghan and Walker, he insisted, "it was just a basic personnel matter, and had nothing to do with the running of the district." (Walker since has resigned to take a job with a federal agency with jurisdiction over the district.)

Open Space Urged For Preserve

The Corte Madera Parks and Recreation Commission last night unanimously recommended that the Heerdt Marsh next to the Greenbrae Boardwalk be included in the town's general plan as an open space natural preserve.

After a slide show by Lee R. Miller on the 95 acre marsh, commissioners endorsed its retention as an educational and natural preserve, said secretary Nancy Urbani.

The commission approved a master plan for the tiny tot area to be constructed in Town Park in three phases, costing $7,800, $3,340, and $4,000, said Mrs. Urbani.

It also gave permission for the Great Dane Club of Northern California to hold a dog show in the park on Oct. 22 and to sell refreshments.

Novato Agency Is Supported

The San Marin Improvement Association has approved the establishment of a redevelopment agency in Novato.

The board decided to support redevelopment after a presentation by Novato officials Tuesday night, according to Diane Ryken, association publicist. She said association representatives would attend a public hearing on redevelopment set for 8 p.m. Monday in city hall.

The association also decided to hold its annual Holloween parade on Oct. 29, she said.

HOLLIS

that the board must pay Toal's attorney's fees and court costs because it had behaved "arbitrarily and capriciously."

Hollis today told the I-J: "It seems rather foreign to me that with all these other opportunities why go the Grand Jury? They will publicize it, but other than publicizing what have you gained? Whereas if you go through your professional organizations they can clear it up.

"I will say members of the Grand Jury were almost unbelievable when they asked me about it, but I said I always had to go through channels."

According to Hollis, the teachers were complaining about a reshuffle of county schools' staff. (Its effect has been to bump some of last year's teachers at Loma Alta in favor of teachers from San Quentin prison who have seniority rights. The prison's schools, run by the county, are being closed as the prison is phased out.)

Worsham told the Independent-Journal he has never put the gag rule instructions to his teachers in writing "but I support Dr. Hollis's stand very much."

The 1971-72 Grand Jury recommended abolishing Worsham's post in favor of a teaching principal or a lead teacher. Worsham said today that was last year when there were only four teachers at Loma Alta. There are now seven teachers, which has altered the situation, he said.

He said he is extremely pleased with the school, "and I think my teachers are quite happy. If they're not I'm off in left field."

Dr. Hollis said he is unaware of any problems at Loma Alta School, "and the whole statement of the Spring was blown out of all proportions.

"Some statements were made — 'oh my gosh,' what a terrible thing to have a teacher of San Quentin inmates teaching at Juvenile Hall' — a ridiculous comment from my standpoint. They maintain only a particular kind of teacher can teach there. I can't buy that concept."

Asked if a teacher who defied his ruling would be penalized, Dr. Hollis said: "There would be a counselling session."

He said "We have a number of rules and regulations of which they were a part in establishing. But I would be the first one to say that if they don't get satisfaction through regular channels by all means then go."

clear who's using whom at this time."

Only one of the three returning U.S. pilots, Navy Lt. (j.g.) Norris Alphonzo Charles of San Diego, stated firmly that if the war is terminated, the return home of all U.S. POWs from Vietnam "will be certain."

In an emotional plea, Charles said: "I ask myself, who is responsible? It is you, the American people. If you want to end the war you can do it. I have great faith in the American people. I call upon you to help me bring the prisoners home."

Charles, Navy Lt. (j.g.) Markham L. Gartley of Dunedin, Fla., and Air Force Maj. Edward Knight Elias of Valdosta, Ga., were released in Hanoi 10 days ago to members of an American antiwar group that arrived in Denmark with them on a trip that has taken them from Hanoi to Peking and Moscow.

After arriving 44 minutes late on a Russian Aeroflot flight, the prisoners marched into the airport with their escort party of U.S. activists, sat down under glaring television lights and held a formal news conference.

Of the three men, only blond and blue-eyed Gartley still had the bold and poised bearing of a young military officer.

He held his head high and looked confidently over the audience of about 100 newsmen, occasionally smiling with good-natured amusement in his eyes. His mother, Minnie Lee, sat next to him.

"It's a great feeling to be free," Gartley said. "But I would be happier if the other men were free too."

Elias, looking pale and nervous, sat tightlipped and tense. His fingers played on the edge of the long wooden table.

WASTE

1974 and be completed by October of that year.

The second stage recommends development of a major recreation lake to handle reclaimed water. The lake would be located in either North Marin or Southern Sonoma.

The plan calls for pumping waste water from Central and Southern Marin to a major reclamation plant proposed for an area south of Petaluma. Here it would be combined with waste water from North Marin and would receive the highest level of treatment possible before being discharged into the lake.

The lake probably would be located either in the area of Tolay Creek between Petaluma and Sonoma or in Chileno Valley west of Petaluma.

Cost of the reclamation portion of the project would be approximately $7.3 million and it could be in operation by 1985, according to the engineers.

(The environmental advisory subcommittee favors immediate reclamation of waste water, but the water district board took no position on that suggestion.)

The engineers emphasized that all facilities constructed during the first phase of the project will be utilized in the reclamation phase. The Point San Quentin outfall line still will be needed when reclamation is under way to handle increased flows during wet weather, Walker said.

During the third stage of the project, designed to recycle waste water, facilities would be built to permit overflow water from the lake to be utilized for agricultural irrigation, augmentation of streams or municipal reuse.

Cost of the reuse stage would be approximately $2.2 million and could be operative by 1990.

Walker urged the board and the advisory committee and subcommittee to proceed immediately to develop an environmental impact study, financial and administrative analyses of the project and applications for state and federal grants.

He said the water district board should not approve the plan until those studies have been completed.

The advisory committee agreed to discuss with Central Marin sanitary agencies arrangements for joint studies of the proposed treatment and disposal facilities, which both agencies would share under the project plan.

The environmental advisory subcommittee asked that the board consider an even larger consolidation of those facilities, one which would include Northern Marin sanitary agencies.

The board agreed to discuss that proposal further at a future meeting even though Walker said construction of one regional treatment and disposal facility for all three areas would cost an additional 12 million and would probably not be required by the state.

be cancelled "until they can be modified to contain the most stringent provisions against flight over populated areas or in areas of high aircraft density."

Moss said he would seek additional legislation if necessary to give the FAA additional authority.

Records show opponents of a shopping center where the crash took place, warned of potential dangers from a nearby airport, but that the Federal Aviation Administration approved the construction because of already existing "hazards."

A review of the Sacramento City Planning Department files disclosed Wednesday that the FAA concluded in 1964 that the proposed Crossroads Shopping Center would not hinder aircraft traffic even though it was directly in the path of a runway of the Executive airport.

The FAA said in a statement in the files that the state Aeronautics Department and Donald B. Smith, former manager of the airport, "expressed the opinion that lives of individuals on the ground would be endangered because the shopping center would draw large crowds of people under the path of approaching aircraft."

The City Planning Commission unanimously approved the shopping center.

Campbell, Boas Get Endorsed

Boas is on the Nov. 7 ballot as Democratic challenger to Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District. Campbell is seeking election to the Marin Community College District board.

Grace A. Hughes, Marin Alternative chairman said no endorsement was made in the Assembly race because no candidate garnered the necessary 70 per cent vote of Marin Alternative members at the meeting. Only Campbell, among the six college board candidates interviewed, got the 70 per cent vote.

Thirty-three members attended the meeting, which ran past midnight. Mrs. Hughes said Marin Alternative membership now is 378 households, with two members in many households.

Marin Alternative members will vote endorsements on the state ballot propositions following a public forum on the issues Oct. 15 in Olney Hall at the College of Marin, Mrs. Hughes said.

demonstrators beat on a railing outside the Century Plaza Hotel and chanted demands for an end to the conflict. The demonstrators—by far the largest group of protesters during Nixon's infrequent campaign appearances—were noisy but peaceful. There were two arrests.

Nixon was clearly buoyant about the prospects of victory in November, speaking of it as an accomplished fact and promising "not just four more years of what we have done, but what I would hope will be four of the best years in the whole history of the United States of America."

Comedian Bob Hope and California Gov. Ronald Reagan alternated as master of ceremonies.

During his stop here and in similar fund-raising appearances in San Francisco and New York City, Nixon has been more the coach than the player, addressing party regulars and urging them to work for his reelection while he tends to the business of being president.

He also repeated his pledge to veto any spending programs passed by the Democratic-controlled Congress that would raise taxes, and called programs to redistribute income detrimental to the interests of the nation.

"Let us reject any program which makes it more profitable for a person to go on welfare than to go to work," he said.

Fire Board Wants To Level Fines

The Stinson Beach Fire Protection District board last night asked the county counsel to draft an ordinance enabling it to fine Stinson Beach Water Co. $100 if the water company cuts off water to houses without notifying the fire district.

According to board member John L. Jones, the water company occasionally shuts off water to houses in Stinson Beach for repairs, maintenance and emergencies.

If the fire district isn't informed that the water has been cut off, the fire department could waste valuable time during an emergency by connecting its hoses to dry water pipes.

The board will consider the draft ordinance at its next regular meeting, Jones said.

The board also decided to reach a decision on the proposed purchase of an ambulance and tank truck at its next meeting.

PEACE

Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday reports that a peace settlement had been reached were unfounded.)

Inside the conference hall, Mme. Binh in her speech said "the Nixon administration is not really interested in putting an end to the war by negotiations."

Neither side disclosed specifically whether any progress had been made in Kissinger's secret talks. But both Viet Cong and North Vietnamese delegations made clear they would not agree to a cease-fire until Washington agreed first to dump the regime of South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and install a three-segment coalition government including the Viet Cong.

The South Vietnamese delegation chief, Pham Dang Lam, promptly refused once more "your absurd and unrealistic demands." He said "as long as you intensify your military efforts there can be no question for South Vietnam and its allies to cease their defense, and thus the war will go on indefinitely."

In Saigon today, U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker conferred with Thieu on the rumors of a peace settlement which circulated there Wednesday.

U.S. chief negotiator William J. Porter made no mention of the peace rumors that spread around the globe after Kissinger's talks with Hanoi diplomats went into a second day for the first time in the history of the peace negotiations.

Speculation heightened further when President Nixon said Wednesday the United States would settle the war "without betraying its allies." The White House denied a New York radio station report that Kissinger had concluded a cease-fire agreement.

Porter in his opening speech charged that North Vietnam had made "a very cynical exploitation" of its release this week of three American prisoners of war. He linked prisoner treatment with progress in negotiations.

"The United States protests vigorously against your practices," said Porter.

"Please do not underestimate the effect of this kind of thing. It has had and will continue to have an effect on negotiations for a peace settlement for it affects adversely the confidence which provides the basis for progress."

Xuan Thuy entering the Paris peace conference hall that "since yesterday we have received numerous telephone calls demanding details of the last two days of talks between (presidential adviser) Henry A. Kissinger, myself and Le Duc Tho. The questioners asked if there has been an agreement on a number of questions.

"For my part I can say nothing on the private talks. As to the speculation I would like to make it clear that such specualtion is without foundation and contrary to the truth," Thuy said.

Guilty Verdict On Check Charge

A Marin Superior Court judge yesterday found Garrett Lynn Jensen, 25, of Mill Valley guilty of felony counts of writing a bad check for a bicycle, then possessing hashish and narcotics when arrested on the bicycle.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson found him guilty in the half-day trial without jury and sentencing was set for Nov. 27.

Mill Valley Police arrested Jensen June 5 as he peddled through the downtown and said he wrote a $151 check at Mill Valley Cyclery that bounced.

Police said they found the illegal substances when they searched him.

OBITUARIES

Funeral For Burton C. Granicher

Funeral for Burton C. Granicher of Tiburon, a San Francisco advertising executive, was held yesterday in San Francisco.

Granicher died Tuesday at his home at 50 Harbor Oak Drive after a long illness. He was 64.

He was a native of San Francisco and was vice president of McCann-Erickson advertising company at the time of his retirement.

He was a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley.

He is survived by his wife, Claire; a daughter, Cathy Weathers of Sacramento; three brothers, Walter and Irving, both of San Francisco, and Oswald, of Berkeley, and a sister, Lucile Mohr of San Francisco.

The family prefers memorial donations to the charity of one's choice.

ANNA BOURDENS

Private funeral for Anna Bourdens, 93, of Healdsburg, was held today in Petaluma.

Miss Bourdens died Sunday at a Healdsburg Convalescent Hospital after a lengthy illness. She was born and reared in San Francisco and had lived in Sonoma County for 44 years. She had formerly lived in Petaluma.

Private burial was at Olive Hill Cemetery, Geyserville.

HELEN BANIGAN

Funeral for Helen M. Banigan, past president of the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club, will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow in the Russell and Gooch Funeral Parlor, 270 Miller Avenue in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Banigan died in a local hospital Tuesday after a brief illness. She was 77.

She was a native of Pennsylvania and a resident of California for 54 years. She lived all but three of those years in Marin County.

She was a member of the Community Church Club of Mill Valley and past president of the Outdoor Art Club.

She is survived by her daughter, Suzanne M. Sheeter of Novato, and her son, Bruce H. Banigan of Santa Ana; her brother, Maj. Alfred Haines of Florida, and four grandchildren.

J. DALY

John Daly of San Anselmo, retired San Francisco police sergeant and father of a San Francisco policeman, died yesterday in a local hospital. The apparent cause of death was heart failure resulting from acute pneumonia, according to coroner's deputy Bill J. Thomas.

A native of County Kerry, Ireland, Daly came to the U.S. in 1898, moving to Boston. In 1904, he moved to San Francisco.

He joined the San Francisco Police Department in 1908, retiring as sergeant in 1944 after helping found the mounted police auxiliary.

He moved to San Anselmo in 1949 where he lived with his wife, Mary A. Daly.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Claire McNaboe of San Anselmo, Mrs. Barbara Costello of San Rafael and Mrs. Marian O'Connor of New York; two sons, John P. Daly of San Anselmo, a San Francisco police inspector, and Dr. James Daly of San Anselmo; a brother, Denis A. Daly of Berkeley, 28 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Mass of the Resurrection will be said at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael. A rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

Friends are asked to contribute to their favorite charity.

EMMA RATTRAY

Emma Rattray, 71, of 39 Candlewood Drive, Petaluma, died yesterday at a local convalescent hospital after a lengthy illness.

She was born in Scotland and reared in Canada. Mrs. Rattray moved to San Francisco 19 years ago and worked for nine years as a bindery woman at Lane Printing Co., San Francisco.

She and her husband, William G. Rattray Sr., moved to Petaluma 14 years ago.

She is also survived by two daughters, Aileen Silvester of Petaluma and Helen La Porte of Vancouver, B.C.; a son, William G. Rattray Jr. of Ottowa, Ontario; two brothers, James and John Sutherland of Canada; 16 grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Private funeral will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma, followed by burial at Calvary Cemetery.

MRS. MADDEN

Funeral will be at 8 p.m. today at Redwood Chapel Funeral Home, Novato, for Gladys Madden, 70, of Novato. Burial will be in Little Rock, Ark. Mrs. Madden, of 35 Carmel Drive, died yesterday at a local hospital following a brief illness.

A native of Charleston, Ark., she lived in Washington, D.C., for many years where her husband, the late Brian S. Madden, worked in civil service.

She moved to California 10 years ago and to Novato three years ago.

She was a member of the senior chapter 215 of Order of Eastern Star, White Shrine and Ladies Auxiliary Veterans of World War I.

Surviving are a daughter, Nina Dinger of Santa Rosa; a son, Brian S. Madden of Minneapolis, Minn.; four grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Town Session Workshops Scheduled

The San Rafael Town Meeting Association has scheduled six workshop sessions for the Oct. 14 Town Meeting at Dominican College in San Rafael.

Workshops scheduled and committee chairman heading the sessions include: open space, Tina Ferris; housing, Leland S. Bright; recreation, G. Scott Jones; and community development, Richard Sadler.

In addition, a workshop is scheduled for general citizen pet peeves, including roaming dogs, motorcycle noise, street repair, drainage, and traffic.

Another discussion workshop will be headed by San Rafael city officials, who will field questions on subjects ranging from redevelopment to merger of San Rafael and Terra Linda.

The workshops will follow a keynote address at 9 a.m. by San Rafael City Councilman John A. Miskimen. Election of Town Meeting officers and a vote on resolutions resulting from workshop sessions will be held in the afternoon.

Current officers of the association are Steven B. Sachs, chairman; Priscilla Bull, vice chairman; Susan Lifschiz, secretary and Dan L. Chestnut, treasurer, as well as the various committee chairmen who will head workshop discussions.

Phony Brink's Guards Indicted

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Two men, one of them a policeman, accused of posing as Brink's guards to steal $316,500 from unsuspecting bank officials Sept. 12, were indicted Tuesday by a federal grand jury.

The indictment said Wallace Cowper, a Cleveland patrolman, and Willie B. O'Neal took the money from the Great Lakes Mall branch of the Lake County National Bank.

O'Neal awaits extradition here from Lexington, Miss., where he was held by authorities. Cowper, 31, a policeman since 1969 previously worked as a part-time messenger for Brink's Inc.

Auditions Slated For 'Peter Pan'

Auditions will be held Saturday at Isabel Cook School multi-purpose room, San Anselmo, for actors, actresses and dancers for "Peter Pan," to be presented by the College of Marin Community Services in December.

Auditions for the roles of Peter Pan and Wendy will be from 10 a.m. to noon, adult roles from 1 to 4 p.m. and dancers at 3 p.m. Only experienced adult and child actors are eligible, a spokesman said.

Wine, Beer Permit Before Planners

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will consider an application from the Plank Delicatessen, 21 Mariposa Avenue, for a wine and beer permit when it meets Monday at 8 p.m.

The commission will also consider Nathan P. Hales's application for a two-lot subdivision at 220 Forbes Avenue.

"TO YOU THE EARTH YIELDS HER FRUIT"

Kahlil Gibran

Once again it is time to invite you all to our Fall Festival. Come and take advantage of the many special savings we offer. This is our way to say "Thank you" to our customers — to say "We appreciate your loyalty and support." The friendly contact with our customers makes it a pleasure to be in this business, in this continuing quest for healthful living.

I have been in the health food business for over 35 years, yet there is always more to learn! Our nutritional concerns change as our knowledge of this intricate system, which is man, becomes more complete. Health is certainly not an end in itself, but a means of attaining life's purposes. Without health it is difficult to reach life's goals — so it becomes very important to us to learn more about it.

We all want to strive for optimum nutrition, yet do not always know what this means. The minimum daily requirements of nutrients have been well established by science, but what about the optimum? This question is not so easily answered. We know that through heredity, human needs for different nutrients vary widely. I feel that future research will throw more light on this subject.

But there is much we already know - it is important to pay attention to the quality of the food we eat. The optimum diet is a balanced diet of whole, natural foods. Foods that are left vital, and are not fragmented, carry their own compliments of vitamins and minerals. Thinking about the wholeness of food, gives us a new appreciation of nature and reverance for life.

With this feeling we wish you Here's Health,

June and Howard Embury

New Master Levee Plan Recommended

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's chief water official said yesterday a new master levee system for the Sacramento delta should be built to prevent new levee breaks similar to the disastrous Isleton flood last June.

Until that master levee system is built, there should be limits on new construction within the delta islands, William Gianelli, director of the Department of Water Resources told a legislative committee.

Gianelli also proposed a system of levee inspections by federal or state officials as an interim measure.

Earlier in the hearing before the Senate Agriculture and Water Committee, Col. James Donovan of the Army Corps of Engineers said other levees in the delta, including those protecting Bethel Island, are "inadequate."

Donovan also urged the state "to take the leadership position" to develop a coordinated delta flood protection plan.

Gianelli said the "best solution" to the flood problem is "legislation directing an equitable sharing of the necessary financing" of a multiple-purpose master levee system.

"It should be recognized," Gianelli said, "that the most economical approach to flood control would be construction of a master levee system to reduce the length of levees requiring reconstruction and maintenance against high water stages.

"Any plan for levee construction should be multiple-purpose and should involve financial participation by all beneficiaries. It should also include some form of an organization to assure implementation of the plans. A regional organization might satisfy that requirement," he said.

Gianelli, chief of California's $3 billion State Water Project, also said that until the proposed master levee system is built there should be "a program for regulating the development on the levees and within the islands."

"The type of developments which are occurring can only increase the public cost if the levees fail. It is in the state's interest to require the counties to develop and enforce adequate zoning regulations," he said.

Both Donovan and Gianelli cited what Gianelli called "some of the worst soils in the world insofar as construction is concerned" in the delta area. Donovan said even 90-year-old levees in the area are still sinking, although at a slower rate than newer levees.

Sen. Howard Way, chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Water Resources Committee, said the hearings were not intended to "fix responsibility or blame" for the levee break, but only to determine what should be done to prevent future failures.

FILL IN WITH FLASH LIGHT

Almost every amateur photographer makes use of flash-bulbs, electronic flash, or the newer flash-cubes when shooting indoors or in darkness. But flash can be a highly functional asset for your picture taking even in brightest sunlight.

Fill-in flash, as it is called, is really a must for outdoor portrait style pictures taken in bright sun. Women expecially like the results, because the fill-in flash softens and improves skin texture and tone around the face. It smooths away unwanted lines and shadows around the eyes, and the brightness of the flash will be reflected in a sparkle in the subject's eyes.

You'll find many other situations where you can use outdoor flash. Suppose you're in a deeply-shadowed area, such as in a woods or the heavy shadow of a building. Fill-in flash will give you just enough light to record details you want to capture without eliminating the interesting shadows.

So experiment with outdoor flash . . . and be sure you always have enough flashbulbs or flashcubes on hand. Stop in at our store and pick up a supply, along with the right film for the pictures you won't want to miss.

THE LAST RIDE

Roaring down the ideal trails made by construction grading, four boys get some after-school fun on their motorbikes in the Madera del Presidio site of Corte Madera. Today, however, the fun was to come to an end because town police have received permission from Cal West Properties to chase the trailriders away. "It's kind of a shame," confessed Police Chief David L. McIntosh, "because those kids need somewhere to ride. But it's close to houses and neighbors have complained about the noise." The riders hadn't been breaking any law because the developers had permitted them to ride on the site after grading operations finished each day.

Prop. 14 Study Group Named By Dixie Board

The Dixie School District board of trustees last night named a 24-member citizens finance advisory committee to study the effect on the district if Proposition 14, the Watson tax revision initiative, is passed in the Nov. 7 election.

The group will hold its first meeting Oct. 2 at 8 p.m. at the District office, San Rafael.

Composed entirely of parent volunteers, the group may grow to about 50 members, according to district Supt. Clifford W. Campbell.

The board, which opposes the measure, decided to organize a citizens group after receiving letters against the measure from Governor Ronald Reagan, state School Supt. Wilson Riles and state Sen. Peter H. Behr (R-S.R.). Campbell said the measure, which would limit property tax as means of supporting schools and other governmental agencies, would reduce district income by 30 per cent.

The Dixie School District trustees also:

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignation of T. A. Thio as custodian as Oak View School and Ralph Milner as district maintenance mechanic.

BUS DRIVERS — Hired as bus drivers Gloria Funk, Barbara Swisher and Geraldine Campbell.

INSTRUCTIONAL AIDES — Hired Mrs. Patricia Young as an instructional aide at Santa Margarita School and Miss Constance Wagner as an instructional aide at Lucas Valley School.

REPRESENTATIVE — Nominated Sally Rakow of the Ross School District Board as representative to the California School Boards Association Delegate Assembly.

RELEASE TIME — Allowed district psychologist Al Carr to attend graduate study courses one afternoon per week.

KIDNEY PROGRAM — Agreed to participate in the screening program of the Marin Chapter of the Northern California Kidney Foundation. A health unit will visit each school to take urine specimens from pupils whose parents have given permission.

SURVEY — Discussed a proposed survey to be sent to parents and teachers soliciting their views on the goals of the district.

LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE — Decided that trustees are well enough informed on legislative matters affecting them and are not interested in joining a proposed Marin County School Boards Association legislative committee.

TOUR — Toured new facilities at Oak View School and expressed pleasure.

11th-Hour Move By Army May Stall Recreation Area Approval

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A last-minute move by the Army apparently has derailed the final vote scheduled for Monday by the House of Representatives on creation of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, an author of the legislation, said there was "less than a 50-50 chance" now of getting a house vote Monday — a delay which he conceded may mean the bill could not go to the President until some time next year.

Mailliard, canceling campaign appearances, flew here last night from San Francisco to attempt to beat back the Army's move.

The Army's ploy came in a letter from the Secretary of the Army to the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, objecting that the Army wanted more say over conversion of its forts to park use. The committee chairman, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., promptly asked Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., not to recognize anyone attempting to get a house vote on the bill creating the recreation area.

Hebert, according to Mailliard, objected that disposition of military lands properly belonged in his committee, and should not have been handled by the interior committee. As chairman of a major committee, Hebert carries a lot of political muscle, Mailliard acknowledged.

Mailliard also noted that Hebert and the chairman of the interior committee, Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall, D-Colo., were "old buddies." Further complicating Aspinall's traditionally unpredictable character, Mailliard said, was the fact that he was defeated in the primary election "and might not show up Monday."

A two-thirds vote will be needed Monday to take up the proposal.

The result was that backers of the proposal were "in a very difficult parliamentary situation," Mailliard said. Major concessions to the Army may be the only way to break the delay, he added.

Recognition of Aspinall — or anyone else he selects to ask that the bill be taken up — will be entirely at the discretion of Albert, said Mailliard, who expects to know by tonight if the bill can be rescued in time for action Monday.

Similar legislation is being heard in committee in the Senate, but upper house action on the bill will be moot if its companion bill is stymied in the lower house.

The proposal calls for creation of a recreation area linking the Golden Gate Headlands with Point Reyes National Seashore via the Olema Valley.

The '73 Ford LTD. 65 decibels at 60 mph.
Quiet is the sound of a well-made car.

On July 27, 1972, General Radio Co. tested a '73 LTD against an airborne glider. Both at 60 mph and with identical sound level meters. The result: the Ford was quieter. But the new LTD is more than just quiet. It is well made from its power front disc brakes, power steering and automatic transmission, standard equipment, to its luxurious, comfortable, roomy interior. There are 16 new Ford models to choose from and each will convince you that quiet is the sound of a well-made car.

Chances are you won't try to balance yourself on top of your new Torino. But, when you're riding inside, you'll still appreciate Torino's refined suspension—because it helps to cushion bumps, absorb road vibrations and reduce body sway. You feel solidly in control while you ride in comfort and luxury.

'73 Pinto: When you get back to basics, you get back to Ford.

Ford, the company that built the first basic, solid, reliable car seventy years ago—has built today's basic, solid reliable car: Pinto. It's become America's top selling economy car for more reasons than economy. Here are some of those reasons: A 1600 cc. engine developed and perfected in over 10 years of actual driving. Rack-and-pinion steering. Solid welded body, electrocoated to fight corrosion. 4-speed transmission—lubed for life. Everything we've learned in seventy years of car making—all the basics—we build into every Pinto Wagon, Runabout and Sedan. When you get back to basics, you get back to Pinto.

Objections To Pier Are Lodged

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Several objections to a proposed Marin pier and houseboat mooring on aesthetic grounds have been received by the Army Corps of Engineers.

Two objections were received to an application by Donlan J. Arques of Sausalito to build anew houseboat mooring at Waldo Point on Richardson Bay, and two others to a permit application by Raymond G. Handley of Palo Alto to build a pier in Raccoon Straits, Tiburon.

No objection was received to a permit application from Miriam Tellis of Sausalito to construct a pier for houseboat mooring at Waldo Point in Richardson Bay.

A decision to grant or deny the permits will be made by the corps of engineers after comments on the projects are received from the Department of Interior.

Petaluma Building Permits Increase

The Petaluma Building Inspection Division issued $2,751,166 in building permits in August for an increase of $1,865,518 over those issued in July and $877,782 more than those issued in August 1971.

The department issued 70 permits, including 26 single-family homes, 12 apartment units and a new commercial building.

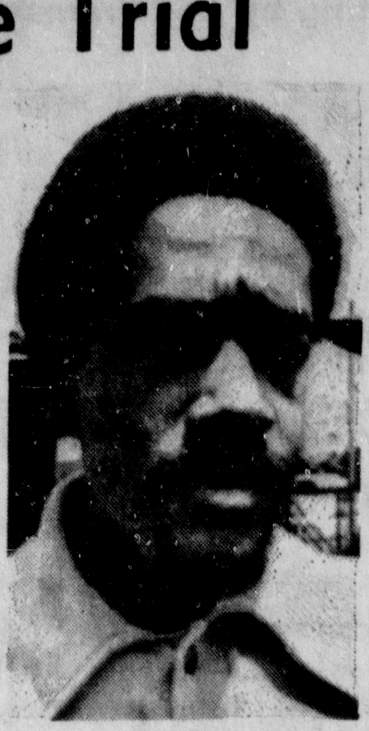
Dismissal Asked For Seale Trial



BOBBY SEALE
Charges dropped

CHICAGO (UPI) — Federal authorities, rather than disclose wiretapped evidence, prefer to drop contempt of court charges against Black Panther leader Bobby Seale stemming from the controversial "Chicago Seven" trial.

U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson said Wednesday he would ask that the charges be forgotten rather than reveal transcripts of electronic surveillance in connection with the explosive 1969-70 trial during which Seale was bound and gagged. The binding and gagging was one of the high points of the trial of activists charged with conspiring to foment riots during the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Thompson, in a letter to Chief U.S. Appeals Court Judge Luther M. Swygert, said the government had concluded "it would be inimical to our national security interests" to reveal the transcripts to the defense.

"Therefore," he said, "we conclude that the interests of justice would best be served by withdrawing the contempt case charges against Seale and will so move before the judge when the case is assigned."

The transcripts were originally introduced in the chambers of Chicago Seven trial Judge Julius J. Hoffman. The appeals court ruled that if they were not shown to the defense "then the contempt charges against Seale must be dropped."

Seale, national chairman of the Black Panther party, had insisted during the trial on acting as his own attorney. When Hoffman refused to let him do so, Seale frequently interrupted the trial and even scuffled with U.S. marshals.

However he finally declared a mistrial in Seale's case, but sentenced him to a total of four years on contempt charges.

Cancer Link With Virus Is Revealed

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —New evidence that at least some cancers in humans are connected with viruses has been revealed at the Seventh National Cancer Conference.

Nearly all leukemia patients tested so far were found to be harboring an enzyme similiar to that present in a virus that causes cancer in mice, a Columbia University researcher told the conference Wednesday.

The report came from Dr. Sol Spiegelman, director of the university's Institute of Cancer Research in a report to the 2,000 physicians attending the conference, sponsored by the American Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute.

Spiegelman reported that 95 per cent of leukemia sufferers tested were found to carry the enzyme called reverse transcriptase and other indicators of a cancer virus, regardless of what kind of leukemia they had.

The enzyme is also found in patients suffering from sarcomas, Hodgkin's disease and breast cancer, Spiegelman said.

Dr. Seymour Perry, associate scientific director of the chemotherapy program of the National Cancer Institute, told a news conference that Spiegelman's work provides new leads in the war on cancer.

If the enzyme must be present for the cancer to survive, he said, researchers may find a drug that will prevent its production.

Experimenters are now working with some drugs that appear to have some of the requirements for blocking the enzyme, Perry said.

The presence of the enzyme may also be important as an indicator to physicians that cancer is present—especially in the case of patients whose cancers were treated and presumed cured.

It now takes the presence of about 10 billion cancer cells—about a quarter of a teaspoonful—to alert doctors that the cancer has spread to another part of the body following its treatment at the original site.

World Effort Asked To Find Cancer Cure

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—President Nixon said today the U.S.Soviet agreement to cooperate in medical research marked a significant turning point in the struggle against disease and he called for an international effort to find a cure for cancer.

"The barriers between nations may be great, but when it comes to fighting cancer their common interests are greater," he said in remarks prepared for delivery before the National Cancer Conference.

"Perhaps this fight against cancer can help to teach the world that despite immense differences between cultures and values and political systems, nations must work together to meet their common needs."

He spoke shortly before ending a three-day political campaign in New York and California and returning to Washington.

"Like drug abuse, like hijacking, like terrorism, cancer is an international menace," he said. "We must confront it with an international alliance."

Nixon said his administration had more than doubled the federal budget for cancer in the last two years to more than $430 million and converted facilities at Fort Detrick, Md.—formerly used for developing biological warfare—to cancer research.

He said the Soviet minister of health, in the United States to help implement the medical research agreement he signed with the Russians during his Moscow visit, had recently visited this formerly top-secret facility.

Cash, Checks Taken

Cash and checks totaling $438 were stolen yesterday from the safe at the Argus-Courier, 830 Petaluma Boulevard North, Petaluma. Police said the safe was not damaged and was opened by someone who knew the combination.

Railway Group Set Two Tours

The Pacific Coast Chapter of the Railway and Locomotive Historical Society will sponsor two boat excursions next month, one to Petaluma and one to Suisun Bay.

On Oct. 7, a seven-hour tour will begin at Fisherman's Wharf in San Francisco, and take visitors into San Pablo Bay and up the Petaluma River to Petaluma, returning by China Camp and Raccoon Straits in view of Tiburon, Sausalito and the Golden Gate Bridge.

On Oct. 21, an outing will take visitors from San Francisco through the Carquinez Straits into Suisun Bay.

Reservations are available from Don Thrall, society treasurer, 610 Arlington Avenue, Berkeley.

Tripod Taken

A surveying instrument and tripod valued at $600 were stolen yesterday from the Phillips Construction Co. at the Park Lane apartments project, 109 Magnolia Avenue, Petaluma, police reported.

Aeronautics Board Eases Charter Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Civil Aeronautics Board has drastically revised its charter regulations so that any group of 40 or more persons may now fly at cutrate fares.

Declaring there is an irresistible public demand for low cost air transportation, the board Wednesday revised regulations stipulating that charter flight passengers had to be members of the same club or organization. According to the board, the old rules were being flouted by many airline passengers, travel agents and airlines.

The new regulations are designed to eliminate questionable operations whereby bogus clubs and groups were listed for charter passengers to join. In addition, organizers will now have to be bonded with a bank so passengers will not be stranded if the firm fails during their trip.

Ribicoff Says Nixon Spurned Compromise

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., accused President Nixon today of turning his back on a welfare reform compromise accepted by two cabinet members.

Ribicoff said on June 16 Nixon spurned the advice of HEW Secretary Elliot Richardson and Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson and 19 Republican senators and refused to endorse a welfare bill only somewhat more liberal than the President's own bill, proposed three years ago.

In a senate speech, Ribicoff asked Nixon "to follow through on three years of speeches about the need for welfare reform" and back the Ribicoff compromise.

The President's plan, approved by the House June 22, would pay a family of four a guaranteed income of $2,400 a year, including families in which the adults work but do not earn that much.

Ribicoff's bill raises that figure to $2,600, provides that states which are more generous than that cannot cut back and calls for a short-term test of aid for the working poor before it is put into effect nationally.

"In the middle of a presidential election, words often obscure deeds and rhetoric substitutes for action," Ribicoff said in reintroducing his plan.

"But 25 million Americans have a right to expect more from their elected representatives...They have a right to expect the Senate to meet the President half-way. I think the Ribicoff-administration agreement is the vehicle that will allow us to meet those expectations."

Countywide Police Plan Sidestepped

The Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen sidestepped discussion of a single countywide police department last night, deciding instead to probe the matter in detail at its next meeting on Oct. 25.

Sausalito City Councilman Sally Stanford expressed immediate opposition to the consolidation proposal, according to San Anselmo Mayor Warren R. Perry, chairman of the group.

"Hers was the only dissenting voice," Perry said, adding that she demanded that police departments be left under local control.

Perry said the council would take action on the proposal and perhaps form a study committee at its next meeting.

The longstanding proposal for the formation of one department to serve all municipalities and unincorporated communities in Marin was renewed by the Marin County Grand Jury in its final report for 1971-72.

Marin Council of Mayors, Councilmen also:

SAFETY — Heard a report that Marin cities have outstanding pedestrian safety records.

APPOINTMENT — Ratified the appointment of San Anselmo Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson to the Marin County Transit District Board. Council minutes had not recorded the appointment, which was made last year, according to Perry.

COMMITTEE — Revived the council's tax equity committee, which is charged with making sure citizens living in cities and the county pay a fair share of taxes, according to Perry. He said that San Anselmo and Corte Madera have not yet appointed representatives to the committee.

CELEBRATION — Decided to discuss Marin's participation in the 1976 national bicentennial on Oct. 25.

JOINT USE — Decided that each city should forward views on joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base to Association of Bay Area Governments representative Holmes S. Norville.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 6:45 p.m. Oct. 25.

Liberated Woman

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — The first woman to climb 14,110-foot Pike's Peak was Julia Archibald Holmes, a suffragette who defied her husband in 1858 to make the trip in bloomers.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

3:04 p.m., Marinwood — Kitchen fire caused by burning pot at home of William Hurtado at 567 Appleberry Drive caused $1,500 smoke damage.

5:35 p.m., San Anselmo — Smoke check at San Francisco Theological Seminary turned out to be a smoky incinerator.

Bomb Scare By Runaway Youth

BEIRUT (UPI)—Ali Shaaban, a 9-year-old chewing gum seller, created a bomb scare Wednesday when he tried to run away from home.

He was found trying to stow away on a Czechoslovak airliner at Beirut airport. He told airport police a man had asked him to place a parcel aboard a Middle East Airlines plane, but he did not know which one.

It was several hours before Ali admitted to police that he made up the story about the parcel. In the meantime, three airliners that had taken off from Beirut made emergency landings at Athens and were searched for bombs.

Schools Closed In D. C. Strike

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

District of Columbia schools were ordered closed today and the president of the striking teachers union jailed, while Philadelphia schools prepared to open for the first time in four weeks.

The bitter disputes in Washington and Philadelphia involving 325,000 students and 20,000 teachers were the most serious of several school labor problems in the East, South and Midwest.

D.C. School Superintendent Hugh Scott excused students from attending classes until Monday.

"The question must be asked are students better off at home...than they would be in school," Scott said. "I have reached the conclusion that the answer is yes."

Superior Court Judge Robert Campbell ordered union president William Simons to be jailed at 4 p.m. EDT today. He also ordered 22 other top union officials to jail on Monday if the strike is not ended.

Campbell imposed a $50,000 fine against the union for contempt and a fine of $10,000 for each day the strike continues. Individual members of the union's executive committee were fined $300 each and $100 each day the strike continues.

Campbell said the teachers were in "open defiance of the law."

Before Campbell announced his action, the House District Committee approved a new pay package for the teachers that would provide a 12 per cent raise over two years.

Simons, however, criticized the committee action as "discriminatory." He said the same panel approved a 17 per cent pay boost for the city's police and firemen earlier this year, the same amount requested by the teachers. Congress is responsible for appropriating funds to the city government.

In Philadelphia, 13,000 striking teachers approved a tentative "memorandum of understanding" by a three to one margin during a mass meeting at Convention Hall.

The compromise was hammered out during two days of talks in the chambers of Judge D. Donald Jamieson, President of Common Pleas Court.

The agreement calls for negotiators representing the Philadelphia Federation of Teachers and the school board to bargain starting today. If the impasse is not resolved by Dec. 31, the compromise will expire and the strike could resume.

During the talks, under the supervision of Jamieson, teachers will be paid under terms of the old contract, and any new agreement reached will be retroactive.

Mrs. Dolcini St. Anthony New Leader

Mary Margaret Dolcini of Petaluma has been installed as the 1972-73 president of the St. Anthony Farms Auxiliary.

St. Anthony Farms, located in Sonoma County, is a non-profit charitable organization offering men who once were homeless and without funds the chance to work on the farm in exchange for a home, care and an opportunity to improve their lives.

The farms were begun in 1954 by a Franciscan friar, Father Alfred Boeddeker, OFM, founder and executive director of St. Anthony Dining Room in San Francisco. The farms try to provide an atmosphere where a man can think through his problems, replan his life, reorganize his attitudes and prepare for a successful career.

The auxiliary was formed two years ago and Mrs. Dolcini served as vice president both years. She also is active in St. Vincent Mother's Club, the Dominican College Alumnae, and she supports the Ballet Aquacade.

Natives of Petaluma, she and her husband Earl James, a dairy rancher, have seven children. Mrs. Dolcini attended St. Vincent High School in Petaluma and Saint-Mary-of-the-Woods in Indiana. She has a bachelor's degree in education.

The auxiliary adds the "woman's touch" to the mens' residence, which houses 40 volunteers. They have decorated the living quarters with curtains, pictures and flowers. They promote social events including a Christmas party program with tree decorating, caroling and presents. The auxiliary also promotes seasonal table decorations for holidays and special desserts for holiday means. This year they hope to start a fund for needed work shoes.

Anyone interested in working with the farm may join. It is non-demoninational.

Serving with Mrs. Dolcini will be Mmes. Charles Toohey, vice president; Herbert Every, secretary; Dario Marioni, treasurer. Board members are Mmes. Lucien Libarle, Charles de la Forest and Mervin Waters.

Casual Looks Right For City, Country

Casual sportswear looks are right for city or country wear, according to Seventeen magazine. The almost rugged look includes clothes that are lightweight such as nylon parkas, khaki paratrooper suits and denim suits.

Other take-it-easy looks include flannel suits with battle jackets and gently flared skirts worn with loafers and knee socks.

Steam Not Good

Guard against steam when you are melting semisweet chocolate because steam causes the chocolate to stiffen.

Historic Homes Tour In Petaluma Readied

By KAREN PETERSON

Visitors to Heritage Home Tour will get a close look at the careful preservation and restoration of the elegant historical homes and structures in Petaluma. "Reflections of Petaluma's Historic Past" is the title of the tour which will be held Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. in Petaluma.

The tour will include three Victorian-style homes, a renovated duplex and cottage property and the Old Christian Church, which the Heritage Home Club helped save from destruction. Each home has been carefully preserved to maintain the flavor of the original architectural design, both inside and out.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Caetano on Howard Street was built in 1906 by the Murry sisters, who moved from San Francisco after the earthquake. The late Victorian home was designed by local architect Brinard Jones.

THE CAETANOS, who have lived in the house for nearly two years, completely remodeled the kitchen and added a downstairs bathroom with a tiled sunken Roman tub. The original woodwork was intact as were the gas fixtures which remain in the halls and dining room. The fireplace facade in the parlor was imported from Italy by the Murrys as were the ornate brass coverings.

The couple have done extensive landscaping in the front and rear of the house. The back consists of a wrap-around deck and arbor and the fence atop the brick wall in front was salvaged from the McNear mansion and incorporated into the landscaping plan.

The exterior of the 14-room mansion owned by Earl Hummel is one of the home's most outstanding features.

Built in 1883 by Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Haubrich, the house has remained virtually the same for almost 90 years. Each of the four owners have been careful not to destroy or mar any of the original features.

HUMMEL, WHO purchased the house three years ago, has done extensive work on the exterior. The porches were replaced and care was given to duplicate the original outside features. Inside, the house still has all the original hardware and fixtures, including gas lights that were converted to electricity around the turn of the century. Wainscotting in the hallways and several rooms is of an intricately embossed material called lincrusta — a glossy papier mache-type material.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Redway bought their home on Kentucky Street five years ago. Since that time they have painstakingly restored the stately two-story home and have succeeded in restoring it to its original beauty.

The exact date of its construction is unknown, but the Redways believe, based on historical data and dated bronze hardware still remaining in the home, that the house was built between 1870 and 1880. The home was built by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tomasini of Switzerland, designed to match the French home of Mrs. Tomasini's mother, Mrs. DeMartini, who moved to Petaluma to live with them. Mr. Tomasini was the first director of the Dairy Owners Council.

THE HOUSE had never been sold until 1967, when the Redways purchased it from the Tomasini heirs. Structurally the house has not been changed on the exterior except to remove two lean-to's in the rear. Important restoration has taken place on the outside including hand cut round shingles over bay windows and decorative features handmade to replace missing cornice ornaments. All the outside work was carefully duplicated to match the original work.

Inside, the Redways have carefully restored many of the features that had been damaged or covered over. This included removing walls that had been constructed when the house was converted into two apartments.

The house is beautifully furnished with antique furniture collected by the Redways. Future plans include the construction of a carriage house-garage in the back.

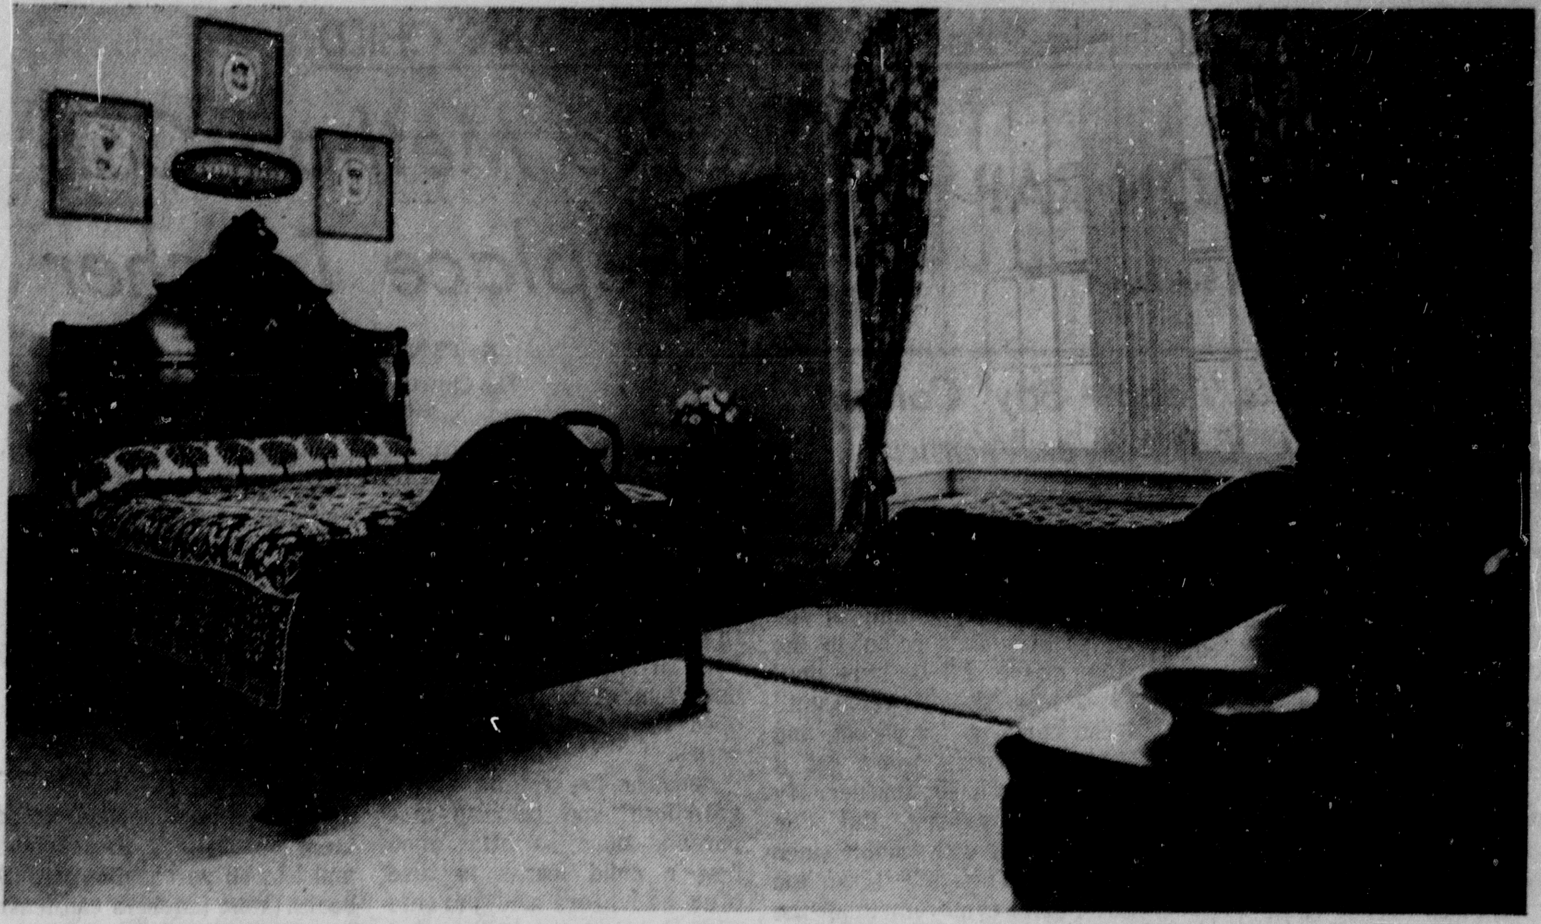
In 1966 Carlos Thompson and Jack Esker bought a piece of property on Upham Street that included four cottages and a duplex. Thompson recalls that it looked like something out of "Tobacco Road," but today the complex is being considered for a citation by a state historical organization.

A SONOMA woman, Mrs. Margaret Eliassen, convinced the two that the property could be restored. With a little encouragement and a lot of work, the two men pulled down, plastered and painted, and in the process, hauled away 100 truckloads of rubble.

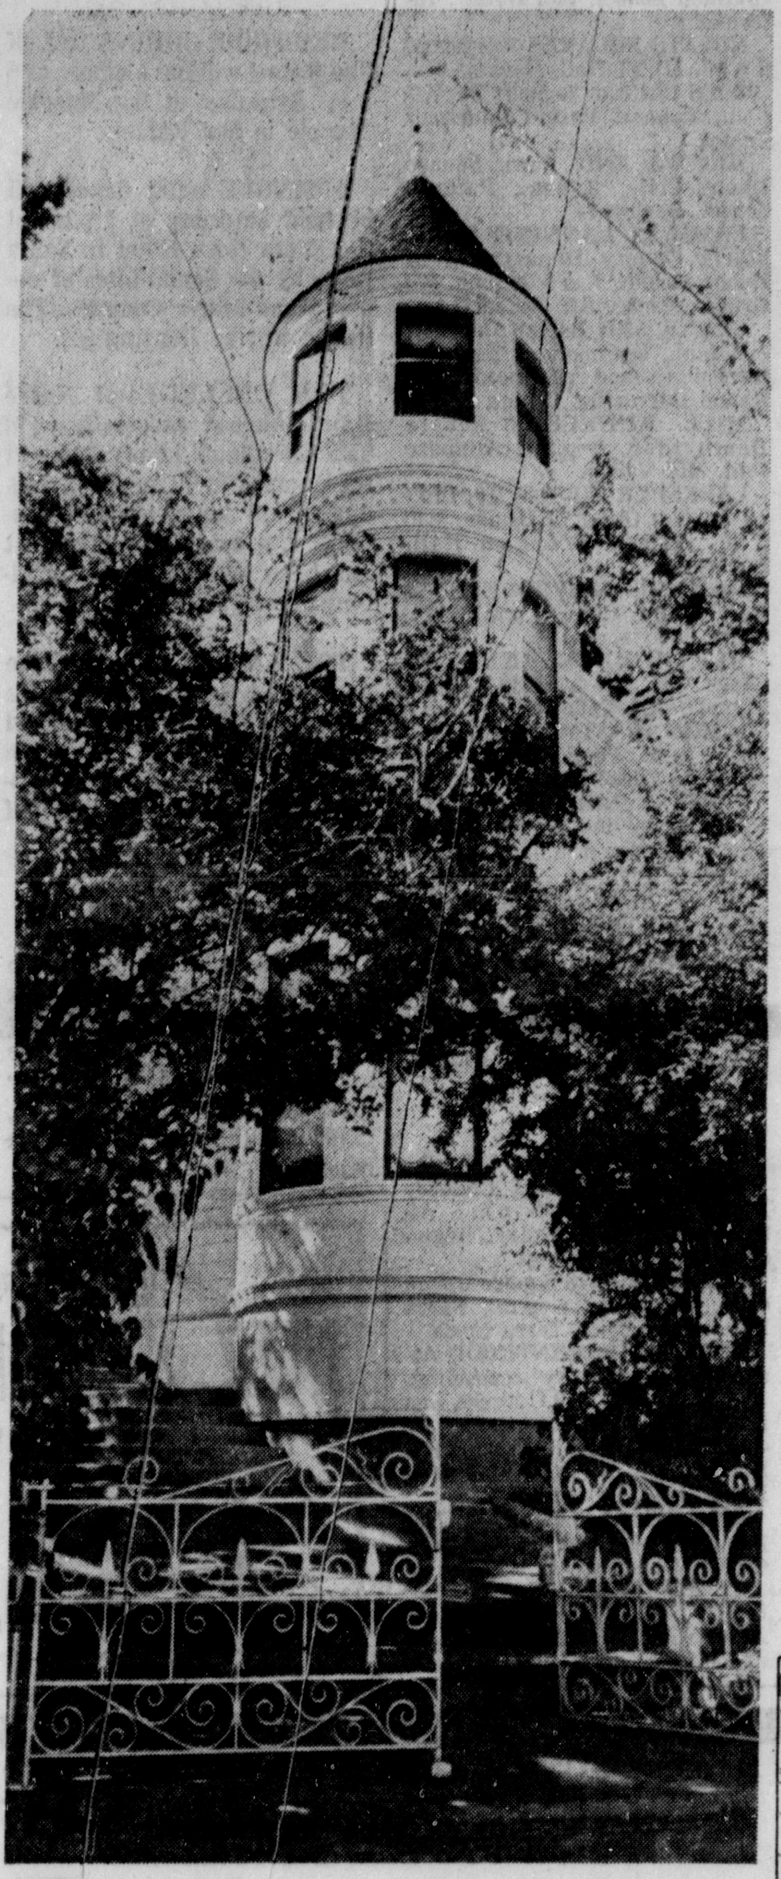
Today the five charming buildings ring a central courtyard with a ramada and small bricked pond.

The Thompson-Esker courtyard will be the site for the wine and cheese tasting festivities concluding the tour.

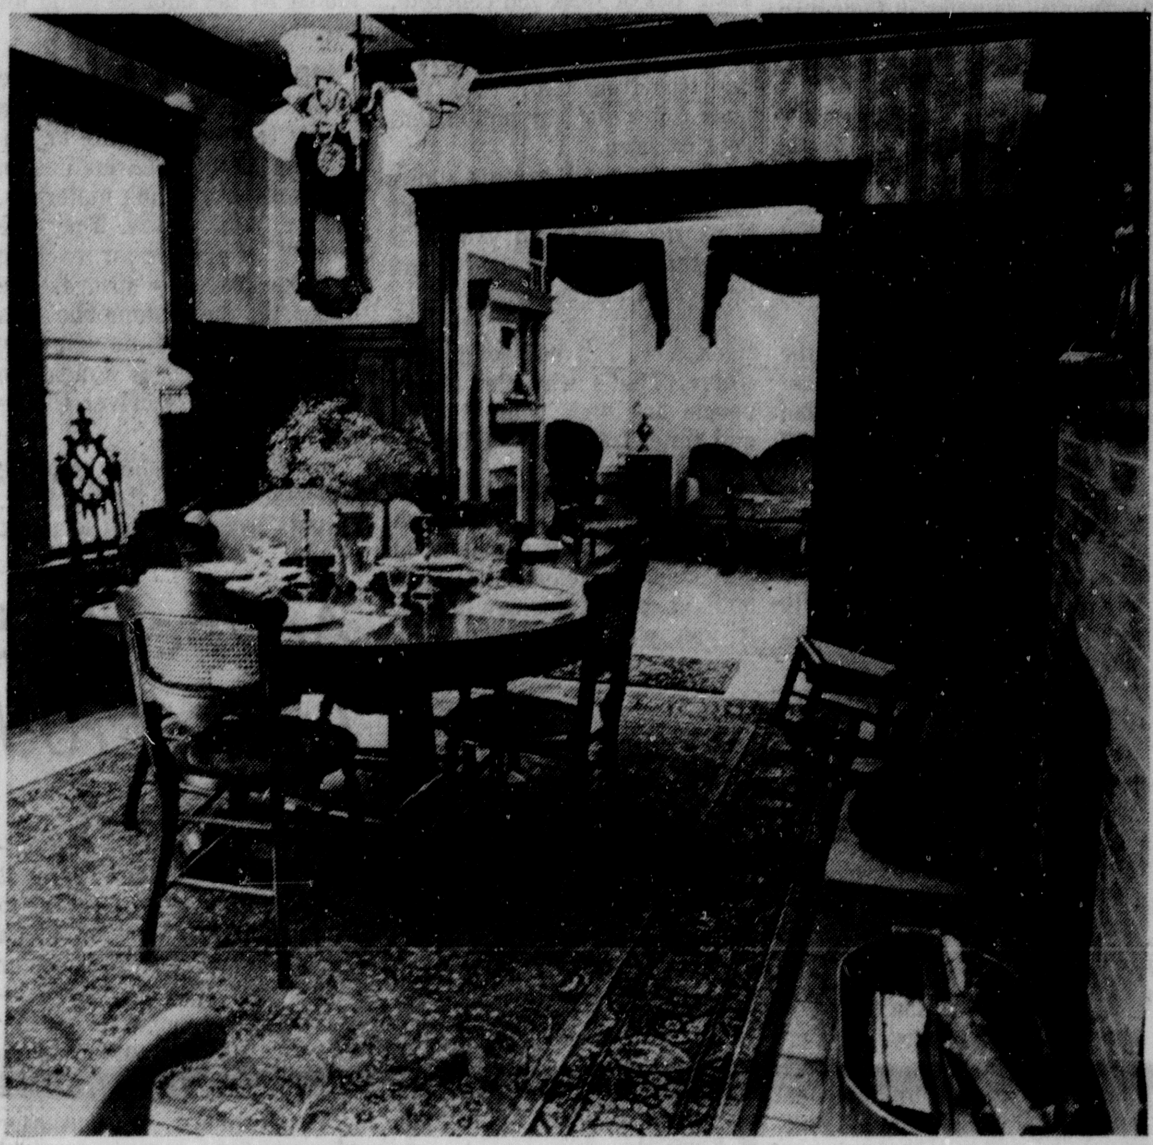
Tickets will be sold on tour day at the Old Christian Church, English and Western Streets, and may be obtained in advance by writing to Heritage Homes, 319 Howard Street, Petaluma.



AN UPSTAIRS bedroom in the Redway home is accented with an intricate, finely woven handmade bedspread. The Redways have restored the large house in Petaluma with furnishings reminiscent of the Victorian period. The exact date of its construction is unknown but original bronze hardware in the home is dated 1873. Visitors on tour will receive brochures detailing the homes and owners will be on hand to discuss the furnishings and history of their property.



THE EARL Hummel home on Prospect is an example of the handsome structures open for the Heritage Club Home Tour Sunday. The 14-room home was built in 1883 and contains many original features, including a halltree which has been in the house since the turn of the century and some original rugs and wallpaper.



LEADED CHINA cabinets in the dining room contained the original blueprints of the late Victorian home owned by Tony and Bonnie Caetano. The woodwork in the dining room had not been changed since construction of the house in 1906. Antiques and Oriental rugs grace this two-story house, one of the five properties highlighted on the tour.

Change A Little For A New Look

For a new look, change your hair — just a little.

If you always wear it long and straight, add little waves here and there. Do you have little-boy hair cut close to the head? Flip up your bangs with a curling iron or electric roller.

Maybe you've braided, crimped, frizzed and flipped, and still want something new to do with your hair. Try a combo of curls and smoothness: curls all around the edge (including the forehead), smooth at the crown. This look can adapt to any length hair; the secret is in the set.

Pincurl just the ends, always turning toward face. Then brush out from the crown.

Saturday Clothes

NEW YORK — This year's Saturday's clothes, the kind women can be free and feel good wearing, range from hooded coats with fur trim to denim pants and include wooly plaid shirt jackets worn over tailored pants.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Mrs. Clifford In Belvedere Visit

By MOLLY MARIN

Mrs. Clark Clifford, wife of the Washington, D.C., attorney who was secretary of defense during President Lyndon Johnson's administration, is visiting Mrs. Merritt Ruddock of Belvedere.

A prominent Washington hostess, Mrs. Clifford is author of a new cookbook, "Marny Clifford's Washington Cookbook," of favorites of famous government figures, both foreign and domestic.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruddock will host a small dinner party in her honor tonight at the Villa Taverna restaurant in San Francisco.

DINNER PARTIES at Marin homes will precede tonight's opera preview on "How to Listen to Wagner's Ring," to be held at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross.

Mrs. John C. Alexander will honor Dr. Jack Sacher, associate professor of music at Montclair College, N.J., who will give the preview lecture, at a dinner party at her Sausalito home. Other guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Edmond C. Ward of Kentfield, Donald Blinco of Tiburon, Mrs. Nancy Downey of Kentfield and Mrs. Edward Shev of Sausalito. Mrs. Alexander is chairman of Marin Opera Action, the organization which sponsors the previews.

Mr. and Mrs. Gino Morena of Kentfield will also host a dinner tonight. Their guests will be his Excellency and Mrs. Vincenzo Crivello, who are visiting from Italy. Mr. Crivello is Italy's Minister of Justice. Mrs. Morena is the hostess chairman for the opera preview.

A GROUP of sustaining members from Marin will attend the Junior League of San Francisco's luncheon to honor the league sustainers on Oct. 5.

Some of the sustainers whose daughters are active Junior League members will be hostesses.

GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

RAP:

In our newspaper appear two picture panels. One is titled "What Women Are Saying" and gives quotes from well-known women. The other — "People Say . . ." — shows only men. Never has a female countenance graced this feature.

My question: aren't women "people"? — COLLEGE PERSON

PERSON:

Good question. Why don't you ask the editor? Maybe he's never thought of it that way. — SUE

PERSON:

. . .Nor (apparently) have the editors of "Who's Who," which lists one woman for every 25 or 30 men — then corrals other prominent females in their own book: "Who's Who of American Women." — HELEN

DEAR RAP:

I liked Ron a lot and so did my folks. But I got over it and they didn't. They say he's the nicest boy I ever went with, but I want to break up with him. I wish parents wouldn't get so darn involved.

It's hard enough telling the guy you're through, but what can I say to Mom and Dad when they ask "where's Ron?" — OVER IT

DEAR OVER:

Parents do tend to play favorites among their daughter's boyfriends, and they naturally feel great when she picks the one they like best. ("Imagine — we finally agree on something.")

But it's your life and your decision, so when they ask, "Where's Ron?" tell 'em, "We decided to cool it." Don't make the break-up sound too drastic, and hope they understand. — SUE

DEAR OVER IT:

Parent's often don't understand their daughter's preferences and rejections, but smart ones keep their comments to themselves. (Believe me, it isn't easy.)

Honest now — are you sure your folks' all-out approval of Ron didn't have something to do with your cooling down? A girl likes to make her own choices. — HELEN

NOTE FROM SUE: Right, Mom.

HELEN AND SUE:

I read your column in the newspapers that come to the state prison. I'll be here until I'm at least 38 — it's years until I can come up for parole, and then I probably won't get it because I'm in for murder. My age? Twenty-three. But I've been running with trouble since I was 11. This time I ran too far. I don't even remember the crime but they tell me us three guys killed a man. I was too spaced out on dope to know what happened.

I just want to tell these kids who think drugs are cool: The only place junk will get you is maybe into the ruins of a thousand tons of steel and concrete. A persons does not "live" in prison. Each day passed is a day survived. Not even the bulls know the corruption that goes on here.

I want to tell parents something too: Be human. Don't think it's enough to yell, "I'll tell that cop over there and he'll come and put you away!"

Yeah, I got a lot of time to think now. I'm not going anywhere. That's why I'm telling people to think while there's still time. I didn't. — ED G.

Got a problem? Or a subject for discussion, two-generation style? Direct your questions to either Sue or Helen Bottel — or both, in care of this newspaper, if you want a combination mother-daughter answer.

Karen Vogel Engagement Announced

The Robert Florian Vogels of Corte Madera are announcing the engagement of their daughter Karen Christine Vogel to Richmond Bradley Hazlehurst of Kentfield.

Karen is the sister of Suzanne Marie, JuliAnn Rose and LiseAnn Marie Vogel and the granddaughter of Mrs. Paul Goursau of Kentfield and Mr. and Mrs. Florian A. Vogel of Burlingame. She is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School and Dominican College and is employed by Western Truck Manpower, Inc., in San Rafael.

The couple plans to be married in August.

Richmond is the son of Mrs. Edmund Hazlehurst of Glendale, and the sister of Mrs. Lawrence Haglund of Raytown, Mo. He was graduated from Herbert Hoover High School in Bowling Green, Mo., attended Notre Dame University and is studying inhalation therapy at Bay City College in San Francisco.

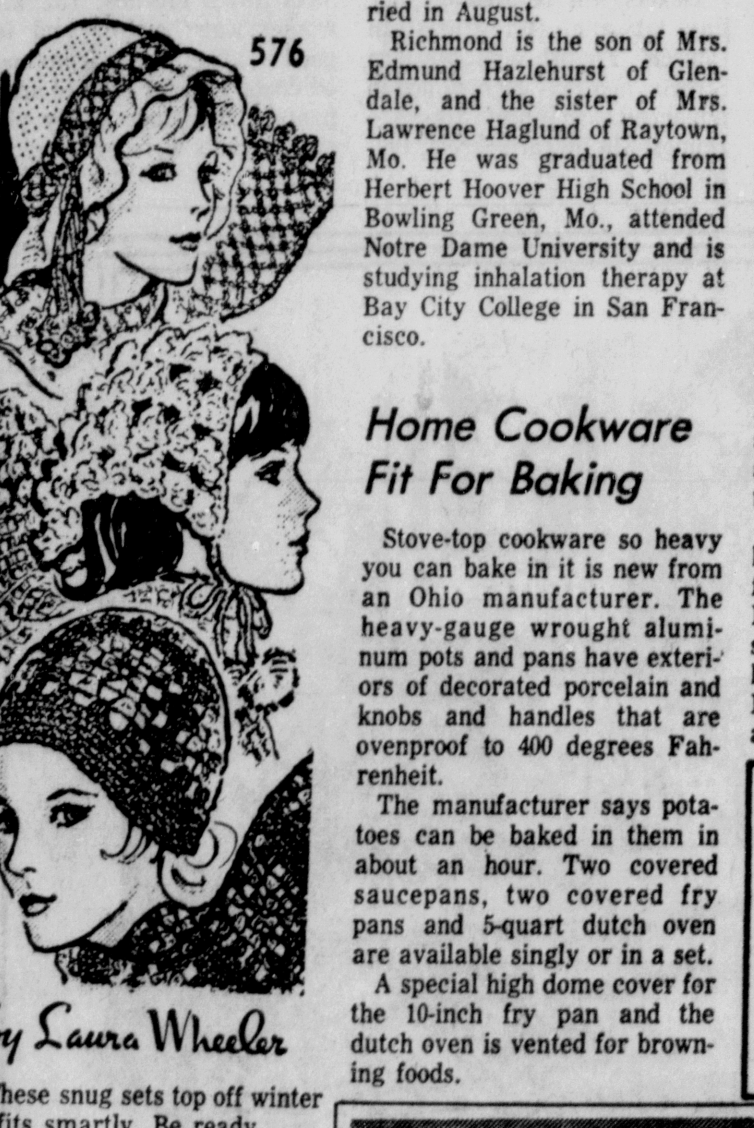
Home Cookware Fit For Baking

Stove-top cookware so heavy you can bake in it is new from an Ohio manufacturer. The heavy-gauge wrought aluminum pots and pans have exteriors of decorated porcelain and knobs and handles that are ovenproof to 400 degrees Fahrenheit.

The manufacturer says potatoes can be baked in them in about an hour. Two covered saucepans, two covered fry pans and 5-quart dutch oven are available singly or in a set.

A special high dome cover for the 10-inch fry pan and the dutch oven is vented for browning foods.

Hats 'n' Scarves



These snug sets top off winter outfits smartly. Be ready.

Crochet the newest headliners — fluttery brimmer, kerchief, close-fitting cap all with matching long scarves. Use knitting worsted. Pattern 576: one size fits all.

Seventy-five cents for each pattern — add 25 cents for each pattern for Air Mail and Special Handling. Send to Laura Wheeler, the Independent-Journal.

PARENT AND CHILD

No Method Can Replace Teacher

By CYNTHIA PARSONS
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

There is no method for teaching reading which is so much better than all others that it should be used exclusively by the English-speaking world.

That is a very important statement for teachers of beginning reading and parents of first-year school pupils to keep in mind. In both Britain and the U.S., year after year, one or more publishers claim to have developed the reading series to end all reading series.

Because the claims are so grandiose, and because most parents know so little about how a child learns to read, ofen educators and parents (the educators should know better) blame the present reading program and not the teaching if one or more pupils fail to learn to read by the end of first grade.

They then call for the adoption of the new series so highly touted by the publisher and his "reading experts."

THE SIMPLE fact that there is no one method — no panacea — for teaching reading to English-speaking children lies in the fact that reading materials, per se, don't teach. They are merely the vehicle for teaching to take place — just as the make of the automobile has little or nothing to do with how Well a student is taught to operate a car in driver education.

Because published reading materials don't do the teaching, parents would do well to insist that the school system spend more on training its teachers and less on purchasing reading books. Most teachers can learn how to teach reading.

Most teachers learned how to read themselves by being good at what is called "sight" reading. Generally those who choose teaching as a career were quick to learn the basic skills themselves.

These teachers are often baffled when their pupils do not show a similar aptitude or use a similar method to learn. These adults need to be taught how to teach phonics, how to work with kinesthetic learners, how to develop seeing and hearing skills through games, how to diagnose every pupil to know how best to present new concepts to him, and how to manage the teaching of reading on an individual basis while being responsible for 20 to 40 children.

Probably every first-grade classroom should have at least one copy of each major publisher's beginning reading texts and primers, a selection of workbooks or worksheets and then dozens of picture and story books written especially for beginning readers.

IT ALSO would be wonderful if every first-grade classroom could have one parent on duty all day in the reading corner either to read aloud to those who want to listen or to be read to by pupils who learn by hearing themselves.

And wouldn't it be marvelous if every primary classroom could have a parent who would listen to a story told by a pupil, write it down, type it up on a large-type typewriter, then help the author to make a cover and illustrations before binding it with string or staples.

This might put many publishers out of the beginning reading text business, but it most certainly would improve the teaching of reading to little children.

Advocate Surprised Outcry Over Lousy Products Took So Long

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)--The outrage of consumers against shoddy products was bound to happen. What surprised Sheila Gordon is that it didn't occur sooner and that more companies didn't recognize earlier that "caveat emptor" was no empty Latin phrase.

Mrs. Gordon is the consumer advocate for a manufacturer of high fidelity equipment and works right from the president's office instead of being caught in a maze of bureaucracy that makes many consumer relations programs fail.

"The consumer movement generally was something that had to happen," said. "I'm a consumer and I've been caught. Where all this will lead in legislation, though, I don't know."

WHETHER CONSUMER spokesmen are privately active or representative of city, state or national government, the one thing they must have to be effective is "power leverage", said Mrs. Gordon.

She feels that the support Bess Myerson is getting as New York City's Commissioner of Consumer Affairs enables her to do "an excellent job." But Betty Furness probably left a similar job with New York state because she couldn't get the legislation she wanted.

"It's unfortunate that we have to have legislation in the first place," said Joseph L. Behr, vice president for research and development for the hi-fi company, Fisher, where Mrs. Gordon's title is consumer affairs coordinator.

Part of Behr's job is to oversee quality control and reduce the duties Mrs. Gordon has.

Fisher's program of consumer protection began with Avery Fisher himself, the man who invented high fidelity.

MRS. GORDON said that it all started in the 1930s when the firm was new and a one-man operation. When a customer called, Fisher answered the phone. When customers didn't call, Fisher would call them and ask how they liked his products, whether they were working properly and whether he could help.

To be sure, the company issued legal warranties but Fisher was always the backup.

As the company grew into an international one, obviously Fisher couldn't keep the personal touch without some assistance. Mrs. Gordon hired on as Fisher's administrative assistant, answering the phone as "the president's office."

Fisher officially retired last year at the age of 65 (but he still comes to the office and checks with long-time customers.). Don Harper took over the presidency and the program went on with the new president writing new customers personal letters along the same line as Fisher's phone calls.

MRS. GORDON handles the "adamant" customers, preferring to use the telephone to letters. She said she piles up about $5,000 in phone tolls annually.

he consumer representative, a petite blonde, is the wife of a New York state government executive, and the mother of two children—Gail, 21, and Eric, 16. She was "just a housewife" engaged in a lot of volunteer work until she decided to return to the business world and put her secretarial training to work.

ON THE AGENDA

Annual River Cruise Slated By Petaluma Community Guild

The Petaluma Community Guild will hold its annual river cruise on Sunday. The cruise will be a two way affair — up the Petaluma River in the morning for families and down the river that evening for adults. Both cruises will include a buffet lunch and an orchestra will play aboard the harbor cruise ship that evening.

Families will be taken to San Francisco by buses for the morning cruise. They will leave Petaluma at 9:30 a.m. for the boat which will leave Fisherman's Wharf at 11 a.m. It will arrive in Petaluma at 3 p.m.

A cocktail party will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. at the foot of B Street before the down-river cruise shoves off at 3:30 p.m. The boat will arrive at Fisherman's Wharf at about 8 p.m. and buses will transport travelers back to Petaluma immediately.

Proceeds of the cruise support the Community Guild's project of supplying eyeglasses for needy school children.

Information and tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Myrna Mohrman, Mrs. George Hatfield or Mrs. Frank Maus, all of Petaluma.

A BRIDGE tournament will be sponsored by the Marin Section of the National Council of Jewish Women beginning Sunday. It will end on March 10. Mrs. Kenneth Gosliner is taking registration for entry.

Proceeds will support the council projects of child care, ecology and juvenile justice.

REDWOOD SHRINE 102 of San Rafael will have dinner at 6 p.m. Saturday at the Masonic Temple in San Rafael.

A SINGLE adult dance will be held Saturday at 9 p.m. at the Santa Rosa Hotel in Santa Rosa by the Social-Lites of Sonoma and Marin Counties. The theme will be Roaring 20s.

THE COLLEGE of Notre Dame Alumni Association will hold the annual homecoming at the campus in Belmont on Sunday. A full day of events beginning with mass and breakfast has been scheduled. Marin alumnae will attend.

THE ANNUAL picnic of the non-profit German Language School of Marin will be held Sunday at Gerstle Park, San Rafael. Proceeds from the public event will go to operation of the school.

'I'm OK — You're OK'

Series On Stress To Continue

Dr. Thomas A. Harris of Sacramento, whose book, "I'm OK — You're OK: A Practical Guide to Transactional Analysis," is on the best seller list nationally, will speak Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

Harris' talk, "I'm OK — You're OK," is the third in the eight part "SOS - Stress in Our Society" series, sponsored by the College of Marin and the Marin Mental Health Association.

A psychiatrist, Dr. Harris is a pioneer in the application of transactional analysis and studied with the late Dr. Eric Berne, author of "The Games People Play." He is vice president of the International Transactional Analysis Association and has had a private psychiatric practice in Sacramento for 12 years.

Home Cheese Kits Being Introduced

The little old home winemaker now can be a little old home cheesemaker as well. A home products manufacturer is introducing two kits, complete except for a gallon of milk.

The standard kit consists of an aluminum-backed cheesemaking thermometer, a polystyrene cylinder, pressing mechanisms, 12 each of rennet and color tables, instructions and a recipe book for brick, colby, American cheddar and Italian types of cheese and cheese spreads.

UNUSUAL APPROACH TO HIGH LIFE

This 60-unit townhouse development on a slope so steep a funicular is needed to reach about one-third of the dwellings has been proposed for Tiburon's Red Hill area. The multimillion-dollar proposal by San Francisco developer Leonard Cahn includes 22 townhouses, a recreation building, swimming pool and 150-car garage on five acres near Harbor Oak Drive. A soils engineer hired by Cahn told the Tiburon Board of Design Monday night that the massive garage at the foot of the slope would stabilize what the city's planning director, Richard G. Arjo, called "a very active slide area." The plan will go to the city planning commission Nov. 6.

Grand Jury Criticizes Santa Rita

OAKLAND (UPI) —Alameda County grand jury today critized the Santa Rita prison as "dilapidated, at best," and said it constitutes a fire hazard.

The jury, in a report to county supervisors, said further expenditure of public funds for maintenance, repair and expansion of the facility in Pleasanton would be injudicious.

The panel said the county, which has spent nearly $1 million in fixing up the prison in the past year, should take immediate action to replace it with a new facility. The supervisors are studying the possibility of building a $25 million jail near the Oakland Hall of Justice.

"It is obvious, in light of the number of reports of prisoner escapes, that Santa Rita provides inadequate security and that it otherwise fails to meet the minimum jail standards established by the State Board of Corrections," the grand jury said.

Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center, as it is officially known, consists largely of World War II barracks.

Students Are Warned Of Disease

BERKELEY (UPI) — The State Department of Public Health today warned 350 colleges and universities about the dangers of valley fever to students doing archeology work in the Central Valley.

Director FrederickB. Hodges said the warning was a reemphasis at the start of the fall school term of a department directive issued earlier about the flu-like disease.

The ailment, with the tongue-twisting name of coccidioidomycosis, is caused by a soil fungus.

Millions of residents of the Central Valley develop the infection and lifelong immunity, but when students and professors from outside areas dig for artifacts in the contaminated soil, they come down with the ailment.

Since 1970, Hodges said, illness rates among archeology students have exceeded 50 per cent in several cases.

Nixon Approves Weapons Funding

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The White House reported Wednesday that President Nixon had signed into law a $20.9 billion military weapons authorization passed by Congress.

The bill was $2.3 billion below Nixon's request for weapons procurement. The authorization is for the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

The bill was given final approval in Congress Sept. 15 after a House-Senate conference committee struck out a Senate-passed amendment that would have cut off funds for the Indochina war.

New Bus System Praised By Boas

By JEFF GREER

Roger Boas, Democratic challenger for the Sixth Congressional District, praising the Golden Gate Bridge District's transit planning and operation, today urged that it, not the Bay Area Rapid Transit District, handle the future growth of North Bay commuting.

The candidate, who is running against incumbent William S. Mailliard, R-San Francisco, on the Nov. 7 ballot, answered questions on problems ranging from lack of parking on San Rafael's Canal Street to U. S. withdrawal from the United Nations.

Speaking on the Radio KTIM "Sounding Board" program, he said, "I had always opposed the Golden Gate Bridge District as a private club," said Boas, a 10-year member of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors. "But all of a sudden it has come out with a smashing success and a first-class bus system."

He said that the nation's railroads "should follow the lead" of the district and "hire somebody like Dale Leuhring," (the bridge district's chief executive), to revive the passenger train system.

BART extension to Marin could lead to too fast a population buildup, he warned.

Boas favored federal controls on interest charges and urged more federal funding to settle a "grim housing problem" in Marin for low and middle income families and retired residents. He stressed that Marin has 40,000 residents over 60 years old.

He said he was "very much opposed" to joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base and would support it in Congress only if Novato residents strongly wanted the joint use.

Boas, questioned about the proliferation of San Rafael's Canal Street area apartments, listened to a complaint over the lack of parking and said the city had been "more permissive" than some of Marin's 10 other cities. He said the county planning commission and staff is excellent but that the cities were uneven in their restrictiveness on planning.

He called for massive service job training programs to end unemployment, which he said runs 6 per cent in the Sixth District, 18 per cent among teen-agers and even higher in areas such as Marin City. Auto mechanics, watchmakers and all types of skilled service workers are in great demand, he said, and yet the Nixon administration has cut funds for the federal skills training center in San Francisco.

Boas called for U. S. aid to both Soviet Jewish refugees and Arab refugees in Palestine.

On the national scene, he called for a massive national health program, negative income tax for depressed families and local control of school busing. He said the greatest issue of his campaign was congressional and governmental reform, arguing that the citizens "are turned off by government as it is."

Boas told a caller that he would vote for the marijuana initiative, Proposition 19, because he wanted to abolish criminality in marijuana possession for personal use. However, he declared, he is opposed to smoking either marijuana or tobacco.

The "Sounding Board" program moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer will be rebroadcast on tape at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Redevelopment Notices Sent

In what is believed to be the biggest mailing of notices of a public hearing in San Rafael city history, some 1,500 property owners are to be sent official word by tomorrow of the Oct. 26 hearing on the proposed redevelopment plan.

William J. Bielser, San Rafael Redevelopment Agency executive director, said the notices started going in the mail today.

They are being sent to owners of all the 1,969 parcels in the designated redevelopment area. Because of multiple ownerships, the list of owners is about 500 smaller than the number of parcels, Bielser said.

Traffic Flow To Be Changed

Projects in progress on Highway 101 which will alter traffic patterns or affect the flow of traffic tomorrow were announced today by the state Division of Highways.

Sections of freeway involved are:

1. The northbound outside lane between the Golden Gate Bridge and Richardson Bay Bridge, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., for shoulder work.
2. The southbound outside lane on the Richardson Bay Bridge from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., for welding.

Sentence For Bremer Is Reduced

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (UPI)—A Maryland court Wednesday reduced Arthur Herman Bremer's state sentence in the shooting of Gov. George C. Wallace from 63 to 53 years.

The action would make Bremer potentially eligible for parole in 13 years.

Bremer, former Milwaukee busboy convicted of shooting the governor and three other persons during a Wallace campaign May 15 at Laurel, Md., still faces federal charges.

Three circuit court judges reviewing Bremer's conviction on the state charges conferred more than an hour before reducing two 15-year sentences to 10 years each. One was for assault with intent to murder Wallace, the other for using a weapon in a violent crime.

The ruling would leave Bremer eligible for parole in a little more than 13 years under normal circumstances, instead of after 16 years as under the original sentence.

In addition to the two sentences which were reduced, Bremer was sentenced to three years for illegally carrying a handgun and to three 10-year terms for shooting the three other persons.

He was also sentenced to an additional 30 years on gun charges but that sentence was to run concurrently with the three 10-year terms.

Defense lawyer Benjamin Lipsitz, in arguing for a reduction of the sentence, spoke of the widespread publicity and public outrage that accompanied the trial.

He argued that chief Circuit Judge Ralph W. Powers would not have handed down such a stiff sentence had Wallace not been a national political figure and presidential contender.

Lipsitz also is appealing to higher courts on the conviction itself.

Jail Terms In Welfare Fraud Cases

Two former Marin women charged with welfare fraud were ordered yesterday to serve jail terms after pleading guilty in Marin Municipal Court.

For the misdemeanors, Judge Gary W. Thomas jailed Jacqueline Marie Solomon, 46, of Lakeport for 10 days and placed her on probation for one year and Victoria L. Moore, 28, of Cotati for 15 days and three years probation.

Miss Moore, according to Deputy Dist. Atty. Milton M. Hyams, was overpaid $352 in July 1971 and January 1972 because she filed in two different areas to pay for a trip to Europe.

Hyams said that the former social worker received aid in both San Francisco and Marin in July and continued to receive aid from San Francisco while in Europe, but no San Francisco prosecution has been forthcoming.

In January, she was paid both by Marin and St. Paul, Minn., welfare officials.

Mrs Solomon, a mother of three, received $238 too much between October 1971 and March 1972 because she failed to report her salary at Nave Lanes which averaged about $300 a month.

Both were ordered to pay back the money they were not entitled to, Hyams said.

Concord Cancels Show Of Planes

CONCORD (UPI)—The Concord Chamber of Commerce has cancelled a display of vintage airplanes at this weekend's air show at Buchanan Field because of a tragedy at Sacramento.

Jay Walton, chamber general manager, said Wednesday: "We felt the public might be worried about those planes flying in and out."

At Sacramento, a rebuilt Korean War-type plane struck an ice cream parlor, killing 22 persons.

The plane involved in that accident had been scheduled to be shown in Concord.

Walton said five small planes would put on an aerobatics display as scheduled.

Pilot Testifies Navy In Illegal Bomb Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A former pilot testified today that the Navy as well as the Air Force made unauthorized bombing raids on North Vietnam, Senate Armed Services Committee members said.

They said former Lt. William G. Groeper told the committee in closed-door testimony that he knew of at least two raids made by carrier pilots which did not meet the "protective reaction" limitations President Nixon imposed between last November and March.

Sen. Richard Schweicker, R-Pa., a committee member, told reporters that Groeper testified Navy pilots were briefed in advance on the raids by their superiors and that reconnaissance aircraft only "trailed" the U. S. bombers.

Until the United States resumed full-scale bombing raids over North Vietnam after troops from the North invaded the South, U.S. planes were supposed to strike targets in the North only when they threatened U.S. reconnaissance flights over the country.

Groeper and Lt. William C. Moore Jr. were called before the committee to determine if the Navy —as well as the Air Force —had bombed North Vietnam in violation of those civilian limitations.

Schweicker said after the hearing that he was becoming "more suspicious" that responsibility for the raids reached "high up in the chain of command. I can't believe that these were isolated instances."

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., another committee member, said, "If the fellow's testimony is correct, more than one service was involved."

But Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, dismissed Groeper's testimony as "hearsay," saying: "He only talked about two raids against an airfield and both times they got shot at."

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., committee chairman, declined comment until the pilotshad completed their testimony. Moore was scheduled to tell his side later in the day.

Schweicker said Groeper's testimony showed the naval raids were "very preplanned." He said the pilots were briefed before the missions on their bomb loads and sites.

Sens. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Stuart Symington, D-Mo., disputed Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird's assertion Wednesday that he had briefed them April 6 about unauthorized bombings conducted between last November and March by Air Force planes under the command of Gen. John D. Lavelle.

Lavelle was removed from command of Air Force operations in the war zone for the bombings and for sending the Pentagon misleading reports about them.

Laird said he told Case, Symington and Sen. Harold Hughes, D-Iowa, "of the fact that reports had been falsified under orders of General Lavelle."

Case and Symington said in a joint letter to the secretary: "We are certain that during the briefing on April 6, to which you refer, we were not advised that 'reports had been falsified under orders of General Lavelle.' "

No Charges In Vehicle Theft

No charge has been filed against two Novato brothers arrested Monday on suspicion of vehicle theft because of lack of evidence that they knew the vehicle was stolen, a deputy district attorney said yesterday.

Jerry R. Herman said Jerry Dean Darby, 24, and John Charles Darby, 22, were released because an informant who called police to say they had a stolen motorcycle refused to testify.

Novato police arrested tham at Highway 101 and Lamont Avenue after finding a motorcycle stolen three months before from John W. Moore Jr. of San Anselmo in their pickup truck.

The motorcycle's identification number had been altered, Herman said.

$1.1 Million For Marin In Sharing

Marin County will receive $1,175,551 under a revenue sharing program arrived at yesterday by a U.S. Senate-House conference committee.

Sonoma County will receive $3,145,255 under the program.

More than $550 million will go to California counties under the program.

School Board Balks At Redevelopment Support

By FRANK FARRARA

Novato Unified School District trustees balked this morning at supporting formation of a city redevelopment agency which would freeze school district assessment rolls.

No action was taken at a joint breakfast meeting with the Novato City Council at Sambo's restaurant, but trustees rebuffed a bid by City Mgr. Charles A. Brown for support of redevelopment.

Under proposed redevelopment financing, the school district would be deprived of increased tax revenue in the redevelopment area until redevelopment bonds are paid off.

Trustee William T. Eckhoff said there could be a "real loss" in tax revenue if buildings were leveled to make way for redevelopment and afterward the area didn't reach even the current assessed valuation.

Under a recent bill, the redevelopment agency may reimburse a school district for any actual loss in tax revenue and Trustee Carolyn M. Crabtree sought assurance that the district would be reimbursed in that event. Brown said he believed that could be done.

"The argument that the district is going to lose money is only true for a short period of time," Brown said. After redevelopment, the district would benefit from the increased assessed valuation, he said.

Trustees also indicated they wouldn't endorse the $500,000 community swimming pool bond measure to be voted upon Nov. 7 unless the pool is to be located at San Marin High School.

The city council didn't specify a pool site in its call for an election. Both the San Marin site and the O'Hair site, south of the school, have been discussed at many public sessions.

Councilman Dorothy P. Young said the public wanted "a family-oriented pool," where barbecue pits, benches and a picnic area would be provided.

Board president Ronald D. Schenck said there was enough ground available at the school site "to make a little park."

Brown also asked trustees to consider the possibility of selling to the city a six-acre school site between Marin Oaks Drive and Montura Way for a neighborhood park.

Mayor F. Wayne Sartain and trustees Marett B. Boissevain and William G. Schneeflock were absent.

The council will hold a special meeting on redevelopment at 8 p.m. Monday at Novato Community House. The school district board will hold its next regular meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Novato High School lecture hall.

Four Plans On Extension Hearing

Marin County officials, meeting today at 8 p.m. at Tamalpais High School, will unveil four possible routes for the controversial Miller Avenue extension near Mill Valley.

The meeting, to be held in Student Union Hall, will be moderated by Supervisor Michael Wornum and officials from the county public works department.

According to department officials, the meeting was set up to hear public reaction to the four new alignment plans linking Miller Avenue to Highway 101 at Richardson Bay.

Currently, Miller Avenue ends at the southeasterly city limits of Mill Valley and traffic must continue along congested Almonte Boulevard and Shoreline Highway to reach Highway 101.

Miller Avenue is a four-lane road and bottlenecks into Almonte which has two lanes.

One proposed extension, suggested several years ago, brought protests from nearby residents who opposed placing the new road across a marsh near Dolan's Corner.

Proposed routes are:

A four-lane route north of the existing alignment of Shoreline Highway, bypassing the marsh and Dolan's Corner.

Improvement of the existing shoreline alignment by adding shoulders and left turn lanes.

Widening of the existing shoreline alignment to four lanes.

Construction of a divided four-lane road with Shoreline serving one direction and the opposite two lanes skirting the marsh and connecting at Dolan's Corner.

McCracken Casts Doubt On No-Tax-Boost Pledge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Paul W. McCracken, President Nixon's former top economic adviser, says it is unlikely that the administration can honor its pledge not to raise taxes in a second Nixon term.

"I would give it less than a 50 per cent chance," McCracken said when asked his opinion of the tax position.

McCracken, now an economic professor at the University of Michigan, was in Washington yesterday to release a comparative budget study of programs proposed by Nixon and Sen. George S. McGovern.

The report by the non-partisan American Enterprise Institute found that both a Nixon and a McGovern administration would run substantial full employment budget deficits through 1976.

A balanced McGovern budget would require tax increases 24 to 37 per cent higher than those already outlined by McGovern, the institute said, and a balanced Nixon budget would need 5 to 7 per cent increases in taxes.

Ferrari Files Against Alioto

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — One day after he resigned as president of the Police Commission, Elmo E. Ferrari filed a $92,154 suit against a shipping firm owned by Mayor Joseph Alioto and his cousin Frank N. Alioto.

The U.S. District Court suit claims Freighters, Inc., a company owned by the Aliotos, owes $92,154 to Bulk Food Carriers, Inc., owned by Ferrari.

Robert E. Patmont, Ferrari's attorney, said Wednesday that the suit had nothing to do with the resignation. A statement issued by the mayor's office said 'Alioto's only comment was that he and Ferrari "will always remain close friends."

Ferrari was originally a partner in Freighters but was bought out by the Aliotos in August 1971.

Theft From Car

Camera equipment and jewelry valued at $592 was taken from her car while parked at Marin Town and Country Club on Pastori Avenue in Fairfax on Sept. 10, Daisy C. Quon of San Francisco told police yesterday.

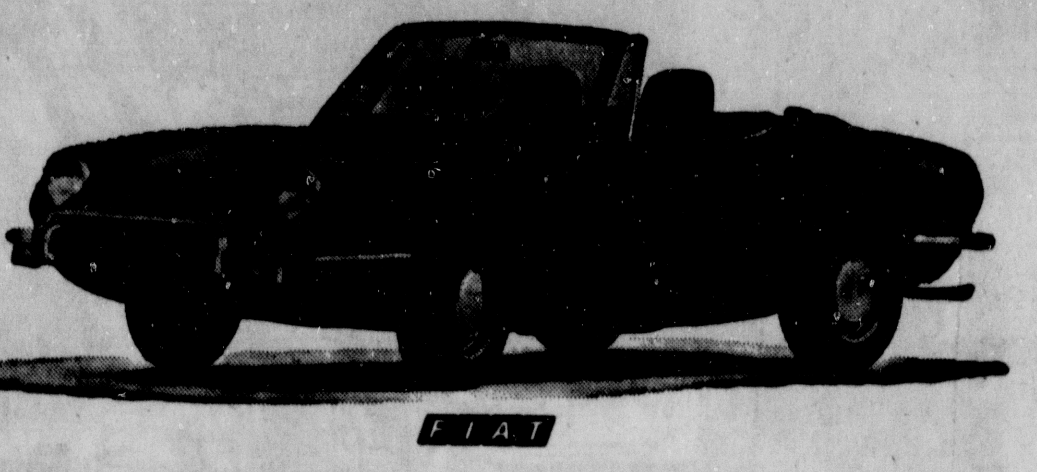
A SPORTS CAR YOU CAN AFFORD WHILE YOU'RE STILL YOUNG ENOUGH TO ENJOY IT.

The Fiat 850 Spider is the lowest priced true sports car on the market. It lists from $2,522.60.

The red line on its engine is all the way up at 6,500 rpm. It has disc brakes in front and independent suspension all round.

And, for many people, it's the best-looking sports car under $10,000.



The biggest selling car in Europe.

ORIGINAL WORKS SET

Mary Alice Mabee, dance critic for the Independent-Journal under the name of Marie Rameau, will present original works in a performance with the Choreographer's Workshop, an experimental ballet and modern dance group, tomorrow at 8:30 p.m. at 2184 Greenwich Street, San Francisco.

Water Board Denies Moratorium Request

The Marin Municipal Water District board refused yesterday to initiate a moratorium on new water connections, rejecting one director's contention that a ban is "absolutely necessary at this time." (Another water district story, page 1.)

An ordinance prohibiting installation of new services, proposed by Dr. Ronald T. Stafford, died for lack of a second.

Stafford charged his fellow directors with employing "delaying tactics" in failing to enact the freeze. "A moratorium is essential to protect present customers from forced water rationing," he said and added: "The water district is obligated to serve new areas only if areas now being served are not threatened with a shortage of water for ordinary uses."

Other board members did not seem to think a ban on new connections was warranted at present, although Director Jack R. Felson said the board should begin to consider a moratorium immediately.

"Given our present water supply, we have to determine what risks are involved in pursuing our present policies (of granting requests for new connections and pipeline extensions)," Felson said. He asked the board to consider that subject at its Oct. 11 meeting.

Director Eugene A. Miller said the board had agreed in May to consider moratoriums and water rationing at its Dec. 13 meeting. By that time, he said the board would have a better idea of what rainfall can be expected this winter and if a serious shortage is likely to be forthcoming in 1973.

Miller said that banning new connections would not have any effect on whether the district will have to impose mandatory rationing next year.

Staff members said a freeze on new services would save the district from 500 to 1,000 acre feet a year, a negligible amount which in the face of a water shortage serious enough to require rationing of water to current customers.

Director John M. MacPhail Jr. said he would vote for a moratorium if the proposed intertie to bring approximately 4,000 feet of water annually to Marin Municipal from North Marin County Water District does not go through.

(Currently the district has an annual consumption of approximately 33,000 acre feet, compared to a net safe yield from its reservoirs of 30,000 acre feet. The intertie is designed to bring annual yield in line with consumption.)

Miller said the district should propose a plan for increasing water supply to present to voters in November of next year. "If that fails, there would be no question that a moratorium on connections would be required," he said. (Recently the board hired consultants to prepare proposals for increasing water supply and will probably choose a plan from among those submitted in the consultants' report.)

An overflow crowd, both opponents and proponents of a connection ban, jammed the small boardroom yesterday.

Transplant Odds Getting Better

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Diet, exercise and anti-coagulation drugs have improved the long-term survival prospects of heart transplant patients.

Procedures used at Stanford University Medical Center since 1969 seem to prove generally that keeping trim and fit and eating low cholesterol foods can reduce the risk of heart disease —currently the nation's No. 1 killer.

Dr. Randoll B. Griepp, a surgeon belonging to the only heart transplant team still performing the delicate operation on a regular basis, said Wednesday the new regimen was started after the 17th of 47 patients received a new heart at Stanford.

Killing Of Lake Fish Approved

With a minimum of discussion, directors of the Marin Municipal Water District yesterday authorized the State Department of Fish and Game to eliminate "undesirable trash fish" in Lake Nicasio by killing all fish in the lake.

Director John M. MacPhail Jr. cast the lone dissenting vote, saying he "did not like the idea."

Fish and Game officials said they plan to dump liquid rotenone in the reservoir, probably during the week of Oct. 15.

The compound, derived from a South American plant, will kill bony carp which have taken over the lake, as well as other fish, by suffocation. It constricts capillaries in their gills.

Edward S. Armstrong, fishery biologist for the department, said it will be "perfectly safe" for people to eat the fish killed by the compound since it affects only gill breathing vertebrates and some acquatic insects which breathe through their skins.

The reservoir will be treated only after the water district has ceased pumping from it because of its low water level and moved operations to Kent Lake.

The effect of the compound will last from two to six weeks andbe dissipated by natural oxidation.

Once the reservoir is clear of the substance, it will be stocked with bass, sunfish and catfish.

The Marin Municipal Water District Board also:

SUBCOMMITTEE — Appointed Robert R. Hemstock to the Improvement District A Environmental Advisory Subcommittee to replace resigning Albert Arambu-ru.

ADVISORY GROUP — Appointed Joseph Brezina to replace E. J. Prosh as the Almonte Sanitary District's representative to the Advisory Committee to Improvement District A.

ROLE — Agreed to discuss the future role of the Environmental Advisory Subcommittee at its Oct. 11 meeting. The subcommittee has been studying environmental aspects of the proposed consolidated waste treatment system for Southeast Marin. Preliminary plans for the project are now completed, though not yet approved by the board.

DEED — Approved granting a deed for three acres of water district land to the Nicasio School District which purchased the property for $1,000.

RACES — Granted requests from Sir Francis Drake High School and the College of Marin to hold cross country races on watershed lands.

MEETING — Adjourned until 8 p.m. next Wednesday. At that time the board will consider seven requests for pipeline extensions. The board declined to act on them after chairman Jorjan L. Martinelli Jr. left the meeting early, leaving directors deadlocked 2-2 on the question of whether the extensions should be approved.

BIDS — Called for bids on replacement of approximately 10,000 feet of undersized pipeline in San Rafael, Larkspur, Corte Madera and Sleepy Hollow. Estimated cost of the work will be about $202,000.

COURSE — Agreed to send two employees to a two-day safety training course in the East Bay, sponsored by the East Bay Chapter of the National Safety Council. Tuition cost is $50 per man.

HEALTH PLAN — Approved to changing the district's health plan for employees from the California Physicians's Service to Blue Cross.

EQUIPMENT — Awarded contracts for equipment to these low bidders: Sauers Forest Products Inc. of Healdsburg, $17,180 for material for three redwood tanks; Ambrosini and Chalmers Co. of San Mateo, $17,400 for telemeter equipment.

MUSIC, ART AND DRAMA

'Sleuth' To Close 'Godspell' To Open

After 21 continuous weeks at the Geary and Marines Memorial theaters, the American Conservatory Theater's smash mystery thriller "Sleuth" will close Saturday. Another ACT presentation, "Godspell," will move into the Marines' theater next Tuesday for an extended run.

Anthony Shaffer's "Sleuth" opened April 4 at the Geary, and was intended as a limited engagement. It proved an immediate popular success, however, and played there until "Godspell" came along in July.

The latter, a hit rock musical based on the gospel of St. Mathew, will feature its original cast when it reopens after closing at the Geary Sunday.

Marlene Dietrich brings her hit Broadway show to the Flint Center for the Performing Arts at Cupertino's De Anza College tonight in the opening performance of one of many John Kornfeld 1972-73 Music Series. Next Wednesday another Kornfeld series, this one in San Francisco, gets underway as Sol Hurok's Spanish dance company plays at the Masonic Auditorium. Antonio Gades is the star of that show.

"Elizabeth I," a new play by Paul Foster, will be presented by the Napa Valley Theater Company beginning tomorrow night at the New Winery Theater in Napa. Described as a historical frolic, the play will run through Oct. 21.

The Lone Mountain College drama department opens its presentation of "To Hell With John" tomorrow night at the college in San Francisco. A contemporary version of Faust, the play will be performed with puppets and accompanied by a rock score.

The popular rock band Santana will headline shows at San Francisco's Winterland Arena next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The San Francisco group Tower of Power will also play in the Bill Graham productions.

Other events:

Geary Theater — "Godspell" Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m., Saturday, 2:30 and 8:30 p.m.; Sunday, 3 and 7:30 p.m.

Marines' Memorial Theater — "Sleuth," Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 2:30 and 8:30 p.m. Closes Saturday.

Curran Theater — "No, No, Nanette," Monday through Saturday, 8:30 p.m.; Wednesday, Saturday, 2:30 p.m.

On Broadway Theater — "Norman Is That You?", Tuesday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 8 and 10:45 p.m.; Sunday, 7:30 p.m.

Little Fox Theater — "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," Tueaday through Friday, 8:30 p.m.; Saturday, 7 and 10 p.m.

San Francisco Museum of Art — Closed until its grand reopening on Oct. 14.

M. H. de Young Memorial Museum — "Norman Rockwell: A 60 Year Retrospective," through Nov. 5. Docent tours at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. daily. Open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

'The Dialogue Of The Deaf'

CINCINNATI (UPI)—Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson said Wednesday the conflict between environmentalists and industrialists has been "a dialogue of the deaf" that must end if a balance is to be achieved.

"The ecologist and the economist are talking right past each other," Peterson said in a speech before the National Environmental Information Symposium here.

"If you are for the environment then you have to be against economic growth and, conversely, if you are for economic growth then you are automatically assured to be against the environment.

"That kind of thinking must stop," he said. "A partnership must be formed, a kind of team spirit developed that will allow an objective search for answers to begin in earnest."

New Housing Bill Killed In Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The House Rules Committee has killed a $10.5 billion bill that would have rewritten many of the nation's housing laws and provided almost twice as much money in federal grants for mass transit systems.

On a 9-5 vote, the panel voted Wednesday to "defer consideration indefinitely" on the bill, according to Chairman William Colmer of Mississippi.

Speaker Carl Albert said he would probably schedule a floor vote Monday on a measure that would extend current housing programs at present spending levels for another six months.

Spending authority for most federal housing programs expires Saturday.

Under the bill, new block housing grants would have been paid directly to the cities, restrictions would have been placed on government attempts to set maximum closing costs for FHA and VA home mortgages and to locate low-income public housing in the suburbs.

In addition, the amount paid in federal grants for mass transit systems would have reached $6.1 billion over a five year period.

Ninety-five per cent of Minnesota's population lives within five miles of recreational waters.

Picture Published Of New Russian Jet

LONDON (UPI)—It nestles inconspicuously on page 476 of Jane's All the World's Aircraft, whose new edition was published today—the first drawing to appear in the West of a new supersonic Russian bomber called "Backfire."

The drawing shows a sleek, stubby aircraft, almost square in the section through the fuselage, whose outer wings pivot in flight. It was identified as the Tupolev VG bomber, given the NATO code name "Backfire."

John W.R. Taylor, Jane's editor, said "At least two prototypes of the plane were built initially, and it is logical to expect that a small preproduction series will have followed for development testing, weapons trials and evaluation."

Jane's, an authoritative survey of the world's military and commercial aircraft, missiles and aircraft engines, said "Backfire" was believed to be designed for an "over-target speed in the range of mach 2.25 to mach 2.5," or about 1,500 mph, with "a maximum unrefuelled range of up to 4,000 nautical miles (4,600 miles)."

Taylor said the drawing was "based on the limited information so far released officially."

In his foreward to the 1972-73 edition, Taylor said "nobody can doubt that this bomber, approaching pre-service status, adds a new dimension to Soviet attack capability.

"It would be a brave, and perhaps foolish, man who continues to argue against the worth of the (American) B1A," he wrote.

GAZER'S GUIDE

Jupiter And Saturn Among Stars Of Evening All Month

By DR. THOMAS D. NICHOLSON
Director, the American Museum of Natural History, New York
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Oct. 4: The moon will be to the left and below Venus this morning and more distant from the planet. But Regulus will be closer. Venus passes nearest the star at 7 p.m. when they are in conjunction, separating from the star to the east (left) on successive mornings hereafter.

Oct. 10: The moon is at apogee, its greatest distance from earth during the month.

Oct. 13: The moon, now a crescent in the evening sky, passes near Jupiter. Conjunction is at 5 p.m. By dusk, both will be in the southwestern sky, Jupiter very bright and located above and to the right of the crescent.

Oct. 21: The Orionid meteor shower is expected to reach maximum early this morning. This is ordinarily a moderate shower (single observer rate about 25 meteors per hour) of swift bright objects, usually visible on one or two mornings before and after maximum. But there is a full moon tomorrow, and moonlight during early morning hours will diminish the number of meteors that can be seen.

Oct. 22: The full moon today is the hunter's moon. Like the harvest moon of September, the moon this month, when it is near its full phase, rises only a half-hour or so later each night, as compared with an average of 50 minutes later nightly at other times. Thus the full or nearly full moon seems to be in the sky all night long for several nights in a row during the months of early autumn.

Oct. 23: The perigee moon today, nearest earth, comes 24 hours after full moon. The normally higher perigee tide will be added to the usually higher spring tide.

Oct. 25: Saturn rises shortly after, close to and below the waning-gibbous moon tonight. By midnight, both are well up in the southeast, Saturn well below the moon and gradually separating from it.

All month: Jupiter and Saturn appear among the stars of the evening. Jupiter, in Sagittarius, is very bright in the southwest at dusk, but it sets within a few hours, along with the southern summer stars. Saturn rises with Taurus several hours after sunset and appears well up in the southeast by midnight.

The morning sky contains Saturn and Venus. Saturn will have moved into the southwest by dawn, still well above the horizon. Venus, much brighter, is among the stars of Leo, and it rises about three hours before the sun. By dawn, when it fades into the brightening sky, Venus is well up in the east. It is near the star Regulus, in Leo, early in the month, but by month's end it is closer to Spica, the brightest star in Virgo.

Siberian Oil Deal Also Involves Japan

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —Dr. Armand Hammer, the chairman of Occidental Petroleum Corp. who is discussing with Russia the development of natural gas finds in Siberia, confirmed Wednesday that Japan is also involved in the plan.

Hammer said he had held talks with Hiroshu Anzai, a representative of the Japanese natural gas industry, about a three-nation joint effort to develop the Yakutsk gas fields.

New York Times For McGovern

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Times today endorsed the presidential candidacy of Sen. George S. McGovern in an editorial that praised the Democratic nominee for his "humanitarian philosophy and humane scale of values, his courage and forthrightness."

In the editorial, the Times said McGovern "can restore a sense of purpose to the American people as a whole, a sense of participation to their component parts and a sense of integrity to their government."

The newspaper said "in these respects, it seems to us, the presidency of Richard M. Nixon has largely failed."

Spock: I've Never Smoked Marijuana

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Dr. Benjamin Spock, the People's Party presidential candidate, said Wednesday he has never smoked marijuana, although he advocates its legalization.

"Frankly, it's a little embarrassing," he said. "If offered the chance (to smoke marijuana), I wouldn't even know what to do."

Heroin Buyers Held Moving Into State

PASADENA (AP) — Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst said yesterday the Justice Department has information that East Coast narcotics buyers have gone into California to obtain heroin because of dwindling supplies in their own areas.

In a speech about the Nixon administration's efforts to fight drug abuse, Kleindienst said the battle to keep narcotics out of the hands of addicts is being won.

He said the administration noticed signs of a heroin shortage on the East Coast, especially in New York City and Washington, D.C., beginning last November.

"This could be fairly well measured by the well-known yardstick of supply and demand," said Kleindienst. "The price of heroin on the street went up and the quality and purity went down.

"This shortage has gradually become more severe and has spread to other Eastern cities," he continued. "By now the heroin shortage has spread from New York and Washington to include Boston, Baltimore and Detroit.

"It has not yet reached California, and in fact we have information that Eastern narcotics buyers have come into this state to obtain heroin for their own markets.

"I can assure you that we are doing everything possible to see that the shortage spreads across this country to California, and that it becomes not just a shortage but an absolute famine," he said.

Kleindienst made his remarks in a speech prepared for the annual youth banquet of the Pasadena Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He said a major weapon in the federal effort to catch racketeers and reach into their upper echelons has been court-authorized wiretapping which, he said, former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark refused to use during the Johnson administration.

"The golden-goldeneye duck is commonly called the "whistler" because of the loud, high-pitched noise made by its wings.

A VERY CLOSE CALL

An American official and Cambodian soldiers examined the wreckage of a U.S. Embassy limousine which was blown up in an assassination attempt against charge d'affaires Thomas O. Enders in Phnom Penh yesterday. Enders and his driver leaped from the car seconds before the blast and were uninjured, but two persons were killed.

Man Beaten, Robbed As 100 People Watch

NEW YORK (UPI)—"There must have been 100 people just standing around watching," said Herman Glaser describing the beating and robbery he suffered Wednesday at the hands of three youths in upper Manhattan.

Glaser, 56, a prominent attorney and civic leader who serves as director of the New York Academy of Trial Lawyers, was ambushed as he was entering a taxi. He said he tried to fend off his attackers as they beat him, ripped the watch off his arm and tore a pocket out of his pants.

He said no one in the crowd watching the assault interfered or called police.

Glaser, 6-feet, 3-inches tall, said, "I never thought this could happen to me because I'm a pretty big guy." He lost his cash, the $350 watch and credit cards. The muggers escaped unimpeded.

Early today, police announced the capture of the last suspect in the daylight murder of Columbia Law Professor Wolfgang Friedman, who was stabbed to death in full view of neighborhood residents and passersby about 20 blocks uptown in Morningside Heights.

The suspect, Steven Robinson, 23, was picked up by plainclothesmen on a Harlem street without a struggle after he was identified from a description furnished by witnesses. Robinson's brother, David, 16, surrendered Wednesday night to his brother, a city corrections officer.

Police allege the three youths robbed and stabbed to death Friedman in midafternoon a few blocks from the Columbia campus in upper Manhattan Sept. 20.

One teen-ager, Daniel Mingues, 16, was arrested within hours of the murder.

The dandelion is also known as blowball, cankerwort, doonheadclock, fortune teller, horse gowan and Irish daisy.

Chicago Demo Indicted: Bribery

Barrett became the third major Illinois Democratic figure to face trial this election season.

Cook County State's Attorney Edward V. Hanrahan, Chicago's chief prosecutor, is on trial charged with conspiring to obstruct justice. Otto Kerner, former governor and now a U.S. Appeals Court judge, is under indictment charged with receiving racetrack bribe money.

Barrett, now 72, built his political career on a record as a boy hero of World War I. He has held the offices of state treasurer and state auditor and since 1955 has been Cook County clerk.

The indictment announced by U.S. Attorney James R. Thompson charged that Barrett received about $180,000 between 1967 and 1970 in return for arranging the purchase of approximately 900 voting machines from the Shoup Voting Machine Corp. of Bala Cynwyd, Pa.

Prop. 20 Gains Hesitant Backing

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

BERKELEY — An Association of Bay Area Governments committee yesterday reluctantly endorsed the controversial coastal initiative, but appealed to the Legislature to overhaul it if passed on the November ballot.

The measure, Proposition 20, would create a California Coastal Zone Commission and six regional commissions to draft a plan "to preserve the ecological balance of the coastal zone and prevent its further deterioration and destruction."

All construction within the zone would require a commission permit during the four years the commission would have to draft a plan. The regional and state commissions would dissolve automatically in 1976, and further action would be up to the Legislature.

The endorsement by ABAG's ocean coastline planning committee, itself drafting a master plan for the same zone within the Bay Area, came despite a finding by several members that the proposition was "fatally flawed."

The committee voted 4-1, with Sonoma County Supervisor Robert Theiller objecting the measure was "bad legislation." (It was put on the ballot by conservationists after the Legislature again killed bills to create similar coastal controls.)

"We're really deceiving the people," Theiller insisted.

Instead of asking the Legislature to cure the measure of its defects, he said, "we ought to face it head on and say this proposition isn't properly drafted and should be defeated."

San Francisco Supervisor Robert Mendelsohn, however, argued that the Legislature's failure to act had forced the initiative. No matter how imperfect it was, he said, it had to be endorsed.

Mendelsohn objected particularly to a provision that could require a commission permit to remodel any home valued at $7,500 or more.

"To discuss home maintenance in a measure to save the California coast is insanity," he said.

He also objected to its requirement that any change after its adoption would take a two-thirds vote by the Legislature.

Marin County Supervisor Michael Wornum, who as committee chairmanpushed for the endorsement, noted that only half the members of the regional commissions would be local elected officials. This was contrary to ABAG's policy that such agencies be composed "primarily" of local elected officials, he said.

But Wornum also argued the proposition was necessary because "the Legislature was so goddamn useless in doing it themselves."

The committee's endorsement thus included the appeal that the Legislature change the composition of the regional commissions to make local elected officials the majority and exclude all home improvements from commission jurisdiction. The Legislature also should clarify apparent conflicts in jurisdiction between the regional commission and the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, and should cut from two thirds to a majority the commission vote needed to approve permits for projects.

The committee also asked that the Bay Area's regional commission be expanded to include San Mateo County in addition to Marin, Sonoma and San Francisco.

The commission's permit control would extend from three miles seaward to 1,000 yards inland, including all harbors, bays, channels, estuaries, salt marshes and sloughs.

The provision extending commission jurisdiction to all home improvements of homes valued at $7,500 or more allows the commission to ignore this limit by regulating the types of improvements that would require permits.

The proposition would appropriate $5 million from the Bagley Conservation Fund to support the commission for its four years.

Judge Rules Insanity, Commitment

The 36-year-old drifter charged with murdering a Bolinas bartender-painter was ruled legally insane yesterday by a Marin Superior Court judge.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson ordered Edward Davies Pardington committed to Atascadero State Hospital until he is considered sane enough to understand the charge andcooperate in his defense.

One of the court appointed psychiatrists who examined Pardington said he is "unable to control the productions of his mind."

Pardington was arrested in Berkeley May 15, two days after Joseph Anthony Costello, 33, was found on a Bolinas Beach with his throat slashed.

Sheriff's deputies said the two men had been quarreling because Costello had given Pardington a place to stay, then evicted him.

D. A. Is Reappointed To Advisory Board

The State College Board of Trustees yesterday reappointed Arthur B. Broaddus, Mendocino County District Attorney, to the Sonoma State College Advisory Board.

Broaddus, a Ukiah resident, will serve another four-year term on the board.

TOWN MEETING SATURDAY

Corte Madera: At Crossroads

Corte Madera, a town at the cross roads, will have a town meeting Saturday at Redwood High School's little theater. It's an event that has involved months of planning and research and is expected to attract more than 400 Corte Maderans.

There is intense citizen interest and involvement in civic affairs in the town, which is about to update its general plan, engage in redevelopment activities, and has called an emergency building moratorium.

Saturday's all-day meeting begins with registration at 9 a.m. and a brief introductory session led by moderator Peter Melden, psychology teacher at Tamalpais High School.

Residents will then choose their main area of concern and join smaller discussion groups.

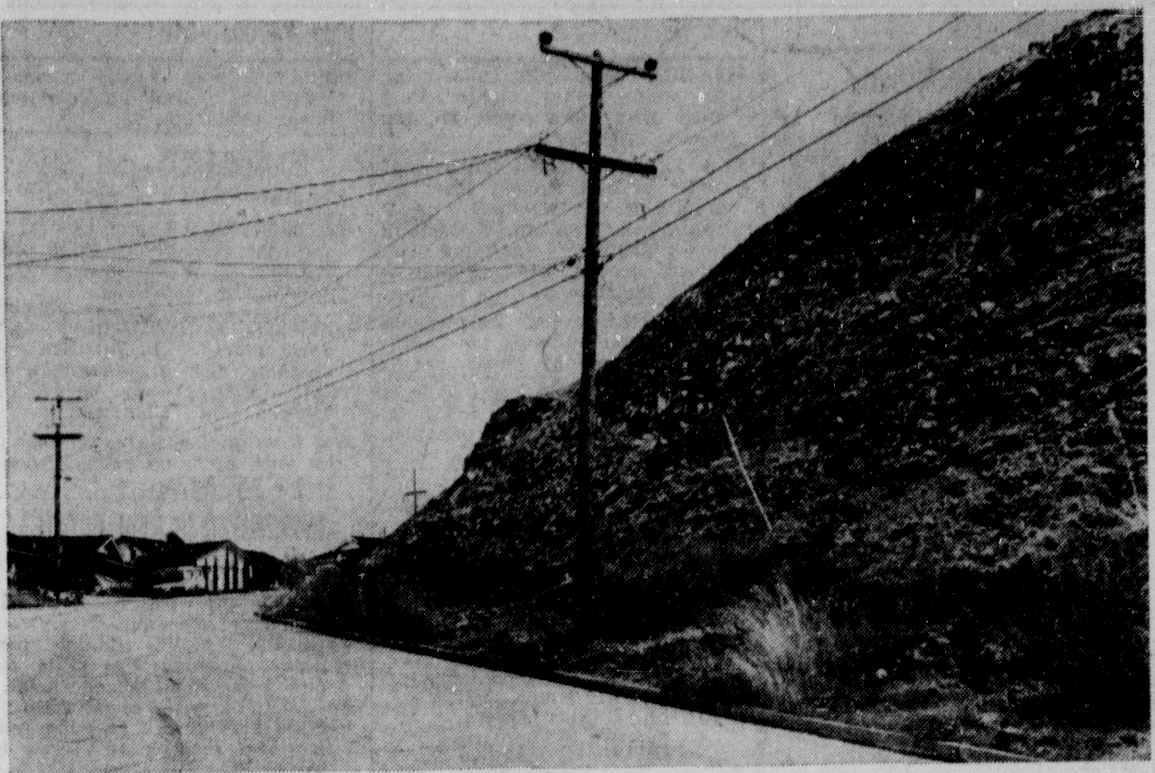
These are: master planning and development, headed by Judy True and Bob Dunn; open space and recreation, by Valerie Carlson and Charles Schafer; town services, by Jim Bell and John Irvine; and communications and citizen participation, by Steve Haines and Beverley Agner.

At the lunch break residents are encouraged to bring a lunch and stay for slide shows of local scenes by Lee Miller and Wayne Wood; a demonstration on public access cable TV by Steve Haines, and take part in a workshop on forming or revitalizing neighborhood associations led by Philip Sasso.

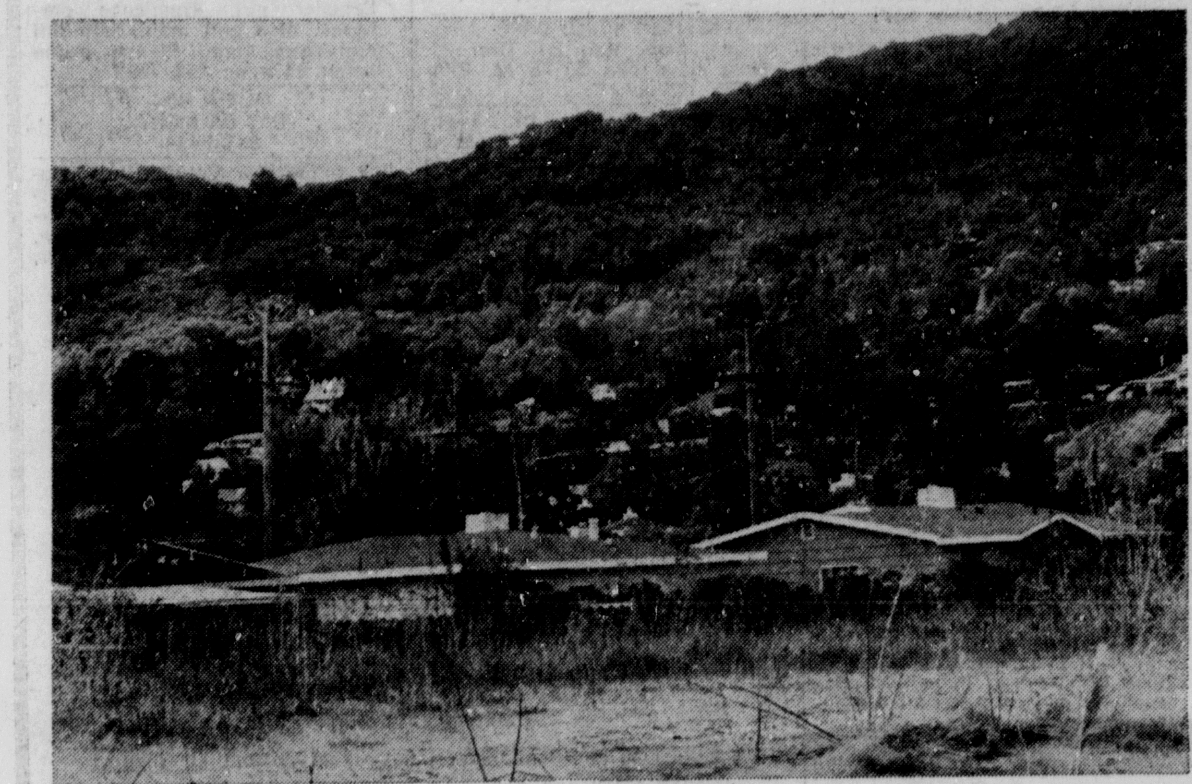
The afternoon session will begin at 2 p.m. with reports from the morning study groups, and Belden will lead a general discussion aimed at getting a concensus on issues involved.

At Monday night's meeting of the Corte Madera Town Council those priorities established at the town meeting will be relayed to councilmen by spokesman, according to Betty Pierce, chairman of the event.

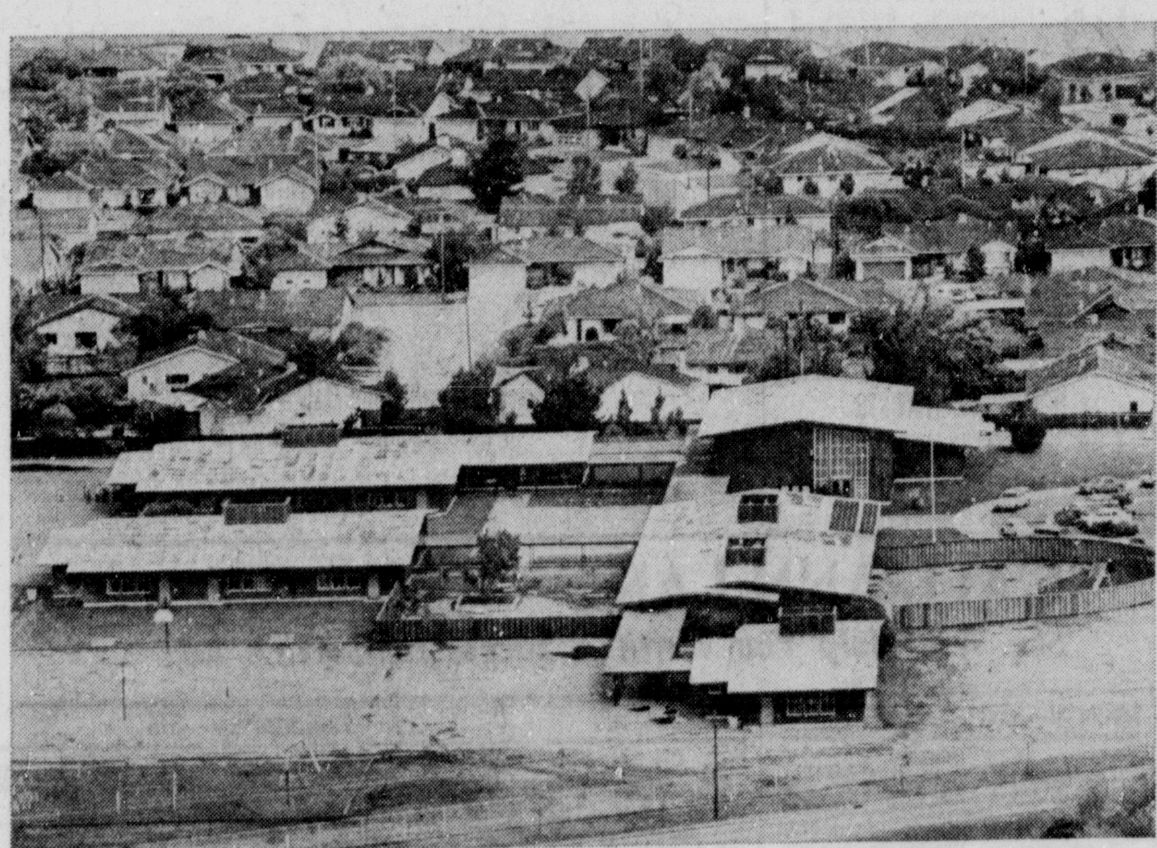
Mrs. Pierce is also arranging transportation for anyone who needs it. She said there will be coffee available all day, and the school snack bar will be open during lunch hours.



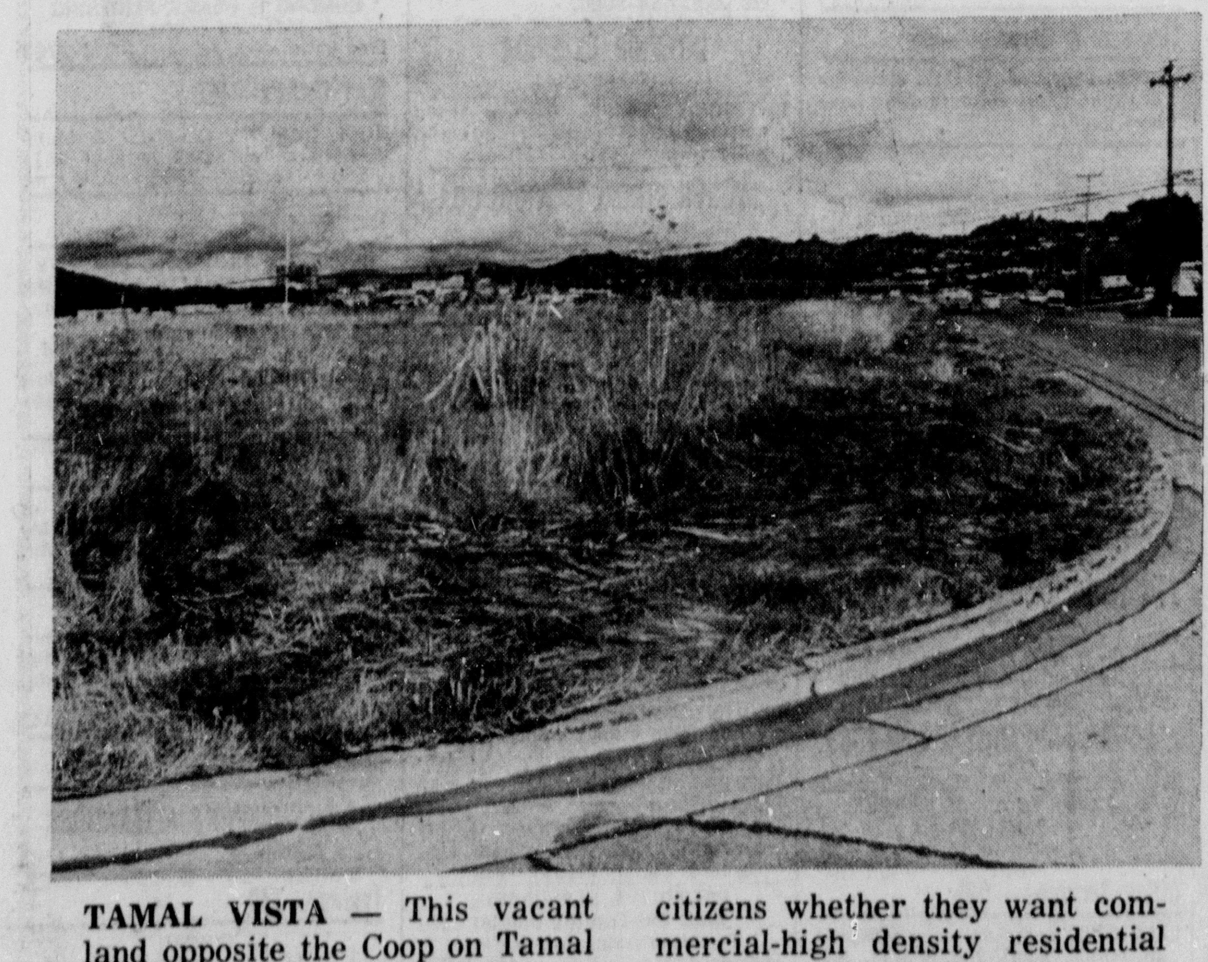
OPEN SPACE — Town meeting spokesmen point to this unusable rock cliff on top of Mariners' cove as a horrible example of a developer's designation of "open space" — a certain amount of spare land required for public use in all major developments by the town. Telephone poles like these are also to be discussed Saturday in a panel dealing with undergrounding utilities.



NORTH RIDGE — Some sixty acres of undeveloped wooded hillsides on the North Ridge are a favorite target for Open Space purchase proponents. It's known as the Nicholini property, and will be up for discussion in Corte Madera Saturday.



SAN CLEMENTE — From the hill above the playground, San Clemente School lies in front of Mariners Cove houses on Golden Hind Passage. It belongs to the Larkspur-Corte Madera district, which, like Reed district, isn't keen on assuming responsibilities for children in the Madera del Presidio development since the site is in the Mill Valley School District.



TAMAL VISTA — This vacant land opposite the Coop on Tamal Vista is intended for a 78-unit town house development; the town meetings planning and development study session will ask citizens whether they want commercial-high density residential development and open space, or traditional low density residential projects.

Novato Fall Cleanup Planned Oct. 7, 14

Novato will conduct its annual fall cleanup campaign Oct. 7 and 14 in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week, Rodney B. Brown administrative assistant, reported today.

The collection site at Rowland and Redwood boulevards will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day.

Residents can bring debris to the site but materials must be bagged, boxed or bundled, Brown said.

Persons with loads containing loose material or items too large for the packer trucks will be given slips to the Redwood Sanitary Landfill Inc. dump, north of Novato. The city will pay $1.25 toward the cost at the dump.

Dirt, gravel, concrete or car parts won't be accepted at the cleanup site nor will dump slips be issued for them, he said.

An effort will be made to clean up vacant lots, hillsides, creeks and roadways, Brown said. "This can only be accomplished by volunteers," and anyone interested in helping the community cleanup should notify him at Novato City Hall, Brown said.

Burglar Gets Cash From Unlocked Safe

The burglar broke into a pharmacy in Reed Sunday or Monday and took $610 from an unlocked safe, sheriff's deputies said today.

The burglar kicked in the front door to gain entry to the Marin Town and Country Pharmacy at Tiburon Boulevard and Blackfield Drive between 9 p.m. Sunday and 10 a.m. the next day, according to deputies.

3 story elegance in this massive Victorian style home of a by-gone era. The lumber baron who built this show place used only the finest construction and most beautiful wood in the paneling of the parlor, dining room and entry hall. The wood is as smooth as glass to the touch. Curved glass in many windows with beautiful etched glass abounding. The library has a working fireplace as does the parlor. Family kitchen with butler's pantry and a powder room complete the first floor. Wide staircase to the 2nd floor entry that is a wood paneled octagon shape with 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and stairs to the 3rd floor. This huge room with bath could be a master suite or children's hideaway. 3 stall garage and outdoor patio. All this plus a 3 bedorom, bath and a ½ home with large dining room on the grounds as a rental unit. $65,000.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

'Ultrasound' As heat Source Used To Treat Various Diseases

Ultrasound energy as a source of heat is used in the treatment of various joint and muscular diseases. Ultrasound, unlike electric waves, does not travel through the air. Consequently, direct contact with the skin over the treated area is necessary. Heavy mineral oil is used to make good contact between the applicator and the skin.

A more exciting use for ultrasound is in disease detection. All body tissues, except bone and the air-filled lungs, are relatively permeable to these waves. With a special sonar device, the waves penetrate soft tissue organs and the echo is registered to plot out the location of thicker or harder areas. Low intensity waves are used so that the process is generaly considered harmless. Ultrasound used as sonar resembles the pulse-echo mode used in maritime depth finders.

DURING PREGNANCY, for example, ultrasonic waves can determine whether there are twins or triplets in the uterus, the location of the placenta, and the position of the baby. In addition, the technic is useful in determining whether a pelvic mass represents pregnancy or a tumor. Information of these kinds can be obtained easily and painlessly.

Ultrasound can also be used to explore the breast, kidney, urinary bladder, and liver. An abscess of the liver, for example, may produce a different echo than does the normal surrounding liver tissue. However, when investigating the abdomen, gas in the intestines interferes with the reliability of the test. Breast lesions as small as one-half inch can be demonstrated, but the procedure does not tell the physician whether the tumor is benign or malignant, a cyst, or a thickened duct.

ULTRASONIC DIAGNOSTIC procedures are most reliable and useful in studying the valvular function of the heart. Ultrasound also detects the timing of movements of natural and prosthetic valves. In addition, it is an excellent procedure to diagnose inflmmatory diseases of the sac surrounding the heart. It is least useful in brain studies because the bones of the skull block many of the waves.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

BERRY'S DISEASE

J K. A. writes: I'm 70 years old and fall asleep right after breakfast and when visiting friends. Could low blood pressure be responsible for this embarrassing situation?

REPLY

No. Many persons get sleepy after eating or when bored by the conversation around them. Some cannot fight the urge to doze off, especially when they get older and have no pressing commitments. In my opinion, catnaps are wonderful, provided the mini siestas do not occur at inopportune times.

FRECKLES, HARD TO AVOID

Miss D. writes: Is there any way to prevent freckling?

REPLY

Freckles are difficult to avoid if the skin is fair. Protective clothing and applications of sunscreening products will help. Our leaflet on freckles can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

BOUTS OF PNEUMONIA

P.A. writes: Could three bouts of pneumonia render a woman sterile?

REPLY

Not unless she had complications involving the reproductive organs.

San Rafael air quality yesterday:

Oxidant, clean air.
Nitrogen dioxide, clean air.
Carbon monoxide, clean air.
Smoke particles, clean air.
Other areas:
San Francisco, clean air.
San Jose, light air pollution.

Colorless oxidants, brownish nitrogen dioxide and smoke particles aggravate respiratory diseases. Carbon monoxide causes dizziness, headaches and slows reflexes. Smoke particles come largely from industrial sources, while the other three come primarily from motor vehicles.

Joint Effort On Loan By Rails, Unions

WASHINGTON (UPI)—In a significant breakthrough in railroad labor relations, rail unions have agreed to work with management to push through Congress a $5 billion loan guarantee program for rail, truck and barge lines.

Rail union and management sources said today the two sides had privately agreed to a set of labor protection provisions for employes affected by the bill, based on collective bargaining but providing for binding arbitration when the two sides cannot agree on specifics.

A union source said the agreement represented "a whole new day" in rail labor relations. A management source called it "part of a significant trend" in labor-management relations, brought about mainly by more forward-thinking leaders in both labor and management.

The support of the powerful rail unions—mainly the United Transportation Union and the Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks—significantly increases the chances of the bill called the Surface Transportation Act of 1972.

Rail unions and management have traditionally engaged in bitter feuds, leading to strikes and strike threats that often have been settled by Congress.

Once the agreement in principle was reached last week, union lobbyists went to work in an effort to shove the legislation through Congress before it adjourns for this session, but it appeared they were too late.

House Commerce Committee Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., whose approval would be necessary for any such bill to be approved so quickly, said there was not enough time left in the session to pass the bill.

"I don't see how in the world you could get a bill through this late in the session," he said. "We will try to come up with an acceptable bill next year."

A source close to the bargaining said Staggers had been "worked on and worked over" by lobbyists and other congressmen wanting to move the bill through Congress quickly, but he had refused to budge.

The $5 billion loan guarantee bill, although far bigger than the highly controversial $200 million loan guarantee for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, has attracted scant notice on Capitol Hill, and almost no opposition.

The legislation would provide federal guarantees for loans to regulated motor, water and rail carriers, and freight forwarders for capital improvements and equipment. It also would provide procedures for easier abandonment of unprofitable railroad branch lines.

The labor protection provisions agreed to by rail union and management negotiators provides this sequence of events in protecting an employe displaced by new facilities or abandonments under the bill:

—First, the two parties would attempt to work out a broad agreement through collective bargaining.

—If they cannot agree, the government department involved will work out a broad agreement to protect the employe up to six years. For instance, if an employe loses his job when a rail line is abandoned, the Interstate Commerce Commission lays down an agreement because it is the body responsible for abandonments.

—The two sides then would attempt to work out the details of implementing the plan in specific instances, again through collective bargaining.

—If negotiations break down again, the two sides would select a neutral arbiter whose decision would be binding.

Speeding Car In Crash; Five Die

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —A car fleeing from police at speeds up to 160 miles per hour slammed into another car at an intersection, killing five persons, it was reported Wednesday.

Policeman Joseph Center said he gave chase to the car when he observed it speeding. However, he said his police car was unable to keep pace with the car being pursued.

The speeding car, which carried a man, woman and child, struck the second vehicle outside the gates of Ft. Richardson, knocking it 50 feet into the air, police said.

There were no survivors.

Eddie L. Dukes, 28, a soldier from the base, was driving the chased car. The woman and child were not immediately identified.

Victims in the second car were David L. Jacobs, 20, Ft. Richardson and Carl E. Washburn, 19, an airman stationed at Elmendorf Air Force Base.

New Smog Device Law Delayed By State Board

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Air Resources Board voted yesterday to delay at least one year a requirement that most pre-1971 cars in California be equipped with new antismog devices. The board acted after state officials and manufacturers said they could not meet the February 1973 deadline.

The board unanimously approved the delay after State Registrar of Vehicles John McLaughlin testified that it would be "almost impossible" to meet the deadline set by the board when it adopted the requirement Aug. 23.

The equipment, which is to be installed on some four million 1966 to 1971 model vehicles at a cost set by the state at not more than $35 each, is designed to reduce oxides of nitrogen in exhaust by 40 to 50 per cent.

The board had ordered that the equipment be installed before the vehicles could be registered for 1974, although its engineering staff had warned that many cars might suffer overheating problems because of the equipment.

McLaughlin told the board that the state Department of Motor Vehicles already is well into preparations to register vehicles next year, and changes to notify owners of the new requirement could cause problems.

"We see some real serious difficulties in compliance on a one-time basis," he said. "We don't just make a little midtake. When we make a little mistake, it involves 12 million vehicles."

The board also heard testimony from representatives of the firms certified to manufacture the antismog devices. David Marcks of Echlin Corp. and Mac McCullough of Dana Corp. both said they could not produce the devices in sufficient numbers by next February.

Marcks said his firm could be ready by February 1974. McCullough recommended a gradual program in which statewide installation would be required by April 15, 1973.

Harold W. Sullivan, board chairman, suggested that the target date be changed to February, 1974, and a board meeting was scheduled for Oct. 25 in Sacramento to consider new deadlines for implementing the program.

Robert Ross of the state Bureau of Automotive Repair said California auto repair shops need additional time to train installers and obtain equipment needed to install and maintain the antismog devices.

Ross also said he had not yet seen warranties for the devices, and wants time to review them before the program is started.

California earlier had required post-1965 cars to be equipped with devices to limit emissions of hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide. However, those controls caused increased emission of the third component of smog, oxides of nitrogen.

The board earlier this year imposed strict controls over 1955-1965 models, and federal regulations have been in effect since the 1971 model year.

Cutter Dividend

Directors of Cutter Laboratories Inc. of Berkeley declared a regular quarterly dividend of 11 cents per share on the Class A and Class B common stocks for the quarter ending Sept. 30. They are payable Oct. 27 to holders of record Oct. 13, president David L. Cutter announced.

State Credit Rating Boosted To The Top

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A principal nationwide financial rating service has boosted California from AA to AAA, making what state Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest termed yesterday "the biggest and most favorable financial news that California has received in years."

The boost was reported Tuesday by Moody's Investment Service. It means that California will have to pay less interest on the money it borrows through bond sales.

"Being rated as among the most credit worthy states in the nation will save millions of dollars in interest costs to Californians for many years in the future," Mrs. Priest said in a statement.

She said more than $1 million will be saved next Tuesday alone when $90 million in bonds are sold.

The treasurer's office sells between $500 and $600 million in bonds usually.

Mrs. Priest credited the higher rating to the financial community's confidence in the state's fiscal policies, the timing of sales so the market will not be overloaded, and bonding priorities to keep the state's financial abilities from being over extended.

California had already been rated AAA by the other principal nationwide rating service, Standard and Poor. AAA is the highest rating of either service.

Rancho Riders Slate 'Playday'

The Rancho Riders will sponsor an adult "open playday" Oct. 7 at 3 p.m. at Flying H Arena on Roblar Road in Petaluma.

Any riding club member over the age of 18 may enter the 10 gymkhana events. Western attire should be worn.

Entry forms are available at local feed stores and western attire dealers.

Martin King Birthday May Become Holiday

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A bill to make Jan. 15, the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr., a national holiday has been approved by a House Judiciary subcommittee.

A Senate subcommittee had received a similar bill but is not expected to act upon it this session. This means the legislation will have to be introduced in the next Congress, which convenes in January.

Old Grape Fete Photos Displayed

An exhibit of 15 photographs depicting the Marin County Grape Festival in early and more recent times is on display at the county library's main branch at the civic center.

The display, which will run through Oct. 6, is timed to coincide with the annual grape festival to be staged at the civic center fairgrounds Oct. 7 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The display also includes an exhibit of handicrafts.

The grape festival, a tradition in Marin since 1899, is staged each year to benefit Sunny Hills, a residential treatment center for troubled youth.

The festival will include 85 booths selling fresh grapes, wines, food and handicrafts. Entertainment will include strolling musicians, a jazz band, singing and dancing.

Candidate Debate

A debate between the candidates for Marin County supervisor in the fourth district, Michael R. Peevey and Gary T. Giacomini, will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in Olney Hall Auditorium, College of Marin. The meeting will be sponsored by the Associated Students.

Host A's Can Clinch Flag With Victory Over Twins

By JOE SARGIS

OAKLAND (UPI)—This is the day the Oakland A's have been working toward since spring training—the day they can clinch their second straight American League West title.

The A's moved into position for a pennant-clinching—and at home in their final regular season game before the local fans—by sweeping the Minnesota Twins twice in extra innings Wednesday night, 1-0 in 11 and 2-1 in 10.

Sal Bando, moved up to third in the batting order in a move toward getting more punch, was the hitting hero of both games as he drove in the winning run with singles.

On both occasions Matty Alou, moved up to leadoff, was on second and scored with the winning run. The A's managed only seven hits in the first game and nine in the second but manager Dick Williams viewed the new batting order a success.

"I know we didn't get many hits," said Williams, "but we got them when they counted, so I think the move was a success."

Jim Hunter went all 10 innings of the nightcap on a sixhitter for his 21st victory, matching his career high reached a year ago. while Bob Locker, with one hitless relief inning, was the opening game winner and now is 6-1.

Today, John Odom, a 14-game winner thus far in a fine comeback from arm surgery, has the chance to pitch the A's to the victory that will put them over the top. He'll face Dick Woodson in an afternoon game, which is being played on a scheduled day off as a result of two days of rain earlier in the week.

"Sure, we'd like to clinch it here," said Bando, "So we can get a mental break on the road."

Victory celebration notwithstanding, the A's will leave right after the game for a three-game series in Kansas City.

"I'd like to clinch it right now so I can give my regulars a breather," said Williams.

Talking about money, Williams refused to even think about the playoffs.

"Let us clinch it first and then I'll talk about the playoffs," he said, but with a smile. "There will be enough time for that."

Vida Blue, the super pitching hero a year ago but almost a forgotten man this time around, will pitch Friday night's game in Kansas City and will be followed by Dave Hamilton on Saturday and Ken Holtzman on Sunday.

Holtzman pitched eight shutout innings in Wednesday night's first game and left for a pinch-hitter. He was shooting for his 19th victory and now has next to no chance at all to reach the 20-game circle, unless Williams can sneak him in for a short relief stint before next Wednesday when the regular season ends.

"He's still one helluva pitcher," said Williams of the lefthander he picked up from the Chicago Cubs last winter. "I don't know where we would be today with out him."

Of course, Williams had a lot of praise, too, for Hunter, the ace of his pitching staff, who held the Twins to six hits in Wednesday night's nightcap. Jim struck out 11 qnd didn't issue a single pass in running his record to 21-7. That matched his career high reached last year when the A's clinched the A.L. West early.

As for Wednesday night's twin victories —in the first game Alou doubled leading off the 11th and Bando delivered him one out later. In the second game, Alou led off the 10th with a single, moved to second on a sacrifice by Bert Campaneris and crossed as Bando again lined a single to left.

"I don't fashion myself as a third place hitter," said captain Sal. "I'm more of a fourth, fifth or sixth place hitter. but the only thing that counts is if you hit when you have to."

Bando did and then some Wednesday night and now the A's can't wait for today's game —the one they have been pointing for all season long.

Welcome To Marin, Robin Backhaus

Robin Backhaus, a young man of 17, is sort of taking things easy these days. But by the middle of next month he will be starting more vigorous training, pointing toward another Olympics and one or two of Mark Spitz' world swimming records.

ROBIN BACKHAUS

Backhaus, winner of a bronze medal in the 200-meter butterfly in Munich, mover here from Redlands in Southern California last week to get the coaching of Don Swartz of the Marin Aquatic Club, the man who developed 16-year-old Rick DeMont. Robin's father, a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, is stationed in Guam, and his mother and two sisters are in Redlands.

"It's sort of as if I left for college a year early," Robin said about moving to Marin. He is living in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Keck of 4 Oakhurst Road, San Rafael, parents of four children of their own.

LAST APRIL in Dallas, Tex., during national event, Robin met, and competed against, DeMont. He also met Swartz and the seed which eventually led to his moving to Marin was planted.

"He's really a neat guy, and a really good coach," Robin said about the man in charge of running the swimming program for Marin A.C.

Because of his father's military occupation, Robin moved around quite a bit as a youngster, from Texas to New Hampshire to Virginia and finally Redlands. He got his start in Amateur Athletic Union age-group swimming at 10. It wasn't long before he was winning ribbons and medals. He swam on the Redlands High School team as a sophomore but last year devoted his time to AAU competition once he realized there was a chance for the Olympics. In the 1971 National AAU meet in Texas he placed third in the 200 fly.

About the possibility of competing in San Rafael High School's swimming program, Robin, a senior, said, "the Marin Aquatic Club comes first. I wouldn't want high school swimming taking anything away from my training program in the Marin Aquatic Club."

ROBIN IS GOING to sit down in a few months and decide which college scholarship offer to accept. He has it pretty well narrowed down to University of Southern California, Southern Methodist University in Texas, University of Washington and Harvard. With a 3.8 grade point average, college swim coaches around the country are drooling.

Although Backhaus swims distance freestyle events, he uses those races to get ready for his specialty, butterfly. He covered the 200-meter fly in Munich in 2:03.2 when he came in third to Mark Spitz who won in 2:00.7.

His immediate goal is to break that world record and "I hope it will be in the next two years."

ABOUT SPITZ, Backhaus said, "he wasn't that personable with us so I didn't get to be buddy-buddy with him. Actually, I wasn't that impressed with him as a person. I tried my darndest to beat him."

The 6-foot, 165-pound swimmer feels there might just be two Backhauses on the 1976 Olympic swimming team. "My 14-year-old sister,

Giants Blanked By Astros' Wilson, 3-0

HOUSTON (UPI)—Don Wilson and the Houston Astros both missed their goals this seasbn, but they're still going for record-breaking years.

The Astros are sure of their best year ever, having won a record 82nd game Wednesday night 3-0 over the San Francisco Giants behind the six-hit pitching of Wilson. The most Houston had won in any previous season was 81 in 1969.

Wilson, whose best record was 16-10 last year, now is 15-9 and could finish 16-9 by winning his final start in San Diego this weekend. But Wilson had set a goal of more than 20 victories this year.

Just as Wilson missed his goal of 20 the Astros missed their goal of winning the division. Houston was considered a contender through midseason, but the pitching never materialized and Cincinnati won the division easily.

Wilson, who has a 9-2 record

A SONIC'S SUPER STRETCH

Spencer Haywood of the National Basketball Association Seattle Supersonics leaped high for a rebound against the Chicago Bulls in Seattle last night. Chicago's Kennedy McIntosh (40), Norm Van Lier (2), and Seattle's Jim Fox looked on. Seattle won, 94-78.

USF, St. Louis In Marin Soccer

University of San Francisco and St. Louis University soccer coaches yesterday were in agreement: tonight's game at San Rafael High School should be one whale of a battle.

Getting together at a press luncheon just hours after the St. Louis team arrived by plane in San Francisco, coaches Harry Keough of the St. Louis Billikens and Steve Negoesco of USF's Dons each praised the other's team.

USF is currently ranked second in the nation and St. Louis is fifth going into tonight's 8 o'clock game, according to the Intercollegiate Soccer Football Association rankings. Tonight's scrap will be the first of two weekend games between the two soccer powers. They'll meet again Saturday, 2 o'clock, at Kezar Stadium.

The Dons whipped California State University, Sacramento, 4-1 last Saturday, with forward Leon Heitman scoring three first period goals and goalie Bill Rapp playing an outstanding game.

"This team looks better at this stage in the season than any other team I've coached since coming to USF," said Negoesco. About the high ranking the team has received, he said, "We do not deserve to be rated number two in the country at this time. We have not yet been put to any severe test. Our meetings with St. Louis should give me a better indication of just how strong a club we are. This coming weekend should be very revealing."

The Billikens are led by All-Americans Mike Seerey and Joe Hamm, both members of the 1972 U.S. Olympic soccer team. St. Louis has won seven national titles in the last nine years. They were beaten, 3-2, by Howard University last year in the National Collegiate Athletic Association finals after downing USF by the same score in the semi-finals.

1st Redwood Upset By Pakistan Netter

ALAMO, Calif. (UPI)—Unseeded Haroon Rahim of Pakistan pulled the first upset of the $50,000 Redwood Bank International Tennis tournament Wednesday by ousting 12th-seeded Cliff Richey.

The scores were 7-5, 7-5.

Second-seeded John Newcombe of Australia was given a scare by England's Roger Taylor before pulling out a 3-6, 6-0, 6-1 victory. In another three-set match, Australian Fred Stolle eliminated Jeff Borowiak, Lafayette, 6-3, 4-6, 63.

Also advancing in singles play were John Alexander of Australia, Egypt's Ismail El Shafei, Tom Okker of the Netherlands and Roy Emerson of Australia.

Alexander defeated Charles Pasarell of Los Angeles in straight 6-4 sets while El Shafei downed Tom Leonard of Chicago 6-4, 7-6.

Okker started off slowly but rallied to outclass Phil Dent of Australia 2-6, 6-1, 6-4. Emerson needed a tiebreaker to pin a 64, 3-6, 7-6 defeat on Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill.

San Rafael, Tam Set Marin Grid Opener

Sports

Independent-Journal, 33
Thursday, September 28, 1972

The best and worst teams of 1971 will see how much difference a year makes tomorrow night, as San Rafael High School hosts Tamalpais at 8 o'clock in the 1972 Marin County Athletic League opener.

San Rafael was co-champion last year at 5-1 and dominated the league's statistics, while Tam was last at 0-6. This season, however, both are 1-1. San Rafael is coming off a 22-12 loss to Antioch last weekend, while Tam broke a 10-game losing streak with a 14-8 triumph over Marin Catholic.

"We're going to have to go out and pick away, find out what they'll give us, if anything," said San Rafael coach Bob Muster. "They (Tam) have a good team speed and pursue well."

"San Rafael has no weaknesses that I can see," said Tam coach Mike Davlin. "We're going to approach them the same way we approached Marin Catholic — pretty conservatively."

Tam's three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust offense will be led by halfback Fred Adams, who gained 95 yards in 28 carries last week. San Rafael will counter with halfback Jim Grigg, finally recovered from a leg injury.

San Rafael is healthy for the game. Tam, decimated by injuries earlier, now has guard Bob Praczker on the sidelines with mononucleosis. His replacement will be Art Slocum.

Lance Laughlin has been installed as San Rafael's starting quarterback, winning a duel with Dave Steele. Reserve Steve Gaddis again will start for Tam, although front-liner Tim Nowell is recovering faster than expected from a shoulder injury sustained two weeks ago.

The lineups:

Redwood's Harriers Triumph

The Redwood High School Cross Country team stayed on top of the 1972 Marin County Athletic League standings with two 15-50 victories, over San Rafael and Terra Linda, yesterday on San Rafael's course.

In the other league contest yesterday, host Novato High edged San Marin, 26-29, while Drake failed to show for the triple meet and forfeited.

Redwood's Ned Overend set a new course record of 15:24 over the three-mile course. Not far behind were Giants Jan-Eric Moeller and Pete Sweeney. San Rafael nipped Terra Linda 29-30 in the other meet ucore.

Gary Lathrop and Dan Truek of San Marin placed first and second respectively in the meet with Novato, but it wasn't

Clayton Valley Hosts Redwood

While their brothers in the Marin County Athletic League begin internecine warfare this weekend, Redwood High School's football Giants will travel to Concord in quest of a third consecutive non-league victory.

The opponent for tomorrow's 3:30 p.m. game will be Clayton Valley High, loser of two games but "a pretty good football team," in the words of Redwood coach Phil Roark.

Redwood will enter the contest in good health, testimony to the psychosomatic power of a 33-13 victory over George Washington of San Francisco last Friday.

Frank Giorgi, whose 117 yards rushing keyed a ground attack that nettej 293, has a swollen hand but should be ready. Lineman Doug Kern (bruised knee) also should go. Lineman Pete Massoletti, linebacker Gerald Jack and runner Ron Small shook off small hurts to play against the Eagles and suffered no relapses.

Better news yet is the return of halfback Daryl Edralin, who missed the first two games with a shoulder pointer, but who will see limited action tomorrow.

"Clayton Valley is quick-hitting, but small," said Roark. "They average about 170 pounds. They have some good football players, like halfback Larry Kirsch and lineman Jim Brammier.

"They put the ball in the air a lot, because of their size. They have a good quarterback, Gary Luoma, and do a nice job blocking for him."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Bench Sets Homer Mark For Catchers

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Cincinnati Reds are the class of their division and Johnny Bench, responsible for much of his club's success this season, remains in a league of his own.

The Reds, who have already clinched the National League's Western division, lost to the Atlanta Braves 8-5 Wednesday night despite Bench's 40th homer.

Bench, who leads the majors in homers, became the first catcher in major league history to ever hit 40 homers in more than one season. Bench slammed 45 in 1970, the same season he was was selected the league's Most Valuable Player.

In other National League action, Chicago romped past Montreal 8-0, Pittsburgh downed Philadelphia 3-1, St. Louis beat New York 4-0 Houston stopped San Francisco 3-0 and Los Angeles blanked San Diego 2-0.

Billy Williams unloaded the seventh grand slam home run of his career to highlight Chicago's win over Montreal.

Williams hit his 36th homer in the fifth inning to give the Cubs a 5-0 lead. Previous to Williams' homer, Rick Reuschel and Don Kessinger had singled and Jose Cardenal had walked.

Dave Cash drove in the decisive run with a fifth inning double to feature Pittsburgh's triumph over Philadelphia.

Joe Torre and Ted Simmons hit back-to-back singles and scored in the second inning to pace St. Louis's win over New York. St. Louis scored on singles by Mike Tyson and Jose Cruz, a sacrifice fly by Torre and a run scoring single by Simmons.

Don Sutton blanked San Diego on three hits to run his scoreless string to 33 innings as the Dodgers closed out their home schedule with a shutout of the Padres.

Huggett Leads Golf Tourney In Scotland

TURNBERRY, Scotland (UPI) — Ryder Cup veteran Brian Huggett set a blistering pace today in the first round of Europe's richest golf tournament, the $150,000 John Player Classic.

Huggett carded an eagle and seven birdies in a seven under par round of 64 to lead the hunt for the $37,500 first prize.

However, Huggett's round was good only for a one-shot lead over England's Peter Townsend, who crammed eight birdies into his round against two bogies for a 65.

Two shots further back on 67 was Billie Casper, best-placed of a bunch of top-class American challengers after halves of 33-34 for the 7,060 yards 36-35—71 Scottish links.

Gay Brewer and Doug Sanders were in a bunch on 69 that included former British Open winners Bob Charles of New Zealand and England's Tony Jacklin.

Arnold Palmer, Jerry Heard and Tommy Aaron were in a bunch on level par 71.

Petaluma High School's cross country team won a second straight North Bay League meet yesterday, topping host Montgomery of Santa Rosa, 20-39.

In other southern Sonoma cross country action yesterday, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park, now 1-1, won its first Sonoma County League meet, 23-23 over Host Sonoma.

Leach Among Golf Leaders

Ray Leach of Novato shot rounds of 72 and 73 for a 145 total at the halfway mark in the Professional Golfers Association tour regional qualifying school going on at Sunol Valley Golf Club.

He is among the leaders in the competition in which the low 26 scores of the fiald of 146 advance to the final qualifications next month at Silverado course in Napa.

Leader at the halfway point is Sandy Galbraith of San Carlos with a two-under-par 142. The tourney ends tomorrow.

Counting Your Chips

By LEE TREVINO

A slew of shots are lost by golfers who chip to the fringe of a green and hope the ball bounces toward the hole. It kicks left or right as often as not.

Yep, I had to be some kind of lucky winning the British Open again — helped by three chip-ins. I find that the more chips I practice, the more of 'em I win — and the luckier I get.

It's best to chip with the iron that'll make your ball land on the green. Pros almost never hit a chip to land in the froghair. Too many things can happen, and only one of them is good.

A mistake many amateurs make on chip shots is they automatically reach for a 7-iron. Maybe someone told them a 9-iron was dangerous and a 5-iron made the ball roll too far. For a long chip from the edge of a green I use a club that'll give the ball a low trajectory and a good roll.

If you're 10 feet off the green but only 25 feet from the flagstick, the shot calls for a lofted club. It can be a ticklish stroke, and if the fringe is mowed close a putter may be best. A ball rolled across the fringe is less likely to jump sideways than one that lands on it.

Hairston, Lakers Thrash Warriors In Exhibition

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI) —Happy Hairston, who is playing without a contract, scored 22 points and pulled down 21 rebounds Wednesday night as the defending National Basketball Association champion Los Angeles Lakers rolled over Golden State 119-99 in their exhibition opener.

Leroy Ellis, filling in at center for the Lakers in the absence of Wilt Chamberlain, added 16 points and 13 rebounds while Jim McMillian had 18 points and Jerry West contributed 16.

For the Warriors, Cazzie Russell and Ron Williams led the way with 27 and 20 points, respectively.

The Lakers also played without the services of Gail Goodrich, the little guard who led them in scoring last season, and Keith Erickson. Both have slight injuries. Chamberlain has contract problems.

Petaluma, Rancho In Loop Starts

After two pre-season football tuneups each, league play starts tomorrow night for Petaluma High School and Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park.

Petaluma — which is trying to rebound from a losing season last year, opens its North Bay League competition at home (Durst Field) against Vintage of Napa, a first-year school.

The Trojans, who split their non-league games, have a balanced attack, with quarterbacks Tim Wallmark and Steve Crawford throwing for 214 yards in the two games, and the rushing corps gaining 223 yards.

The Petaluma ground game, which has been led by Mike Maselli, was dealt a serious blow with the loss of fullback Don White for the season. White suffered torn ligaments in his knee against Rancho Cotate.

Vintage, which won both its pre-season contests, is a big, strong and physical team appropriately nicknamed the Crushers.

Rancho Cotate will be shooting for its seventh consecutive Sonoma County League win, and its 12th overall when it invades the El Molino Lion's den in Forestville.

Last year, the Cougars beat El Molino 22-7 enroute to the SCL championship.

Orioles, Yanks Bow Out Of Race

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

They picked different ways to do it but, for all practical purposes, the Baltimore Orioles and the New York Yankees bowed out of the Eastern Division race Wednesday night.

The Orioles lost a tidy 3-0 decision to Gaylord Perry and the Cleveland Indians while the Yankees blew a 5-0 lead, stranded 17 runners and were finally overhauled by the Detroit Tigers in the ninth inning 6-5.

But the end result was the same. The Orioles and the Tigers are both 3 1-2 games off the pace with 71 losses while Boston, one-half game ahead, has 67 losses and Detroit has 68.

New York has six games left and Baltimore five and it would take a miracle now for either team to make it to the top.

Boston stayed in first with a 7-5 afternoon victory over Milwaukee and then sat back to wait for the night action. The Detroit win had to be disappointing for the Red Sox because New York's chances already were remote and a Tiger loss would have given Boston a 1 1-2-game lead.

"That was the toughest game we've lost all season," Yankee Manager Ralph Houk said after the Tigers scored three runs in the eighth and two in the ninth to pin the loss on relief ace Sparky Lyle.

Singles by Ed Brinkman, Willie Horton and pinch-hitter Tony Taylor, who bunted, loaded the bases in the ninth and Al Kaline hit a sacrifice fly to tie the game 5-5. Duke Sims then singled in the deciding run.

Lyle, who had saved 35 games, relieved Ron Kline with two on and one out in the eighth with New York leading 5-2. He gave up a run-scoring single to Frank Howard and a sacrifice fly to Mickey Stanley in that inning before suffering his fifth loss in the ninth.

Gaylord Perry picked up his 23rd win with a seven-hitter while blanking the Orioles.

Reggie Smith doubled home two runs in the fifth inning and Luis Aparicio tripled in two more in the sixth to lead Boston past Milwaukee. The Red Sox were trailing 4-2 until the fifth when they erupted for three runs.

In the other games, Kansas City downed Chicago 4-2, California nipped Texas 3-1 and Oakland swept Minnesota 1-0 in 11 innings and 2-1 in 10 to reduce its magic number in the West to one.

Trevino, Jamieson Play

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

BETTENDORF, Ill. — Lee Trevino and Jim Jamieson top the list of 60 players teeing off today in the $100,000 Quad-Cities Open Golf Tournament at Crow Valley Golf Club.

Jamieson, hometown favorite from nearby Moline, comes into the showing as Western Open champion. Trevino enters seeking his fifth victory of the season, and hopes to add the $20,000 first place honors to his two consecutive tournament winning streak.

LAS VEGAS — Tommy Bolt of Sarasota, Fla., is a 5-2 favorite to win his fifth straight U.S. National Seniors Open Gold Tournament, which was to get under way today and wind up Sunday.

Other former winners here in the field of 139 pros 50 years and over are Dutch Harrison of St. Louis, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and Pete Fleming of Hot Springs, Ark.

Play will be held at the Tropicana, Winterwood and Las Vegas Country Club courses today through Saturday with the final day's action set at Tropicana Sunday.

Basketball

DENVER — The Denver Rockets announced Wednesday they returned Wayne Hightower to the Carolina Cougars before the 10-year veteran reported to camp.

Hightower, a former San Francisco Warrior starting forward, agreed to play for Denver after he was purchased from Carolina last week, but failed to show up.

"I told Wayne I wasn't going to let one player disrupt an entire team," Rocket President Alex Hannum, who is also coach and general manager, said. "When he called me and told me he would report Monday I took his word for it and he let me down."

Baseball

MONTREAL — The Montreal Expos have given field manager Gene Mauch a one-year extension on his contract to the end of the 1w74 season, general manager Jim Fanning announced Wednesday.

Mauch, 46, is the only manager the Expos have had since being admitted into the league in 1969.

Boxing

DENVER — World heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, claiming he was "about ready to take him out in the streets," said Wednesday he wanted to fight Muhammad Ali anywhere, anytime.

"I don't care whether I have to fight him in my back yard," said Frazier in Denver Wednesday.

Frazier's manager Yank Durham said the fight probably wouldn't be held before March, 1973.

Durham also said an offer from Astrodome Championship Enterprises, Inc., of Houston for Frazier to meet George Foreman in a title fight "was not up to par." The Texas group offered Frazier $500,000 or 40 per cent of the gate.

the last half of the season, struck out five and walked two Giants.

Larry Howard, his batterymate, drove in two runs with a solo homer in the fifth inning and a single in the second. His single drove in Lee May.

The Astros' third run came in the eighth on a double by Jim Wynn, an infield out and an error by Giants second baseman Tito Fuentes.

The Giants' biggest threat came in the sixth when Gary Matthews beat out an infield hit and went to third on Dave Kingman's two-out single. Dave Rader hit a long line drive to left center, but Cesar Cedeno caught up with it and made a fine backhanded catch to save two runs.

Waldteufel Wins

Emile Waldteufel of Mill Valley, a member of the U.S. Olympic cycling team, won a 25-mile race yesterday as part of the four-day Italian-Swiss Colony 100 bike races in Asti. His winning time was 58 minutes and 45 seconds, 40 seconds off the Amateur Bicycle League of America record.

Diplomatic Pressure Ends Team Canada-Russia Row

MOSCOW (UPI)—A little diplomatic pressure today helped resolve a dispute between Soviet and Canadian hockey officials over referees which threatened to cancel tonight's eighth and tie-breaking game in their series.

The compromise was reached seven hours before the start of the contest, the final one in the series. Each team has now won three games, the other was a tie.

Under the compromise worked out, Team Canada was given the choice of one referee for tonight's game and the Russian national team the other.

The dispute broke into the open Wednesday when Canadian officials were told by the Russians that two West German referees who have come under heavy criticism from the Canadian side would work the final game.

The Canadian team had earlier understood from the Russians that the Germans— Joseph Kompalla and Franz Baader—would not work the game.

Alan Eagleson, a director of Hockey Canada and executive director of the National Hockey League Players Association, attended a meeting with Soviet representatives Wednesday afternoon and this morning to try to settle the dispute.

Also attending was Joe Kryczka, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, and Harry Sinden, manager-coach of Team Canada, and his assistant, John Ferguson.

Meanwhile, Vic Hadfield, the New York Ranger wing who scored 50 goals last season, said Wednesday that Sinden's favoritism forced him to quit Team Canada during its international series against the Soviet National Hockey Team.

Hadfield, after watching the Rangers defeat the expansion New York Islanders 6-4 in a National Hockey League preseason game at the Nassau Coliseum, said that Sinden, "played only his friends."

"That's the main reason I decided to leave the team," Hadfield said.

Improved Attack Is Sought By Raiders' Coach

ALAMEDA, Calif. (UPI)—Coach John Madden of the Oakland Raiders says his offense will have to perform to a higher degree than last week to beat San Diego this Sunday.

After viewing films of the Chargers recent games, Madden concluded they have strengthened their defense considerably.

"They've acquired some fine veterans in people like Deacon Jones and Dave Costa and Lionel Aldridge," he said. "They really strengthened the defense. But basically they have the same offense—the Garretts and Hadls and Garrisons—that scores a lot of points."

49er Brodie Starts; 2 Others Doubtful

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—John Brodie will open at quarterback for the San Francisco Forty Niners against the New Orleans Saints Sunday but linebacker Frank Nunley and fullback Ken Willard are doubtful.

Brodie told Coach Dick Nolan that he is able to play in New Orleans despite spraining a wrist last week in the game with Buffalo.

Nunley sprained an ankle in the same game and Willard is rounding into form after missing nearly a month with a bad knee.

"Things look pretty good now but it's just wait and see with Nunley and Willard," said Nolan.

Nolan also said he was impressed with the battle the Saints gave the Kansas City Chiefs before losing by three points Monday night. "(Quarterback) Archie Manning seems to be staying in that pocket a lot more."

Bargain Purchase

to's San Marin High and Bill Mejia of San Rafael.

In addition to the main event, which is a benefit game for the Marin Youth Soccer Association, there will be a 7 o'clock preliminary between all-star youth teams from Mill Valley and Ross. At halftime, the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce will award certificates to Marin County's seven young men who competed in the Olympics in Munich.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for youngsters 18 and under.

PREP NOTES

Novato Selected In Marin Football Loop Title Chase

By LEW CODDINGTON

Trying to pick the winner of this year's Marin County Athletic League football race is obviously a foolhardy act, but mere prudence has never deterred me from anything yet.

With trembling voice, I say Novato.

This year's league is divided into two echelons. Novato, San Rafael, Terra Linda and Redwood will contend for the championship. San Marin, Drake and Tamalpais will not.

The four contenders are evenly matched, and it will be very difficult, perhaps impossible, to go unbeaten. Something like last year's race, with two teams at 5-1 and two others at 4-2, is likely.

Unlike last year, however, the three teams in the lower echelon will not be pushovers. San Marin has scored 58 points in its first two games, and Tamalpais has given up only 16, proving each can be tough.

It would be unreasonable to predict any given upset, but it seems safe to say that teams from the lower echelon will surprise teams from the upper echelon once or twice during the year.

The team which wins the title will be the team which gets "up" for three tough rivals without allowing itself to get too far "down" for the other teams. Coaches probably will lie awake nights trying to remember everything they ever learned about motivation.

The predictions:

1. Novato. The Hornets (2-0) opened with a pair of impressive victories over two San Francisco schools, Riordan and Lincoln. Coach Al Scott has brought his team to a peak early, which is mandatory, since Novato plays Terra Linda in its league opener Saturday night.

2. Redwood. The Giants (2-0) have also been impressive with a pair of non-league wins, showing a fine backfield and no apparent weakness. They've had a tendency to make mistakes, however, losing three touchdowns against Antioch on fumbles and two more against Washington of San Francisco by penalty.

3. Terra Linda. The Trojans (0-2) have lost four of five games over a two-year span, but their troubles are more illusory than real. Any school with 22 returning lettermen off a 6-3 team can't be all bad, and Terra Linda outplayed powerful Antioch last weekend for most of the game before losing.

4. San Rafael. The Bulldogs (1-1) romped over Lincoln in their opener, but raised doubts by losing last weekend to Antioch, a team Redwood beat.

5. San Marin. The Mustangs (2-0) may have their best team in years. They romped in their opener and showed courage in the clutch last Saturday, scoring 28 points in the fourth quarter to come from behind and win. With only 25 players, they don't have the manpower to stay with the top four, but on any given day . . .

6. Drake. The Pirates (0-2) have showed good offense and good defense, but unfortunately not on the same day. Such inconsistency, if repeated, could lead to their downfall.

7. Tamalpais. The Indians (1-1) overcame injuries and broke their 10-game losing streak Saturday with a patchwork lineup. The defense has given up eight points in each game Tam has played, and if it stays tough, the Indians will be in every game.

The schedule offers a slight advantage to San Rafael, which never plays two contenders in a row. Terra Linda, Novato and Redwood each must face two of them back-to-back, but none must play the other three in a row.

NOTEBOOK — Unsung hero of the week award goes to Vic Terra of Marin Catholic, who boomed a 72-yard punt against Tamalpais . . . Redwood kicker Don Nelson suffered from conflict-of-interest last Friday when he played against his father, coach Bruce Nelson of Washington. The Nelsons live in Corte Madera.

HARRIERS

enough as the Hornets took the remaining three spots to win. Lathrop had a time of 19:34 while Truek came in at 20:04. Tom Soztlak led the Novato harriers, coming in third.

In Frost-Soph action, Redwood followed their older teammates by beating Terra Linda 15-50 and San Rafael, 25-32. San Rafael smothered Terra Linda, 15-48.

Second place Tamalpais drew a bye this week.

STANDINGS

Redwood 4-0, Tamalpais 2-0, San Rafael 2-2, Novato 2-2, San Marin 1-1, Terra Linda 1-3, Drake 0-4.

The Hesitant Torrington Demos

By PETER M. KELLY

TORRINGTON, Wyo. (UPI)— Mary McLaughlin got up from her pot roast dinner the other night to answer her doorbell. Outside was her neighbor, Pansy Butler.

Mrs. Butler, a Republican precinct worker, was polling the block and asked Mrs. McLaughlin who she would vote for in the presidential election.

"Joe Smith," said Mrs. McLaughlin, a lifelong Democrat.

"Who's he?"

"I don't know, but he's better than the other two," she said.

Mrs. McLaughlin has decided that Democratic presidential nominee Sen. George McGovern is not to be trusted. Her decision was not an easy one. In Torrington and throughout Goshen County, Wyo., Democrats are outnumbered by Republicans and, as a rule, do not waver.

But McGovern is in trouble in Torrington—population 4,118—from the white stucco American Legion post on Main Street to the fields of brown tasseled corn that stretch to the Nebraska border eight miles east.

Torrington is in the political outback. If 4,500 persons turn out from the county to vote in a presidential election, that is a good turnout. But McGovern's problem here is the same as in big cities—disaffection by more conservative party regulars.

McGovern will not carry Goshen County, say the Democrats, nor will he carry rural America. Most Democratic leaders in Torrington believe that McGovern will need the farm vote if he doesn't get labor in a bloc.

Mrs. McLaughlin, 50, says her unhappiness with McGovern does not mean she will vote for President Nixon.

"I just can't trust either of them," she said. "They're both shifty. McGovern changes his mind so many times you can't tell what he means. Nixon just sits back in a corner and lets everyone else talk for him."

Many Democrats, like Mrs. McLaughlin, say they will sit the election out this year.

Torrington is on the eastern edge of Wyoming, 85 miles northeast of Cheyenne, the capital. Mrs. McLaughlin was a secretary for Gov. Stanley Hathaway when he had a law office in town.

The economy in Torrington is the land. It rolls away from the town like a yellow blanket quilted with patches of corn, fields of wheat and sugar beets. Farmers this year knew the corn crop would be good because stalks were knee-high by July 4.

Torrington is rural America—covered dish dinners at the golf course west of town, talks over coffee at mid-morning in Paul's Cafe, freight train whistles across miles of lonely farmland at night.

On Main Street a "No Left Turn" sign is placed at the intersection of 21st Street on Saturdays, when shopping is the heaviest.

Young people after Friday night football games usually wind up at the State Line Oasis bar, dancing to country and western music; or at The Mint, a bar anchoring Main Street near the Burlington & Northern Railway tracks where music is louder and the company a little rougher.

Main Street, shaded in fall evenings by maple and elm trees, runs north to the "Hill," the well-to-do district that is a Republican stronghold.

From the windows of the Valley Hi restaurant, operated by a former deputy sheriff on a bluff at the south edge of town, diners can see the Holly Sugar Refinery near the banks of the Platte River and the turnoff to Pete Keenan's 280-acre farm.

Keenan and his wife, Dorothy, are staunch Democrats who say they will vote for McGovern. Keenan indicates that his vote will be from party loyalty and not necessarily an endorsement of the man.

"They say McGovern is radical but I think President Nixon is radical," says Keenan, sitting in a yellow armchair by a window that looks out on rows of sugar beets. The noon news blares from a kitchen radio.

"Nixon tries all sorts of things he can't get through Congress," Keenan said. "The same thing will happen with McGovern. Congress won't let him get away with a lot of things."

One of the major issues for Keenan, who has farmed the land for 50 years, is the economy. Every time he goes to town, he says, prices "seem a few cents higher." Another big issue is Vietnam.

"I'm a hawk, you know,", Keenan said. "I've been a hawk all of my life. Then again, we always used to win the wars. But this one, Vietnam, has slowed me down. I don't think we should get out if we have to give everything up."

The over-riding issue among Democrats within Torrington's 10 precincts appears to be the economy. The end of the war, they believe, is in sight and President Nixon has the right idea—not pulling out troops while prisoners-of-war remain in North Vietnam.

Support for Nixon is strong among GOP regulars but not enthusiastic. The Republican County Chairman, Russ Zimmer, standing in overalls and wearing a cowboy hat in the dim light of his grain mill's machine shop, says Republicans have a Dewey syndrome—they believe they can't lose.

Roger Courtney, 37, the Democratic county chairman, admits McGovern is trailing in the county and has alienated party regulars. But he predicts support will pick up, especially with the U.S. sale of wheat to Russia.

Courtney, who runs an insurance office off Main Street, held a rally recently in Pioneer Park on the western edge of town. The turnout was disappointing.

"Maybe I shouldn't say this but I'm not sure whether people here are really that concerned with politics this year. I mean the farmer, the grocer and the service station operator. It's the same with Democrats and Republicans."

Courtney is enthused, however, about the Democrats' chances to pick up a seat on the three-member GOP county commission which meets a half-block away in the white stone courthouse, its green lawn dominated by a miniature model of Statue of Liberty.

In his office across from the courthouse, Republican State Sen. W. G. Vanderpool says McGovern hasn't a chance. Vanderpool says McGovern has backed off his early campaign stands too many times and that farmers he's visited with became disenchanted with McGovern's ability to make up his mind when he first backed and then dumped Sen. Thomas Eagleton as a running mate.

A housewife working in Republican headquarters, set up in the old Trail Hotel, puts it this way:

"This is a town of real people, who are true Americans. The Democrats I've talked to are scared of McGovern, just plain scared of him."

The lack of support for McGovern is prevalent among newly registered young voters who attend Eastern Wyoming Junior College north of town, according to Noah Gregory, 27, who tends bar part-time at the American Legon post for extra money.

Gregory, who began classes at the school this fall, says students he has rapped with claim McGovern is indecisive. The students, he claims, are concerned about jobs "and McGovern can't do any better than Nixon has about that."

Across the street in one of the two barber shops on Main, Hank Martinez says the feedback he gets while clipping hair of farmers and townspeople is anti-McGovern.

"I haven't heard anyone say anything good about McGovern yet," says Martinez, 37, a native of Torrington who returned from California after a hitch with the Navy. "They say he's not stable enough.

"McGovern says he's going to end the war when he's only a man and can't possibly end it by himself. People give Nixon credit. It's a lot easier to start a world war than to end one."

Fifteen miles west of Torrington is Lingle, a town of 451 persons where Joe Acklin publishes a weekly newspaper in his job printing shop. Acklin is a former Democratic county chairman who says he may not vote for president.

Acklin says in 1968 organizers for Sen. Hubert Humphrey appeared in Goshen County and unlike McGovern's campaigners were "real interested in rural America." He also says heavy McGovern support in the county party is restricted to the central committee members.

"McGovern's programs are just basically unsound," said Acklin. "He just doesn't have a firm foot on the ground. What he's not going to get are votes from people like me and others who regard themselves as liberal Democrats. Many Democrats won't go to the polls and vote."

Acklin says the farmers he's talked to have given him the impression they believe "Nixon has been very fair. I think they're happy with him. They just don't think anyone else could do any better.

"So far, McGovern hasn't had anything to offer."

And so it appears that in Torrington, Wyo., at least, the prairie populist's campaign has not yet caught fire.

Protection Gone

SEATTLE (AP) — Paul W. Heck thought he had adequate protection from burglars. His arsenal included 10 pistols, two carbine rifles, a submachine gun, 10,000 rounds of ammunition. He reported to police that burglars broke in and stole it all, taking five cameras as good measure.

Agnew's Low-Key Campaign Continues

GALESBURG, Ill. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, continuing his low key approach to the 1972 campaign, made no mention of Democratic Presidential candidate George McGovern in a speech at the Farm Progress Show Wednesday.

Instead, Agnew described the accomplishments of the Nixon administration in the agricultural field. Adhering to his prepared text, Agnew praised Nixon for taking a personal approach to opening new foreign markets to U.S. agricultural trade and cited the new, three-year U.S.-Soviet grain agreement — "the biggest peacetime transaction of its kind in world history."

The vice president made no reference to McGovern's recent attacks on the handling of the grain deal. McGovern and others have charged that information on the deal was withheld, resuting in a windfall for big grain exporters.

State police estimated that 50,000 of the 200,000 persons who thronged the George Inness farm for the show gathered around the bunting-draped platform in a farm field to hear Agnew speak.

Agnew's speech was his own idea, said James Thomson, editor of Prairie Farmer magazine, which sponsored the show.

"We suggested that maybe we could dispense with the speeches," Thomson said, emphasizing that the show as "a farm show" and "not a political show."

He said that after he found Agnew planned to attend, he offered "to extend every courtesy to any Democrat who wanted to attend."

Rep. Roman Pucinski, D-Ill., Democratic senatorial candidate, sat on the platform, applauded warmly when Agnew finished his address and shook hands with Agnew. Pucinski said promoters of the show invited him to sit on the podium.

Rights Panel's Life Extended

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A bill extending the life of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission for five years and giving it authority to protect the rights of women has been passed by the Senate and sent to the House.

The Senate approved the bill Tuesday with little debate. Earlier a House-Senate conference committee dropped a Senate-approved section creating a "bill of rights" for government employes.

The section, among other things, outlawed psychological testing of government employes and forbade lie detector questioning about their religious beliefs or sex lives.

Jewish Group Asks U.S. Reins On Russia Trade

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The National Conference on Soviet Jewry has asked President Nixon to withhold any further trade concessions to Russia unless it rescinds its tax on Jewish emigrees.

In early August, the Soviet government began exacting fees of up to $35,000 each from Jews with college educations leaving the country.

The conference's board of governors unanimously approved Wednesday the appeal to Nixon after a lengthy meeting of leaders from virtually all the nation's top Jewish organizations.

The conference represents more than 30 national Jewish groups in the United States. It sent a letter to Nixon urging against granting the Russians trade terms comparable to those accorded its best trading partners.

"During the last four months we have witnessed with growing anguish a steady increase in incidents of harassment and oppression of Soviet Jews, culminating in the imposition of an extortionate and inhumane emigration tax," the group said in the open letter.

Some of those who attended the meeting of Jewish leaders also expressed irritation over the President's statement to Jewish leaders with whom he met in New York Wednesday to the effect that "politicizing or demagoguing" the exit fees or other issues involving Soviet Jews would serve no useful purpose.

Tools Taken

Tools valued at $1,300 were taken from a quonset hut occupied by Tam Sewers at 234 Shoreline Highway in Tamalpais Valley between 7:30 p.m. Sunday and 1:50 p.m. Monday, sheriff's deputies reported today.

McGovern Blasts Nixon On Law, Order Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George S. McGovern said today President Nixon should not be campaigning on a law-and-order theme when crime increased during his term in the White House.

"No President can promise the people he will end crime and drug addiction," McGovern acknowledged.

But he told a news conference there were more serious crimes committed during the first three years of the Nixon administration than in any siimilar period in the nation's history.

He said that while the rate of growth of crime may have slowed, crime increased nonetheless.

He called the November election "a referendum on the future of the American cities" and pledged more cooperation for the country's mayors to "put our cities back together."

McGovern made the comments after meeting with 10 mayors who are helping him set up an urban affairs policy panel and a mayors for McGovern campaign committee.

Joining him at the news conference were Mayors John V. Lindsay of New York; Kenneth Gibson of Newark, N.J., Alfred DeBello of Yonkers, N.Y., Kathy Kirschbaum of Davenport, Iowa; Roman Gribbs of Detroit; Bert Williams of El Paso, Tex.; Kevin White of Boston; Lee Alexander of Syracuse; Thomas Luken of Cincinnati and Ivan Lebamoff of Fort Wayne, Ind.

McGovern planned to go to his Chesapeake Bay summer home later for two days of rest and planning before returning to the trail Saturday with visits to Baltimore, Atlantic City, N.J., and New York City.

In a statement prepared for the announcement of the two new groups, McGovern said "nowhere is the need to bring America home again more apparent than in our cities."

"What is draining our urban centers of money and blighting our metropolitan areas is the unending, senseless war in Vietnam; the ceaseless escalating defense spending; the terrible toll of inflation; an inequitable tax system; and the unconscionable Nixon-Agnew policy of deliberately putting people out of work as a tool against inflation," he said.

"We won't be able to put our cities back together until we turn federal revenues away from the war and away from special tax favors for the wealthy to the needs of our cities," McGovern said.

Reviewing a list of proposals he has made during his campaign, McGovern noted that he would, if elected, increase the cities' share from the revenue sharing program by $4 billion—financed out of tax reforms and defense spending cuts.

He also said he would not, as "high Nixon officials" have said, cut back other urban development programs such as Model Cities once revenue sharing funds begin flowing to cities.

Shriver Says U.S. Most Violent Nation

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Sargent Shriver, Democratic vice presidential nominee, told policemen honoring Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier Wednesday night that the United States is "the most violent country in the world."

Myles J. Ambrose, special consultant to President Nixon, earlier told the same audience that Sen. George S. McGovern and Shriver were interested in legalizing marijuana.

"Under the Nixon administration, crime has risen at a record rate," Shriver said. He said there were 25 per cent more murders since 1968, 29 per cent more rapes, 43 per cent more robberies and 25 per cent more assaults.

"The statistics are staggering proof that we are indeed the most violent country in the world," Shriver said. He told the policemen and their wives 126 police officers were murdered in the line of duty last year, compared with 86 in 1969.

Ambrose, who apparently got wind of Shriver's text, closed this way:

"Don't let anybody give you any baloney that the crime rate increase in this country is not being reduced. Those statistics will be available in two or three days and you can see them for yourself, rather than listen to them third hand."

Ambrose said on Feb. 15, 1972, McGovern suggested marijuana be treated like alcohol. Ambrose said on Feb. 16 the South Dakotan denied that he said it. He said Shriver made a similar suggestion in April, 1970.

"I'm authorized to express the views of the President and he has told me absolutely and unequivocally he is opposed to legalization of marijuana," Ambrose said.

New Twist To Campaign Coffees

A departure from the traditional campaign coffees will be launched next week in the Second Supervisorial District, with joint appearances at two sessions by both the incumbent and his challenger.

The proposal for joint coffees with his opponent Barbara Boxer originated with incumbent Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. Both scheduled coffees were organized by his campaign committee.

The first will be at 3:30 p.m. next Thursday at the Tamalpais in Larkspur. The coffee will be hosted by Katharine Mierrifield and Dorothy Stetson. The second will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 6 at the Fairfax home of Bruce Duncan, 340 Olema Drive.

Arrigoni also will speak, but without Mrs. Boxer, at coffees at 8:30 p.m. Monday at the Fairfax home of David Taylor, 9 Mariele Drive, and 1:30 p.m. next Thursday at the San Anselmo home of Mrs. T. H. Donnelly, 135 Calumet Avenue.

Actress Delays Vegas Opening

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Entertainer Ann-Margaret has delayed her scheduled appearance at the Las Vegas Hilton to give her more time to recuperate from her recent injuries, a hotel spokesman says.

Terry Lindberg, a hotel publicist, said Wednesday the singer-actress will open in the Hilton's showroom Nov. 28, instead of Oct. 3 as scheduled.

The entertainer suffered serious injuries when she fell from a platform at the Sahara Tahoe hotel at Lake Tahoe on Sept. 11.

Supervisor Candidate Schedules Coffees

Michael R. Peevey, candidate for Marin County supervisor in the fourth district, will speak at coffees and a reception this week in Corte Madera, San Rafael and Bolinas.

The coffees will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Corte Madera home of Duane Smith, 5 Blue Rock Court; 8 p.m. tomorrow at the San Rafael home of Michael H. Bull, 117 San Rafael Avenue, and a 3 p.m. reception Sunday at the Bolinas home of Don L. Bradley, 30 Terrace Avenue.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Arguments Favoring Purchase Of Bonds

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am retired and most of my money is in the bank at 5 per cent and 6 per cent. My income bracket approaches 50 per cent which makes me wonder if I would be better off in tax-free municipal bonds. Would you be so kind as to recommend some if you agree with this choice. Where do I go to buy them? — R.W.

A. The arguments favoring tax-free investments for individuals in a high tax bracket is inescapable. In the 50 per cent tax bracket, a 5½ per cent tax-free return is equal to 11 per cent in taxable income. Furthermore state tax can also be avoided, in many cases, by purchasing bonds issued by the state in which you reside.

You have two choices, direct purchase of tax-exempt bonds or indirect purchase through a municipal bond fund. The latter course has considerable merit for the novice investor. Because of the nature of the municipal bond market, small investors are often charged a strong premium on their purchase and since price quotes are difficult to secure, the buyer may not even be aware that he has paid several points more than necessary. Some readers have cited experiences getting quotes as much as 10 points apart on the same bond from different dealers. Thus the 3½ per cent to 4½ per cent load fee you pay to buy a bond fund may prove cheap by comparison. The fund approach also provides portfolio diversification that an individual investor would seldom achieve on his own.

Unlike the open-end mutural fund which sells share continuously, the tax-exempt bond funds are sold in series. A portfolio is set up and units are sold to cover the total investment; as portfolio bonds mature the assets are distributed to fund holders. Some of the various funds pay monthly income, others are set up to invest only in obligations of a particular state, including your home state. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Bache & Co., Walston & Co., John Nuveen, E.F. Hutton are some of the firms offering these packaged tax-free investments.

Stock Prices Lower During Early Trading

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stock prices moved lower during the first two hours today, with investors sitting on the sidelines and showing their disappointment concerning unfounded Vietnam peace rumors.

Declines led advances, 662 to 523, among the 1,552 issues crossing the tape. Turnover on the New York Stock Exchange amounted to more than 5,580,000 shares.

Top U.S. and North Vietnamese officials denied rumors a ceasefire was imminent in Vietnam. Little happened at the Paris peace talks during the day to spark any hope.

Investors were further discouraged by speculation two New York banks—First Cational City and Irving Trust—may raise their prime rates this week.

First Charter Financial was the most active issue, up 1-2 at 34 1-2 on 95700 shares.

Prices were mixed to slightly higher in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Punta Gorda was the most active AMEX issue, off 1-2 at 8 1-2 on 55,900 shares.

Airlines were lower on the Big Board. TWA lost 2 1-4, UAL Inc. 1 1-4, and American and Eastern 1 1-8 apiece.

Firm Announces Plans To Plant

Nissan Motor Corp. in U.S.A., distributor of the Datsun automobile, announced it will plant at least a quarter million trees this year in its "Drive A Datsun . . . Plant A Tree" campaign.

The campaign, launched on July 18, promises that Datsun will plant a tree in a U.S. national forest each time someone test drives a Datsun between July 18 and Oct. 15.

Ortho Mattress Co.To Open Retail Outlet In San Rafael

Ortho Mattress Co. will open its first Marin County retail outlet in downtown San Rafael, in premises formerly occupied by Manor House and Lachman Brothers furniture, across the street from Courthosue Square.

Ortho has leased the building at 1005 Fourth Street, which contains 35,000 square feet on three floors, and hopes to move in next week.

Lawrence I. Serkes, vice president in investment real estate for the Frank Howard Allen & Co. of Greenbrae, handled negotiations for the lease.

The space has been vacant since last May 20, when Manor House closed. Lachman Brothers occupied the store before Manor House took over in July of 1971.

Ortho Mattress will serve Marin and other areas of the north bay from its new San Rafael branch. The store has a private parking area in the back for its customers.

Bartman

Upson

LESTER T. BARTMAN of Oakland has been elected to the board of directors of E. D. Bullard Co., Sausalito manufacturers of industrial safety equipment.

Bartman recently retired as vice president of Crocker National Bank after more than 40 years of service. He is a graduate of the American Institute of Banking and a former member of the advisory board of the National Small Business Administralion. He is past president of the Northern California chapter of Robert Morris Associates.

LAUREN D. UPSON of Mill Valley has been promoted to vice president in Wells Fargo Bank's trust division, San Francisco. He was formerly trust officer and assistant vice president.

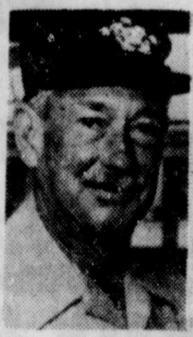
Upson joined Wells Fargo in 1963, was named trust officer in the pension department in 1967 and in 1969 became assistantvice president. He is currently a member of the committee on pension and profit-sharing for the California Bankers Assocaition.

SUE'S STUFF And Nonsense, a new gift shop, just opened last week in the old San Rafael railroad station at 930 Tamalpais Avenue.

Owner-operator is Sue Anderson of San Anselmo, mother of two, and a former telephone company employee for 10 years. Her husband is R.A. Anderson, a manufacturer's representative with offices on Belvedere Street in San Rafael.

Sue's shop carries a variety of items such as chess boards, handmade quilts and bonnets from the Smokies, hand-painted jewelry, antique dragon chairs from China, crocheted and knitted items from vests to animals, some old pieces of china, and brass objects.

Sue's Stuff and Nonsense is open from noon to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, and from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday. It is closed Sunday and Monday. The shop is in the same building as the Christmas Place, a seasonal gift shop operated by four Marin housewives.



Beers

Witter

WILLIAM BEERS, well-known Bay Area yacht broker, has joined Ammarine Yacht Sales brokerage staff in Sausalito as head of the power boat division.

Beers has years of varied experience in the marine industry, working with both commercial vessels and yachts. He worked as draftsman for a naval architect, went into yacht sales and owned his own yacht brokerage firm in the Delta. Beers also designed yachts, did some commercial fishing and acquired a U.S. Coast Guard license for vessels up to 100 tons.

Phillip R. Harrill, manager of Ammarine Yacht Sales, announced Beers' appointment. "We are fortunate in getting a man of Bill's caliber," said Harrill. "Over the years, he has become known as THE broker to see when wanting to buy or sell good, above average cruisers."

PETER C. WITTER of Mill Valley has been named an associate in the San Francisco-based architectural and planning firm, Bull Field Volkmann Stockwell. He will be involved in a variety of projects for the firm, principally in the housing and resort second home field.

A native of Ross and a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, Witter won a degree in architecture from Stanford University in 1961 and a masters degree from Yale in 1969. He is a director of the Marin Child Development Center in Tiburon.

CALIFORNIA-WESTERN States Life Insurance Co., which had two agencies in San Rafael, has combined the two to provide expanded services to clients.

Redwood Empire Agency at Northgate Industrial Park has merged with the former Golden Gate Agency at 16 Mary Street, San Rafael. The combined agency, with headquarters on Mary Street, is called Redwood Empire Agency of California-Western States Life Insurance.

John R. Lee of Mill Valley, agency manager, said the combined office will offer a complete portfolio of life, property and casualty, accident and sickness, and equity products. Associates in the agency are David St. Johnson of San Anselmo, James Harvey of Fairfax and Paul B. Lucas of San Rafael.

LEN E. SCHAUB, who has operated Westland Radio and TV on Fourth Street in San Rafael for almost 27 years, has moved his shop and salesroom from 1535 Fourth two doors west to 1541-B Fourth. The telephone remains the same.

Westland specializes in RCA color TV sales and all types of television and radio repair service. The former store will be used by the Mayflower Inn, which adjoins it, to expand its dining room.

THE ROBERT BUTLER Co., a general real estate brokerage firm at 50 Mitchell Boulevard in San Rafael, has added three salesmen to its staff. All three have college degrees.

John Huster, 26, was in the Peace Corps and worked as accountant. He sold about a half million dollars in property during his first nine months in the real estate business.

Roger Johnson, 37, has 10 years' experience as planner, most recently with the San Francisco Re-development Agency.

Dream Come True In Truck Sales

By Charles E. Dole
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

It's a sales manager's dream come true.

Not only are new-car sales zipping along at a track-burning pace, but the truck market, too, is the sweetest it's ever been. It shows every sign of smashing through last year's record-shattering 2.1 million sales. Outlook for 1972 is at least 2.5 million.

Demand, in fact, is so high for trucks that the manufacturers are having a hard time meeting it.

GMC, for example, is putting into operation this fall a 1.6-million-square-foot assembly plant in Pontiac, Mich., and last year opened a million-square-foot master parts center at Willow Run Airport, west of Detroit.

Through Aug. 20, the overall market was up 33.6 per cent for the year. New-truck registrations soared over the 1.1 million mark in the first six months of 1972, the first time in the history of the industry that they had achieved this figure so early in the year.

Ten years ago, by contrast, the truck business was sloughing along at less than a million units a year.

The only segment of the market not up is the medium truck. The reason, manufacturers say, is the cost squeeze on the operators. Truck owners are opting for bigger trucks where the payloads are larger. Because of this upward mobility, medium truck sales — trucks with a gross vehicle weight (GVW) from 10,000 to 26,000 pounds — are down 2 per cent over the same period a year ago.

But the rest of the market — z-o-o-m!

Ford Motor Company, which since 1968 has sold more trucks than any other manufacturer, expects to market over 900,000 units this year alone, or nearly as many as the entire industry sold just over 10 years ago. Some 600,000 are expected to be pickups. Econoline, up 25 per cent over 1971, for the first time is heading toward 100,000 units or beyond, plus an estimated 23,000 Club Wagons.

Ranchero, up 73 per cent so far this year, may top 40,000. Ford also looks for 110,000 heavy trucks compared with 90,000 a year ago.

Is it any wonder the truckmakers are smiling?

"Two things changed the light-truck business — the product and the buyer," declares Donald E. Peterson, Ford's vice-president for truck operations.

"In 1960," he goes on, "trucks were trucks — with solid front axles, three-speed transmissions, and six-cylinder engines but no real comforts. Today's light truck has more comfortable seats, better styling, larger engines, automatic transmission, air-conditioning, power steering, power brakes, and other luxury options."

About the only two things you can't get in a pickup truck these days, and which you can get in a car, are power seats and power windows.

Martin J. Caserio, general manager of the GMC Truck and Coach Division, says that women are driving light-duty trucks to the school, the beauty parlor, the shopping center, and the Little League ball parks in all-time record numbers.

"Housewives are ordering pickups, vans, suburbans, and other light trucks with air conditioning, bucket seats, AM-FM radios, carpeting, and color-coordinated interiors — and they are parking them in the second spot in a two-car garage," he adds.

Even the large trucks are living rooms on wheels. They have to be because they are a man's home away from home, and comfort and convenience go hand in hand with safety.

The industry credits the Nixon economic policy of mid-August, 1971, as the basic stimulus for getting the boom under way. Dropping the 10 per cent excise tax on light-duty trucks of 10,000 pounds GVW or less provided a tremendous fillip to sales.

Before the excise tax went off, a typical pickup truck — one with power steering, power brakes, automatic transmission, and radio — might have cost $4,000. Suddenly, with removal of the excise tax, that same truck could be bought for under $3,700.

For people who had been thinking about a truck, that saving put a large flag in front of them: buy.

Compounding the excise-tax cut is the upward swing in the market for recreational vehicles.

Ford Motor Company reports that its most recent survey shows that 30 per cent of all pickup trucks registered in 1971 have either slide-in or shell campers on them. On the company's three-quarter-ton truck, the F-250, the figure is 41 per cent. Some 21 per cent of owners used their pickups with a recreational trailer. About 40 per cent use their pickups for vacations and 55 per cent for camping and other outdoor recreational activities.

1973 FORD

Most changed Ford Division car for 1973 is the full-sized Ford. Shown here is the LTD four-door hardtop. All-new sheet metal below the window line and a new segmented grille give the 1973 Ford a more formal look. Local dealers are Lyons-Ryan Ford in San Rafael, J & B Ford Sales in Corte Madera and Novato Auto Sales.

FLEETWOOD SIXTY SPECIAL BROUGHAM

The 1973 Cadillac Fleetwood Sixty Special Brougham is the most elegant of the Cadillac line. For smoother appearance, the rear edge of the front door has been extended, eliminating the filler between the two doors. In addition to new wheel discs, all Cadillacs are available in 21 exterior colors, 19 of them new. Bianco Cadillac in Corte Madera is the Marin County dealer.

SPORTY CAPRI

Lincoln Mercury's sporty Capri enters 1973 with a larger standard engine and interior refinements. Complete sporty instrumentation is standard on the Capri 2600 and now optional on the Capri 2000. Interior changes include a new instrument panel with a lockable glove box and new simulated-walnut decor. Dealers in Marin are Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury in San Rafael and Larry Brink Motors in Mill Valley.

Concern For Asians Remaining In Uganda

By JOHN ALLAN MAY
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

LONDON — Quiet but intense diplomatic pressure now is being exerted from London to try to cool down the inflammatory situation in and on the borders of Uganda.

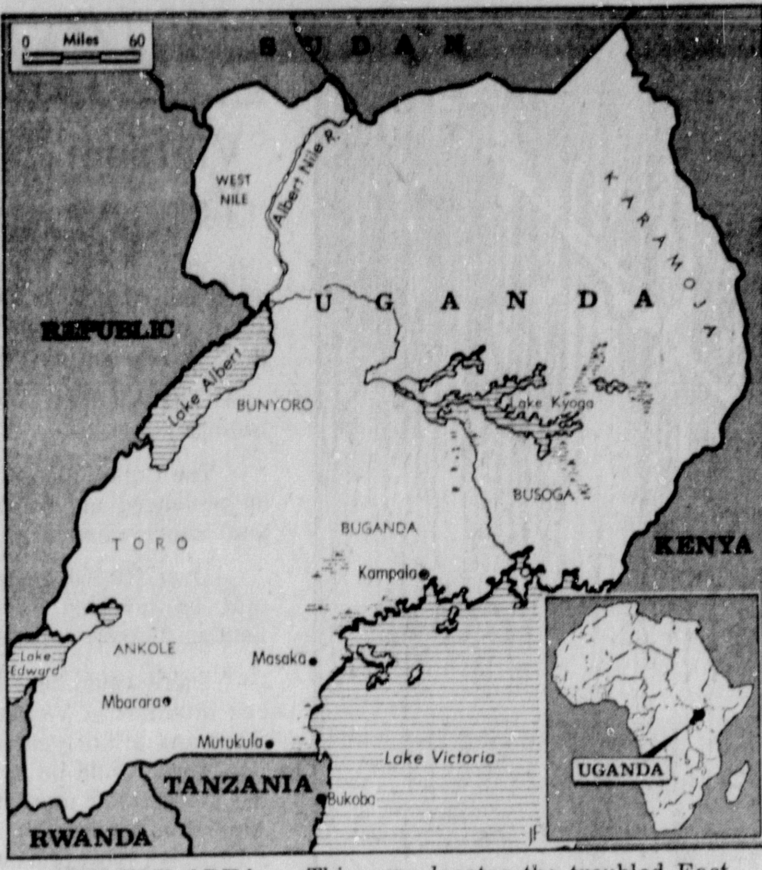
Serious concern is felt for the many thousands of Asians still left in that country unless this cooling process can have immediate effect.

There also is concern lest the guerrilla war along the border with Tanzania spread into something more like a full-scale military conflict.

Libya's intervention has shocked London. Five aircraft carrying 399 armed Libyan soldiers have been forced to land at Khartoum by the Sudanese government. They were on their way to assist Maj. Gen Idi Amin, who claims that Uganda has been invaded by a rebel army backed by President Julius Nyerere of Tanzania and actively supported by Britain and Israel.

Both of the latter governments have strongly denied the imputation.

In Britain's case, to the concern for the safety of the remaining Uganda Asians is added genuine anxiety that General Amin's words and actions could lead to a swift exodus of all whites as well as Asians who have been helping to sustain the economy and the social services of Uganda.



TROUBLE AREA — This map locates the troubled East African country of Uganda where many Americans and Asians have been placed under arrest by the government of President Idi Amin.

©1972 The Christian Science Publishing Society

The case of the Asians now is being treated by London as one of refugees rather than of immigrants.

Britain's European partners now are joining in the moves to help the refugees. West Germany, for instance, has announced that it will take 1,000. Austria has decided that it, too, will respond. Help from all the other countries of the European community is confidently expected.

It was in this context that Prime Minister Edward Heath moved swiftly to deflate the rising right-wing pressure within the Tory Party against his policy of accepting and resettling the majority of Uganda's Asians in Britain.

In practice, Britain's reception of the few Asians who have already arrived has been both warm and generous.

But behind this warmth, kindled by compassion, there has been widespread anxiety here.

Many wage-earners fear for their jobs. This may be irrational — as, for example, in the case of the London meat porters of Smithfield market who have been roused to protest marches — but it is genuine. Unemployment stands close to one million.

On the right, however, the opposition is more racial in tone. Many Britons are disturbed to find themselves in a multi-racial society that is not of their choosing. Led by Tory Rebel Enoch Powell, some urge a halt to all colored immigration and the start of an energetic repatriation plan.

The Conservative Monday Club, a right-wing organization, held a big rally Sept. 16 in London and afterward marched to Downing Street to present a petition on these lines.

It is to this petition that Heath has replied.

The opening paragraph of the Monday Club resolution called on the government to make the interest of the British people its main concern.

"This is indeed the duty and the purpose of my colleagues and myself," Heath declared, adding:

"We hold that it is in the interest of the British people that the reputation for good faith and humanity should be preserved."

German School Picnic Sunday

The German Language School of Marin will hold its fifth annual picnic at noon Sunday in San Rafael's Gerstle Park.

The Independent-Journal incorrectly reported Monday the event would be held on Saturday.

Proceeds from the Sunday picnic will benefit operations of the school, which holds classes at the Oliver R. Hartzell School in San Rafael.

Five Languages In British Isles

LONDON (UPI)—English is one of five languages spoken in the British Isles as a native tongue.

Welsh is spoken by a quarter of the people in Wales. About 81,000 persons in Scotland speak a Scottish form of Gaelic, while some families in Northern Ireland speak Irish Gaelic.

French is the official language of the island of Jersey, and a Norman-French patois is used throughout the Channel Islands.

Redevelopment Plan Needs Close Look

San Rafael residents will get their only chance to sound off about the city's proposed redevelopment plan at a public hearing set for Oct. 26 at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

What they have to sound off about is a pretty complicated matter. It is described in 32 pages and two maps prepared by the city's redevelopment consultant firm, Urban Projects Inc., and even that by no means covers all the bases.

IN ESSENCE, the redevelopment plan proposes to "freeze" all assessments in the redevelopment area — downtown San Rafael, Francisco Boulevard and part of East San Rafael — at their present level as far as all existing taxing agencies are concerned.

Revenues from increased assessments on that property — which of course would be principally from new construction and improvements — would all go to the redevelopment agency. Against that source of revenue, it could issue bonds to pay for public improvements within the area.

The idea is that the public improvements would themselves spur upgrading. The deteriorating downtown would be reinvigorated. Francisco Boulevard would be cleaned up and improved in appearance. Some of East San Rafael that was permitted to develop into "instant slums" would get an upgrading — including a city park in the Bahia Vista area.

ALL THESE things sound good. But there are some objectionable features.

The city council, in its role as redevelopment agency, could issue bonds to finance the public improvements involved — without a vote of the people.

These bonds would not become an obligation against the city. But they would obligate the funds received from taxes on increased assessed valuation within the redeveloment area.

Another objection is that the process would "freeze" tax revenues from the redevelopment area for the county, school districts, other special districts, and the city itself. The only way this area could be made to yield more taxes for other purposes than redevelopment would be by raising the rates. And, under terms of the redevelopment act, this situation could continue for as long as 45 years.

SUPT. JOHN F. Plank of San Rafael city schools has noted that the redevelopment is proposed to include apartments adjacent to the downtown. These apartments, he points out, are bound to mean more children to be educated in the schools.

He has a point. If the redevelopment increases school rolls, the schools should receive some of the additional taxes — which the city council, as redevelopment agency, could give them if it wishes.

On the other hand, the present downward trend of school enrollments makes it appear rather unlikely that the redevelopment would add enough children to offset the decrease.

THESE ARE just some of the things that need to be threshed out, if San Rafael is to embark on this plan for saving the downtown area and assuring the future of the city.

With good will on all sides, they do not appear insuperable obstacles. But a single public hearing is not time enough to resolve them all. They need attention between now and Oct. 26.

Misguided 'Women's Lib' Practices Discrimination

By EARL G. WATERS

In the name of Women's Liberation, a movement is under way to replace two members of the State Senate with women. The battle cry is "break down the male bastion in Sacramento."

This misguided effort is reported to have the support of various women's organizations inclding the American Association of University Women, the Business and Professional Women, and the National Women's Political Caucus, whatever that may be.

In the past the two established organizations, the University Women and the Professional Women, have exhibited great naivete and demonstrated a dearth of practicality in things political. But their current program takes the cake. It also is an insult to voter intelligence. Even other women won't buy it.

For the self-professed crusaders against discrimination by reason of sex are guilty of advocating that which they claim to oppose.

TO CONTEST the re-election of two senators merely because they are not women is a glaring example of sex discrimination.

Ironically, both of their targets have leaned over backward in chapioning women's rights. Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, who has served in the Legislature since 1947, authored the first equal pay for equal work bill in the nation 'way back in 1949. Sen. Robert Stevens, R-Los Angeles, a member of the Rules Committee, was in the minority fighting for the Equal Rights Amendment.

The two would-be women senators have no special qualifications for the Legislature themselves, nor do they have any special criticism of the senators they are contesting other than that both are men and both Republicans.

THE FACT that no woman has ever served in the California Senate seems beside the point. It is not by design or the result of discrimination against women as lawmakers. Women have served in the Legislature ever since California extended voting privileges to them. Like the men, some have been good legislators and some not so good.

Women have also been elected to Congress from this state as well as others. The absence of women in the Legislature or Congress in numbers proportionate to their ranks in the population is simply a case of male candidates outnumbering the ladies. In order to get elected you have to be a candidate. Consequently more men get elected.

In furthering their desires to place women in the State Senate simply because they are women, supporters have divided the state, aiming their guns at Stevens from Los Angeles and Grunsky in the north.

ONE SUPPORTER said, "If we can put it all together, it would be one of many steps toward achieving some kind of political power for women."

But in the words of the Vallejo Times Herald: "Unfortunately, it takes more than just being a woman to be a great legislator. It takes intelligence to distinguish a good bill from a bad bill to the end that whatever is passed into law will be an asset to our state. If a person running for office has this intelligence and the welfare of the state's residents at heart, it matters little whether that person is a man or woman. If they want to be elected, they had better campaign on merit, not the fact they are women."

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Candidates Not Late For Meeting

We would like to thank Mr. Dietz for covering our annual membership coffee on Sept. 14 when Mr. Roger Boas and Mr. Richard Gittings, representing Congressman William Mailliard, spoke to our members and guests.

However, we would like to explain that neither Mr. Boas nor Mr. Gittings was late in arriving, as was reported. To allow time for late comers, and for a cup of coffee, we had arranged for the guest appearances to begin at 10:45 a.m., although the meeting itself was scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. We are sorry that this misunderstanding occurred.

Nutritionist Quoted Against Fluoridation

If I want to know what food and water the body needs I certainly would not ask a dentist or even a doctor — I would ask a nutritionist. America's foremost nutritionist is Adelle Davis and I would like to quote from "Let's Eat Right To Keep Fit":

"Though some persons claim that we need traces of fluorine, it appears not to be a dietary essential. Generations of rats remain as healthy and with as good teeth without F as those given F. Authorities by no means agree that fluorine benefits teeth, and the danger of toxicity is ever-present. In 1962, our public health department reported that children in Newburgh, N.Y., where water was first fluoridated had more decay after fluoridation than before. In Baltimore, Md., where water has been fluoridated since 1952, rampant decay has steadily increased. In Puerto Rico not only has tooth decay increased since fluoridation of the water supply but 64 per cent of adolescent boys have mottled, permantely stained teeth from fluoride excess."

Some Explanations About Open Door

There seemed to be a question in the mind of the reporter who wrote concerning the stabbing near the Open Door. As pastor of several workers who have given their time there, I would like to give you further information relative to the purpose and function of this rather vital ministry. One such person is Mr. Ray Hollingshead, who has been working on a regular basis over the past year. He is our minister of youth, and is a person of dependability, moral integrity and a very close friend.

First, the purpose has been to minister to the transients who pass this heavily used intersection. I have had numerous occasions to give transportation to those who have utilized this stopping place.

Much of the work, in my opinion, has been made effective because there has been no overt relationship to any established churches or to mainline denominations. Yet there has been consistent communication from those working with the Open Door ministries : . .

Secondly, the organizational structure has been sustained by many interested churchmen and women who have given faithfully of their material resources . . .

Certainly every effort would be made to avoid the type of confrontation reported by the Independent-Journal. Incidently (sic), a statement by Miss Judy Beane, who was in charge the night of this tragedy, indicated that the Open Door had been closed for some time before the reported events took place. In fact she had returned because she felt like maybe she had forgotten something. She found the situation, and summoned help . . .

Food Stamp Expose Doesn't Help Mothers

I'm sorry Ms. Freedman chose to present the food stamp program in such a distorted fashion.

Her antics may please her boss by making headlines and selling papers — but they won't help the next desperate mother of hungry children who honestly applies for food stamps, and doesn't have all the necessary certificates, licenses, receipts, and other establishment souvenirs in her possession at the time of her eligibility interview.

In the future I hope Mrs. Freedman will spend some of her energy writing about the many families who are able to stretch their monthly income to feed their hungry children because of the food stamp program.

Right-Of-Way Stand Shames Mill Valley

Anyone in attendance at the Mill Valley City Council meeting on Sept. 19, including myself, was shamed by the council's action in adopting a resolution opposing the Golden Gate Bridge District's action to purchase the NWP right of way (now abandoned) from Sausalito to Corte Madera to insure that a corridor remains open in Marin for future transit need.

With RR operations now gone almost one year portions of the right of way will soon revert to descendents of original title holders of the land thus severing this important link in Marin's future.

Mill Valley has acted selfishly and in effect is telling citizens in Northern Marin and Sonoma that commuting to San Francisco is your problem and not ours. The truth is that as population grows in all North Bay counties some kind of future transit system will have to prevail. With Highway 101 becoming more congested (in spite of continual lane increases) future transit will need its own right of way. The NWP is all that remains and it should be retained as an asset for the future.

I suggest that concerned citizens write your local congressman in an effort to preserve this right of way before it passes into history and with it our hopes for a workable transportation system in Marin . . .

News item: House votes to end all KP duties for enlisted men.

ALMANAC

Today is Thursday, Oct. 5, the 279th day of 1972 with 87 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Libra.

The 21st president of the United States, Chester Arthur, was born Oct. 5, 1830.

On this day in history:

In 1918, Allied headquarters announced that the German Hindenburg Line had been broken as World War I neared its end.

In 1965, Pope Paul made an historic 14-hour visit to New York City to plead for world peace before the United Nations.

In 1970, Quebec separatists in Montreal kidnapped British diplomat James Cross, demanding $500,000 and the release of 23 political prisoners.

Vietnam 'No Longer An Issue,' Yet The War Goes On And On

If, at any time from Richard Nixon's electoral victory in November, 1968, to about six months ago we had been told that, as election day, 1972, approached:

— The Vietnam War would still be raging;

— The United States would be carrying on prolonged air bombardment of Vietnam unprecedented in world history;

— Over 100,000 American troops would still be involved in war activities in Southeast Asia, outside Vietnam itself;

— There would have been 20,000 American fatalities in Vietnam during the last three and a half years;

— There ould be no sign of an end of the longest and most humiliating war in American history;

I suspect most of us would have felt the President could not get re-elected.

I KNOW I DID. It seemed to me that American distaste for the war was overwhelming. When, after a year or two in office, it became "Nixon's war" in popular parlance, it seemed that the political penalty for failure to end it would be heavy, just as it was for Lyndon Johnson.

We all know two or three reasons why this has not happened. The withdrawal of nearly half a million American troops from South Vietnam itself and the phasing out of the draft have made a big impact. The incessant travels and negotiations of Henry Kissinger suggest that a settlement may be just around the corner. The idea that the war is "winding down" has been deeply implanted in American thinking.

Now, professional observers are beginning to say, the war may actually be a political assets for President Nixon, especially in the face of the various positions taken by Senator McGovern and his associates. This is a perfectly extraordinary state of affairs.

ON MARCH 5, 1968, speaking at Hampton, N.H., Mr. Nixon said: "If in November this war is not over, after all of this power has been at the administration's disposal, then I say that the American people will be justified to elect new leadership. And I pledge to you that the new leadership will end the war and win the peace in the Pacific."

These words would seem as impelling in 1972 as they were in 1968. But they are not.

Meantime, the air bombardment has added a new dimension to the already heavy moral ambiguity of the long war. The point was put poignantly a few days ago by Senator McGovern at Waterbury, Conn., as reported by Mary McGrory:

"I ask you to think about these little people in Southeast Asia — many of them doubtless wonder what this tragedy is all about — who are being killed, day after day, by the bombs that fall from these planes oredered out by our President. I ask you to remember that while they have a different skin color than we do and while they are smaller than most of us in stature, I ask you to remember that each one of them is also a child of the same God that created us."

North Vietnam's offensives take lives, too. Hanoi has perpetrated civilian massacres. Air bombing i one way of countering a ground offensive, one way of supporting South Vietnam in the civil war.

BUT THE HORROR of war — of this war particularly — remains because of its uncertain terms, goals, and circumstances. "Vietnamization" is a shabby answer, as if Vietnamese lives were less precious than American. "Our boys" are no ifferent from everybody's boys. There is no sign that terms for settlement are any better today than they would have been five or six years ago, or that they will be any better two or four years from now.

Are American voters only interested in their own son's lives?

Do they feel no moral burden, especially in the air war?

Evidently a majority of them are prepared to see Vietnam become a very minor issue in the presidential campaign. President Nixon decisively and drastically changedhis course on China. Is the time coming when he will act with the same boldness and courage for peace in Vietnam?

Japan's New Premier Proves Man Of The Year In Diplomacy

Japan's new prime minister, Kakuei Tanaka, is turning into the biggest success story of the season. And if he can keep on going as successfully and prudently as he has gone so far, he will certainly be the man of the year.

One way of measuring his stature is the immediate sequence of his high-level travels. Four weeks ago he was hobnobbing in Hawaii with Richard Nixon. This week he was tasting the splendors of Chinese cuisine in the Imperial Palace in Peking as a guest of Mao Tse-tung. And shortly, it seems, he will have a chance, if he wants it, to admire the czarist mementos in the Kremlin with Leonid I. Brezhnev as his guide.

The most telling incident of the moment is that as soon as his invitation to the palace in Peking had become official and the visit was scheduled, the Russians decided that the time had come to try to catch up in the good graces of Tokyo. They offered fomething they have never been willing even to talk about before, the possible return of the northern islands they so ingloriously pocketed at the end of World War II.

WHAT IT ALL means is that Mr. Tanaka is sitting at the control corner of one of the most intriguing triangles of nations in the world today. We are accustomed to thinking of Washington's Henry Kissinger balancing China and Russia against each other; that is, Mr. Kissinger at the control corner of the big triangle of the great powers.

But this new Nixon doctrine-era world in which we are living has more than one triangle in it, and the United States is not the only country sitting a a controlling corner.

The United States, of course, continues to possess more impressive and massive military power than any one other country can deploy in the far Pacific and in and around Southeast Asia. But more and more it is an umbrella under which other things happen.

Down under the umbrella of overwhelming American military power there is the triangular relationship of China, Russia, and Japan — which is beginning to operate under the American umbrella but also regardless of that umbrella.

In this all-Asian triangle Japan obviously has the favorable seat. The biggest hostility is between Russia and China. Japan is nearing a state of easy relations with both. It trades with both. Its technical superiority in Asia makes it increasingly needed by both. And it has no real unsettled quarrel with either.

SO MR. TANAKA is in the happy position of being able to be on good and commercially profitable terms with both — provided he does not get himself overcommitted to either. He must watch his own balance as well as help to keep the great rivals balanced. But, so far at least, his balance is perfect.

His first task in getting into a balanced position was to unhinge himself from a too-close relationship with the United States. Cross that one off. It's done.

His second was to improve his relations with China without alarming Russia. That appears to have been done.

His final task will be to get access to the raw materials of Siberia without spoiling his relations with China. That is about to be undertaken.

THIS SUBSTANTIAL project could be spoiled by the slightest hint of an attempt to revive that World War II institution of unhappy memory called the Japanese "co-prosperity sphere." So far, there is no hint of it. There is not the slightest flutter of any Japanese political flag following the trade into Southeast Asia.

And it could be spoiled, too, by Japan reaching for the nuclear weapons it could so easily have. The technology is there, and ready to put to use. But the option is being firmly refused.

Mr. Tanaka's Japan is no longer a client of the United States. It is approaching both China and Russia with grace, and care. It is avoiding the slightest hint of sending its political flag after its non-political trade. And it is virtuously refusing to consider becoming another nuclear military power.

Mr. Tanaka's Japan threatens no one, seeks to be friends with all neighbors, avoids partiality toward any one. It looks like a profitable and winning formula.

Center Point Reports Success With Change In Techniques

Center Point, the San Rafael antidrug center started a few years ago by a couple of ex-addicts, has taken a new tack in its war against dope use.

The coercion-type methods formerly used (making participants wear diapers or signs or shaving their heads if they went astray) brought results, according to Center Point's director, Charles Stout.

But the good behavior didn't always last "out in the community" when Center Point graduates were removed from the controls of the house.

FOR THIS REASON and because he and his staff thought that Marin's middle class drug addicts needed a slightly more sophisticated program, Stout now stresses a psychological approach.

Aimed at "integrating people back into the community," Center Point's program includes Gestalt counselling from Leon Le Gant, himself a former addict.

In addition to helping addicts "reintegrate with their environment," Le Gant tries to help his counselees "take care of unfinished business."

By this he means that instead of a person forever excusing his behavior because of bad childhood experiences, he is encouraged to deal with the memories and go on from there.

For example, a person who still harbors resentment over an action of his mother during his youth might be asked to place his imaginary mother in a chair and talk out the problem with her.

Through this and other methods, Stout and his staff believe they are having great success with the Center Point participants, who live for a time in the house itself and then in another halfway house after they find jobs.

FUNDING OF the program is not a problem at the moment, either, according to Stout, who took over from the former director early this year.

But Center Point still has two major problems, Stout said.

"Frankly, we are not reaching all the people who need us," he explained. With a program he thinks is working well in the cheerful atmosphere of the remodeled old house on D Street, he and the other staff would like more of those with drug problems to participate.

He acknowledges that addicts seldom read newspapers, but he hopes to get the word out through people who are important to the junkies — such as probation officers, judges, lawyers and welfare workers.

ALSO, STOUT desperately needs jobs for his "graduates."

"Jobs are tough to get" for anyone in Marin, he said, but more so for former addicts.

A young man, stirring spaghetti for the community dinner at Center Point, joined in.

He has been looking for work-for some time, he said, with no success.

"They say, 'I'm so glad you've got it together, BUT . . ."

Why Russia's Buying Wheat: Khrushchev's Plan To Bury Us

WASHINGTON — Is the purchase of wheat by both the Soviet Union and People's Republic of China a Communist plot to destroy the United States? I have it on highest authority that it is.

The decision to use wheat as the ultimate weapon to wreck the capitalistic system in the United States was made back in the Khrushchev era, but the actual implementation of the plan went into effect this year.

HERE ARE the minutes of the meeting held in the Kremlin that laid the plot all out:

"Comrade Khrushchev has promised to bury the United States. How do you plan to do this, comrade?"

"Is simple," Comrade Khrushchev replied. "We will bury them with wheat."

"With wheat?" a Politburo spokesman asked.

"Over the next 10 years we will buy American wheat, increasing the purchases every year. Pretty soon American farmer will find raising wheat so profitable he will refuse to grow other crops.

"American people will go to supermarkets and find nothing but bread on sale. Housewives will riot and the seeds of revolution will be planted."

"IS FANTASTIC idea, Comrade Khrushchev."

"Is better than fantastic. As our grain orders come in, Americans will be forced to plow over suburbs, dig up four-lane highways, tear down golf courses to supply more wheat.

"Football fields will be taken over by the government to plant wheat, strategic air bases will be closed and crops sown where runways used to be. We will make price of wheat so high everyone will become wheat farmers in America. They'll grow wheat at White House, at Nike missile sites, at Disneyland. From one end of the country to the other will be nothing but wheat fields."

"Go on, comrade," they said excitedly.

"United States will have no place to store wheat. So office buildings and factories will be requisitioned by government for grain elevators. Apartment buildings will be taken over for storage. People will have no place to work or sleep. But our orders will continue coming in."

"WAIT A MINUTE, comrade," a Politburo member said. "Where will we get the money to pay for the wheat?"

"Long-term credit," Khrushchev said, "and also we will get the Chinese to buy wheat."

"The Chinese? Can we get Peking to buy wheat?"

"What's the matter? You never heard expression '800 million starving Chinamen'?"

"Okay, is good so far. What do we do next?"

"When entire American economy is devoted to growing wheat, we tell United States we have too much wheat and we cancel order; United States is stuck with billions of tons of wheat and capitalistic system is buried under its own grain."

UNFORTUNATELY for the Soviet Union, Khrushchev's plan to bury the United States never got off the ground because he was unceremoniously kicked out of office for banging his shoe at the United Nations.

But recently someone found the plan and it was resurrected and renamed the "Brezhnev wheat plan" and put into effect this year.

When the CIA reported to President Nixon the real reason behind the wheat purchases and the threat it posed to the American people, the President, desperate for foreign gold, shrugged his shoulders and said, "Let them eat cake."

U.S. Criticized On Africa Policy

GAMBIER, Ohio (UPI)— Angie Brooks Randolph, former president of the United Nations General Assembly, Tuesday night criticized the U.S. for its apparent unwillingness to support "total liberation" of the African continent from colonial ties.

"U.S. officials say American foreign policy is designed to promote the interest of Africa, but Africans want total liberation of the continent from colonial ties, which the U.S. apparently is unwilling to support," she said.

"U.S. action supports a movement for self-government but not a complete condemnation of economic and political ties that continue to exist," Mrs. Randolph said in a speech at Kenyon College.

Judge Blocks Atoll Explosions

HONOLULU (UPI)—Government sponsored explosions as part of cratering experiments on Eniwetok Atoll were blocked by a federal judge Tuesday.

Judge Martin Pence issued a temporary restraining order against the blasts until a court hearing Oct. 5. The order was sought by the atoll's residents.

The judge said government officials conducting the experiments had not filed the proper environmental impact statements as required by law.

Sanitary District Director Named

Bertram Davies of Homestead Valley, teacher of the deaf in San Francisco, has succeeded Louis Harding as a director of the Homestead Valley Sanitary District.

Davies, a bachelor, was appointed by the governing board when no candidates applied for the post during June's election. Harding had declined to run for a second four-year term.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

East Says 'Luck' But This Slam Took Some Skill Also

"What a lucky player you are!" East complained after the play of today's hand. "You didn't even know how many trumps were out, and you still couldn't lose the slam!"

South nodded his head amiably. It was easier to agree than to argue. If you examine his line of play, however, you may see more skill than luck in it.

CLUBS OPEN

Clubs were opened and continued, and South ruffed the second club. He cashed the king of spades and led a small trump to dummy's ace, stopping to change his first plan when West discarded a club on the second trump.

Abandoning the trumps, South took the three top hearts and ruffed his fourth heart with dummy's last spade. He then returned to his hand with the ace of diamonds to draw East's last two trumps. He could then claim the last two tricks with good diamonds, making his slam contract.

South interrupted the process of drawing trumps, but it isn't true that he had forgotten how many trumps were out. He was making provision for his fourth heart.

HEART BREAK IMPORTANT

If each opponent had three hearts, South's last heart would be good. But in that case there would be no danger in cashing the three top hearts while trumps were still out. If either opponent had four hearts, he would be able to top South's fourth heart; and in this case, the best chance was to leave a trump in dummy to ruff out the fourth heart.

South didn't enjoy leaving two trumps in East's hand while he cashed the three top hearts. If South had drawn the trumps, however, he'd have given up a heart trick at the end. It was better to take the risk, make the slam and be called "lucky."

DAILY QUESTION

Partner deals and bids one club. The next player passes. You hold:

♠ - A 10 6
♥ - Q 7 5
♦ - K 10 9
♣ - 10 8 6 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one no trump. This response to one club promises balanced distribution with about 8 to 10 points. You would avoid this response with a good major suit.

'Tom Paine' Musical Coming To Marin

A touring company including members of the original Broadway cast will bring the musical play, "Tom Paine," to the Marin Veterans Memorial Auditorium, San Rafael, Oct. 17 at 8:30 p.m.

Directed by Tom O'Horgan who directed "Hair", "Lenny" and "Jesus Christ, Superstar", this play portrays the life of patriot Paine with music, dance and improvisation.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

This is the birthday of Confucius, one of the most honored men of China, who was born this day 2,523 years ago.

How do we know? Well, for more than two housand years Chinese pilgrims have visited his tomb at Chufou on the anniversary of his birth. In nearly every city of China there is a temple to him. For centuries his teachings were required reading in schools and colleges. No one could become a candidate for political office who failed an examination on the Four Books of Confucian literature. His name in Chinese is K'ung (the master).

Confucius came from a poor family but his learning gave him great influence. He deplored the breakdown of moral standards of his time and roamed the country asking men to be dutiful. Confucius believed rulers should lead exemplary lives. When he himself became a state minister he eliminated crime by giving the people justice.

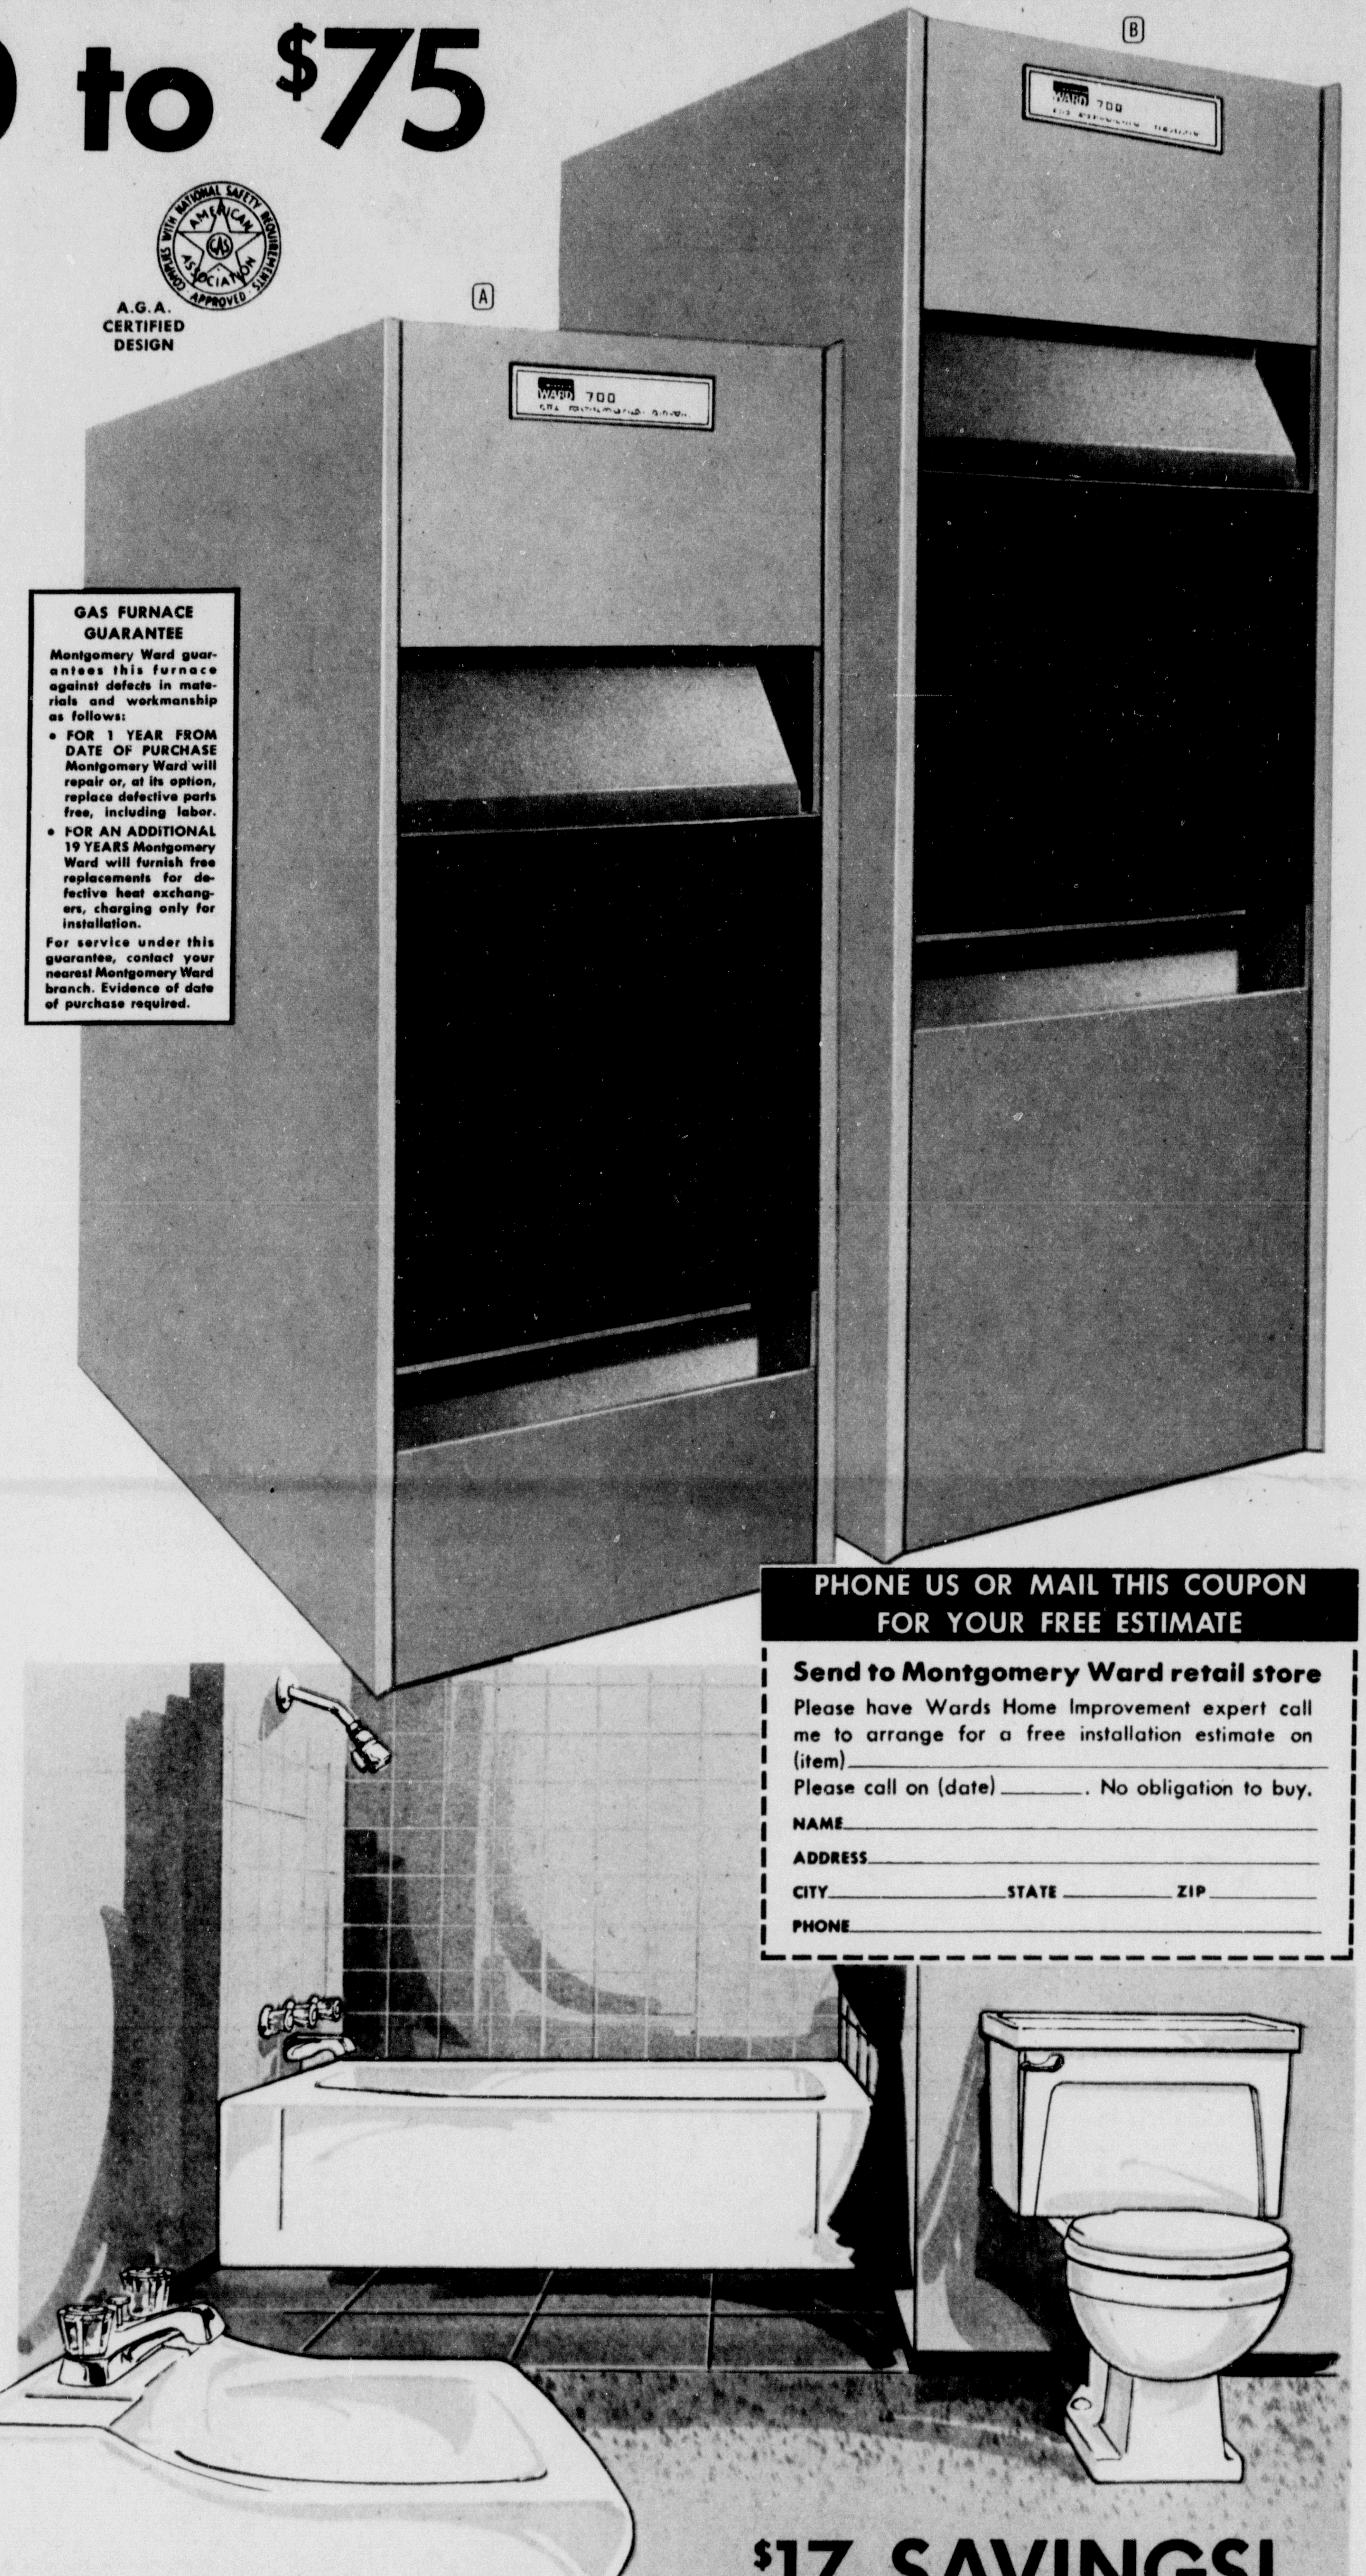
Unlike other furnaces that operate only at a single flame setting, Wards furnace offers you two flame settings you can control with a switch on the thermostat! Set a low flame in mild weather; switch to high on colder days—you burn only the fuel needed to maintain a desired overall temperature! Most of the time the furnace will run at low flame and reduce cold drafts since the pace is more even than that of other furnaces. Runs quietly, too!

HEAT EXCHANGER GUARANTEED 20 YEARS— ONE OF MANY OUTSTANDING FEATURES!

- CONTROLLED COMFORT! Wall-mount thermostat (included) provides switch for simple "dual flame" selection
- CAREFREE COMFORT! Multi-speed blower automatically adjusts its speed to the burner flame size selected
- YEAR-AROUND COMFORT! Direct-drive blower motor creates enough power to handle central air conditioning systems
- LONG-LASTING COMFORT! Insulated furnace jacket conserves heat; wrap-around design adds to furnace durability



GAS FURNACE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees this furnace against defects in materials and workmanship as follows:

- FOR 1 YEAR FROM DATE OF PURCHASE Montgomery Ward will repair or, at its option, replace defective parts free, including labor.
- FOR AN ADDITIONAL 19 YEARS Montgomery Ward will furnish free replacements for defective heat exchangers, charging only for installation.

For service under this guarantee, contact your nearest Montgomery Ward branch. Evidence of date of purchase required.

PROFILE OF A MARINITE

Marin's Rob Roy Is Renaissance Man, Raconteur

By PATRICIA PERRY

In a particularly Scottish and pragmatic manner, Rob Roy has always been your complete Renaissance man. And at 82 he still is.

He was a master builder for decades and Fairfax's building inspector of 23 years. He's a master trout fisherman, and the county's senior conservationist. He certainly is Marin's most expert fly-tier. He binds books. He collects stamps. He's taught himself to type and is writing his memoirs. He fishes every day.

And when other men who've seen 83 summers go by are content to leave the world's problems to others, Rob Roy is grappling with the solution to Marin's water shortage.

"I'M WORKING on seeding clouds," he explained, bright brown eyes snapping in his smooth round face. "I hate when I'm fishing Lake Lagunitas to see those clouds going by overhead when we're short of water . . .

"We have that observation tower on top of Mount Tam, and Mount Burnaby (1,415 feet), and the radar station. What we do is, when these clouds come over a helicopter takes off and seeds them with silver nitrate.

"Of course these fellows will have to observe the cloud depth so we don't flood the place like they did in South Dakota. I'm writing to the Army Corps of Engineers to see if they're doing anything along that line, and I'm going to talk to the Marin Municipal Water Distirct people too."

ROB ROY lives at 46 Tamalpais Road, Fairfax, with his wife Joan. (They've been happily married so long they can't remember when their diamond wedding was.) They've lived in Fairfax for 51 years, and neither of them regrets leaving their native Scotland.

They've certainly lost none of their Scottish accent over the years.

Born in Alva, Clackmanonshire, the seventh and youngest son, Robert Roy left Scotland at 21 when he finished his carpenter's apprenticeship. He emigrated to Winnipeg, Canada, to join an older brother.

On the way over he met Joan, emigrating from Caithness, and a year later they married.

IN SUCCEEDING years the young Roys moved to Vancouver, where he met during World War I Jack Leibert of Marin, working as a timekeeper.

Through Leibert he got a job in El Paso, Tex., helping build a gas plant, then moved to Black Point, working as foreman for Leibert and Trobock.

Marin County is full of stout buildings he built. He proudly shows a list headed: "Jobs Run by Robert Roy Since 1918 in Marin County."

It begins: "Tiburon Draw Bridge, 1918 (since removed), Black Point Pier, 1918, San Rafael Military Academy, St. Vincent's . . . Northwestern Pacific Railroad Depots . . . Crest Farm, Fairfax . . ."

HIS MIND is as razor sharp as it's always been, and he's been busy writing his memoirs sincehe was forced to retire (at 72) as Fairfax's building inspector.

In the memoir book he keeps photos and clippings pasted between neatly typed stories. His grandson, a Los Angeles lawyer, presented him the old typewriter and he's taught himself to type.

He spent six and a half years building the beautiful St. Vincent's orphanage, which was dedicated in 1930. A recollection of that day reads:

"Got the footings in the forms for the walls ready to pour concrete, George on the mixer, Tom at the buggy dumps and Bill O'Neal who lived at Black Point . . ."

ROB ROY IS a great raconteur and he has some hilarious tales about the building of St. Vincent's. There was the day the father in charge didn't want his crop of artichokes destroyed, and the day the hauling mules couldn't get under a monkey puzzle tree to bring in materials for the sacristy.

He still chuckles when he tells them.

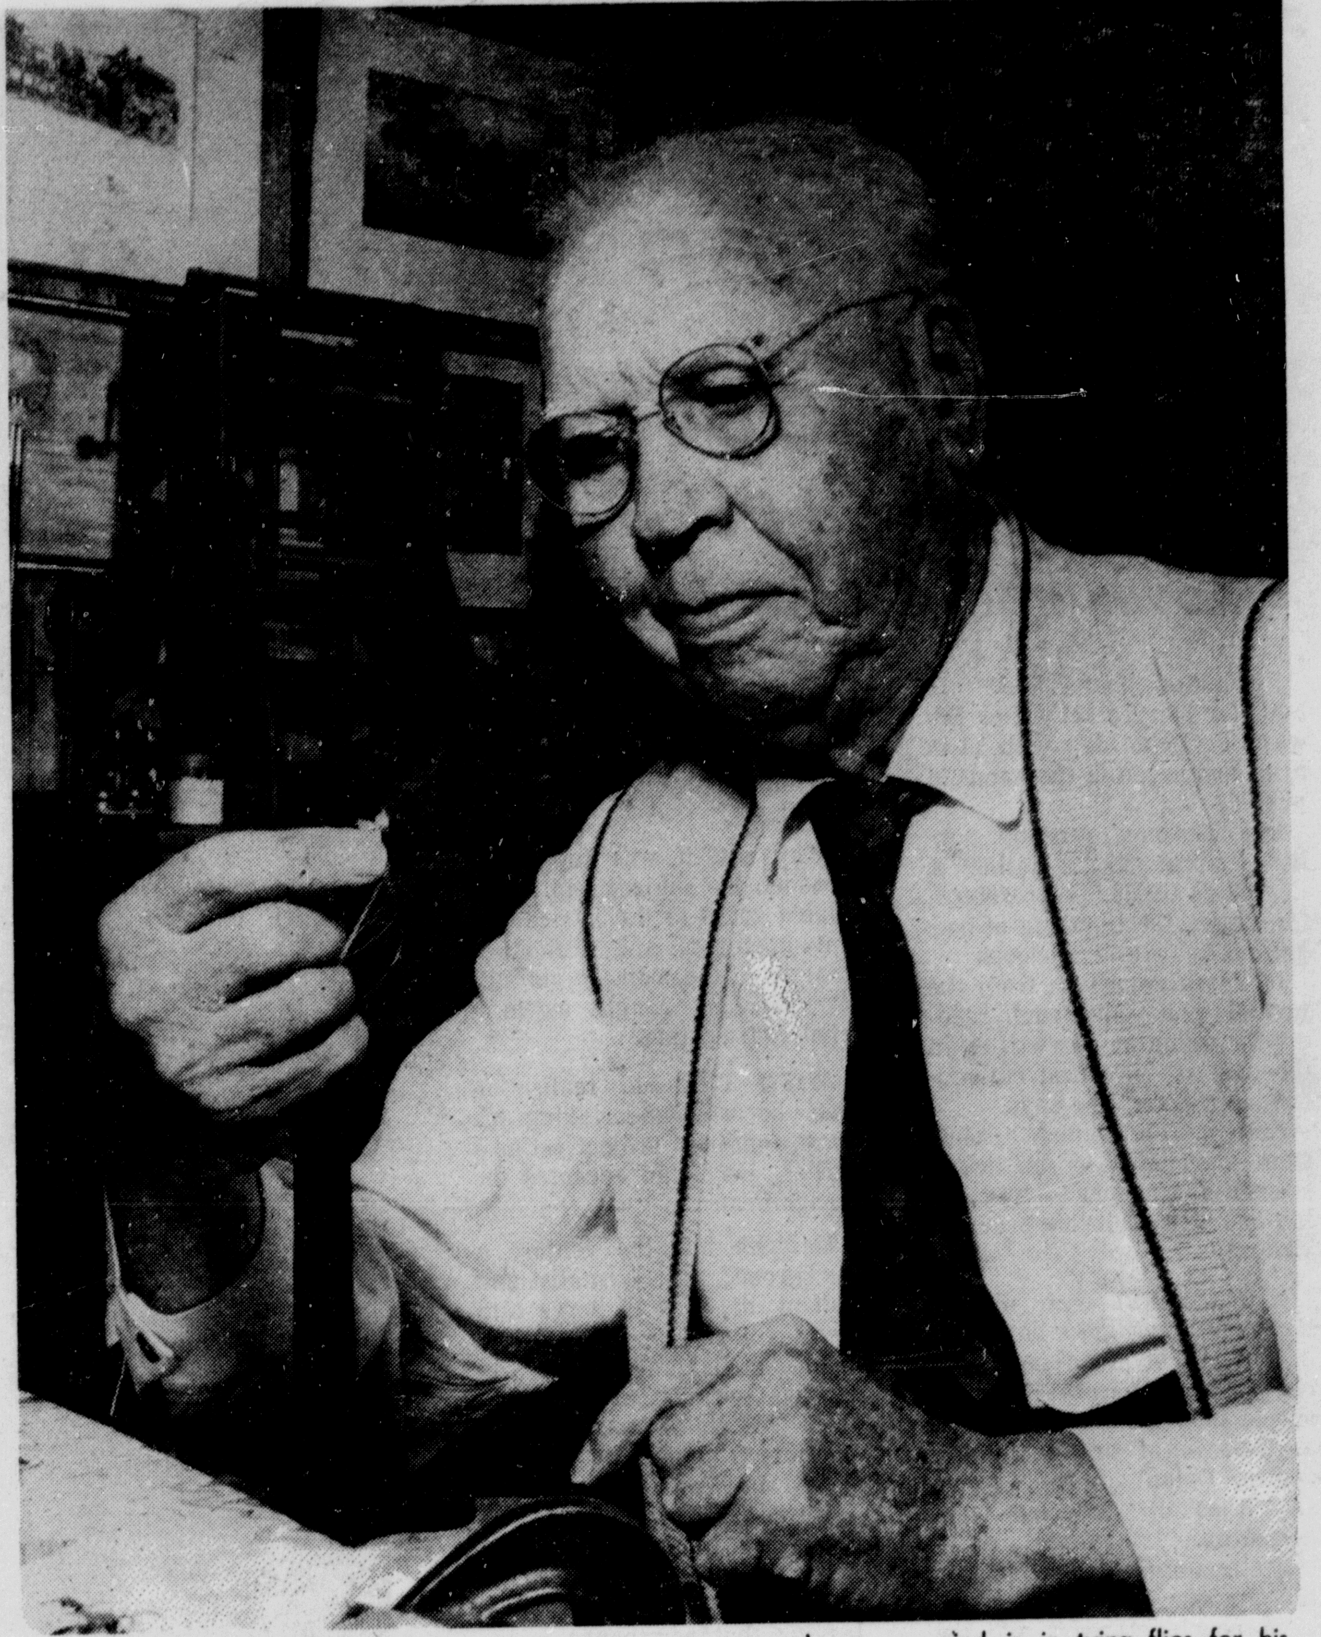
When things got tight in the depression of the 1930s, Rob Roy went into business for himself. His first job was building Crest Farm up on the hill toward the Meadow Club where Dr. Leo Stanley now lives. He says he can now look all over the county and see his homes still standing strong, and he's proud of them.

"I GOT A reputation of being a pretty good builder, though I say it myself, and that's why the mayor got me appointed building inspector."

What did he think of building standards locally? "Good, good — I used to go out on the job and show them how to put the foundation level, tell them how much concrete they needed, start them off right. I was a manager in other words. I would rather be helpful than otherwise."

He's made a study of earthquakes and strata and likes modern methods using plywood in construction. "Plywood is stout. It'll stand anything as far as earthquakes."

SINCE LEAVING Scotland as an ambitious young man he's never returned. He had the chance in 1961 when the Roys' son-in-law offered to pay for them both to go back for a family reunion. Joan Roy went and had "a wonderful time." Rob Roy refused.



BOTH THE nimble fingers and the keen mind of Rob Roy, octogenarian, are always on the go. One way the retired master builder and Fairfax building inspector keeps occupied is in tying flies for his trout fishing. It's a skill he learned in his native Scotland. (Independent-Journal photo)

"I was building inspector then and we were waiting for the Lucky Market to come into the town. I had to wait and sign them in."

Now, he says, he doesn't want to go back because his family is all dead.

Besides, he loves Marin. "No place could be better."

INDEED, IN many ways, he says, it's like his native land. "We have Ben Cleugh, exactly the same height, 2,600 feet, as Mount Tam."

An ardent conservationist all his life, he's been pushing for decades to do just the kind of things latter-day ecologists are only now embracing.

"It's the simple things we need. Use what you've got and you'll never want — that's an old Scottish saying."

He'd like all Marin's lakes stocked with fish. He wants more donefor the county's senior citizens. (When he was charged 50 cents to park at Paradise Cove Park in Tiburon recently he kicked up an almighty fuss from the county superivsors down.)

HE'D LIKE TO see people have unlimited access to beaches, more launching ramps like Blackpoint.

Years ago he drafted elaborate plans to dam Tomales Bay to conserve water, and to dam Bolinas Lagoon and Richardson Bay. The plans were adopted by the Sportsmen's Asn. of California, but never came to fruition.

He's given up ocean fishing, but he still fly fishes most days. His favorite spots are Bon Tempe and Lagunitas lakes.

His wife used to go along, but increasing loss of sight has prevented it.

IN FACT Mrs. Roy says the loveliest thing she has ever seen in her long life was a deer come down to the edge of Lake Lagunitas, take a drink, then swim without a ripple across the water.

Rob Roy, by no means a romantic man, interjects: "You know why they don't make a splash? It's because a deer's hair is hollow. That's why they're used for flies."

He should know, because in his den upstairs he ties magnificent flies with expertise learned in Scotland. He also collects stamps — Persian mostly — and belongs to the Tamalpais Stamp Club. And in his scarce spare time he's taken up bookbinding, completely revamping old and valuable books and Bibles for friends.

THE ROYS have one daughter (a second has died) who lives in San Diego, and two grandchildren. They have many, many friends, after all these years in Marin County.

"There's always someone saying 'Hi, Bob' when we go out," said Mrs. Roy proudly.
